building. They thumped each other most heartily for ten or fifteen minutes previous to adjournment, to the infinite amusement of the spectators, but without detriment to any party saving soiled clothes and slight bruises. It was certainly, however, a bad example for the fathers of the party to place before the eyes of the children, especially as the members of the family seem to have naturally a pugnacious disposition.

EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, (MD.)

Saturday Morning, June 24.

The delegates appointed from the several districts of this county, to meet in Convention in Centreville, for the purpose of nominating a Whig candidate to represent this District in the next Congress, will bear in mind that (this day) is designated for that purpose.

It is desirable that a full attendance from all the election districts of each of the counties should be had.

The Van Buren Congressional Convention, which assembled in Centreville, on Tuesday last, we understand, nominated Gen. Forman of Cecil, as their candidate for the ensuing election, which takes place on the 26th of next month.

We understand there was a considerable fall of hail in Hillsborough and its vicinity on Wednesday last—We have not heard what injury was done.

We call the attention of our readers to the speech of the Hon. Mr. Pearce of the House of Representatives, which we insert on our first page. It gives a correct history of the rise and fall of the Glorious Nineteen.—The Baltimore Chronicle says:—

"We take great pleasure in transferring to our columns a speech delivered by the Hon. James Alfred Pearce, in the late House of Representatives. The people of his District, we are pleased to learn, have resolved to send him again into the national councils, where, we trust, he will find only colleagues of congenial political principles.

"It will become our duty, not a very pleasant, but an unavoidable one—to contrast the sentiments of this loyal representative, as here reported, with those of his colleagues, Messrs. Howard & Thomas, who both on the floor of Congress & in the face of the people, counselled and justified the open treason of the nineteen electors. It has been, within a few days, again forcibly brought to our recollection that both these gentlemen permitted their names to be used as delegates to a convention whose avowed object was to overthrow the government of their State. We know Gen. Howard would fain lay the ghost of the Blue Ticket, but we cannot permit it to pass to its final resting place, before it shall have existed in consigning his political pretensions to an early grave."

We learn that General Emory, one of the State Commissioners for negotiating the great Internal Improvement loan, has received from Mr. Peabody, another of the Commissioners, who is now in England, a letter on the subject of the loan, which will induce the General to postpone his departure for Europe for two or three weeks longer than he contemplated.—Chronicle.

PRINCESS ANNE,
June 12th 1837.

To the Editor of the Village Herald

Dear Sir—The annunciation of the name of the Honorable THOMAS KING CARROLL, as a candidate to represent this District in the Congress of the United States, was made by you, at my instance, in accordance with what I then believed, and still believe to be the general wish of the people of the District. I learn from him today that considerations relating to his private interests exclusively would preclude his acceptance of that trust, and he therefore desires his name to be withdrawn.

Respectfully &c.

I. D. JONES.

A Convention was held at Hagerstown, on Saturday, 10th June, for the purpose of nominating a Van Buren Congressman, for the Sixth Election District—Seventy one delegates attended and nineteen of them having seceded, the remainder nominated Francis Thomas to the voters of the said district.

The secession of the 19 was induced by the adoption of the following resolution by the convention viz:

Resolved, That each county in the 6th congressional district shall vote according to their population, and that Washington county shall be entitled to 15 votes, Frederick county to 10, and Alleghany county to 6 votes, respectively;

In opposition to the preamble and resolution proposed by themselves, viz:—

1st. Recognising the sacred principles that the majority should rule, and that representation based upon population is the anchor hope of all reformers, we submitted to the convention the following resolution.

Resolved, That in the votes and proceedings of this convention, each county shall have a vote corresponding to the popular vote in each at the last presidential election, to be regulated by the delegates of each county, and that we mutually pledge ourselves to support the nominee of this convention.

We learn from the Harrisburg Telegraph that a State loan of $200,000, authorised by the Legislature of Pennsylvania of 1835 '36, has been taken by the Bank of the United States, at an interest of four per cent, the loan to be paid in monthly instalments of $50,000 This sum, in addition to the means already at the command of the Governor and Canal Commissioners, will enable them to continue without interruption the prosecution of the two Extension Canals.

The great ship Pennsylvania, we learn from the Inquirer, is to be launched at Philadelphia early in July. The precise day is not yet fixed.

LOUIS M'LANE.—All doubt whether Mr. McLane will accept the Presidency of the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road is at an end. The following from the New York Commercial of Tuesday is conclusive:

We understand that the Hon. Louis M'Lane has retired from the Morris Canal and Banking Company, and become the President of the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company, to which office he was elected in January last. We have already on a former occasion, expressed our great regret that neither our city, nor the friends of this gentleman who live in it, have presented sufficient inducements to keep Mr. McLane amoung us. But it even so, and we understand that Mr. McL. took his departure from us yesterday, with his family.—N. Y. Com.

