OBITUARY.

As "the righteous are to be had in everlasting remembrance," it cannot be amiss to speak a word just praise to the memory of one who emphatically was entitled to the appellation of a child of God. Mrs ANN CAROLINE, consort of the Rev. Thomas Bayne, and daughter of the late John Singleton, was early taught and readily embraced the truths of the Bible. She became an experimental and practical christian in the very morning of her days, and her life has been such, as called forth from all who knew her, an acknowledgement of the truth of christianity. None could see her humble and meek behaviour, her unaffected piety, her constant and unwavering attention to the duties enjoined by that blessed Book, which she made the rule of her faith and practice, without being conscious, that she was the sincere follower of Him who was meek and lowly.

Hers was not the religion which has form only, it was the religion of the heart, it was a living, active principle diffused through the soul, by the spirit of God, and shone out in her life and conversation from the days of her childhood, till the time of her death which occurred on Tuesday night last 30th June, when she was within a few days of being 41 years old. On that night between 10 and 11 o'clock, her happy soul was released from its suffering tenement of clay, and soared away to the society of the sanctified in the realms of eternal day.—For nearly 12 months past her sufferings have been exceedingly severe, but through them all she murmured not; her language always was, I am willing to suffer as it is the Lord's will. On the day of her death, her husband asked her, if she was going to her heavenly Father? She answered "Yes, Glory be to God I am, I have no doubt about it, I know I am going home to rest with him forever."

She was the tender and affectionate wife, parent, sister & child, and her peculiar delight, after her children were old enough, was to instruct them, in that religion which she found to be sweeter than life and stronger than death. Her faithful and unfiring efforts, her prayers and her tears for her children, will doubtless be had in remembrance for them, and eternity will unfold the fruit of her pious labour. She has left a bright christian example, and the writer of this imperfect tribute, prays that all who have known her, will imitate her virtues and like her welcome death, pass the stormy waves of Jordan and find the haven of eternal rest.
