EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, (Md.)

Saturday Evening, Oct. 31.

We hoped that the additional remarks of the last week in relation to what may be the views of this year's majority in the General Assembly, would have satisfied every one of the justness of those previously submitted and to the temperate world, who go for measures and their durable effects on Society, and not for bounties and places, we believe they were satisfactory; but in comes the Snow Hill Messenger, and the Delaware Gazette, and such like, open mouthed against us; that it put us in mind of John Randolph and a certain set of gentry that he compared to Tray, Blanch & Sweetheart, that were just unkennelled against him. Why Gentlemen; (this is not intended either "figuratively or theoretically" Mr. Keatinge) you seem to be in a pucker, and from what Mr. Keatinge has given us, one would be apt to think that he really would write sense if he could, but we now offer a good reward to any one who will show us as much sheer nonsense and stuff any where in print as is contained in Mr. Keatinge's remarks to us—excepting it be in his adjoining column where he most unwittingly undertakes to talk about the events in Europe.

As to friend Harker and his "cheeks awry" it is bruited abroad that he is going the way of all flesh, and since he will not believe Joshua V. Gibbons who was an eye and an ear witness to what he asserts in contradiction to some of poor Harker's hashed up fancies, people are now sure he is crazy or worse.

Friend Harker, you are not the first man who ever tried to be funny when he lacked to be wise, and your total misconception of what you are talking about is an ample apology. You must be meddling though, that is the way to recommend yourself for the first vacant chance —"rewards for friends and punishments for adversaries"—and if you dont keep talking you will not be noticed—It is our kindness, to take notice of your remarks, that furnishes you with half your notoriety, and if you do not make a proper apology both to Mr. Dupont and Mr. Gibbons, we must drop you, and you sink—you ought Harker to make the apology, indeed you ought—for an apology will salve over much of your guilt and only make you ridiculous; but an obstinate perseverance in wrong and error, after evidence enough has been produced to convince all the world, that you published both slander and falsehood, is unbecoming not only a gentleman but a common honest man and until you make the amende honorable, no more from us.

A few weeks ago we noticed a stalk of Corn, presented to us by Capt. Trippe of this county, with 9 ears on it, we have since received two stalks from Henry Holliday, Esq. the one bearing eight the other ten ears—the seed he obtained from Capt. Trippe about two years ago and has been since selecting his seed corn in the manner recommended by the captain, viz. selecting from the most productive corn in the field as seed corn—and is convinced of the great advantage to be derived by farmers from pursuing this course—Last week we received ten ears of very large corn from Wm. G. Tilghman, Esq. of Miles River, in this county—some of the ears measured in length upwards of 12 inches, & had from 18 to 22 rows on the cob, the grain very large, one of the ears had upwards of 1200 grains on it and most of them 1000; one ear, (not the largest) shelled a pint and a gill, good measure—Mr. Tilghman says, in his note accompanying the corn, "It will not perhaps be amiss to inform you how I got this breed of corn—About 12 or 14 years ago Capt. Bullen went to Richmond, Va. for a load of coal for the late Mr. Barton of your town, and on his return he came to my house to take in a load of wheat; I happened to go on board of his boat, where I saw a part of two ears of corn; they struck me as being the largest and finest I had ever seen; I asked for and obtained them.—This was late in the fall, the spring following I planted them, and I think, as well as I can recollect, I made a barrel or a barrel and a half, which put me fully into the seed. For the last 10 years I have been in the habit of selecting my seed corn (when husking) from the largest and finest ears, until I got what would serve for planting; last year I gathered part of my seed corn from Stalks that bore two ears, but as yet have discovered no difference—I mean to persevere in this plan selecting the twin ears."—Mr. Tilghman, we understand, has about three hundred and seventy five thousand in cultivation the present year and thinks he will gather at least 1000 barrels.

The New York Gazette of Monday states that Asa Worthington, Esq. late of New York, is appointed Consul at Lima, in the place of Wm. Radcliffe, removed.

