(From a late British Journal.)

THE ORPHANS OF CASTLE MENZIES.

By the Hon. Mrs. Norton.

May-day is come!—While yet the unwilling Spring
Cheeks with capacious frown the opening year,
Onward, where bleak winds have been whispering,
The punctual hours their ancient playmate hear;
But those who long have look'd for thee, stand by,
Like men who welcome back a friend bereaved,
And cannot smile; because his sadden'd eye
Doth mutely tell them how his soul is grieved:
Even thus we greet thine alter'd face to-day,
Thou friend in mourning garb!—chill, melancholy May!

To thee the first and readiest smiles of Earth,
Lovely with life renew'd, were always given;
To thee belong'd the sunshine and the mirth
Which bathed all Nature with a glow from Heaven,—
To thee the joy of Childhood's earnest heart,
His shouting song, and light elastic tread,
His brows high arch'd, and laughing lips apart,
Bright as the wreath that bound his rosy head:
Thou wert of Innocence the holiday,
Thou garlanded and glad!—thou ever-blooming May!

Yet will I not reproach thee for thy change:
Closed be the flower, and leafless be the tree!
Smile not as thou wert wont; but sad, and strange,
And joyless let thy tardy coming be!
So shall I miss those infant voices less,
Calling each other through the garden bowers,
Meeting and parting in wild happiness,
With steps that fell as light as blossom showers:—
My little Orphan'd Ones, who far away,
Breathe, amid cloud-capp'd hills, a yet more wintry May!

Ah, boys! your play-ground is a desert spot,
Revisited alone, and bathed with tears!
And where ye pass your May-day, knoweth not
The mother who hath watch'd your dawning years.
The task is given to a woman's heart,
(Ever the hardest to a woman's sorrow,)
Fiercely to tear the bud and tree apart,
And give each cheerless day a cheerless morrow.—
The sunshine of your looks hath pass'd away,
And what to me is Spring, and what the breath of May?

Mine is no more the joy to see ye come,
And deem each step hath some peculiar grace!
Yours is no more the mother's welcome home,
Smiling at each beloved, familiar face!
The eyes that watch ye now, watch but to guard,
Sternly they keep what cruelly was won;—
The eyes that watch'd ye then, had their reward
In the deep love of what they look'd upon.
Oh! I am thankful that this dreary May
Recalls not, save by name, that brighter, happier day!

I should have felt more mock'd if there had been
More peace and sunshine round me,—had the grove,
Clad in transparent leaves of tender green,
Been full of marm'ring sounds of Nature's love;—
I should have wept more bitterly beneath
The frail Laburnum trees, so faint and fair,
I should have sicken'd at the lilac's breath,
Thrown by the warm sun on the silent air;—
But now, with stern regret I wend my way
I know thee not, thou cold and unfamiliar May.

But oh! young blossoms of life's chequer'd Spring,
Rude is the grasp that rends ye from the bough,
Leaving the promise other years may bring
Coldly beneath a stranger's eye to grow!
It was not worth the sacrifice of youth,
The suffering and the care of years gone by,
To learn how little kindliness and truth
Dwell in the semblance of humanity;
Or feel the hopelessness of life's decay,
While mock'd with joyous names,—like thine, thou tardy May!

LAND FOR SALE.

The subscriber having had bad health, for the last ten years, so much so as to deprive him from attending to his Farms, which is necessary to his interest, and being desirous to close his affairs as soon as possible, will dispose of the following property, below its value.

The farm on which Mr. Ezekial H. Cooper, resided, for the last two years, about five miles from the Trappe, and one or one and a half from Choptank river,

Containing 134 1-2 Acres.

This Farm is laid off in three fields and three lots, the latter is very fine land, capable of producing 150 Barrels of Corn—one of them well set in Clover,—the fields fine land to improve,—there is a new well of first rate water near the Dwelling, and also a fine mineral spring, about 300 yards from the Dwelling. A large quantity of WHITE OAK TIMBER, AND WOOD, can be spared, enough I presume, to pay nearly double the amount of the purchase, which is convenient to deliver on the river,—the situation is considered to be as healthy as any in the neighborhood.

This Farm, was formerly in two, and persons wishing to purchase, can divide it with convenience. I have not rented this Farm for the present year owing to the difficulty of getting seed wheat, and possession can be had on the disposal of it.

Also, one half of the adjoining Farm, containing

150 Acres, more or less,

Belonging to the late Dr. Edward Harris' heirs and myself, with a good supply of

TIMBER,

And is rented for this year to Mr. Edward V. Davis. A part of the purchase money is required to be paid, and the balance on such credit as may be agreed to, and on the payment of the purchase money a good and sufficient deed will be given.

Persons not acquainted with these Farms, by application to Mr. Martin Goldsborough, will be shown them,—not being able myself, as I am confined to my room. For terms apply to

E. P. ROBERTS & SANDS & NEILSON

Having purchased the Establishment of the

FARMER & GARDENER.

Successor to the

AMERICAN FARMER,

And being desirous to place it within the reach of every agriculturist in the United States, have concluded to reduce its subscription price from five dollars, to two dollars and a half, per year, from and after the beginning of the next volume, which will commence in May next.

It is now nearly eighteen years since the American Farmer was first established. Prior to its institution, there were no paper exclusively devoted to agriculture in the country, and it will not be arrogating any thing but what it deserves, to say, that, as it was the pioneer in the good work, the labors of its former conductors must have been productive of much solid advantage to those for whose benefit it was established. In continuing its publication, the present proprietors flatter themselves that its pages will be found to contain matter at once calculated to instruct & interest the agricultural reader. So far as they are concerned, they are determined to conduct it with industry, unflinching perseverance, & with undivided attention to the great and important purposes which called it into existence. They feel certain that none of its patrons will have cause to complain, at the end of their subscription year, that they have left any effort unessayed to render it worthy of their confidence and support.

In reducing its subscription price, they have ventured upon an experiment full of risk and responsibility, and as they have done so under the influence of motives which they must be permitted to say should commend it to a greatly increased subscription—as they can alone look to that as the source of their remuneration—and as in so doing, their labor will be much increased—they appeal to its present patrons to aid them in giving it an extended circulation. They are confident that those who now honor them with their support, can, without personal inconvenience, in their own immediate neighborhoods, and among their personal friends, by using their deserved influence, procure such an addition to their present list of subscribers, as will not only realize their fondest expectations; but place them under renewed obligations of interest and gratitude, to render the Farmer and Gardener a welcome visitor to the fireside of every farmer and planter.

The farmer and Gardener will at once be a faithful repository of original communications from practical agriculturists and horticulturists, and of judicious selections from every other available source. Foreign, and domestic agricultural, and scientific works, will be constantly resorted to, for the purpose of furnishing materials calculated to advance the prosperity and happiness of the country, and of adding to the intelligence of the American husbandman.

In fine, whatever concerns the business, of the farm, domestic animals of all kinds, newly invented implements of husbandry, those of approved utility now in use, together with the principles and practice of agriculture, horticulture, and gardening generally, will be regularly and conscientiously noticed. The prices of produce in this market, and the value of bank notes will be weekly laid before its readers.

With a view of keeping their patrons advised of all superior breeds of animals already introduced, or which may be hereafter imported, they will sieze the earliest opportunity of translating all such information to the columns of their Journal.

TERMS, &c.

Price two dollars and fifty cents per annum or all subscriptions paid in advance, or within one month from the date of subscription—all subscriptions which remain unpaid beyond that period, will be charged at the rate of three dollars per year.
