SCENES AT WASHINGTON .- We have had a glimpse of a lithographic engraving justissued at Philadelphia. It represents the Presidential Palace at Washington, tumbling into rains, in the midst of which "the Greatest and Best" is seen in the great Chair of State, which is falling from under him—at his feet is his pipe and tobacco box-fallen and broken in pieces. The likeness of the Hero and his attitude, exhibiting fright and despair, are inimitable, the most casual observer would recognize a strong and faithful likeness at a glance. On the falling pillars of the edifice are hanging scrolls of are excellent like newes of the four Secretaries Eaton, Branch, Van Buren, and Ingham, while the bodies, feet and to be exhibit full grown Rats well fed upon Treasury pap. On the tail of the Van Buren rat the General has placed his foot which seems to say -- stop -- you are to continae in office till your successor is appointed." On one of the pillars which is falling on the right of the General is these words-"Public confidence in the stability and harmony of this Administration." In another part of the build-Y virtue of sundry writs, of venditioni ex- ing, of rude and unseemly appearance, is writ-
