of regular and paid troops over a raw and volunteer militia. The utmost confidence has been expressed by the administration papers, that they would still retain Maine in the traces! But thanks to Mr. Amos Kendall's Express mail, the President's message was circulated throughout the State a day or two before the election. The people saw that the charge of locofocoism made by the Whigs against the administration was no longer a fallacy or a chimera. The President himself had adopted the creed in its worst features. They saw the destructive and disorganizing tendencies of the doctrines which he avowed; &, in masses, they quitted his standard, and rallied under the ampler and securer banner of the Whigs, upon whose folds they saw inscribed—'One Constitution—one Country—one Destiny.'

These sudden and overwhelming defections from the Van Buren party, afford us a new proof—did we need any—that, at heart, the mass of the people are honest and patriotic—Deluded and betrayed they may be by crafty and unprincipled leaders—slow and reluctant they may be to believe in the perfidy and incompetency of their rulers—but when once aroused to a true sense of their error, they will show themselves magnanimous in retrieving it.

Scarcely has Mr. Van Buren been six months in the Presidential Chair before he has lost two States which he believed his by all the ties of party organization & all the snares of political corruption. These States he hoped to secure more entirely to himself by turning an ultra demagogue; and appealing to the sympathies of a class, sunk both in moral and political turpitude, and known by the name of LOCO-FOCOS. That our readers may understand the nature of some of the machinations which this miserable faction propose, we publish the following from the New York Examiner and the Plain Dealer—the acknowledged organs of the party, and the untiring eulogists of Mr. Van Buren and his measures:—

'That all debts be declared to be debts of honor, that the judiciary be reformed, and precedents abolished, that the public domain be free to actual settlers, and that a State Convention be held in Utica, on the second Monday in September next, to devise a new constitution, which shall be based solely upon a principle of right or conscience, and which shall recognize neither law nor the legal protection of life and property.'

MAINE has stood forth with Rhode Island promptly to rebuke the spirit, which has breathed forth in the above extract, as well as in the message of Mr. Van Buren. In one week has she taken off a majority, which threatened to cripple her energies for years to come. Nobly has she fulfilled the high hopes which were excited by the well known attachment of her hardy yeomanry to the constitution of the country. They have been alarmed, not without cause, at the threatened profanation of that constitution, and with one sudden and indignant movement have they flocked to the rescue!

Correspondence of the Atlas.

HALLOWELL, Sept. 14th 1837

May Heaven speed this letter. Edward Kent is Governor of Maine. The revolution is so great and astonishing, that we Whigs look at each other with amazement. Only glance your eye over the returns from Somerset, Kennebec, Penobscott, and even Waldo.

The Tories surrender up every thing,—House, Senate, and all; but we Whigs are moderate men, you know; and dont elate at all.

Subjoined is a statement of the vote of each county so far as received:

		Kent.	Parks.
Cumberland	(complete)	5061	5084
York	(complete)	3467	4031
Kennebec	(complete)	6223	3559
Penobscot	(complete)	4322	4172
Lincoln	(complete)	4876	3641
Somerset	(10 towns)	2881	2261
Waldo	(23 do)	1375	2626
Oxford	(26 do)	1979	2937
Hancock	(23 do)	1425	1951
Washington	(21 do)	1512	1308
297 towns		33.417	31.594

Majority for Kent in 297 towns, 1423

There are fifty-three towns to be heard from, which will diminish Kent's majority about 250—His election is certain.

LATER.

MAINE REGENERATED!

From the Boston Atlas Extra of Saturday

1000 GUNS FOR THE STATE OF MAINE.

The steamer New England, which arrived this morning from Gardiner, brings us decisive information of the result of the election. All the towns in the State have been heard from but eight, and they stand thus:—

For Edward Kent, (Whig)	34.008
For Graham Parks, (Loco Foco)	32.971
Majority for Kent.	1 037

The eight towns to be heard from gave last year for Kent 169—Dunlap 446. This year they will be nearly balanced.

THE LEGISLATURE.—Four Whigs are chosen to the Senate in Lincoln; 3 in Kennebec; 2 in Somerset, and 2 in Hancock and Washington—11

The Loco Focos are elected in York, two in Waldo, three in Cumberland two in Oxford, and one in Penobscot—11.

One Senator in Cumberland, one in Hancock and Washington, and one in Penobscot doubtful. In Cumberland and Penobscot, there is believed to be no choice.

REPRESENTATIVES ELECTED.

The whole number of the House 185.—The following returns are correct as far as they go.

	Whig.	Loco Foco.
York	9	11
Cumberland	15	8
Kennebeck	21	1
Lincoln,	15	5
Penobscot	6	5
Somerset	10	2
Oxford	3	7
Hancock	2	9
Washington	5	1
	86	42

In Portland last evening no doubt was entertained that the Whigs would have a majority in the House of Representatives of from five to twelve.

The Loco Focos have been routed—horse, foot and dragoons.

The Van Buren candidates in Annapolis, are John H. T. Magruder and Richard J. Jones.

The vote in the Senate on Monday, on the question of engrossing and ordering to a third reading the bill authorising the issue of Treasury notes, was as follows:

Yeas—Messrs Allen, Bayard, Benton, Black Brown, Buchanan, Calhoun, Clay, of Ala Clayton, Fulton, Grundy, Hubbard, Kent, King, of Ala. King, of Geo. Knight, Lyon, McKean, Morris, Nicholas, Niles, Norvell, Pierce, Ruggles Roane, Robbins, Robinson, Rogers Sevier, Smith, of Conn., Smith of Ind Strange, Swift, Tallmadge, Tipton, Walker, Wall, Webster, White, Williams, Wright, Young—42.