Mr. McLane will stop for a day or two in Delaware, and will probably reach this city by the beginning of the ensuing week.—Chronicle.

It is stated in the New York Express that 'shaving,' as it is technically termed, is at an end in Wall street, so far as buying and selling notes are concerned. The editors say—"There never was so ruinous a system pursued for all parties, as that which has prevailed for the last year, and facts are now developing themselves that exhibit not only the effects but the extent. Both the shaver and shaved have fallen together. We might name hundreds of instances that would astound the public, but we will however name but one as a sample. A house failed a short time since, whose liabilities were three hundred thousand. Their assets were four hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This house had paid within the fifteen months, previous to their failure, "one hundred and fifty eight thousand dollars extra interest," over and above seven per cent per annum."

The Baltimore American of Wednesday last says:—

About sixty thousand bushels of Wheat from Europe were entered at the Custom House yesterday, besides a considerable quantity of Rye. In the face of these supplies, however, it will be seen by our report of the markets under the proper head that Wheats have advanced, & were from 15 to 20 cents higher yesterday than for some weeks past. Most of the recent imports are said to be of very fine quality.

SIX DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The packet ship Independence, at New York, brings Liverpool advices to the 24th May, and London to the 23d, both inclusive. No later intelligence than the 2d May from this country (by the packet North America) had been received in England.

Several heavy failures had occurred in Liverpool, all connected with American houses, and one or two had also taken place at Manchester and Leeds. A respectable house in Glasgow, connected with the New-Orleans trade had also gone by the board.

A splendid chandelier, intended for the Senate Chamber of Maryland, has just been finished by Messrs. Cornelius & Son, of Philadelphia. The U. S. Gazette says of it:—The twelve astral lamps which formed the chandelier, are supported by handsome brackets, of an original design, manufactured from materials susceptible of a high degree of finish peculiar to this work alone the perfection of which the manufacturers Messrs Cornelius & Son, have attained by a series of careful and costly experiments. The result as exhibited in their manufacture, fully justifies the pains and expense by which it has been brought about. The splendid appearance which their store always presents in the evening when lighted is greatly increased by the addition now made of the above chandelier, one of the most beautiful things of the kind that we have ever seen.

PROFESSING RADICALS.

Charles J. Ingersoll, of Philadalphia, now the unscrupulous ally of Kendall, Blair, and Dallas, and the candidate of the Jacobins for Congress, once declared that Democrats are constitutionally and of necessity grovelling and mean; that during the time of the American revolution, all the gentlemen of the country were tories; and that had he been of age to judge himself, he should have been a Tory! In 1814 this person had the same character for versatility which is now his most distinguishing attribute. Mr. Stockton, of New Jersey, in reply to a speech of his in Congress, made these pungent remarks—'I may be all that I am represented by the member from Pennsylvania—but I will tell you, sir, what I am not; what I never have been. I am no court sycophant—no changeling—I never was in the market—I never, like the vane on the spire, was blown around by every popular breath from the south and the west and the east and the north.'

Mr Ingersoll is one of a class which has been pretty successful in gulling the Loco Focos by loud, but vague and unmeaning professions of extreme radicalism. Of this class, he, and Dallas, and Rush are among the most dangerous, just as the youngsters who took such an active part in the late public meeting here, are among the most silly and absurd. Among them there are few men with any extent of solid information or any clear hold of a principle. They are loud, brawling, and shallow. Their prime motives are personal vanity and interest, which expose them to every seduction. Their friends will find, to their costs, that their good faith cannot be relied upon.—Balt. Pat.

FLORIDA SEWING SILK.

We have been favored with a very handsome specimen of sewing silk, made in St Augustine, by Mrs. Lydia E. Gould, lady of the Hon. E. B. Gould, Mayor of that city, from worms fed on the Morus Multicaulis. It is the result of a first experiment in winding silk made by her. We learn that the eggs, deposited by moths of this season, have already hatched proving that two crops of silk can be raised, in Florida in one season.—Charleston Courier.

A Sailor Ashore.—The present plight of the Van Buren party reminds us of an anecdote of a sailor once in the service of a Yankee farmer. Jack, having been sent out to ploughing with a yoke of oxen and a horse, and not knowing much about the business, soon got the team into a hobble, whereupon he ran to his employer exclaiming—"the starboard ox has got upon the larboard side, and the old mare has got afoul of the rigging, and they are all going to the devil stern-foremost."

OBITUARY.

Died, suddenly, in this town, on Tuesday morning 13th inst. EDWARD B. GIBBS. Society in his death has been deprived of a social, hospitable and benevolent man. Mild in his temper, unoffending in his manners and generous in relieving the wants of his fellow creatures; he was endeared to all who knew him.

