To be a party man for the sake of giving effect to distinct and known principles that, from the deepest reflection in your own mind; you believe to be most salutary for your Country's welfare, is very correct and very honorable—But to be a party man from self interested views, from personal opposition to others, or for the sake of party ambition, is very much the reverse.

That many, very many of those who have united themselves with the Jackson party will refuse & disdain to go with Van Buren men, we know very well—they are too wise, too self respectful to suffer themselves to be transferred by Party leaders like cattle or slaves from one master to another. There are a few others who joined the Jackson standard honestly, who, from infatuation, may adhere to Van Buren, although in truth they neither like Van Buren nor the party leaders who support him—yet they cant well tell how or why they follow on—There are then those who follow the party they started with, not very sedulous in their investigation, but who take it for granted that to go on as they begun is right enough—now these descriptions of persons are not exactly obnoxious to the justly cutting criticisms that the leaders, the self interested, and the madly reckless residum of the party lay themselves open to—as they are neither originators nor yet entirely patronizers of the plans, systems, principles, and schemes which mark the progress of the Jackson, Van Buren, office holders party, who style themselves the Democratic party. They are rather temporary attendants on, than members of the Jackson, Van Buren, Office holders Democratic party, and therefore in speaking of the Jackson or Van Buren Party we do not apply our remarks to them.

Indeed we could not—for we believe that the real Van Buren office holders party is the most abandoned and prostituted party that was ever known—not so bloody with massacre as some of the hateful revolutionary parties in revolutionary France, because perhaps they have not had the opportunity presented to them to become so—but in rottenness of principle,—in the destitution of all the charities of life—in abject submission to a power that urges them on in a course that heaps upon their souls the deep & dark condemnation of the rankest sin, they are inferiour to no party that in the depths of disgraceful vindictiveness and self devotion ever aimed to overthrow the peace, security and comfort of society.

That the whig party to a man should plant themselves as a fortress to resist this destroying association—that very man who is happily extricated & free from this descerating communion should desire to bare his breast & brandish his arm to stay and baffle this overwhelming conspiracy against the peace and order of society, and against her laws, religion and safety, is not only not wonderful, but dutiful.—The contumelies that we are daily receiving from this arrogant Banditti who are looking to live upon public plunder however obtained.—The deep designs they entertain against us of robbing us of our good fame, patriotism, and every virtue that can recommend the man or adorn life, by their unblushing calumnies, their reproachful falsehoods, consciously uttered, and all the malignant spirit that their impious minds can concoct, are reasons enough, strong and cogent, why we should all lay our hand upon the altar of American Independence and swear, that we will suffer no obstruction or check to our exertions until we redeem our country through its constitutional courses, from the blasting influence of a party, to whom injustice is an every day pursuit,—wickedness an hourly resort—and crime no hindrance in the prosecution of their ends.

As men, true to our honor and our country, we ought to swear a never ceasing resistance to our arrogant oppressors—our malicious persecutors—our hating, implacable personal foes.

It is time to speak out and stand forth—every hour that we deter it is a loss of honor to ourselves and a loss of favour to our country—Let us then speak the language and walk the course that becomes patriots who see their country in danger—Let us advance and meet those wrong doers, hurl defiance in their teeth, and proclaim to the world, day by day, their treacheries, their voraciousness, their corruptions.

In announcing the death of the Chief Justice of the U. States, which occurred in Philadelphia on the evening of the 6th last past, the duty is performed with all the humiliation and sorrow that a heart, devoted to him whilst living, can entertain.

Chief Justice MARSHALL was one of the great men of our country who ardently sustained the American Colonies in their resistance to unconstitutional and arbitrary power, and in the achievement of independence. He was coeval with the Republic, and regarded as to his virtues—his whole conduct in life in every station—his opinions—his sound learning and powerful discriminating mind—he was certainly, taken all in all, the Greatest and the most illustrious man that adorned this country—always excepting the Father of the Republic.

We owe all gratitude to a benevolent Providence for the services and long life of the great and good JOHN MARSHALL. We should deeply mourn his loss at any time—but more especially do we feel it at a period when we have every reason to dread its result.

If the progress of things had left with us any security, any hope, that there was a stability in that which wisdom and virtue had already built up in our land, there would be some refuge from the prostatic disastrous events that we are now destined to expect. But experience forbids it—Our Sheet Anchor being lost we are now at the mercy of the wildest political elements that may gather around us—and if the Chart, by which we have been hitherto guided, is hereafter to be expounded by caprice or volition, instead of science and integrity of purpose, we may expect to be wrecked in the storm of revolution, in which the only hope will be, that the survivors may commence the work anew under the awful warning of a sadly experienced calamity.

