POETRY.

ADAMS AND CLAY.

Here's a pledge to the star-spangled banner so fair!
Fill! fill to the brim with a patriot's devotion,
But temp'ring its radiance, let mercy be there,
The beacon, the bound of our fiercest emotion,
Ere the rights which we hold
To a tyrant are sold,
While peace is still resting on cottage & fold,
With hearts tuned to rapture, let's hail this bright day,
Beneath the bland influence of Adams & Clay.

Of the peal of the shot—of the flash of the steel,
Which purchased this moment let gratitude tell.
The flash was terrific—and dreadful the peal—
When invaders, not countrymen, felt it & fell.
And whilst the acclaim
Of the Hero's fierce name,
Is rattling to fragments the trumpet of fame,
Let's remember the blessings which dawned on this day,
And hail their continuance in Adams and Clay.

But if blessings so valued are fleeting & brief,
If affliction must visit our best & our rarest,
Let famine blow mildew on each golden sheaf,
Let pestilence strike mid our bravest & fairest;
But, oh, from our land,
Avert the fell hand,
That would sink us beneath a stern tyrant's command,
Lest darkling & joyless clouds rise on the day
That is dawning so brightly with Adams & Clay.

Barren Creek Springs.

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs his friends and the public generally, that this Salutary watering-place is now open for the reception of Visitors. An anxious solicitude to promote the comfort of those who may leave their avocations or the abodes of lingering disease, and resort to this fount of Chalybeate purity, has induced him to make such arrangements as will promote the invigoration of the indisposed, or the happiness of those who are in search of pleasure.

When we reflect on the trifling investment necessary for a visit to this place, and the beneficial effects likely to be produced, we are induced to believe that such as are solicitous to avoid the Autumnal diseases of our Climate, will repair to the Springs, for the double purpose of promoting health, and preventing disease.

Such as feel inclined to visit this place, may also feel assured that the charges shall be moderately suited to the times.

The Public's humble serv't.

BRANDYWINE CHALYBEATE SPRINGS.

THE Subscriber having recently removed to this elegant establishment, situated about five miles from the Borough of Wilmington, and about the same distance from the Town of Newcastle, and occupying an elevated site in a district of country alike remarkable for the varied beauty of its landscape, the high cultivation of its soil, and the salubrity of its atmosphere—has opened it as a resort for those in pursuit either of health or amusement.

The sanative properties of the waters have been long celebrated, and for many years the invalid has sought the renovation of his strength in their use, notwithstanding the absence of those accommodations which were essential to his comfort and which are now abundantly provided.

The approach to it, is by various routs along the Elkton and Lancaster turnpikes, and the cross roads of the country, which are at all times in excellent condition. Its vicinity to Wilmington and Newcastle places it within the reach of the citizens of Philadelphia and Baltimore, who enjoy the facilities and despatch of Steam boat conveyance to the former places. To the inhabitants of the Peninsula it offers an agreeable refuge from the heats of summer, and a valuable tonic in its Chalybeate Springs.

The buildings, erected about a year since by an incorporated company, are spacious, and having been newly furnished by the subscriber, offer every accommodation that can be desired. The supplies of his table are drawn from the market of Wilmington and the immediate neighborhood, and will be found to embrace all the varieties of the season. His bar is provided with the choicest liquors, and the no less essential contribution of a well filled ice house.

The subscriber flatters himself that as from his experience in his business, he will not be found deficient in a knowledge of its duties, neither will he be found wanting in the anxious desire to promote the comfort and enjoyment of those who may honor him with their patronage.
