the cylla and Charybdis between which his predecessor has been engulphed.—If then at the coming election I can be made satisfied of these present appearances I shall extend a helping hand to Hugh Lawson White—and if he falter or trip by the way in the meantime, I shall then turn my attention to scanning the merits of other candidates—my creed is now and ever has been that 'honesty is the best policy'—therefore I cannot touch the prudent, ne cautious, the reserved, the non committal Van Buren.

IRONSIDES.

1st Scene of 4th act of our Drama. Curtain rises and presents Mr. Van B— and Hugh Lawson in a Tilt-yard. Equipped like Knights of the olden time in full armour, ready to engage in mortal combat.

Van B—Now Lawson, I am ready for thee—my armour is made of impenetrable stuff—my steed comes direct from the Ukraine breed and Jackson is his name—my lance is not of ash, but hickory of the toughest class—and I can boast my man at arms—the famous Lewis Cass.

Hugh L—Lawson is not wont to boast and vaunt his trappings when he puts in rest his knightly lance—his harness is only such as plain Tennesseans wear; the hide of Buffalo is my coat of mail, and the White of oak furnishes a lance—my steed is of the vulgar class—a simple, knock-kneed devil of an 'ass' he is quick to wheel and fire, his hide as tough as Alligator's is—and hence his claims.

Thus much in answer to thee

Now—Martin, I am ready for this mortal strife, and do challenge thee by this, flourish of my lance.

Van B—And I do take up the glove, (to himself he says, now steed, as thou art of a brave and generous race, hold high thy bony head, & I will crouch my squatty-self behind thee, and thou may'st lead the Van for once,)—still to himself he proceeds—now—ye spirits of the office holders far and near, quake for your livings or protect your men—the little Van—I know not to what more potent band, I can address myself, they are numerous as the locusts were some 12 months since & stick as close as Leeches from the Spanish main—As I said; have at the Lawson—Let's to it pell mell, if not to heaven then hand in hand to h—ll, my battle cry, St. Andrew and my crown.

Hugh L—Now, by St. Patrick, the head of Martin's steed is made of bone as tough as heart of oak—and that is tougher than the White—my lance is shivered, and the horse escapes unscathed—But, ha! methinks my thrust was not altogether vain, for Martin's helm is off, and to me he looks balder than his custom is—Certes, I'm right, I grazed the Dutchman's head, or whence, those drops of blood, to himself, come hence my good sword, and may thy trusty blade—

Van B—Cries aloud in great haste—Hold, hold or by St. Andrew, thou shalt rue this day of bloody and unequal strife Did I not take the field to day against thyself, and not against thy incarnate—beast? Did I contract to stand the kick of ass as well as Lawson's most potent lance? Is it so nominated in the Bond? If not, why then, I'll fight no more.

Hugh L—Did I not tell the Col Van, my beast was quick to wheel and fire? answer that, but didst thou give notice of thy Ukrainis strength of head? But Colonel, since my nervous lance has drawn this precious blood, as is usual in these wars—tis for thee to say, satisfied or not.

Van B—"Lay not the flattering unction to thy soul," that blood was drawn by thee or thine, my steed was restive in the onset of the charge, and thro' his head wildly to and fro—and hence my bloody-nose, but, to be brief, (as my god father Gen. J—n did promise to remain in covert safe behind yonder hill, till I despatched thee—) as thou commenced devices (as the training of thy beast most clearly shews) I now challenge thee to do me battle in my line of fight.

Hugh L—Name the terms and stipulations.

I cannot refuse thee, as thou hast the right.

Van B—Then Sir, I do propose a combat of the direct and most awful kind, it shall present a scene that, will make "chaos" of these hereabouts—I will deal in machinations strong and deep as Hecate's own, I will contend with thee by raising spells and demoniac charms as dank & dark as nether night.

Didn't ever hear of Doct. Faustus? and don't know my German stram? answer me.

