WHIG CANDIDATE for CONGRESS

Day of Election, 26th. of July.

WHIG CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS IN MARYLAND.

1st Dist.—	Samuel J. K. Handy.
2d	James Alfred Pearce.
3d	Elias Brown,
4th	John P. Kennedy and Charles Sterrett Ridgely.
5th	Anthony Kimmell, nominated. Wm. C. Johnson, Independent
6th	Joseph I. Merrick.
7th	Daniel Jenifer.

VOTE BEFORE SIX O'CLOCK. P. M.

The Whig Voters of Talbot County, are hereby informed that the Election for a member of Congress, to represent the 2nd Election District of this State, will take place on WEDNESDAY NEXT. The Voters will bear in mind that the Polls close at 6 o'clock. P. M. which, at this season of the year, is an hour before sunset.

Whigs arouse to the conflict —recollect the Congressional election takes place on the 26th inst. & that Mr. Evans, the candidate of the experiment party, was one of the memorable nineteen who committed a gross fraud on his constituents, and basely conspired against the constitution of your State — People of Talbot, let us show on Wednesday next, that we cannot forget or forgive treason against the Republic,—but let the whole nineteen learn from the fate of one, that the reprobation of an indignant people is fixed upon them forever.

The Meeting held in Easton, on Tuesday last, was all that the friends of Mr. Pearce, the Whig Candidate for the 2nd Congressional District, could desire —a highly respectable number of our citizens convened at the Court House and were addressed by Mr. Pearce, in a very eloquent and impressive manner. The evils under which the country is now laboring, were traced home to the reckless folly and ignorance of the last and present Administration. It was shewn that this precise state of things was predicated years back, and that these Administrations sinned with light beaming on them. Mr. Evans, the opponent of Mr. P. did not think proper to appear on the occasion—We greatly regret this, as we should be happy that a comparison of the qualifications of the two Candidates might be instituted by the people of the county—He was represented on the occasion, however, by Col. Stevens,—whether with more of zeal or ability, we say not.

We learn that the meeting of our friends in Broad Creek Neck, on Thursday, was a highly respectable one—About one hundred persons assembled and partook of a simple repast prepared for the occasion After dinner, Mr. Pearce, addressed his fellow citizens greatly to their satisfaction and delight. The meeting was also addressed by Samuel Hambleton, Jr.—After which the meeting adjourned at an early hour and with great harmony. No Van-uite appeared on the field.

The Ship Pennsylvania, was launched at Philadelphia, on Tuesday last. It is supposed that two hundred thousand people witnessed the spectacle. Every thing went off as expected—and not a single accident.

We were a few days since presented an Early York Cabbage, from our friend, Foster Maynard, Esq, weighing 6 lbs. 11 ozs., it is the largest we have seen of this year's growth—our neighbors, Dr. T. H. Dawson & Sons, have engaged seed from him, where those fond of this vegetable can procure them for the next year.

Mr. Bateman presented us, a day or two ago, with a skein of sewing silk, the produce of worms raised by himself this year. The silk is excellent, and of a beautiful glossy colour,—the worms were fed on black mulberry leaves.

PROGRESS TO A MONARCHY.

It is announced with marked precision in the New York Evening Post, that President Van Buren has gone to a country residence about four miles from Washington, and will probably remain there till fall, as the palace [mark the word well, 'THE PALACE!'] is said to be unhealthy in the dog days. So we go.

A palace is a residence for a King—if Mr. Van Buren be not put down, how long will it be before the party will give that title to the President?

Francis Thomas, it is evident, is haunted with gloomy forebodings about a setting sun.' He declares that if he is defeated he will go to the 'Far West'—Patriot.

Maryland Elegtion.—Depend upon it, if the Whigs of Maryland succeed, the Whigs of the Union will triumph.—Baltimore Patriot.

The Philadelphia Herald copies the above and says—Nothing can be more true than the above assertion. The eyes of all the whigs of the Union are now upon Maryland, and though nothing can prevent the entire dismemberment of the Van Buren party throughout the country, yet the success of the whigs in Maryland, will hasten the general triumph of their party, and the downfall of the 'spoils,' 'better currency,' 'metallic currency,' 'humbug,' 'kitchen cabinet' party.—Baltimore Patriot.

MARYLAND ELECTIONS.

