POETRY.

There is no mistaking—no getting round the drift and humor of the annexed Parody. The author writes feelingly, as if he had done something at sticking types in his time. He deserves the thanks of all editors, and a free copy of their papers, whoever he be.—Phil. Ariel.

PARODY—BY HERODOTUS NIB, ESQ.

I'd be an Editor, mewed in a garret,
Where cobwebs in dusty magnificence hang,
With a steady arm-chair & no rival to share it,
And a hat full of politics, verses and slang.
I'd never fret about talents or merit,
I'd never cowskin, nor challenge, nor flout;
I'd be an editor, mewed in a garret,
Ready to wear my coat either side out.
I'd be an Editor—I'd be an Editor,
Luck to the coat be it inside or out!

O, I would pilfer the wit of my betters,
Scissors should minister all to my need;
Then would I look like a rare man of letters,
If duns did not warrant the title indeed.
He who has wealth must be watchful and wary;
He who has office, look out for his nose;
I'd be an Editor, here high and airy,
Rock'd on sublimity—when the wind blows
I'd be an Editor,—I'd be an Editor,
Rock'd in my garret, and safe in my nose.

What though you tell me that more kicks than dollars,
Fall to the vender of typical lore,
Yet are the purses of gentleman scholars
Free to the bottom, and who can ask more?
Some in life's winter may toil to discover
Favors from fortune which never will rust:
I'd be an Editor living above her,
Seeking for nothing but glory and—Trust!
I'd be an Editor—deuce take the creditor,—
Writing for glory, and printing on trust!

BONAPARTE'S FAMILY.—The history of the Bonaparte family being very imperfect in Scott's life of Napoleon, it may not, perhaps, be uninteresting to peruse a brief statement in relation to those with whom the illustrious conqueror was connected. The particulars have been collected from various sources, with considerable care, and so far as they go, are believed to be substantially correct.

Charles Bonaparte, the father of Napoleon was a lawyer of considerable eminence on the Island of Corsica and died in 1795, at the age of 40 years.——Eight children survived him, viz: Joseph, Napoleon, Caroline, Lucien, Eliza, Louis, Pauline, Jerome, Letitia, Romilini. The mother was a woman of great beauty, and possessed extraordinary firmness of character. She was living in Rome in 1825, though in bad health. She was very wealthy.

Joseph, Ex-King of Spain and the Indies, is a man of talents and excellent character, and exerted himself very much at the first taking of Paris by the Allies. In 1794 he was married to Maria Julia, aged 22 years, and in 1812 had two daughters. He now resides in the United States, near Burlington, New Jersey, much esteemed by all who know him. He owns 150,000 acres of land in the northern part of the State of New York, (Jefferson county) which he purchased of M. Le Ray Chaumont.

Napoleon, Emperor of the French, was first married to Josephine Beauharnois, a Creolian widow and daughter of a St. Domingo planter. She was an accomplished lady. At the time of her marriage (1796) to Napoleon, she had three children, Eugene, Francis, and Hortensia. In 1810 she was repudiated by Napoleon, who soon after married Maria Louisa, daughter of Francis, Emperor of Austria. By Maria Louisa he had a son, who was born March 20 1812, and whom he named Napoleon. He was banished to Elba in 1813 and to St. Helena in 1815, where he died in 1821, aged 52 years.

Caroline, was the wife of Joachim Murat, King of Naples and admiral of the French empire by whom she had two sons and three daughters. The two sons Achille and Charles Louis Napolean Murat, are settled in the territory of Florida. After the fall of Napolean, and Murat's expulsion from the throne of Naples, she and her husband lived in the Austrian states. After Murat's flight and assassination, (which latter event happened in 1815, on one of the Sicilian islands) she resided in great pomp, in the lordship of Ort, but finally removed to Rome, where she lived in 1825.

Lucien was distinguished as an orator and republican in the council of 500, of which he was president on the 18th Brumaire, and declared it dissolved. His ambition and talents were scarcely inferior to those of Napoleon, and he was the most efficient agent in the appointment of his brother chief consul. He however, disapproved of the destruction of the Republic, & would not part from his beautiful and affectionate wife to further and promote the views of Napoleon. He therefore displeased him and was not restored to his favour till after his return from Elba. He refused the throne of Spain which was offered to him. He wrote an epic poem on Charlemagne. In 1825 he lived in great splendor at Rome, where he had been a senator. His son Charles Lucien Bonaparte, the author of the continuation of Wilson's Ornithology, lives in the United States. His son Paul was accidentally killed on board the Greek frigate Hellas, in 1827.

Eliza, Grand Duchess of Tuscany, a woman of powerful intellect and masculine character, and had many admirers. She was married to Felix, Prince of Lucca, and had one daughter. She died at Trieste in 1820, aged 49 years.

Louis, King of Holland, married Hortensia Beauharnois daughter of Napoleon's first wife. He was a man of unpretending worth, and abdicated his throne in favor of his son, rather than oppress his subjects.—After Napoleon's banishment to St. Helens, he went to Rome, where he lived in 1825, in great magnificence.

Pauline, first married to Le Clerc, commander in chief of the expedition to St. Domingo, where he died of the yellow fever. She subsequently married Prince Borghese, Duke of Guestala. She was Napoleon's favorite sister and was the most beautiful woman in France and perhaps in Europe. She visited Napoleon while at Elba and assisted him in his escape. In 1825, Pauline died immensely rich—among the other bequests, gave 20,000 francs to the son of Jerome by his first wife. Prince Borghese is now a wanderer in France or England.

Jerome, was first married to Miss Patterson, of Baltimore, Md. a lady of beauty and accomplishments, and by this marriage incurred the displeasure of Napoleon. By the incessant importunities of his brother, he at length separated himself from her and married the princess royal of Wertemburg. After his brother's fall, he lived a while at Trieste, afterwards near Vienna and finally settled at Rome, where he resided in 1826. He had one son by his wife.

Eugene Beauharnois, Viceroy of Italy &c. and son of the first wife of Napoleon, married the princess Angustine Amelia, of Bavaria, and had one son and two daughters. He was a man of talents, probity and honor, and great military skill. Being a particular favorite of Napoleon, he rewarded him with the highest military promotions. After the restoration of Louis and the abdication of Napoleon, he retired to private life and lived at Munich, the capital of Bavaria. His income was $2,500,000 a year. He died in 1828, universally lamented.

The Dutchman's Shower.—Our steady rain has been interrupted by two or three days of good weather, and pleasantly cold We have found a good description of the previous month, in the Dutchman's weather journal—"Had a dunder shower for tree weeks, and then it set in for a settle rain."—Salem Gaz.
