EASTON GAZETTE

EASTON:

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 13, 1828.

Signs of the Times and Serious Reflections.

"We regret to say, that a prominent leader of the Jackson party in this town (Hagers-Town) a few days ago, boldly stepped forth as the champion of the measures now in agitation in the Southern States, and declared that he should not be astonished to see Gen. Jackson, if not elected, placed in the Presidential Chair at the point of FIFTY THOUSAND BAYONETS."

Gen. Jackson endorsed Aaron Burr's paper in 1807 when Burr was carrying on his conspiracy against the United States—Gen. Jackson received a large sum of money for the purpose of paying for the building and equipping of Col. Burr's boats about the same time, and actually applied the money to that purpose—and so late as the year 1813 Blennerhassit, the friend and confidential associate of Burr, who was ruined by Burr, brought a suit against Gen. Jackson, as holding in his hands the property of Burr. The proceedings in this trial are lately published.

The intimate friends and advocates of Gen. Jackson are Burr, Swartwout, Gen. Coffee, all deeply engaged in Burr's conspiracy—Jackson's supporters to the South are to a man, all those who have lately been denouncing the Union of these States, and th eatening to withdraw themselves from the Federal Union, if things did not go on to please them better—A hopeful band of Traitorous Conspirators and furious insurgents! These allied to the Fifty Thousand Bayonet men that mean to put Jackson into the Presidential Chair, whether the people will it or not, will form a powerful body, with a Military Chieftain at their head, to trample upon the liberties of this country.

Suppose Jackson should be elected and he should begin again with his "Martial Law," his repeal of the "Habeas Corpus Writ" and his military Court Martials to try every body he pleases for whatever he pleases—Will not the courts and the juries stand between the people and all damages? Thou fool! What can three judges, a prosecutor, a sheriff, and a jury do against an enraged and revengeful Military Chieftain, with fifty thousand soldiers at his heels, all well paid and paid with your own money too, to enslave and butcher you at the will of the Chieftain, as he did poor John Woods for not picking up the bones to please one of his officers—and as he did the other six militia men for going home when their officers told them they would be fools for staying any longer.

Gen. Jackson's honesty.—Is he not an honest man? Would an honest man try to rid himself of an accusation by a wilful false statement against a man that he had caused to be put to death, as Gen. Jackson did in his letter to his Baltimore friend, where he stated that poor Harris, one of the Militia men he had ordered to be shot, had been guilty of "Arson and Burglary" although Gen. Jackson knew at the time he made this false statement, that Harris had never even been accused of either "Arson or Burglary." Would an honest man try to swear away the good name and fame of an esteemed citizen by summoning a witness to prove allegations that were false, groundless, and fictitious, as Gen. Jackson did when he summoned the Honorable Mr Buchanan to prove false statements against Mr. Clay? So false, that Mr. Buchanan utterly denied them, and declared his mortification that Gen. Jackson should for a moment have supposed that he (Mr Buchanan) could have entertained such sentiments.

Did Gen. Jackson suppose, when he called on his friend Buchanan to prove what he put into his mouth, that Buchanan would swear to any thing to serve the Jackson cause? And what must Mr. Buchanan's real opinion of Gen. Jackson now be? We make no inquiry as to the opinion of the world concerning Mr. Buchanan seeing that he sticks closely on to the fate of the Hero. Gen. Jackson did villify Mr. Clay and said Mr. Buchanan gave him the proofs—Mr. Buchannan positively denies he ever gave Gen. Jackson any such proofs—and yet Gen. Jackson and Mr. Buchanan are said to be still friends, and nobody has accused them of bargain.

The Jackson Candidates for the Assembly are all out and arranged under their proper heads—and their friends are hard at work, upon all occasions, openly and slyly supporting Jackson's cause among us—yet the Jackson Candidates want Adams men to vote for them—Oh! they want to make the people believe there is no connexion between the two elections. Now suppose the Adams men were weak and silly enough to be persuaded to vote for the Jackson Candidates, and by this means these Jackson Candidates were either to be elected, or placed high upon the polls—What would be the next thing, the moment that election was over?—Why the next thing would be, that those Jackson Candidates and all their Jackson friends would give their poll as an evidence of Jackson strength in the County, and then lay claim to that strength to support Mr. Sangston, the Jackson Elector—Adams men had better be the same thing from first to last—the great question is the Presidential election, and we ought to do nothing to injure our cause or to give false currency to our opponents. Let Adams men go together throughout with hearty concord and under true colours.

