his head awfully mangled—and his lips still quivering with oaths, burned and swelled till it was distressing to see him Nothing else was injured—the blasphemer only was killed.

N. G. BERRYMAN.

Lewistown, May 13

That our friends in Maryland may perceive what are the expectations of the Loco Focos as to the coming election in this State for members of Congress, we copy the annexed letter to the Richmond Enquirer.

Extract of a letter from Baltimore, July 1st.

"Residing, as I have long done, in good old Democratic Baltimore county, a central position, just beyond the precints of the city, and holding an extensive correspondence with our prominent men in the different sections of the State it affords me great pleasure to communicate to you the heart-cheering information recently derived from the most respectable sources, that the following distinguished gentlemen will most unquestionably be elected to represent their Congressional Districts; Frank Thomas, an honor to Maryland, from the Western District—John T. H. Worthington from Baltimore, Harford and Carroll counties—James Carroll and Maj. Hillen for Baltimore, Anne Arundel, and the city of Annapolis—and my promising & talened young friend, Philip Frank Thomas, for the five upper counties of the Eastern Shore. at present represented by James Alfred Pearce. These Districts I consider positively certain. And then the adjoining District will, in all probablitiy, go for Col. James A. Stuart, one of our most undeviating and influential Republican friends. This district is now represented by Mr. Dennis. And if judicious arrangements are adopted in William Cost Johnson's District, he can easily be defeated. Sustained and elected as he was by the friends of the Administration, he became our most bitter and uncompromising enemy in Congress and consequently he can have no just claim to the future support of the Republican friends of Van Buren in Montgomery county. If you inquire the cause of this wonderful revolution in the politics of Maryland, the answer is ready. our sound and free Democracy hoisted Virginia's Patriotic Banner—every thing for principle—nothing for men—and we shall sweep the Neutrals, Independents and Conservatives, by the board with their new allies, the modern Whigs. I congratulate you with all my heart upon your glorious triumph in Virginia."

This calculation allows the Whigs one of the eight members to be chosen from this State! In this District the election of Messrs. Carrol and Hillen is declared to be "positively certain." And even in W. C. Johnson's District where there is no Loco Foco candidate in the field and where there is a Whig majority of six hundred votes, the defeat of Mr. Johnson is considered within the range of "judicions arrangements." Whilst these calculations exhibit the ignorant confidence of the Loco Focos, they convey a wholesome admonition to our friends. They teach us that the adversary is alert, and that, if we expect to succeed, we have no time to lose and can afford to indulge in no dissentions.—[Balt. Chon.

New York Correspondence, July 4th.

The PRESIDENT, in his speech at Castle Garden, commenced with a remark that he was deeply and gratefully affected by the cordial reception of his 'democratic fellow citizens.' The President thus, as it were, makes an open avowal of the electioneering character of his tour This remark, and the sub-Treasury part of the speech, have disgusted all but his partizans.

'The 'Democratic' Young Men's Committee paid a Thousand Dollars for the use of Castle Garden to receive the President in.

The President to-day dines with the members of the Common Council. The members of the Chamber of Commerce called upon him yesterday. To-morrow he receives the citizens in the Governor's room.

The people of this city to-day are having what some newspapers call 'a tall time.' The booths around the Park are more numerous than ever. That great unknown in our political circles, but whose voice is heard so often about Tammany Hall, and who composes a part of that well known political firm—I mean Mr. Bang—has complete possession of the city. The bang of all the inventions for the use of powder is all that can be heard.

A horrible loss of life has just occurred on the Harlem railroad. The locomotive, at 16th street, ran off the track, and, when the people were engaged in putting it on, the boiler burst, and killed several persons immediately, and horribly mutilated others. The amount of the sacrifice of life, I am not now able to ascertain The engineer probably forgot to let off the steam when the locomotive stopped.

Governor Seward came down from Albany this morning, and went directly to Statan Island to visit the great Sunday School celebration there. Mr. Van Buren has also gone, and there they will meet. —[Nat. Int.

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE,

JULY 9th.

The news market continues barren, exceedingly barren. Wall, Pearl, Pine, Cedar, South and Water streets, where go on the great operations of commerce, are exceedingly dull.

The emigrants are flocking in upon us in regiments. Seven hundred arrived yesterdey.

The weather is hot, and the sudden change from the cool air of the ocean to the hot impure air of the city is not favorable to health.

The President left us at 1 o'clock. He is to go to Albany all the way by land, and to take the towns off the river on his route. Preparations are made for him all along, and the chart of his route is fully laid out. Of course he will be a long time on his way, and as the newspaper chroniclers are few on the way, I shall hardly be able to chronicle what is done.

