THE OAK TREE.

The Hickory Tree grows deep and high,
Its green clad beauties please the eye,
It spreads around a friendly shade,
'Tis stately formed and toughly made;
But still it is inferior far,
It cannot with the Oak compare:
The Oak its top can wave as high,
It is as pleasing to the eye,
As deep beneath the soil is found,
And spreads as sweet a shade around:
But still when nature formed the two,
Quite different ends she had in view.
Unto the noble Oak she gave
The conquest of the ocean's wave;
Bade it triumphant o'er it ride,
Become its ornament and pride,
And bear to every clime and shore,
The blessings commerce had in store.
But to the Hickory she assigned,
Uses of a far meaner kind;
For as 'tis tough and can't be broke,
She found it made a lasting yoke;
And then decreed the Hickory Tree,
For making YOKES alone should be.
Then those who wish the yoke to wear,
And a fell tyrant's burden bear,
Who do not prize their liberty,
May rally round the Hickory Tree;
But we the Oak will ever love,
The pride, the glory of the grove;
Emblem of Civic worth 'twill stand,
The pride of every Classic land:
Columbia, in its shade doth rest,
With honor, peace, and plenty blest,
And while she joys the Oak to see,
She spurns with scorn the Hickory Tree.

A WHALE STORY.—An Eastern paper contains an animated account of a novel circumstance which occurred in the river near the town of Harpswell. A shoal of large fish, of the grampus species, had entered the river, and by their puffing and blowing attracted the attention of the fishermen along shore, many of whom immediately assembled, and by dint of muskets and other weapons succeeded in driving the visiters up into shoal water. Here a battle royal took place—the fishermen, 22 in number, stimulated by the prospect of such rare booty, dashed in among the affrighted fry, armed with all sorts of deadly instruments, which they plied in every direction with such effect, that in the course of a short time they had captured, sunk or destroyed the whole of the enemy's squadron amounting to 71 taken, besides divers others sunk in the river.

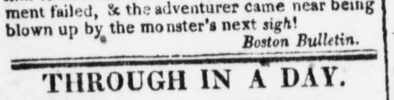

Some of these marine animals were upwards of 20 feet in length; and the product of the whole is estimated at about seventy five barrels of oil, worth 6 or 700 dollars. It is not precisely settled among the Hardswell ichthyologists, whether these creatures that live in the ocean and occasionally resort to the element above it for respiration, are, or are not fishes, according to the celebrated definition of Dr. Mitchill.—Some call them Blackfish, others Pot Fish and a sort of Grampus. They are described as having teeth, a dorsal fin, on each side, and a horizontal tail; no gills, a heart, lungs and warm blood; and a large spiracle in the upper part of the head through which they spout like the whale.

From the relation given of the achievement of these fishers, and of the zeal with which they assailed their prey, the scene must have been worthy of celebration both by pen and pencil. The van of the attack was led by the worthy representative of the town, who, armed with a broad axe, sprang from his boat upon the back of the biggest monster among them, and thus seated astride, like Arion or Sinbad the sailor, rode his strange steed a number of rods cutting and hacking most industriously the while, until at length both "the horse and his rider" reached the strand, where the finish blow was given. Another adventurer, after several unsuccessful efforts by his brethren to secure an unmanageable grampus, waded forth to the giant, who lay floundering formidably in his rage and seized him by the head; but the enemy with a huge lurch, capsized his assailant who was fain to make good his retreat to the shore. Another, drove two large fish to the beach, where he fastened them by ropes to some trees. And another, who had come in contact with one of the largest, thrust his fist into the spouting hole expecting thus to stop his breath and cause him to become more buoyant; but the experiment failed, & the adventurer came near being blown up by the monster's next sigh!

FOUNTAIN INN,
M. BARR

HAVING leased the above extensive, well known and long established HOTEL, informs his friends, the friends of the House and the Public generally, that he has had the house thoroughly repaired & fitted up in a very superior manner with entire new furniture, and is now prepared with every requisite, throughout every department of his establishment to make his customers comfortable.

There are several pleasant parlors fitted up with chambers attached, having a private entrance for the accommodation of families.

The location of this Hotel is most advantageous for Gentlemen visiting the city on business, being near both the wharves and Market street—however it is known to almost every gentleman who comes to Baltimore by the bay, and has been formerly a favourite stopping place with them.

The proprietor trusts it will become a favorite house again with gentlemen from the bay, when it is known that the house is in as fine order as it ever has been; and he feels a confidence (will gentlemen call and see the alterations and improvements made) that a portion of patronage will be awarded him, pledges himself that as far as attention and exertion can go toward accommodation, nothing will be wanting to produce comfort.

☞ Terms of board one dollar per day.

Baltimore, May 3, 1828—6m

☞ The Cambridge Chronicle, Centreville Times, and Elkton Press will publish the above 6 months, and forward their accounts to the Proprietor.

100 DOLLARS REWARD.

RANAWAY from the subscriber on Sunday morning the 21st inst. a mulatto fellow who calls himself ABRAHAM SULLIVAN, about 21 years of age, 5 feet 10 or 11 inches high, straight and well made, with rather a down look when spoken to, but polite and attentive.—For the last eight or nine months he has been employed as a waiter, in the Easton Hotel by Mr. Peacock. He had on when he ranaway a fox coloured hat, blue cloth coat, corduroy pantaloons and new shoes.—There is little doubt he will change his clothing as he took a variety with him.

Whoever will take up said Runaway and deliver him in the Jail in Easton, Talbot county, (Md.) shall receive a reward of Fifty Dollars, if taken in this State or the State of Delaware—if taken out of the above States, One Hundred Dollars reward will be given.

WM. H. GROOME, Agent for Isabella Smyth.

Easton, Oct. 4—tf

---

One Hundred Dollars Reward.

RANAWAY on Saturday night last, a negro man called DANIEL, who is about 32 years of age, five feet 8 or 9 inches high, of a dark mulatto colour, has broad shoulders and broad face, is rather lusty and well made, has large white teeth, his eyes are of a reddish colour, and when he is spoken to he has a smile on his countenance. Daniel was hired out in Easton, and went off under pretence of going to Camp Meeting, and there is reason to believe that he was accompanied by a negro man, the property of Mrs. Smyth, who was also hired out in Easton, and is of a chesnut colour and rather tall. I have no knowledge of what clothes Daniel took with him, other than a blue jacket and fur hat nearly new. It is more than probable that these negroes will make their way either to Delaware or New Jersey. The above reward will be paid for apprehending Daniel if taken out of the State, and Fifty Dollars if taken in the State and lodged in Jail so that I get him, and all reasonable expenses paid if brought to Easton and lodged in Jail.

EDWARD O. MARTIN.

Head of Wye, Talbot co. Md.
Sept. 27, 1828.
