SPLENDID VIEWS OF AMERICAN SCENERY

ON FRIDAY, the 10th of October, 1828, will be published by T. K. Greenbank, No. 64, Spruce Street, Philadelphia, a volume of splendid views of American Scenery as follows:

1. A view of Beck's Shot Tower, on the Schuylkill near Philadelphia, and adjacent scenery.
2. A view of the Light House on Long Island Sound with the adjacent scenery.
3. A view of York on Lake Ontario, with the fortifications.
4. Characteristic Scenery on the Hudson River.
5. View of New London, Connecticut, with the adjacent scenery.
6. View of Lemon Hill, near Philadelphia, the seat of Henry Pratt, Esq.
7. The Tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon.
8. View at the Great Bend of the Susquehanna.
9. View of the Upper Falls of Solomon's Creek, Lucerne county, Pa.
10. View of the Lower Falls of Solomon's Creek.
11. View of the Catskill Mountains, from the Hudson.
12. View of Fort Niagara on Lake Ontario, from the Light House on the British side.

These views are executed in the best style of Philadelphia engraving, from drawings made upon the spot. Each plate will be accompanied by a full and accurate description thereof, as to make it perfectly intelligible to every person.

The work will be printed and issued to subscribers in the first style, on superior paper, and with a handsomely printed cover, and delivered to subscribers at the very low price of ONE DOLLAR. Flexible covers will be used for country subscribers, so that they can be safely sent by mail.

☞ Any gentleman, postmasters and others, who will interest themselves to procure ten subscribers; and remit $10 to the editor, shall receive twelve copies. From the very flattering patronage already received (1200 subscribers have put down their names) this volume will probably be succeeded by another, as soon as other plates can be engraved. All orders from the country will be promptly attended to.

Interesting to Ladies.—The following philosophical disquisition concerning the chances of Matrimony, is recommended to the consideration of ladies of a "certain age."

From the New York Albion.

CHANCES OF MARRIAGE.

When a fine young girl reaches the age of 15 or 16 years, she begins to think of the mysterious subject of matrimony; a state the delights of which her youthful imagination shadows forth in the most captivating forms. It is made the topic of light and incidental discourse among her companions, and it is recurred to with increasing interest every time it is brought on the tapis. When she grows a little older, she ceases to smatter about matrimony, and thinks more intently on the all important subject It engrosses her thoughts by day and her dreams by night; and she pictures to herself the felicity of being wedded to the youth for whom she cherishes a secret, but consuming flame! She surveys herself in the mirror, and, as it generally tells "a flattering tale," she turns from it with a pleasing conviction, that her beauty will enable her to conquer the heart of the most obdurate, and that, whoever else may die in a state of "single blessedness," she is destined to become ere many years roll by a happy bride.

From the age of eighteen to twenty is "the very witching time" of female life. During that period, the female heart is more susceptible of the soft and tender influences of love than at any other; and we appeal to our fair readers to say, whether, if inclination alone were consulted in the business, more marriages would not take place, during that ticklish season than in any by which it is preceded or followed. It is the grand climacter of love; and she who passes it with out entering into the state matrimonial, may chance to pass several years of her life ere she is caught in the meshes of Hymen. The truth is, that the majority of women begin to be more thoughtful when they have turned the age of twenty. The giddiness of the girl gives place to the sobriety of the woman. Frivolity is succeeded by reflection; and reason reigns where passion previously held undisputable sway The cares and the anxieties of life press themselves more on the attention; and as its sober realities become more palpable, they tend to weaken the effect of the sanguine anticipations of unmingled felicity in the marriage state which the mind had formed in its youthful day-dreams. In short, to use a common phrase, women, after 21, 'look before they leap."

Matrimony, however, though not so ardently longed for by the damsel who has passed what we have styled the grand climacter of love is never lost sight of either by the youngest or the most aged spinster in his Majesty's dominions.—It is a state on which the eyes of the whole female world are turned with the most pleasurable anticipation; and the spinster of forty is as full of hope ot one day being married as the damsel of twenty-one. But, sorry as we are to utter any thing which may tend to damp the hopes or to cloud the prospects of a fair lady, truth compels us to say, that, when once she has crossed the line, which, on the map of love, is marked Thirty, the chances are fearfully against the probability of her obtaining a husband, even of the sedate age of forty or fifty. If she pass many degrees beyond the line, her state becomes almost hopeless, nay desperate, and she may reconcile herself to live and die an old maid. All experience confirms this lamentable truth. No wonder therefore, that women make a mighty secret of their age, and that they occasionally tell a pardonable fib, in the attempt to induce the men to believe that they are several years younger than they really are. Who can blame them for practising a little finesse on this awful subject, seeing that their age if divulged, might utterly annihilate the chances of their ever enjoying the blessing of wedded love!!!

Experience, we have said confirms the lamentable truth, that females who have passed the line seldom reach the harbor of matrimony—Lest any of our readers should lay "the flattering unction to their souls" that, though they have crossed that awful point in the voyage of life they shall yet escape the rocks on which, if they strike all hopes of wedlock must be forever abandoned, we shall present them with a table which whilst it will exhibit to females their many chances of marriage at various ages, it will prove the truth of the positions which have been already advanced on the subject. The table to which we are about to draw their attention is extracted from the "report of the select committee of the House of Commons on the laws respecting friendly societies. It was drawn up by Dr. Granville, a physician and accoucheur of very extensive practice connected with several public institutions in the metropolis. The doctor whose attention had been directed to the statistical questions of the increase of population among the poor, thought that the public institutions to which he belonged might be made available in obtaining the information which he wanted. For this purpose he put questions to the females who, from time to time, came under his care to as certain the earliest age at which women of the poorer classes marry. He submitted to the committee the registered cases of 876 women; and the following table derived from their answers as to the age at which they respectively married, is the first ever constructed to exhibit to females their chances of marriage at various ages. Of the 876 females, there were married

It is to be borne in mind, that the females whose relative ages at the time of their marriage are above exhibited were all of the lower classes. Among an equal number from the middling or the higher classes we should not probably find so many as 195, or more than one fifth married under the age of 19; or so few as 1 16th part after 28; or only 1-30th part after 30.

From this curious statistical table, our fair readers may form a pretty accurate judgement of the chances which they have of entering into the holy state of matrimony, and of enjoying the sweets (we say nothing of the bitters) of wedded love. They ought always, however, to remember, that such of them as, independently of personal charms, possess the more powerful recommendation of property, will be deemed eligible as wives whatever may be their age.