His departure from the city presented an extraordinary contrast with the arrival. Though the Administration papers emblazoned the programme, and the party exerted itself to muster an array so as to belie the asseverations of the Whigs that the sub-Treasury speech of Castle Garden had driven off the citizens from him; yet the signs attending the departure were a signal confirmation of this fact. There were not fifty horses and carriages to escort him from his quarters at Washington Hall. The people, though the quarters were in the great thoroughfare of Broadway, mustered but few, very few in number, and the efforts to cheer were such as such efforts usually bring forth, lifeless, soulless, the workings of man's anatomical machinery.

I take no pleasure in making the remarks I have made upon the reception of the President in the city of his own State. His party took possession of him, and giving himself up to the honors of a party, he has had what such honors are usually worth. But he has had no welcome from the People. He has had no enthusiasm. He has won no friends. Never was any predecessor of his in his illustrious station ever received with so much frigidity. They who saw the welcome of Gen. Jackson mark well the contrast, and Gen. J., was not a New Yorker. We had no State pride for him. Thousands and thousands here detested his political measures: but his tact, his common sense saved him from disgracing his office by allusions to party politics; when a city was receiving him; when its constituted authorities came out; when the military were his escort. We honored the office and the officer then with a hearty welcome—but what a piteous contrast is this entree and the departure of New York's favorite son into the Capital! The President and the Mayor, in a barouche and four, went out of the city to day, and only the Custom House was at his heels! The President and the Mayor were at the Bowery Theatre last night, & MING again was in his box, and RIELL was by his side!—The character of the escort was not the choice of the respectable Mayor.

MARYLAND ELECTION.

WHIG NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS

SECOND DISTRICT.

JAMES A. PEARCE.

A distressing accident occurred on Thursday last, at the Marl bank of Mr. Smyth, in this county.—Mr. Isaac Hough, of the Schr. Perseverance, was crushed to pieces by the caving in of the bank—he was accompanied by his two brothers, one of whom was Captain of the Schooner. A black man was nearly covered, but escaped uninjured—the other hands had but a moment before left the bank. Mr. Hough was just twenty one years of age, the day he was killed.

Wm. Price, Esq., is proposed as the Whig Candidate, for Congress, from the sixth Congressional District, in opposition to Frank Thomas.

The Maysville Eagle, of the 5th inst. says:—'The Hon. Henry Clay, accompanied by Judge Porter, of Louisiana, arrived in this city on Thursday afternoon, 4th inst, and departed on the next morning, via Cincinnati on a tour to the Canadas.

CENTENARY OF METHODISM.—The first meeting preparatory to this great ceremonial was held in New York on Monday.

The Potomac Advocate says, most of the farmers have commenced cutting their grain in this section of country. The wheat is well filled and on good land will yield from 35 to 40 bushels to the acre.

WITHDRAWAL OF MR. WEBSTER.

The Boston papers of Wednesday last contain the subjoined letter from DANIEL WEBSTER. The withdrawal of his name from the list of those designated as candidates for the Presidency, is in pursuance of a high sense of duty on the part of Mr. Webster, in the actual posture of affairs, and in view of his own position before the country. Though it may disappoint the present hopes of his most attached and intimate personal friends, to whom his great qualities as a Statesman and Orator, and his high capacity for the station, are especially evident; yet the act is of a self-denying quality which is in keeping with his exalted character and high sense of public duty, and as such, will endear him but the more to the mass of his fellow citizens. Thorough and cordial union of the whole Whig Conservative party of the United States; is of the last importance to the country, in its present exigency, and in achieving for it a safe deliverance from the rule and reign of the spoilers. These truths are sufficiently evident to every mind. And to bring about that union, so high in its promise and so healthful in its effects, no honorable act that in him lies, whatsoever its bearing upon his personal fortunes, will be wanting on the part of DANIEL WEBSTER. In all those issues which involve the interests and safety of the Union, the preservation of its free institutions, and the maintenance of a government of laws, we always know where to find the great DEFENDER of the CONSTITUTION.—[Pat.

TO THE PEOPLE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

It is known, that my name has been presented to the public, by a meeting of members of the Legislature of the State, as a candidate for the office of President of the United States, at the ensuing election. As it has been expected, that a Convention would be holden in the Autumn of this year composed of Delegates from the several States, I have hitherto thought proper not to anticipate, in any way, the results of that Convention.—But I am now out of the country, not to return, probably, much earlier, than the period fixed for the meeting of the Convention, & do not know what events may occur, in the meantime, which, if I were at home, might demand immediate attention from me. I desire, moreover, to act no part which may tend to prevent a cordial and effective union among those, whose object, I trust, is to maintain, unimpaired, the Constitution of the country, and to uphold all its great interests, by a wise, prudent, and patriotic administration of the Government. These considerations have induced me to withdraw my name, as a candidate, for the office of President, at the next election.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

London, June 12, 1839.