The progress of the political canvass in our sister State, excites deep interest there and anxious solicitude throughout the country. We hope the best for our friends, because we devoutly believe them to be the true friends of the country, representing its best interests and contending for the principles that are worth contending for. How the matter may terminate, whether selfish mercenaries on the one hand or sincere patriotism on the other, come off victor in the contest, remains to be seen. For our own part, we are disposed to anticipate success to the party that deserves to succeed, but are not without our apprehensions that the near proximity of the scene of action to the great fountain head of bargain and corruption, may operate injuriously. The same desperate efforts that were made by hireling emissaries in the Third District, will doubtless be repeated on the present occasion, and being nearer to Washington by an hundred miles, 'the party' with its drill sergeants and file leaders are more immediately under the eye of the political dictators, who have the people's money under their especial care, and know so well how to use it We hope, however, that those unprincipled efforts on the part of goverment agents, who find it so convenient to travel at the public expense whenever and wherever an election is to be decided, will meet in Maryland with the same signal reproof that was meted to them by our friends of the Third District. If government spies and government influence is kept out of the field the people are found invariably to conquer We hope it will be the case on the coming election, which is to be decided or at least commenced on the 26th of the present month.—Philad. U. S. Gaz.

OUR PROSPECTS IN MARYLAND.—The prospect of having an undivided Whig delegation to Congress in the next House of Representatives from old Maryland, is extremely flattering. In the first, fifth and seventh districts, the Van Buren men have not even raised the standard of opposition, and our friends have the sport all to themselves. In the second district, a Mr. Evans, one of the 'glorious nineteen,' has been brought out against the late Whig representative, James A Pearce, Esq. In that district, even if Mr. E were guilty of no other political sin, his revolutionary doctrines would effectually annihilate him. Revolution has no foothold on the Eastern Shore. Mr. E. has been nominated more for the purpose of sustaining a party organization in Cecil County, than with any expectation of success. We deem Mr. Pearce's defeat as next to an impossibility. In the fourth district, our own hitherto the head quarters of the spoilers in Maryland if any reliance can be placed on indication, we shall succeed by a very handsome majority. Doubt has been so far dispelled as to render assurance of victory almost a certainty. We do not hesitate to express our firm conviction that Messrs. Kennedy and Ridgely will be returned. and with such a majority as will forever hereafter prevent the advocates of the shin plaster currency from entertaining even a hope of success. In the sixth district, where the High Priest of Revolution holds his court, and where there has always been a stronger attachment by the people to the party in power than in any other part of the State, we have assurances of a most gratifying character. Our friends in that district are sanguine of success—they are better able to judge of the prospect than we, and their confidence has quite induced us to doubt the invincibility of the 'Arch fiend.'—This is the only district in the state from which we have the least hesitation in claiming a whig delegate as certain. and even here we have the vantage ground.

Have not the Whigs of Baltimore, then, a glorious incentive to action?—With prospects every where so cheering—with anticipations so high of an entire Whig delegation in Congress, how much will they not have to answer to their consciences if they waver in the discharge of their duty? It would indeed be a glorious day for Maryland. if she should cut herself entirely loose from the bonds of the most reckless party that ever held unbounded sway over a free people. It would be a voice that would not be disregardd by the lordlings in high places, and we should look for the happiest results from such an event.—Balt. Chron.

From the Boston Federal Gazette.

'Jackson—Van Buren—Democracy.'—John M. Reed, Esq. a very talented and clever federalist of the old school. has been appointed District Attorney in Philadelphia, in place of Henry D. Gilpin, Esq. another very worthy federalist of the old school, nominated recently as Solicitor of the Treasury, in place of Virgil Maxcy, another talented federalist of the old school, who has been appointed Charge d' Affairs to Belgium.

AN INVENTION OF THE ENEMY.—Some of the Administration papers are laboring in their vocation of endeavoring to create distrust among the Whigs, by representing that the friends of General Harrison in the West look with dissatisfaction upon the tour of Mr. Webster. The busy propagaters of this piece of news, we are certain, have never heard it but from some of their own yoke-fellows, and we beg to assure the public—(the Van Buren papers do not need the assurance)—that there is not one word of truth in the story. Gen. Harrison's best and most influential friends were the very men who paid the most constant and hearty attentions to Mr. Webster; and we learn from a most distinguished citizen of Cincinnati that nothing could be more cordial and sincerely friendly than the whole intercourse of these two eminent persons. The Whigs will not risk the loss of the benefits flowing from union by any interruption of that harmony. When the time comes to exercise the privilege of selection, all will be done fairly and above board. The public wish must be the sole dictator. A candidate will be selected, upon whom the whole force of the Whig Party will be concentrated.—Balt Pat.

The following communication was left by mistake, on our counter, we publish it for the edification of our Van Buren friends.

For the Eastern Shore Whig.

Description of Easton, with sketches of its celebrated men.