DREADFUL STEAMBOAT ACCIDENT.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says, that a letter from New Orleans, under date of the 13th ultimo. states that on the day preceding, as the Steamboat Grampus was towing two vessels up the river, her six boilers burst, and not a vestige of them remained. Seven persons were killed, five missing, and four wounded. The two vessels were also much injured.

STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION.

The Southern mail of yesterday furnishes us with the following particulars relative to the recent steam boat explosion near New Orleans, briefly alluded to in yesterday's American.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 13.

Dreadful Catastrophe!—Again the painful duty devolves upon us of recording the melancholy event of another bursting of a boiler. The towboat Grampus, while towing up four vessels yesterday about day light, when within nine miles of the city exploded one of her boilers, and schocking to relate killed every person employed on the boat, with the exception of Capt. Morrison, who at the time of the accident happened to be aft on the upper deck, in company with Mr. Wederstrandt, a passenger in the Grampus, both of whom escaped with slight wounds. The vessels next to the boat were greatly injured. The Brig Thomas & William had her fore and main topmast cut off and her bows and quarter shattered, and the other vessels sustained much injury in their rigging. We are unable to give the particulars to day, as the gentleman who brought the information, left soon after the accident happened.

We are informed that not the least blame can be attributed to Capt. Morrison, as he had lost most of the previous day in cleaning and repairing the boilers to prevent any accident; but that the most culpable neglect was attributable to the engineers in permitting the boilers to become almost destitute of water.

☞In addition to the above, taken from the Courier of last evening we have received the following list of killed, wounded and missing on board the steamboat Grampus, August 12th—Jos. Dryden, second engineer, missing; Thos. Dodd, steersman, do: Harry and Frank, belonging to Mr. Banks, do; Laden Bruce and George Mooney, do; Jack Smith, a free man, scalded to death; George Brown, a Balize pilot, died of a broken leg before medical assistance could be procured; Wm. Taylor, slightly scalded; John Harlin badly scalded; Charles Craig, broken arm—of the brig Anastasia, two men who were lying on the fore hatch, one Robert Watkins, carpenter, scalded to death and blown overboard, but was picked up immediately and the other man was badly scalded. At the time of the explosion captain Morrison and Mr. Wederstandt were sitting near the wheelhouse, conversing together—the whole of the boilers, together with every thing forward of the cylinder, were blown into the air.—Captain Morrison was considerably hurt in the fall—Mr. Wederstrandt had his neck severely, but not dangerously cut and his body otherwise injured by the fall.

From the New York Gazette.

NEW YORK, 6th Sept. 1828.

Mr. Editor—It becomes our painful duty to announce to you that Gen. Bailey, who has for so many years presided over the Post Office Department of this City, departed this life at 10 o'clock this morning. He was attacked with apoplexy early yesterday morning, just as he was about to depart with his lady on a short visit to Poughkeepsie. General Bailey had long been in public life, and had always sustained the character of an honest and upright man, than whom none was more deserving. His death will be seriously felt by all who have had transactions with the Post Office in this city, during his administration of its affairs, which he has always conducted with most scrupulous regard to public and private interests. He has descended to the tomb "full of years and full of honors," and universally regretted—by none more, than

Your's respectfully,

LANG, TURNER & CO.

The New York Mercantile states, that among the persons spoken of to succeed the late Gen. Bailey, as Postmaster of that city, are Col. Monroe, late President of the United States—and Albert Gallatin, Esq.

The Intelligencer of yesterday says—"The death of Judge Trimble, of the Supreme Court of the United States, is confirmed. He died at his residence in Kentucky, yesterday three weeks ago, after a short illness, following a laborious term of the Circuit Court. His loss will be seriously felt, as he had already attained very high estimation and reputation as a Judge.—Here is a great office to be filled. The persons we have heard principally spoken of for it, are Mr. M'Lean, of Ohio, (the Postmaster General) Mr. Robertson Mr. Crittenden, and Mr. Boyle, of Kentucky. There will probably be many others. The office of District Judge of the District of Ohio is also yet vacant. The latter, we suppose, will soon be filled; but we should doubt whether so important an appointment as the other will be filled until after Congress meets."

The National Journal of yesterday says:—"We are sorry to state, that Don PABLO OBREGON, Minister from Mexico, yesterday committed suicide by suspending himself from the lamp iron in the passage of his dwelling house in this city, during a fit of derangement. He was a gentleman of mild and courteous demeanour. His unfortunate end has excited much regret, as he was universally esteemed."

We understand that His Excellency the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from the Republic of Chili, has directed the officers of his Legation to wear mourning for one month, on account of the death of Don Pablo Obregon, late Minister from Mexico.

[American, Sept. 12.