——West, Esq. of Illinois, is appointed Minister to Chili.

ANOTHER MEMBER OF CONGRESS REWARDED.

We perceive by the New York Evening Post that Selah R. Hobbie, of the county of Delaware in that state, has been appointed Assistant Postmaster General. Mr. Hobbie was a member of the last Congress, and is son-in-law of General Erasmus Root, the great Magnus Apollo of the Caucus system in New York, who will doubtless perform efficient services for this reward conferred upon his son-in-law.—Balt. Chron.

John M. Buchanan, the editor of a Jackson paper in this State, was fined $250 at the present term of Allegany County Court, for having published a libel, against the private and official character of the Rev. N. B Little, during the recent Presidential canvass.

Honest George Kremer has lost his election to the Pennsylvania assembly, the majority against him being between 13 and 14 hundred votes.

Strength of parties in Congress.—As the elections of representatives to the 21st Congress have now terminated, we have prepared from such information as we think may be relied on, the following schedule, showing the strength of the two parties as they now stand, and also as they stood at the close of the last session.

It appears from these statements that the administration majority in the Senate has experienced a decrease of two members since the last session, and in the House an increase of forty two.—The majority in the Senate is, however, sufficient for the ratification of appointments—and in the House, to create disunion among the different interests which compose the party.

Note.—There are two vacancies in the Senate one to be supplied from Delaware, and the other from Georgia. In the former State, a majority of both branches of the Legislature being in the Opposition, we have put down the Senator as of the same politics. In Georgia the reverse. In the House there are five vacancies—one from each of the following states:—Maine, Vermont, N. York, N. Carolina, and Georgia. In the two first, Opposition members will unquestionably be elected, and in the two last, Administration members. We have entered them in the schedule accordingly. In New York the case is doubtful, but as the former incumbent was a Jackson man, we have put down his successor as one of the same politics.

We are glad to discover, by an advertisement, that the public are not wholly to lose the benefit of the practical knowledge and ready business talent of Dr. P. Bradley, late second Assistant Postmaster General. The owners of the several Stage lines between Baltimore and Washington city have been fortunate in engaging him as their Agent; and one of the immediate consequences, beneficial to the public, of his taking charge of them, is that the stages will hereafter run through in five hours, instead of about seven hours, as heretofore.—National Intelligencer.

ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION.

In our paper of Saturday we noticed the departure of the Brig Annawan from this port, on a three year's cruise. She belongs to a private association of gentlemen, among whom we have heard the names of Mr. Rodman, of New Bedford and of Mr. James Bleecker and Capt. Leslie, of this City. She is fitted out for the combined purpose of Commerce and Discovery, her destination is for the frozen regions of the Antarctic Circle, and her whole equipment is admirably calculated to encounter the hazards and perils of those seas. The Annawan is commanded by Capt. Palmer, an experienced navigator, whose name is already connected with the discovery of a Continent or large group of Islands near the Antarctic Circle. Associated with him in this enterprise is Capt. Pendleton, commanding the Seraph a vessel of equal size, and who we understand was selected by the late Secretary of the Navy as chief Pilot for that grand national voyage of discovery, which after an infinite deal of talk ended in smoke. Captain Pendleton is senior officer of the Expedition. The crews of both vessels amounting to about 50 in number are all stout, healthy young men, the sons of substantial Connecticut farmers, and to many of them, it is their first voyage. Among other peculiarities in her equipment, we were struck with the simple contrivance by which her elegant and substantial whaleboats may be instantaneously converted into sleds for passing over fields of ice.

