POETRY.

From Joanna Bailie's new drama of "The Bride."

EPITHALAMIUM.

Open wide the frontal gate,
The lady comes in bridal state,
Than wafted spices sweeter far,
Brighter than the morning star;
Modest as the lily wild,
Gentle as the nurse's child:
A lovelier prize of prouder boast
Never chieftain's threshold crost.

Like the beams of early day,
Her eye's quick flashes brightly play,
Brightly play and gladden all
On whom their kindly glances fall.
Her lips in smiling weave a charm
To keep the peopled house from harm.
In happy moment is she come,
To bless a noble chieftain's home.

Happy be her dwelling here,
Many a day, and month, and year!
Happy as the nested dove
In her fruitful ark of love!
Happy in her tented screen!
Happy in her garden green!
Thus we welcome, one and all,
Our lady to her chieftain's hall.

The Misses Rooker's Academy.

THE PATRONS of this Institution, and the public generally, are respectfully informed, that the duties of the Seminary will re-commence on MONDAY, the first day of September. Having long resided in this city, it is not deemed necessary to make any statements to the citizens of Baltimore, with respect to the merits of the School, or the qualifications of those who preside over its concerns. They venture to appeal with some degree of confidence to those best acquainted with them for testimonials of their assiduous efforts to form the minds of their Pupils.

But for the sake of those residing at a distance, they ask leave to say, that the spacious and convenient house in which they reside, is admirably calculated for the comfort and health of the Young Ladies belonging to the Boarding School—that all the branches of a useful and ornamental English education will be taught in their Seminary, and that strangers to them are referred to the following gentlemen for their character and qualifications as teachers.