He has left an amiable wife to weep over his early tomb, and a numerous train of relatives and friends who will long cherish his virtues in mournful remembrance.

Hear thou my voice, O God! thy suppliant hear,
And nod auspicious to my pious prayer
When age in sorrow bends my hoary head,
And death on fatal wings surround my bed,
Thy comfort send, direct my wandering flight,
Through seas obscure and dreary realms of night;
Unhinge the portals of the blazing sky,
The eternal residence of Peace and joy:
Hope is my anchor, Christ my vessel steers,
Faith is my sail, lo! op'ning Heav'n appears.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE.

At a meeting of the American Institute of the City of New-York, held at Clinton Hall, in said city, on the 18th day of May, 1837.—it was Resolved, 1st. That the present condition of our commercial community generally is that of the most painful embarrassment, and that the distress is rapidly extending to all the other occupations and departments of productive industry, and that thousands of our most industrious and useful citizens have been dismissed by their employers, and their wages, the sole reliance for their daily food, their clothing and habitations have within a few days been entirely cut off.

2d. That it is of vital importance, that the causes of this wide spread distress should be early and fully understood, so that remedies, as far as practicable, may be provided for existing evils, and preventatives to guard against future evils.

3d. That, in the opinion of this Institute, the multitude of discordant views promulgated, in relation to the causes of our present disastrous condition, have led to popular errors, that have in a measure turned the public mind from the accumulating debt in favor of foreign nations, which the repeal of countervailing protective duties has swelled against us, which is now pressing on our banks, and incapacitating them from administering relief to their suffering customers.

4th. That the only way to correct the public mind, and restore confidence, regularity and prosperity, is by the dissemination of correct knowledge among the people, as to the prominent causes of our embarrassment, and by producing a general concert of action in applying suitable remedies.

5th. It was also resolved, That a General Convention of representatives from all the productive portions of our country, without distinction of parties, for the purpose of a full and candid exchange of sentiments, and a thorough investigation of cause and effect, and concert in action, would greatly conduce to a favourable state of things, and, it is hoped, hereafter may prevent the recurrence of those evils with which we are now visited; and that it be recommended, that the said convention be held at Philadelphia, in the state of Pennsylvania, on the first Tuesday of August, 1837, at 10 o'clock, A. M., and that it consist of business men, selected from the productive classes, and that they continue, by adjournment, to meet until the desired object be attained.

6th. It was further Resolved, That, as the American Institute was incorporated to encourage agriculture, commerce, manufactures, and the arts, in this state and the United States, it is peculiarly appropriate, that it should recommend and forward such measures as are calculated to advance the great interests of industry, and produce a sound and healthy state of things; and especially on occasions like the present, when the banks acknowledge their inability to supply the requisite circulating medium, and every occupation is experiencing the most intense suffering.

7th. It was finally resolved, That, in order to render this convention effective, and procure a full representation of business men, delegates be invited from all the states—the cotton growing as well as the grain growing, manufacturing, and commercial—from cities, counties, towns, and agricultural societies, incorporated manufacturing and mechanic associations, as well as rail road and canal companies, and that a committee be appointed, on behalf of this Institute, to consult with the friends of national industry, and solicit the concurrence of all those friendly to the foregoing objects, and that meetings be held at an early day, to elect delegates to respond to this recommendation; and that suitable papers be prepared and published, in order to give publicity to the convention and its objects, and to impress on all interested the necessity of general attendance, concert and co-operation.

BY HIS EXCELLENCY,

THOMAS W. VEAZEY,

Governor of Maryland

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of this State, entitled, an additional supplement to an act entitled, an act to reduce into one, the several acts of Assembly respecting elections, and to regulate said elections, passed at December session, 1832, it is provided that the election of Representatives from this State, to serve in the Congress of the United States, shall be made by the citizens of this State, &c. on the first Monday of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three, and on the same day in every second year thereafter, &c. and that if at any time hereafter a special or extra session of Congress should be called, to commence at such period as to make it necessary, in the opinion of the Governor and Council, that the Representatives in congress from this State should be chosen before the time fixed by law for such election, then it shall be the duty of the Governor and Council, by Proclamation, to be published in the newspapers throughout the State and otherwise, at least thirty days before the time, to be appointed for the election by said Proclamation, to appoint a day for the election as aforesaid, of the said Representatives in Congress, &c; And whereas, the President of the United States has, by Proclamation, called a special or extra session of Congress, to commence on the first Monday of September next, which, in the opinion of the Governor and Council, makes it necessary that the Representatives in Congress from this State, should be chosen before the time fixed by law for such election.