The following is an extract of a letter from Com. Porter to the Editor of the New York Enquirer—

"Our vessels are all laid up for the present, & their crews discharged. I have placed them all in a good state of preservation, and they can all be fitted for sea in a few days after the men are on board. In the mean time I propose visiting the United States for the recovery of my health which is somewhat impaired, from so long an exposure to an unhealthy climate; besides I want repose of body and mind. A few months will restore me to health and vigor, and I shall return fresh for any service. The navy is at this moment scarcely any expense to this government, whereas that of Spain is burdensome to an insupportable degree in the island of Cuba."

GOVERNOR RAY.

The Reporter, of yesterday, claims this gentleman as a friend of Jackson's publishing an extract of a letter said to be written by him as evidence of the fact. The letter from which it is taken, was written, if we can recollect rightly, previous to General Jackson's answer to the queries of the Senate of Indiana. After the reception of that answer, Gen. Ray avowed himself the friend of the Administration. We offer the following as proof positive of his Administrationism.—Harrisburg Argus.

"The Hon. Thomas H. Blake, the Representative in Congress in the first District has been with me in ten counties and he will tell the world, that my course has been uniform. I have told the people every where, on the stump and by letter as I have always admitted publicly and privately, that I was in favor of the present administration, and have reasoned to convince the people that they ought to be so too. I am now in favor of it, and am convinced I ever shall be in favor of it, whilst the essential measures of the West are so ably vindicated as they are."

The Jackson Committee of Correspondence in Philadelphia, in a late address, to prove that Gen. Washington "reposed confidence in the integrity and ability of Gen. Jackson," assert, that Gen. Washington appointed him U S. District Attorney for the Territory south of the Ohio, and published a copy of the Commission signed by Washington, dated 12th August 1790. The editor of the National Journal has investigated the affair, and ascertained that Jackson never was appointed by Washington, or any body else, U S District Attorney for the Territory referred to; that the ordinance forming the territorial government, does not authorise the appointment of any such Officer; and, furthermore, that any such nomination of Jackson never was laid before the Senate of the United States by Washington, nor did Jackson ever receive an appointment from the United States requiring the sanction of the Senate, before 1812, when he received his first Military commission under the government.

Philadelphia Daily Adv.

FLOOD IN THE CONNECTICUT.—Letters from Hartford, dated Saturday, stated that the Connecticut river had risen, in consequence of the late rains, higher than it had been known for years, and was still rising. It is said that the crops in the meadows will be entirely destroyed. Great quantities of timber and wood are floating down the current. Several stores in the lower streets had water on the first floor.

We are much indebted to a polite correspondent for the perusal of the "extract of a letter, dated St. Jago de Cuba, August 20," which states that the governors of that Island and Porto Rico have received orders from the King THEIR MASTER, to have all the boys found in the colleges of the United States brought home, lest they imbibe the principles of liberty and of heresy, which are in opposition to the throne and the altar; and the governors are not to permit, for the future, any boys being sent from the Islands to be educated in the United States. "Mr. V. and Mr. C." have been directed to send for their sons from colleges in this country. The writer feelingly adds: "This is the greatest of our misfortunes! We have no good teachers here; thus our sons may grow up like beasts. This is necessary, because a man that knows nothing cannot know his rights, and may be easily made to kiss the hand that oppresses him. "Happy you who live among the sons of Washington."

A Beautiful, new and useful invention.—By MR. PETER LAPORTE.

We have in our possession, and shall be glad to exhibit, a beautiful and robber-proof travelling trunk, made of a new material, which is thus described in the specification of the patentee.

"This cloth is made of hemp and wire, which is spun together, wove and twilled in the same way that all other cloths are. The hemp is twisted tight round the wires, and they are then woven together in the manner in which the common bagging is made. It may, however, be wove tight or open to suit the purposes for which it may be required, and after this operation it should, in all cases, be painted on both sides; this serves to prevent the hemp from rotting, and the wire from rusting. You may, if you please, put many coats of paint upon it, (suited to the object,) which will make the surface solid, smooth and elegant. This cloth may be used for many purposes, not only for boots of stages, but for carpeting, sacking bottoms of bedsteads, fancy chairs, sofas, pannels, (or in fact bodies,) or roofs of carriages, baskets, water buckets for travelling trunks, or the security of the mails."

There would really seem to be no end to the durability of whatever is constructed of these materials, and we know not why they may not be applied to all the objects enumerated, as well as various others. The trunk, while it is completely impenetrable, is lighter than the ordinary trunk. We really think that editors of papers would benefit the public, by the notice of this invention, whilst they would assuredly serve a very worthy citizen, by contributing to bring his valuable invention into immediate use.