The palmy days of the Republic have gone by—there are men within the Union that can continue them—there are also men who will batten and flourish in the lurid glare that preceds the whirlwind of our distress—whether the one or the other will be called forth, after an agonizing period of solicitude, we shall know—We await the event in anxious, trembling silence. But MARSHALL—the Sheet Anchor of the Constitution—the Great and Good JOHN MARSHALL is no more!

From the Baltimore American of the 9th.

The corps of the late Chief Justice Marshall was taken on board of the Citizens' Union Line steamboat yestarday morning at Philadelphia, and was transferred to the Norfolk steamboat at the mouth of the river Patapsco. It was accompanied by three sons of the deceased and a committee of the citizens of Philadelphia, consisting of Judge Baldwin, Mr. Sergent, Mr. Rawle, Mr. Peters and Mr. Ingraham, who proceeded with it to Virginia.

THINGS I DONT LIKE TO SEE OR HEAR.

I dont like to see a young gentleman just commencing the world, riding away the Sabbath in a hired carriage, drest in his best clothes when about his ordinary business, betting on a horse race, and good morning to you Mr. Bar Keeper, mix me a mint Julep. I calculate he will follow the ettiquette of the day and pay his debts out of the Legislative appropriations.

I dont like to see a Lady or Gentleman pride themselves on their noble ancestry, and regard the operatives who work up their unpaid for cloth, in the form of a coat, or shield their delicate feet from the pebbles as an inferiour race of beings, when they lack both industry and commoa intelligence, it brings to my mind a verse of Pope's,

"Go, if your ancient but ignoble blood
Has crept through scoundrels every since the flood
Go, and pretend your family is young
Nor own your kindred have been fools so long."

I do not like to hear a Gentleman making remarks prejudicial to his neighbors as they pass by. it is a true index of his own faults and proves to me two things, first he has but little business of his own to attend to, and secondly, not much disposition to attend to that.

I dont like to see a Lady enter a church with a rapid step and as many cants and tosses of the head, as an Automaton, and when seated, stare the young gentlemen out of countenance, or are more attentive to the calls of Morpheus than the admonitions of the preacher.

I dislike to hear a gentleman in any walk of life eternally harping upon the rectitude of his conduct and the accuracy of all his dealings, it satisfies me he possesses a large share of self-importance, and tries to say for himself what his neighbors withhold.

I do not like to see parents suffer their children to roam over the country at large on Sundays or any other day instead of apprenticing them or putting them to school, let them attend all the strolling plays, swear by note and drink rum, I involuntarily exclaim you are ripe for a State Journeyman where you will twist a rope, to hang you.

I dislike to see a pretty young lady reject the offer of a worthy young gentleman on account of his avocation or lack of fortune. I say go ahead Miss, look farther and fare worse.

I abominably dislike to hear a man laugh heartily at the observation of another his superior, in fortune or fame, when a much better observation from his mechanic neighbor passes by unnoticed, I conclude he is an abject lick-spittle, possessing all the independence and braying qualities of a Jack Ass.

And lastly Mr. Editor, I am no amalgamationist, and therefore dislike the trio of Van Buren, Johnson & Co., and if any of your readers should dislike these strictures, refer them to your humble servant.

FOR SALE.

IN consequence of a settled disease, I have had for more than two years, deprives me of paying that attention to my farms, that is necessary to my interest, and I have come to the conclusion of disposing at private sale my farm, lying within four miles of the Trappe, and about one mile from Great Choptank river, containing 484 1 2 acres of land—this farm is now laid off in three lots, and three fields, the former is well improved, and the latter can be made so, as the soil is chiefly white oak land; there is a new brick well of first rate water in the yard, and also a fine Mineral Spring within 300 yards of the dwelling, this tract of land was formerly in two farms, and can be made so again, if persons should be disposed to purchase together—the TIMBER is very abundant, being much more than is necessary for the farm, which could be disposed of to great advantage by a person living on the estate. The timber consists chiefly of white oak. The situation is considered healthy. Persons disposed to purchase, will of course view the property.

Terms of sale.—On the delivery of the estate, one fourth of the purchase money must be paid in cash, and the balance in 1, 2 and 3 years, equal payments with approved security, interest from the date until paid—and on the payment of the whole purchase money, and not before, a good and sufficient Deed will be given.
