Mr. Walker, of Mississippi, argued a short time ago in the U. S. Senate, that there was no distress in that section of country which he represented. One of the Louisiana Sheriffs, a most effective logician, has answered the argument by advertising the Senator's property for sale.

The state of the currency at the South and the effect on the people of the experiments which have been made on it, may be inferred from the following paragraph copied from an Alabama paper of a late date:

The Gainesville Reporter of the 15th inst. says: 'We understand, that at the term of the circuit court of Greene county, which commenced on the first Monday of this month, seven hundred and eighteen new civil actions were commenced; and there will probably be upwards of one thousand in Sumpter at the court in April next.

The Irwinton Herald (Henry County, Ala., we believe,) says: 'There is a much greater number of casses on docket, than was ever known, since the organization of the county.'

IMPORTANT FROM TEXAS.

The steam packet Columbia, Capt. Wright, arrived yesterday, in 42 hours from Velasco, bringing 35 cabin and 15 steerage passengers.

The Mexican blockading squadron has arrived in the waters of Galveston and the mouth of the Brazos.

The Texians evince the most sovereign contempt towards this squadron.

The efficiency of the new currency says the same paper, is becoming every day more apparent.—Goods, which are in abundance at Houston, can be readily purchased with the promissory notes of the government, at a small advance upon the New Orleans prices.

The citizens of Houston have been visited by Castre, a celebrated Indian Chief, with several of his tribe, who are anxious to have an amicable connection with the government.

Every thing seems to be exceedingly prosperous. We see that a steam saw mill is in operation at Houston—this speaks volumes of itself.

THE BLOCKADING SQUADRON.

THE STEAM PACKET COLUMBIA FIRED INTO!

On her way to this port, the Columbia was brought to, while off the Island of Galveston by part of the Mexican squadron above mentioned, consisting of an armed ship and brig. The papers of the Columbia were demanded but the gallant commander refused. A shot or two was then fired at her, but they did no harm except that they frightened the poor Mexicans who touched them off.

The passengers on the Columbia afterwards held a meeting in the cabin, and highly commended the cool and judicious conduct of Capt. Wright.

PRESENTATION OF A SWORD

To Capt. Kennedy, of the United States Navy. On Wednesday last his Excellency Governor Veazey, performed the ceremony of presenting, in the name of the State, the SWORD which the Legislature some time since voted as a testimony of the sense entertained by the People of this State, of the gallant conduct of that gentleman, a native of Maryland, in the affairs of Tripoli, and which is recorded in the history of that transaction. The ceremony was performed in a very appropriate style, in the Senate Chamber, in the presence of the presiding officers and most of the members of the Legislature, Officers of the State, many strangers at the time at the seat of government, and a number of Ladies and Gentlemen.—*Annap. LITERARY PURSUITS.

Mr. Editor:

The subject which I have selected is an important one, demanding more ability than I possess; but nothwithstanding acknowledged incompetency, I will venture upon a few remarks. A sway over learning, exercised by worldly innovation, has too long existed. Yes, to the reproach of this enlightened era, intellectual cultivation is neglected, while supreme homage is paid personal accomplishment; as if excellence on this score constituted true dignity.—As if man's merit were to be tested by his adapting himself to this worlds vanities. Happy shall I be, if these, and what plain remarks I shall make in future, on this subject, suggested by prevailing ignorance on all subjects, should be influential in restoring a laudable enthusiasm for learning amongst us. Once inspire this powerful leaver in minds, through society, and we shall with high wrought emotions exclaim the downfall of ignorance is inevitable. We shall see whole communities forsaking worldly pomp and turning with ardent hearts and intrepid feelings to the all important subject, namely, intellectual improvement. Oh glorious era when the proud pillars of infidelity, superstition, ignorance shall tremble to their base—shall totter and crumble into nothingness before learnings onward march!

There is a class of individuals who seem to steer a middle course with regard to literary pursuits. They profess to entertain correct views, cherish good sentiments; they will devour volumes huge; spend days and nights in reading and reading only, not studying. For that only can be called studying when meditation and writing are employed. No matter how much we read, if we do not digest what we read,—the intellect remains the same—mind still barren, unadorned with literatures flowers. But are their books such as can improve, instruct,—I fear not; for this age is characterized by fictitious works worse than trash. The age of fiction, in which giants in intellect make a grand display with their false phylosophy extremely injurious to young, inexperienced minds. More anon.

Mr. Graham.