Hugh L—I will answer thee—I can not fight—What do I perceive? 'Tis certain; I cannot be deceived, the air grows blue, the earth begins to heate, I smell sulphurous blasts, and spirits of the —— away, away, I cannot, will not fight.

Curtain Drops.

BALTIMORE MOB.

The Baltimore American of Monday, in what it terms a hasty and necessarily imperfect account of the proceedings of the mob on Saturday night, says, the authorities being aware of the meditated attack on Mr Reverdy Johnson's house in Monument square, were prepared with the assistance of the police force, special constables, and a body of volunteer horse, successfully to repel any attempt on that gentleman's residence; the assailants made several attacks on the horsemen, and severe conflicts ensued. The attack on Mr Glenn's house commenced about 9 o'clock, by the mob forcing an entrance with the iron bars of the railing in front. The parlor and chamber doors were successively battered down. The elegant furniture on the different floors was precipitated into the street, and what was not crushed in the fall was immediately broken up by the party outside. The house was completely sacked from the garret to the cellar—not an article was spared!

The assailants kept undisputed possession of the house until between two and three o'clock on Sunday morning, when a small body of citizens, armed with muskets marched to the spot, effected an entrance, took eight or nine prisoners, and cleared the house. While the detachment was on its way to the watch-house with the prisoners, a violent assault was made on it in Lexington, near Charles street, with stones and brickbats, which was returned by a volley of musketry. Two of the assailants, it is said were shot down.

"The different stations where guards were posted to prevent access to the Square were all more or less frequently the scene of alarm and contention, and with the discharge of fire arms, the shouts of the multitude, and the rapid passage of the horsemen, the night had a truly fearful aspect. The watchhouse on North st. the receptacle for the prisoners, was the scene of incessant din and commotion; during one of the latter, which occurred about two in the morning, a man was badly shot with a pistol. At day break on Sunday morning, the prisoners 55 in number, were conveyed to jail.

"Several of the assailants, it is believed, have received fatal wounds, & there are various reports afloat of lives lost, but it is impossible to ascertain to what extent they are true."

RIOTS IN WASHINGTON—The National Intelligencer of Thursday informs us that riots had taken place in that city—and as a portion of the United States troops which had come on to Baltimore were ordered back on Wednesday nigh great alarm must have existed.

From the Norfolk Beacon August 10.

AWFUL—BUT JUST PUNISHMENT.—We learn, by the arrival of the steamboat Kentucky, last evening, from Richmond, that ROBINSON, the Englishman, mentioned in the Beacon of Saturday, as being in the vicinity of Lynchburg, was taken about fifteen miles from that town, and HANGED ON THE SPOT!

From the Balt. Chronicle of Aug. 12.

ATTEMPTED ESCAPE FROM THE PENITENTIARY.

During the heavy rain which fell yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, some of the convicts attempted to escape from the Penitentiary. They planted a ladder (which was being used by the bricklayers now engaged in the erection of new workshops, and who had retired under cover during the rain) against the east wall between the sentry boxes,—Three of them succeeded in escaping over the wall, a fourth was shot by Mr. Baker, one of the wall guards, while mounting the ladder, which arrested further attempts. Pursuit was immediately instituted for the fugitives; Mr. James Lerew living in the neighbourhood, overtook one of them just north of the prison in an open field The prisoner, whose name is Rumly, drew a knife and threatened Mr. Lerew's life; the latter unarmed, knocked him down with his fist and wresting the knife from him held him down until assistance arrived; he was returned to the prison

A second was discovered by a boy, about 14 years old in a neighbouring privy—without creating alarm the boy informed Mr Lerew, who getting a gun went and secured him likewise—his name is German.—The Third (whose name is Boyd,) was found lodged in the chimney of a house occupied by one of the Deputy Keepers of the prison.