Nays—Messrs Clay, of Ky. Tristenden, Preston, Southard Spence—5

The substace of Mr Calhoun's plan for effecting a separation of the Government and the Banks as embraced in the amendment offered by him to the Senate on Monday, is—

'That from and after the first of January next threefourths of the money due to the Government may be paid in notes of specie-paying banks; that from and after the 1st of January, 1839 one half might be paid in such notes; one-quarter after the 1st of January, 1840; and that from and after the 1st of January 1841, all sums due the Government for customs, lands, &c. shall be paid only in the legal currency, of the United States, or in such notes, bills, &c. as should by law be ordered'

Texas—In the House of Representatives on Monday, upwards of eighty memorials were presented, praying that Texas may not be admitted into the Union

On the same day Mr Adams proposed to offer the following resolution for the consideration of the House

'Resolved, That the power of annexing the People of any independent foreign State to this Union is a power not delegated by the Constitution of the United States to their Congress, or to any Department of their Government, but reserved to the People

The Speaker decided that the motion was, at that hour, out of order, and therefore it could not then be either received or read

In both Houses of Congress, Wednesday 13th, bills were reported for authorizing an issue of Treasury notes, to enable the Treasury to meet the current demands upon it. A bill for this purpose will probably pass both Houses; but it is doubtful whether any other act of any sort will be passed at the present session, unless legislation be thought necessary to authorize the proper extension of time on the merchants' bonds

Nat Intel.

Extract of a letter from the Honorable J C Calhoun, to the editor of the Alexandria Gazette

On one highly important subjects on which Congress has been called to deliberate, I shall express my views and opinions in my place in the Senate.

As to the calumnies which may be circulated to my prejudice, they are not unexpected. It is my rule to pass them unnoticed, leaving it to my conduct to put them down

How strange, that any man who knows me, should imagine it possible for me to be driven or seduced from my position! I live but to carry out the great principles for which I have been contending since 1824 and which I have maintained under every danger and difficulty In their defence I have acted with and against every party, without blending with any. Mr Van Buren has been driven into a position favorable to their advancement, and shall I not avail myself of the opportunity which it affords me to accomplish my objects? Shall I permit him to drive me from any position because he has been driven on it? All I ask is to be heard My confidence, in every juncture, is in the force of truth and integrity.'

Yellow Fever at New Orleans—A slip from the office of the New Orleans True American, under date of 12 inst. mentions that the yellow fever was extending its ravages, and that the deaths during the preceding three days could not have been less than two hundred.

NEWS OF THE CITY.

Under this head we should like to send our friends at the North a couple of columns—but the material wherewith to make it is wanting.

We had two or three small sprinkles of rain last evening!

We can say that our population is pretty well gone; some frightened away, others, worn dead with fatigue and heat, have retired a few miles from the city to recruit.

We are now in the midst of the first of September. Unlike New York and Philadelphia, we do not begin to feel the want of fire and cloaks, but continue to be roasted and boiled by the hottest sun that ever man felt, and to be suffocated by the most rarified atmosphere that ever mortal tried to breathe in

Oh, for a rain! is the ejaculation of every inhabitant, from the loveliest Belle the women to the meanest of all the ladies.

It is astonishing to see how the Irish draymen stand the summer—they will drive through the city the live long day, with their coats off and a big heavy wool hat on the top of their heads.

The public houses are almost a solitude, and so are the public places in our city

All the more refined loafers who could raise a few dollars, have travelled over the lakes to sponge on fashionable society

The Doctors are as busy as busy can be, and the hospitals are all well filled.

The old inhabitants, and a great number of families still stand by the city—and many of them continue their devotions at the places of public worship.

The little children of the Second Municipality still attend the sabbath schools and give promise of future usefulness and goodness.

For the next four weeks dullness and stagnation will be the ruling characteristics of New Orleans—Then, the grave diggers will have relaxation, and every body will be actively engaged in trade and business.—N. O. Picayune.

Office of the Mobile Register, Sept. 11, 1837.

TREMENDOUS AND AWFUL GALE AT APALACHICOLA.—Two hundred thousand dollars worth of property destroyed—Buildings blown down; and twenty of their roofs blown off—Side rose from ten to fifteen feet—On Wednesday about 7 o'clock in the evening a squall came up from the south east, which continued increasing with considerable violence for about two hours, the wind then shifted to the westward, and about eleven o'clock, it blew a pretty heavy gale; it gradually increased in violence until morning when the tide had risen about six feet covering our wharves, some two or three feet; every moment now seemed to add terror to the desolating scene, the rain descended in torrents, while the wind was blowing a perfect hurricane—every citizen was called upon to save the property likely to float away on the wharves, or the steamboats or smaller crafts that were now in a sinking condition at the wharves; but all human exertion seemed to fail, the wind increased and with it the rain until it appeared as though heavens and earth would come together

About 12 o'clock noon, the wind veered round to the northward and eastward, and, with it, an increase, if possible of a gale. All persons now seemed to give up all hopes of saving any thing but themselves; notwithstanding the narrowness of our river immediately in front of the city, it seemed no protection to our vessels, the wind as though with wings, appeared to raise them up and throw them with violence down upon the wharves

At 4 o'clock not a person was seen in Water st. and to get under the lee of a house was only to have the roof tumbling down upon him: all the steamboats and small crafts by this time were in ten thousand pieces: the wooden buildings on the wharves were also floating with the other wrecks.

The gale continued until about 12 o'clock at night when it shifted to the north-west, and this morning we are again blessed with a clear sky.