Many Eastern Shoremen are puzzled to find out why the Registry Law has proved so very obnoxious to 'the Party'—Frightened by the anathemas of the 'Republican' and other lesser lights revolving round it, they read it with fear and trembling, expecting in every section to find something very treasonable and 'hellish'—but at the conclusion draw a long breath and exclaim with heartfelt relief, no honest man can object to this Law. This is very true, but I am not surprised that the Party should object to it, nor will others when they recollect that it will cut off the volunteers to whom the Party are indebted for their majority at the last election in Baltimore, and that if they succeed in humbugging the workingmen into the belief that it will hamper their right of suffrage, &c. &c.' the door will be again opened to all manner of bribery and corruption.

At first they were no doubt, at a loss to discover a way to abuse the Law and still lay claim to their characters as honest men, but suddenly they bethought themselves of their known reverence for the Constitution! and hatred of Reform, and agreed to vote it unconstitutional!!

As these presses have not given their readers a chance of judging for themselves as to its Constitutionality, by publishing—will you, by giving it a place in the Gazette oblige

A SUBSCRIBER.

THE REGISTRY LAW.

The following is a copy of the Registry Act which has passed the Legislature:

A Bill, Entitled an act to guard against Fraud in the exercise of the elective franchise in the city of Baltimore.

Section. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That from and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of the Governor with the consent of the Senate, to appoint two persons in each ward in the city of Baltimore as registers of voters; whose duty it shall be to keep and open books annually, in which the names of each and every Person shall be inserted who, upon examination by said registers', that he is entitled or will be entitled, to vote at the next election under the laws and constitution of this State, and who may apply to said registers for that purpose.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the said register on or before the first of September annually to make out from the Books aforesaid a list, alphabetically arranged, of the names of all persons inserted in the books aforesaid, stating their respective wards; and to publish the same and affix printed copies thereof in at least ten public places in each ward.

Sec. 3. And be it enacted, That for the purpose of correcting any errors which may occur in said lists, it shall be the duty of the registers to meet in their respective wards, five days previous to the time for holding the general elections in every year, and shall set publicly for the examination of the same, and it shall be the duty of the registers aforesaid to furnish the said Judges with the list for their respective wards, and they being first sworn to perform their duties with fidelity shall receive such proofs of the right of any applicant to vote at the next general election, as is required by the laws regulating elections in this State; and they shall add to said list the name or names of such persons as shall be duly qualified to vote aforesaid, and they shall certify that they have duly examined and corrected the said list and shall safely keep the same until the day of the general election, and shall deliver them to the said Judges on the morning of the general election, before the opening of the polls thereof, which lists duly attested by the said registers, shall be deemed and taken to be the only and conclusive evidence of the qualifications of the voters thereof.

Sec. 4. And be it enacted, That in case the name of any person not qualified to vote as aforesaid shall be inserted by the registers aforesaid on the lists to be published as aforesaid, if the same shall be satisfactorily and by legal evidence shown to the said Judges, after due notice to the parties concerned it shall be lawful for them to erase the name or names of such persons, provided, that in case a voter shall remove out of the ward where his name has been enrolled previous to the day of the election, he shall retain his right to vote in said ward, and in no other ward, provided also, he shall make a written statement under oath or affirmation, setting forth the fact of his removal, and the name and number of the ward, to which he has removed, and that he is still a resident of Baltimore City.

Sec. 5. And be it enacted, That the registers appointed in the preceding section of this act shall sit for the purpose herein before mentioned, that is to say to receive and register the names of such persons as are entitled to vote under the provisions of this act from the 1st day of September to the 17th day of the same month inclusive, and their compensation shall be $2 per day, to be paid out of any unappropriated money in the treasury.

Sec. 6. And be it enacted, That in case any vacancy or vacancies shall occur in the list of registers to be appointed by this act, the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, if the Senate be in session, shall proceed to fill such vacancy, as soon as may be after it occurs, and if the Senate be not in session, then the Governor shall fill such vacancy, and it shall be the duty of the registers, whenever any vacancy takes place to report the fact immediately to his Excellency the Governor

Sec. 7 And be it enacted, That if said registers, or any of them shall fail to perform the duties assigned them in this act, or shall be guilty of any fraud in the same, they shall be subject to a fine of five hundred dollars, and imprisonment in the county Jail not less than six months, nor more than two years.

Sec. 8. And be it enacted, That if any individual shall arrive in the city of Baltimore on the day of election; and he shall prove by indifferent testimony, that he has been absent from the city or state, then and in that case, the Judges of the election are authorized to receive his vote.