The keepers name is John Brown, who after searching for the prisoner in the neighboring fields until drenched with rain, went to his dwelling, about half a mile from the prison, to change his dress—while doing so some soot was seen to fall by his daughter. Mr. Brown directed his daughter to watch the top of the chimney from the yard. In a few moments the prisoner was seen to emerge from it, and escaping into the yard was instantly challenged by Mr. Brown, who presenting his musket ordered him to stand. The prisoner surrendered himself and was re conducted at the point of the bayonet to the prison.

From the Balt. American of the 14th

Great Fire in New York—We insert in another column the particulars of the most destructive fire which has ever been experienced in the city of New York.—The American estimates the loss of property at $500.000 to $750 000, upon which there was insurance to the amount of $215.000. Several lives were lost, and about 3000 persons—men, women and children—are thrown out of employ by the calamity. The destruction of newspaper and other printing offices was remarkably great. A note on the margin of the Herald says:—'Burnt out last night—will be resumed in a few days.'

Collector's Second Notice for 1834.

The subscriber being desirous of completing his collections for the year 1834, earnestly requests all persons who stand indebted to him for county taxes to come forward and settle them without delay; as he must if possible settle with all those who have claims upon the County in the time specified by law which will expire on or about the 1st of March next, and if it is impossible for him to pay them unless he is first paid; therefore all those that do not comply with this notice on or before that time may certainly expect the letter of the law enforced against them, without respect to persons; as his duty as an officer will compel him to this course. Persons holding property in the county and residing out it will please pay attention to this notice and save themselves trouble.

Black Hawk and Allycroaker

FOR SALE.

The subscriber will sell at private sale, the above Horses, the property of Wm. Rayne of Ohio. Black Hawk was brought into this county in January last, and has stood for Mares at Georgetown Roads, and at the subscribers, his Pedigree is good being sired by the celebrated horse Oscar, who was raised by Gen Charles Ridgely of Hampton, the pedigree of his Dam is also good and can be seen by calling on the subscriber. Black Hawk is a beautiful dark bay, or brown, young and of good size, and perfectly sound.

Allycroaker is now believed to be in foal by Black Hawk, and has a horse colt about 2 months old (by uncle Sam, who was raised by Gen. Foreman,) this colt is said, by those who have seen it, to be the best formed and finest proportioned one they have seen, and bids fair to make a splendid Horse.

Allycroaker is too well known to need a description, or to refer to her pedigree, as the purchase money will not be wanted immediately, a long credit will be given if required upon the purchasers giving note with approved security, with interest from date—any person wishing to possess either of the above described horses can see them, and be made acquainted with the terms by applying to the subscriber, residing near New Market, Kent County Md. or to Hugh Wallis, Morgan's Creek, near Chestertown.

An Epitome of imported passing events.

☞The VADE MECUM is printed on large imperial paper, of a beautiful white, texture, and is published every Saturday, at Three Dollars per annum in advance. Orders from abroad, postage paid, will be promptly attended to, and the paper carefully packed to prevent it from rubbing by mail.

☞The Modern Acting Drama—a volume of about 300 pages—containing the Plays, Farces, &c which appear in the Vade Mecum neatly printed, and bound in elastic covers, for transportation—is published every six weeks. Eight volumes will constitute a set, or one year's subscription, the terms for which is three dollars payable in advance.

☞Subscribers to the Vade Mecum are entitled to a deduction of one third. An order for four sets will be thankfully received, and the work forwarded to any direction, by inclosing a ten dollar note—postage paid.

☞A premium consisting of two volumes, 500 pages each, of the Novelist's Magazine, containing eight different Novels, by the most popular authors, will be presented to the Agent who shall procure four names to the Modern Acting Drama or the Gentleman's Vade Mecum, and remit the amount of one year's subscription for each.

☞Gentlemen wishing to subscribe to either of the above works, will address Charles Alexander, No. 3 Athenian Buildings, Franklin Place, Philadelphia.

July 25.
