the intersection of the extended line No. 12. on the plat (of the said Hanson) with the line of Wicksall drawn from Mosses Point as located on the plats and then to the begg. contg.

The plaintiff also locates Aspinals Hope one other way beginning at Mosses Point and running thence S 18° 3/4 W 80 pls. thence by a straight line to (B.) then with the 8th and 9th lines of Nonsuch as laid down to to the intersection of said 9th line extended with the line drawn from Mosses point, for a line of Wicksall then to the begg. contg.

The plaintiff makes one other location of Aspinalls Hope, beginning at Mosses Point and running S 18° 3/4 W 80 pls. thence by a straight line to (F.) thence with the second line of Fletchers Addition reversed from F. to its beginning thence with the line No. 12. on the plat (of said Hanson) extended to its intersection with the line of Wicksall as located from Mosses Point, on the plats of this cause then to Mosses Point the begg. contg.

6th. The plaintiff locates Nonsuch according to the courses and calls of the patent, beginning at C. and running thence in the red drawn and dotted lines to (B.) then to (A.) then to the end of said red drawn and dotted lines the to the begg. contg. 111 acres.

"This location he makes for the simple purpose of shewing the extent of land known by the name of Nonsuch and the manner in which said land acquired the name of Nonsuch and making this location for that purpose and none other, he utterly denies the validity of said patent of escheat (so called) and its operation except to account for the origin of the name of Nonsuch by which said land is now best known."

7th. The plaintiff also locates the deed of Richard Brooke and Walter T. Brooke, to Lott Mason, for the purpose of shewing the extent of the defendants possessions of Nonsuch, and for no other purpose but especially denying the validity or operation of said deed beginning for the same at C. and running thence S. 64° 1/2 W 40 pls. then N. 57° 1/2 W 8 pls. to Lehickamuxon creek, then by and with said creek to Potomac River, then down and with said River to a free stone alledged to be the upper corner of Fletchers Addition denoted by (B.) then to (A.) then to K. and then to the begg. contg.

(F.) Represents William Budd's dwelling house see the deposition of Francis C. Dunnington and Richard B. Posey, as to the dwelling house and Fishery. see also Francis C. Dunnington as to the point C.

8th. The plaintiff locates for illustration the patent of Fletchers Addition in two ways by reversing the second and first lines from the two points at (B.) and F.

9th. The plaintiff also locates the first and second lines of Aspinals Hope, from the point B. as above described running with and binding on Potomac River down to (B) and also from the same point B. running and binding on said river down to F.

10th. The plaintiff also locates the first and second lines of Aspinals Hope, from Mosses Point running with and binding on the river down to (B.) and also from the same point running with and binding on the said river down to F.

11th. The plaintiff also locates the line of Aspinals Hope, which runs from the red oak as stated in the patent, beginning the said line at the beginning of the second line of Fletchers Addition reversed from (B.) and running thence N 74° 5/4 E. to intersect the line of Wicksall No. 8. on the plat (of said Hanson) as also to intersect the line of Wicksall located on the plats in this cause from Mosses Point.

12th. The plaintiff instructs the surveyor to make the locations of the various tracts or parcels of land, with the usual allowance for variation from the dates of the patents and deeds which instruction has been complied with.

Additional. 1st. The plaintiff locates Allansons Folly beginning at C. the beginning of Nonsuch and running thence the Lehickamuxon lereek, thence up the creek to (a) then to C. then in the black drawn lines No. 2 and 3 to the black line from C. it being paralel to the line No. 2. then to the begg. contg.

2d. The plaintiff locates the first line of Allansons Folly by a straight line from (A) to C.

3d. The plaintiff locates Wicksall beginning at (A) and thence by a straight line to Lehickamuxon lereek then with the creek to Mosses Point, then S 49° 3/4 E. 320 pers. then N 40° 2/4 E to intersect a paralel from the beginning then to the begg. contg.

4th. The plaintiff locates Wicksall, beginning at (A) thence to the creek, thence down the creek 100 pls. to H thence by a line run S 49° 3/4 E 320 pls. then N 40° 2/4 E to a paralel from the beginning then to the begg. contg.

5th. The plaintiff locates the first line of Wicksall, beginning at (A) then to the creek, then by the water side to B as laid down on (Hansons) plat then with (Hansons) line of Wicksall No. 8. to the end of 320 pls. then N 40° 2/4 E. to intersect a paralel from the beginning then to the begg. contg.

6th. The plaintiff locates Aspinalls Hope, beginning at H. thence by and with the water side to (B.) thence with the second line of Fletchers Addition reversed from (B.) to the beginning of said second line, thence N. 74° 5/4 E untill it intersects the line of Wicksall as drawn from H. then to the begg. contg.

7th. The plaintiff lays down the two first lines of Aspinals Hope, beginning at H. then S 18° 3/4 W 80 pls. then to (B.)

8th. The plaintiff locates Wicksall beginning at A to which see the deposition of Francis C. Dunnington thence to (f) at the creek, then by and with the creek to Mosses Point then S 49° 3/4 E. 320 pls. then N. 40° 2/4 E to a paralel from the beginning then to the begg. contg.

Second Additional. 1st. The plaintiff locates Allansons Folly by beginning at I. where the first course and distance comes to reversed from C. a place in a marsh shewn by Francis C. Dunnington to which see his deposition then with said reversed course to C. then in the black drawn line No. 2 (and extending the same) the distance of 320 pls. then in the black drawn line No. 13 to intersect a paralel line from from the beginning, then