Saturday Morning, May 30.

FOR PRESIDENT
William Henry Harrison,
OF OHIO.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT
John Tyler.
OF IRGINIA.

POLITICAL NOTICE.

Young Whigs of Caroline!

The Young Whigs of Caroline are requested to meet in Denton on Tuesday the 2d of June. An earnest appeal is made to all those young men who are favorable to the election of "Harrison and Tyler" punctually to attend on that day. There will be presented to them business of the utmost importance as members of the Whig party. One or two speeches may be expected in the Court House. The meeting will organize at 4 P. M.

MANY YOUNG WHIGS

WHIG CONVENTION.

The Convention to nominate an Electoral Candidate for this Congressional District will meet in Centreville, on Wednesday next the third of June.

The Loco Foco Black Procession, got up in Washington on Saturday the 23 inst. in ridicule of the Whig Baltimore Convention, proved an entire failure. The poor wooly heads we understand, were pelted and frightened half to death by the Whig boys of the city. The contemptible affair was planned by two Loco Foco's of Georgetown. In proof of the truth of this, we need only mention the silence of all the Van Buren papers in the City on the subject.

John M. Niles, Post Master General has arrived in Washington and entered on the duties of his office.

Altered Notes.—Notes of the Union Bank of Delaware altered from one to ten dollars, and notes of the Frederick county Bank (Maryland) altered from one to ten and two to twenty dollars are in circulation in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, MAY 29, 1840.

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.—This body re-assembled yesterday in St. Paul's Church under the organization adopted on the previous day, with the Rev. Dr. WHITBY in the Chair and forthwith proceeded to the election of a Bishop—the chief business before the Convention. The vote resulted in the choice of the Rev. Dr. WHITTINGHAM, Professor of Theology in the New York Episcopal Seminary, by an almost unanimous election, as the Bishop of the Diocese of Maryland.—Amer.

Extract of a letter from Baltimore to a Gentleman in this Town.

"Every thing in the political way here, goes on as well as you could wish. The city will go for Harrison, there can be no doubt, by a most decided majority. The changes which are already known to have taken place, clearly indicate this result. The Whigs, for once, will not be deceived in their calculations. In former years they allowed themselves to hope too much from the fact that this or that individual, conspicuous on account of his talents and respected for his probity, had forsaken the administration; but the event invariably proved that the secession of such a one had no other effect than to give ampler room to more selfish and unscrupulous politicians to gull and mislead the people. But the changes which have recently occurred, are among the People themselves—the plain honest, single-minded, hard-working people. I could give you the names of numerous carpenters, bricklayers, stone cutters, sail makers, cordwainers, &c. &c. of character, respectability and influence, who have not only changed, but have manfully passed the ordeal of abuse consequent upon changing, and who now stand forth the open, bold, unflinching advocates of Harrison and Reform. As to our original Whigs, there is no danger of their becoming apathetic or indifferent, the MURDER OF LAUGHLIN, and the demonstrations of ruffian violence almost daily before their eyes,—and which, if not openly, are at least tacitly approved by the Van Buren press and the Van Buren orators—will keep them firmly in their ranks to a man, if not as good Whigs at least as conscientious conservators of the public peace.

"In the Western counties of the State I have learned from authority which I cannot doubt for an instant, that changes are rife, and of the very kind which we most desire. A highly intelligent friend of mine, who, in the employment of the Rail Road has, for some three years past spent a large portion of his time in Allagany, tells me that among the chivalric mountaineers of that patriotic county, Harrison, Log Cabin principles, and Reform are all the go,—and that not a few of the sturdy and influential yeomen, (worth in electioneering phrase, twenty votes a piece,) who last year supported the cause of Van Buren, are now zealous in the cry for TIPPECANOE AND CHANGE!

You must have observed with what indignation the Charleston Courier, and one or two other Van Buren papers at the South, have rebuked the administration presses in general, for their disgusting and barefaced misrepresentations of the character and principles of Gen. Harrison. The effect of such palpable and dastardly falsehoods—representing the patriotic old Hero as a coward and an Abolitionist—upon the high minded chivalry, especially of the Palmetto State, may be easily foreseen. Let the Government presses here, and throughout the Union

"Speak like a high stretched lutestring," with the cry of "granny," "coward," "abolitionist" &c. till they disgust every honest man with their clamors, so much the better! The cause of Harrison has much to gain and nothing to lose by it. Were I a good Van Buren man, I should in view of the course pursued by the party in this canvass, feel not a single pulsation of hope, unless like Catherine Sedley with respect to her royal paramour James II., it were derived from the scripture apothegm, 'God preserveth the simple.'"