WHO IS THIS?—The Central committee of the Whigs of Virginia, in their most eloquent address to the Whigs of that State, declined to recommend the nomination of any particular citizen as a candidate for the Presidency. They drew, however, a portrait of the object of their own individual preferences, which we present to our readers

'Our own strong and decided preference, indeed, points to the statesman to whose benignant influence this station stands already indebted for the healing of the two most fearful dissensions that have ever distracted its councils; from whose practical wisdom, the result of great experience in public affairs, ability and virtue, we may expect a prudent and prosperous, as well as a just administration; whose large and liberal views will dispose him whose generous ambition will prompt him, whose patriotism will impel him, and whose firmness will enable him, to be the President of a nation & not the President of a faction; and from whose moderation and magnanimity we may hope that the Executive patronage in his hands, will no longer be an instrument of favour, of revenge, or of ambition—no longer be degraded to the vile purposes of rewarding the selfish zeal of furious partisans and punishing the independence of honest opponents—of continuing power in the hands that hold it and perpetuating the domination of a party. But the great object we have at heart, far more than the nomination of the gentleman whom we prefer, is that concert and co-operation in effecting a nomination which will secure an undivided and strenuous support of the candidate who shall be selected, being ready to forego our individual preferences, if it shall be required of us in deference to the opinion and wishes of the party with whom we must act in order to make our strength effici ent.

The Washington correspondent of the Courier and Enquirer writing under date of Friday last says: 'A fact which has occasioned much speculation in this city took place yesterday, viz: the election of Richard Smith, late Cashier of the Branch Bank of the U. S. over Mr. George Thomas, Cashier of the Bank of the Metropolis. What led to this movement by the Directors, is what astonishes every body. One thing is certain, that the Bank has lost nothing by the exchange, Mr. Smith is an able financier and managed for the Bank of the United States so as to give great satisfaction to all interested. Notwithstanding Mr. Van Buren is loud in his denunciations of banks as dangerous and worthless, he did not omit to send to the Bank of the Metropolis his plate and articles of value for safe-keeping during his electioneering campaign.'

The shores of the creek leading from Chester river to Centreville, are covered with dead fish which give forth a most villainous smell—it is sickening to be about them. The cause we know not unless the fish abound so plentifully they hav'nt room to swim.

Centreville Times.

Mr. Richard C. Tilghman and Mr. John Smith, of Queen Anne's county, have both provided themselves with patent wheat cutting machines, and have finished their crops with them. The cost was $150. The machine is carried abou tthe field by two horses and will cut about 8 acres a day, laying it in nice order for the binders who follow. We have not seen the machines in operation, but they are said to do good work. The cutting is done by means of large shears or scissors, which are easily kept under.

DOMESTIC MARKETS.

At Winchester (Va.) on Friday, Flour was quoted at $4 90; Wheat $1; Rye 80a85.

At New York, last week, business was generally very inactive The continued pressure in the money market the lateness of the season, and the festivites of the week conspired to this end.—The sales of Cotton were about 2100 bales. In most instances an advantage of 1-4 to 1-2 cts was realized over the prices which ruled before the arrival of the Liverpool, but the sales seemed to be gradually falling into the rates which prevailed before the receipt of her accounts; Upland 11 1 2a14 1-2c; Mobile 11 3-4a15 1-4: New Orleans 11 3 4a15 Common Genessee Flour sells at $6 25 a31; Georgetown sold more freely at $6 12 a 37; Rye flour dull at $4 62 and Corn Meal at 4 12; 2400 bush. old Virginia Wheat sold at 131 1-4c; 800 bu. Southern Rye at 90c, and Northern now only quoted at 90a93c; 1000 bu. sold at 90c; 4000 do Va Corn sold at 83 cwt. and all sorts included between 80 and 86c weight. Molasses quite dull. Turpentine scarcely maintains its recent price. Rice quite dull. Nothing new in Tobacco. Foreign Exchange was in considerable demand & was put up on Saturday to 110a110 1-4—the U. S. Bank, which was drawing at 109 1-2, having temporarily run out of bills—a new supply was expected by this day. No improvement in Exchange on the West and South. Mississippi paper is as low at present as it ever stood at any period. Most of the Post Notes are unsaleable unless at a very ruinous rate. The Bills of the United States Bank are above specie in most of the Banks at the South. They are wanted for remittance.

At Charleston, last week there was not a sale of Cotton, some odds and ends were disposed of on the 22 inst. but since that there was not a single transaction.—and it was thought there would be little done in the article during the summer, unless as a means of remittance. The stock continues gradually to decrease, owing to the fact that holders are free shippers. The market for long cotton is also at a stand, but about 40 bags Santees, stained, were sold at 20 and 22c per lb.—Stock 2303 Sea Island and 10,019 Upland. Sales of 222 tes. Rice at $4 3-8a 4.56 1-4 No new arrivals of Corn.

At Fredericksburg, (Va.) yesterday, Flour is quoted at $5.

At Alexandria, yesterday, Flour from wagons was $5 25 Last sale from stores, 150 bbls. at $5,50. There has been a sale of one large crop of Wheat, deliverable soon, at $1 06.