The Lyceum of Natural History in this city has also lent its important aid to this public spirited enterprise. Under the auspices of this learned body, Dr. James Eights, of Albany a distinguished scientific gentleman, goes out as naturalist to the expedition. We have thus an assurance that nothing of interest to the cause of science will be lost to the community. Mr. Reynolds, an individual well known for the energy and perseverence with which he endeavoured to call the attention of Congress to a similar undertaking, accompanies the expedition with commercial views. Much advantage to the enterprise may be expected from his zeal and geographical information, acquired while investigating this subject under the direction of the late Secretary of the Navy. A valuable library of several hundred volumes, with many important and appropriate philosophical instruments, have been generously loaned by several public spirited citizens; and when we add that all the instructions for the voyage, and every arrangement have been directed by Capt. Edmond Fanning the Agent of the South Sea Company, whose life has been spent in those seas; we are only announcing that nothing has been neglected to ensure success to these daring adventurers. May the promised "voyage of Pendleton and Palmer" yield neither in interest nor value to that of any of their adventurous predecessors, whose names are identified with the reputation and glory of their respective countries.—N. Y. Courier.

Sam Patch.—This celebrated and unique æronautical performer, seems to control the dangerous effects of rapid specific gravitation in the atmosphere as well as to overcome the hazard of plunging into the depths of the abyss below the Falls of Niagara. He is now the paragon, the lion—attends the parties of ladies—every one desires to pry into his countenance to see if something extraordinary cannot be discovered—they discover nothing, however, but a careless good humored phiz, fond of conviviality and good cheer.

Sam possesses, what few have arrived at, contempt of danger. He seems to have perfect command of his motions during his swift transactions through the air, because when near the water he brings his hands suddenly from above his head to below his hips, and strikes the water in such a position as guards his back, his breast and his face from injury. This jump of Patch is the greatest fete of the kind ever effected by man. He may now challenge the universe for a competitor. We hop that the people of this village may think proper to rig a topmast high enough to enable Sam to give our bustling citizens generally a view of his powers, though on a reduced scale, in Buffalo harbor. We think something handsome might be obtained for him on the occasion. The are thus described, by a friend, who was an eye witness:

"Steam boat Niagara, ½ past 12 o'clock,
Oct. 17th,—Niagara River.

Preparations were made to enable Mr. Patch to amuse the passengers by leaping into the river. The boat was stopt. The foreyard was raised about 50 feet from the water, on which the intrepid Sam Patch appeared precisely at 12 o'clock. The jumper took his leap, and a beautiful leap it was. When he came up, the passengers gave three hearty cheers. From the manner of his striking the water, it was feared by some that he had hurt his back; but he came on board in fine spirits, perfectly sound.

Whitney's Eagle Hotel. ¼ past 4 o'clock.

Sam has just made his great jump.—The day was lowering and rainy. However, the number of 500 persons assembled on the island, to witness the fete: the Canada shore was crowded. To view the platform, erected for the fearless Patch from the Biddle-Stair-Way, did not appear so grand, as the platform reached only about two thirds the height of the bank; but to descend to the margin of the water, in the gulf beneath and then look up at the perpendicular ladder made you imagine that it would require superhuman powers to accomplish such an enterprise. Sam ascended the ladder and remained on the top about ten minutes, resting himself and adjusting his position for the leap; during which he was repeatedly cheered by the spectators. At length he rose,—every eye was bent intently on him,—he waved his hand and kissed the star-sprangled banner, that floated gracefully o'er his head, and then precipitated himself like an arrow into the flood below! 'Twas a matchless and tremendous leap. He very soon re-appeared, and swam to the shore with great ease. Then it was, that a painful and unpleasant, yet indescribable sensation was driven from each breast, by the flood of joy which succeeded on seeing that he was safe. Then it was that the benumbing spell which had reigned a minute or two, from the moment he arose on the platform, was broke by the burst of the voice of congratulation—all rushed forward, (who were below,) to take the Jumping Hero by the hand: and the intrepid Sam spoke to the first, "There's no mistake in Sam Patch!" And by the waving of handkerchiefs and the huzzas of the company, there was no mistake, for with one consent they exclaimed,—"This is the Real Sam Patch!"