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore American of Monday last, says:

Mr. Giddings, of Ohio, this morning presented a resolution proposing a select committee, to make inquiries in relation to an Address, put forth by Amos Kendall on the 21st of the present month—The address makes certain charges against members of Congress, and is of a personal character against the Whig members and others. Mr. Giddings applies whether or not Mr. Kendall exercised the duties of Post master General when he wrote and put forth the Address. The resolution was read for information, when a motion was submitted to suspend the rules of the House, but the majority refused to receive the resolution.

Governor Everett, of Massachusetts, is about to visit Europe in consequence of the sickness of a member of his family, and several distinguished gentlemen of Boston have invited him to accept a public dinner in old Faneuil Hall. Governor E. does not decline the invitation, but suggests that the views of the committee may be better carried out, and the expenses of a large dinner saved, by holding a public meeting in the Hall, in which so many others could participate.

The committee will adopt the suggestion, and a grand affair will come of it.

THE TIPPECANOE TEXT BOOK.—This is a work of 96 pages compiled from Niles' Register & other authentic records, for the purpose of giving to the public impartial statements of Gen. Harrison's course during his public career in the service of his country. The idea is an excellent one, and well carried out. The accounts and documents here published are taken from records which were made long before the name of Harrison was before his countrymen in connexion with the Presidential office—in reading this little book, then, every one may rely upon finding accurate and impartial statements, free from political bias or partizan prejudice. The Tippecanoe Text Book was compiled by WM. OGDEN NILES and published by DUFF GREEN, editor of the Pilot. It can be had at a low price.

OMINOUS.—The National Intelligencer contains the following advertisement:

FOR RENT—The house on Capitol Hill, occupied at present by the Vice President. Possession will be given on the 18th of June. Apply to Henry Daingerfield, Alexandria.

CONNECTICUT.—On Wednesday the Senate of Connecticut resumed its ballotings for United States Senator, and on the first ballot made choice of Jabez W. Huntington, who having been previously chosen by the House of Representatives, is duly elected a Senator in Congress to supply the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Betts.

A CASE IN POINT.—We some time ago published an account of Gen. Harrison presenting to a destitute preacher a horse, in place of one that had died while he was sojourning with the General. The reverend gentleman is now in this city, a delegate to the General Conference from the Mississippi Conference, and vouches to the truth of the statement.

Balt. Pat.

Extract from a letter dated New Orleans, May 15, 1840:—"To-day about three o'clock the Levee gave way above Carrollton, and there are now about 300 hands engaged in endeavoring to close the crevasse—the accounts from St. Louis are distressing. The Missouri and Upper Mississippi were never so full, which upon the top of what we already have, must produce a general overflow—of course the crop of this year must be nearly destroyed.

NEW JERSEY.—We learn by a letter to a gentleman in this city, that the Loco Focos of New Jersey made an attempt a few days since to get up a grand State Convention and procession, at Trenton. Mr Wall went on from Washington, and every effort was made to give notoriety and eclat to the meeting.—When the day arrived for the Convention to meet, there was found a most beggardly attendance—not as many members present as would fill the Court room! A death like silence prevailed over the meeting, and Mr. Wall pronounced what might be taken for the funeral sermon of his party. The former candidates for Congress, with one exception, were renominated, and then the delegates in attendance decamped, as fast as flesh and blood could carry them—ashamed of their abortive effort to get up a procession.

[From the National Intelligencer.]

THE ABOLITIONISTS.

The number of the "Emancipator" of Friday last has reached our hands, in which we find the following political notice:

"Anti-Slavery Nomination.—Messrs. Birney and Earle having consented to place their names at the disposal of the friends of Human Rights and Equal Laws for the ensuing Presidential canvass, we hope all anti-slavery papers will place the liberty ticket in a conspicuous part of their columns."

From an account of the late proceedings of the "American and Foreign Anti-slavery Society," in the same paper, we find that a resolution was adopted declaring that, as abolitionists, the members of this society "cannot give any countenance to the election of Martin Van Buren or William Henry Harrison to the Presidency of the United States."