This Branch Bank is a pretty little building, enclosed, not with wood pallisades like the Court House, but with brick and mortar, surmounted with great iron spikes—it is well fortified and vigilently guarded; these yankee Directors know a thing or two, or rather think they do—Our Bank, say they, is situated in a bad neighborhood, being opposite the Vanite's Tavern, they who attempt to rob it of its good name, may not scruple to rid it of the trash which is lumbering up its vaults, to perform certain promises made to the working men,—their silk purses are full of our rags, and hard money is absolutely necessary to elect their hard money candidate—their glorious nineteener—so say these base Biddlettes.)

Pleasantly situated, directly between the large and handsome Easton Hotel and the stables belonging to it, is an elegant temple dedicated to the Devil and Dr. Faustus. The Priest, a small, fair haired, handsome young man, with a short nose, long ears and a countenance full of humility, suffers his oracle to utter nothing but truth, couched in language the most chaste and beautiful, carefully expunging all such reflections on personal character, low expressions and vulgar ribaldry, as we see in that 'yankee notion' over the way—no base-born Editorials, but all legitimate effusions from his own inspired pen. Solitary & alone he stands nobly guarding with perpetual vigilance the People's Liberties against the Bank and the God damn Fedlists.

Over the way, next door to the 'Yankee Notion' is the Drug Store of the celebrated Chemist who has astonished our good people with his wonderful discoveries—it is made conspicuous by two three cornered bow windows, full of beautiful blue, red and green globes,—before the door generally lies a barrel of Tar ever to remind the passers by, of the new discovery.—Leaning against one of the pillars we see a pure and honest Democrat, gazing with stern contempt upon the Barrel, and there, that dog of a Whig, who is watching him, mutters to his friend, that 'fellow is thinking when the tar is on the pallisades, he will place his fagot under them instead of the Court House steps"—Take care how you mutter you damn fedliats, or you will have cause to repent. The Chemist is also an officer of the Bank, and was one of the first to propose the locking up the gold and silver, and the issuing of shin plasters.

In the Court House the other day, we had one of those scenes worth witnessing which I predicted in my last, and truly it was amusement of such a character as rarified the atmosphere of the melancholic and gave his sides many efficacious shakes Gov. Stevens, proxy for our hard money candidate gained a splendid victory, over the rag man at his own meeting, refuting with ease and fluency his most plausible arguments, and successfully proving the Banks to be a set of dam'd robbers. Mr. Pearce, finding it impossible to answer his arguments attempted to ridicule his masterly speech, but was properly punished, by the boisterous behaviour and roars of laughter which followed, the people threatening to bring our frail old Court House down about his ears.

CROCKET.

For the Easton Gazette.

Mr. Graham: I was one of those who witnessed the procession of "Odd Fellows," on Sunday last, at St. Michaels, and although not a member of their Society, I cannot withhold expressing my admiration of their conduct, appearance, and excellent order, during the performance of their solemn rites, a beautiful exemplification of perfect disinterestedness, was exhibited by the members of the order, upon this occasion, for on enquiry I have learnt that but a few, if any, of the members had any personal acquaintance with the deceased whatever. The act then was purely disinterested, and no possible motive but that of charity, kindness, and brotherly love, could have induced those who had never seen his face, or heard his voice to take peculiar pains to pay the last respect to his remains. And he who would assail directly, or indirectly a body of men such as I have described above, cannot comprehend the genius and spirit of our institutions, or must wilfully close his eyes against light and knowledge.

WOOD & TIMBER LAND WANTED.

The subscriber has occasion to ascertain, if it be practicable, to obtain some thousand acres of WOOD AND TIMBER LAND on the navigable waters of the Chesapeake bay. Persons having such to dispose of, will please address me, stating the number of acres, how much of it in wood and whether any timber and the description of both the nearest and the most distant point of either, from sloop navigation—the probable number cords of wood within a given distance from the landing; the proportion of the land cleared and ploughable, with a general description of the soil and the improvements—though these are of less importance, as wood and timber, especially the former, are the chief objects—also state with precision how little money will be demanded in hand and how long a time for the balance to be paid in instalments and again, for what price per annum negro men may be hired in the neighborhood, and what are the current prices paid for cutting per cord, pine and oak.

Answers to this cannot be too particular on all points, and the writers may be assured that while it will be best to state at once the lowest price per acre—no use will be made of the information to the detriment of the party should it not end in a sale.

Proposals will be received for the smallest tracts, provided there be wood enough convenient to navigation, to make it an object, it may be well when there is cleared land and improvements, to state what the land has rented or would rent for.