A gentleman present who ascended to the top of the ladder, is of opinion that but few could imagine or appreciate the sublimity of the scene, without they ascended the ladder, which was rising of 120 feet high.

VERY LATE FROM EUROPE.

New York, October 26.—The packet ship Sully, Captain Macy, arrived this morning from Havre, whence she sailed on the 1st inst. By this arrival, the editors of the Commercial Advertiser have files of Paris papers to the 30th of September inclusive.

Passengers in the packet ship Sully, Hon. James Brown, Esq., late minister of the U. States to the Court of France lady and two servants, Miss Brown, Gen. Scott, U. S. Army, lady and servant Miss Scott, Miss Cornelia Scott, Mrs. Macy, Mr. H. Burgry and lady of New York; Mr. Daniel Glover, lady, child and servant, Mr. Walter and daughter, Isaac Field, of Philadelphia; J. Sessing and lady, H. Granier, J. Buhrer, Rodolph Dietschy, of Germany; Count Armand D'Ostrante, Count Athanase D'Ostrante, Louis Elsentze, of France, and 3 in the steerage.

The Constellation, which took out Mr. Rives to Havre, sailed again on the 22d September for the Mediterranean, with Commodore Biddle, who is to take command on that station.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

The Paris papers of the 28th September contain the account of the conclusion of peace, as given in the London Atlas of the 27th. There was also a rumour on the same day, of the renewal of hostilities between the Russians and the turks. This report was somewhat strengthened on the 20th, by the following extract of a commercial letter from Vienna, dated September 18:—

"At the opening of the Exchange to-day Bank actions were at 1193, but they fell suddenly to 1190. This fall is attributed to the rupture of negociations, serious commotions at Constantinople, and the definitive march of the Russian forces on the Turkish capital."

It is somewhat suspicious that no dates are given for this intelligence of the "definitive march" of the Russian forces.—The following intelligence from Adrianople, of the 9th September, as given by the Augsburg Gazette, is more probable:

"The conferences were suspended on the 3d, upon a declaration being made by the Turkish Plenipotentiaries that they stood in need of fresh instructions upon one of the points under discussion. The Russian commander granted them ten days, declaring that he would not wait beyond the 14th, for the definitive conclusion of peace. The point in question is believed to be the indemnity, which is fixed at 25 millions of silver rubles; (about £4,000,000,) Anapa, Poti, and Akhalzick, are to be ceded to Russia, who will demand nothing of the Turkish empire in Europe. Whilst waiting for the definitive signature of the treaty on the 14th, Gen. Diebitsch continues his operations. The army holds itself ready to march, if on the day in question the Sultan has not come to a decision. Immense magazines are establishing at Adrianople, for the Russian troops.

New York Oct. 27.

From London.—By the packet ship Corinthian, Capt. Chadwick, we have received London papers to the evening of September 30th. inclusive. They add no continental intelligence of interest. The English Funds were steady, Consols being at 89 2-2:

A letter from Lisbon; dated the 12th. September, states that the Diana frigate had arrived from St. Michaels, having the crew of the American ship Galatia, captured off Terceira and carried into that port; they were all heavily ironed.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28.

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.—

The New Orleans papers received by yesterday's mail contain the important intelligence of the capitulation of the Spanish General Barradas and his army, at Tampico, to the Mexican forces under General St. Anna. The New Orleans Bee of the 2d instant says:—"A passenger on board of the schooner Galga, laying at the point, and from the coast of Tampico, whence she sailed on the 22d of last month, (September) relates that General Barradas capitulated to Santa Anna on the 12th, on condition he should keep his flags and arms, and should be conveyed to Havana. Five actions took place before the capitulation. The sick and wounded, to the number of 1500, to be at the expense of the Mexican government, and after their recovery conveyed to Havana. The articles of capitulation provide for the protection of all vessels, either foreign or Spanish, having brought provisions to Tampica before the capitulation.—American.