Sec. 9. And be it enacted, That if either of said registers shall bet or be in any manner interested in any bet or bets, on any election, or shall be stake holders of any bet or bets, or shall at any time, exhibit their books, except to each other or give a copy thereof to any person or persons whatever, except the Judges of elections as herein before provided, the said registers shall on conviction thereof before Baltimore city court, be fined the sum of $100 and imprisoned 6 months.

Sec. 10. And be it enacted, That at the next election the voters so registered, shall declare upon their ballot for or against the registry law, and if it is found upon counting the same, that majority of said ballots were against the said law, then and in that case the said law shall in future be null and void.

Contrary to our usual habit, we have been induced to re-publish the following very beautiful lines of poetry, as well because they relate to a Gentleman who was well known to us, and also was greatly respected by his friends, as because they are said to be the production of a young gentleman, a native of our neighbouring very agreeable town, Cambridge—They evince no common poetical talent, and as such do great honor to him—We recommend this young poet to still higher flights, in which we have no doubt his wings will faithfully sustain him.

From the Cambridge Chronicle.

Lines on the death of Capt, WILLIAM W. ECCLESTON.

"Methinks amid the Autumnal gales that rush
Round these eternal rocks, a sudden cry
Of lamentation mingles—yon dark woods,
Seem murmuring to themselves a solemn dirge,
And the far cataract's roar, is like the wail
That friendship utters o'er departed worth.'

Back to the world of Spirits thou hast fled,
Forgetting, not forgot, among the dead;
Thy vision past, thy dream of joy o'er,
Rest then, nor fear, nor hope, nor suffer more.

Our phantom joys and beauty's fading sheen,
Like shadows flit o'er life's delusive scene,
Our dawn of youth but beams to gild the cloud,
Which mantles hope in disappointment's shroud.

Who would not hurl untasted from his lip,
Life's bitter cup, which poisons as we sip?
Why should we wish to live from youth to age,
To view each loved one blotted from life's page?

The heart which heaves with fond affection's sigh,
But doats to languish—gladdens but to die;
The transient smile of magic beauty's bloom,
Is hectic radiance kindles at the tomb.

Who has not felt, in life's eventful hour,
Some sudden stroke of grief's relentless pow'r?
Who has not paused to shed one tear,
O'er buried love, or kind affections bier?

Who has not wept, as faithful mem'ry traced
Each lingering hope, in childhood's hour effaced?
Then rest thee, in that dreamless sleep,
Whose morrow wakes thee, ne'er again to weep.

As the sea bird sinks on its wave of rest,
As the dew-drop falls from the lilly's crest,
As the sunbeam fades on the sky at even,
Thou art gone—thy Spirit dwells in heaven

BRANCH BANK, AT EASTON.

Mr. Graham,—Be pleased to publish in the Gazette the statement of the condition of this Bank herewith presented to you—This is the last statement, which was furnished to the Committee on the Currency, at their request—Sundry other statements of the condition of this Bank at previous periods, say fifteen, were also furnished to the committee, at their request, and may be found in their report to the General Assembly.—The object of this publication is to prevent any improper impressions, tha might be caused by imperfect statements of the condition of this bank in any of the newspapers, or elsewhere.—It is believed that all the interrogatories, presented to this Bank by the Committee, have been fully answered, and especially the ninth upon the subject of brokers has been answered in these words, "that this Bank had nothing to do with brokers during the periods therein mentioned," as such appears to be the case by reference to the original draft of the answers preserved by this Bank.

You will also publish another statement, herewith handed to you, showing the present condition of this Bank.

Your Obedient Servant,

NEWARK COLLEGE,

DELAWARE.

This institution was founded by the Legislature of Delaware in the year 1833, and was empowered to exercise all the rights and privileges of a College. It is now fully organized; has an efficient Faculty; a good Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, and a select and useful Library. Its situation in a small village, within less than a mile of the Rail Road between Baltimore and Philadelphia, combines the advantages of requirement and ready access.—It may be reached from either city in about 3½ hours. The climate is well known for its salubrity.

In this institution there are two departments, the Collegiate and the Academic. In the first of these the Student can obtain as full a course of instruction as is imparted at any other College. In the second he may either be prepared for entering the College, or he may pursue such studies as his parents or guardian may desire.

The winter term of this Institution will close on the third of April. The summer term will commence on Wednesday, the ninth of May, and continue twenty weeks.