We find that this society, professing equal hostility to Mr. Van Buren & Gen. Harrison, has yet travelled out of its way to express its particular disapprobation of the eulogy bestowed upon "Wm. Henry Harrison by the Hon. William Slade, at the conclusion of his speech in favor "the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia." Such exhibitions of an intolerant spirit that will brook no shade of opinion variant from its own, are not likely to add to the numbers, or strengthen the cause, of this American and Foreign Society.

THE CROPS.—The Martinsburg (Va) Gazette of yesterday says:—The Wheat crops, in this region, which early in the spring, gave promise of great abundance have, within a few weeks past, suffered very severely from the ravages of the Hessian fly. It seems to be the general opinion now among our farmers, that the worst is over, and there is not much apprehension of future injury.

For the Easton Gazette.

Mr. Graham,

I have no pretentions to writing articles other than those answering my domestic concerns.—I am a plain man never having had an opportunity of acquiring the knowledge which science and a good education doth inculcate, I have to content myself with what I am, a plain working man. But the most of men, of whatever grade, have it in their power sometime or other, of advancing something for the information, even of the learned, and this is a time which every man should do all in his power to avert the tyrannical proceedings of a desperate Government, a government almost unequalled by the despotisms of Europe, yet calling itself democratic—I should like to know what it is to be democratic—is it the principles of democracy for the President to get his equipage from the kingdoms of the Old World, and try to excel their sovereigns in grandeur? Is it democratic to have a life guard of 200,000 soldiers at his back (John Adams was prescribed for wanting an army of 10,000) to be ready at a moments warning, to do what? not to defend the country from invasion—not to send against the Florida Indians, for his dogs are to do that work—but to answer the political purposes of a deceptious Cabinet—this is pretty Democracy—the name has been popular and they wish to hold it forth to the ignorant—they are the exclusive democrats, but I say the Whigs are the true democrats. The Locos try to stigmatize me with turning Federalist, as I was a democrat in old party times but when this new fangled, white-washed democracy sprang up into existence, I detested the deception they wished to practice upon the ill-rate.

On the day of our State election in 1838 in conversation with a Loco Foco on the politics of the day, I was as usual accused with leaving the democratic party—I replied I am the same democrat I was in old party times, but since you will have me to be a federalist I will relate a fact respecting federalists and democrats, which came under my observation during the last war with England.—When St. Michaels was threatened with invasion the militia were called to the point en masse—as was anticipated the place was attacked; the firing commenced and the democrats began to back out to the amount of some 10 or 15 persons of any appearance, not a federalist among them,—and not confined to privates either.—And now every one of those men as far as my knowledge extends are Loco Focos.—A friend and myself counted the runners at the time, and every one of them were democrats, just such as now support Martin Van Buren. We would not have had a federalist by when we counted them up for they were stigmatised by the democrats, as doing all they could against the war. When the time for paying the militia came, the runners were the first at the stand—And these are the kind of beings that wish to brand General Harrison with cowardice—yes, they go so far as to say in public, that General Harrison never was in a battle in his life.—When we see men assert such barefaced falsehoods as this, what will they not do, to keep Van Buren and his satanical crew in office to the destruction of our republic—poor working men open your eyes, and avert the proceedings of this base administration before that destruction which is now hanging over your heads, shall burst upon you and confirm what the past is only a theory of.

HOUSE AND LOT IN OXFORD

FOR SALE.

The subscriber will dispose of, on reasonable terms, the above property, situated in Talbot county, near the junction of Third Haven Creek with Choptank River. The House is large and commodious, and most conveniently planned. It has been thoroughly repaired, is now in complete order, and has attached to it, entirely new, all the necessary out buildings for a family, viz: a Carriage house, Corn house, Hay house, Granary and Stable—the fencing with a Pump is also new.

It is perhaps, one of the most delightful country residences on this Shore, as it is believed not to be excelled by any for beauty of wealth, and is surrounded by a fine country—added to which, the Steam Boat Maryland, in her passages to and from Baltimore, twice in every week, stops almost at the door, and not only affords a convenient means of travelling, but also produces an agreeable variety.—The situation, is likewise well calculated for a Seminary of Learning either Male or Female, and might be most advantageously used for that purpose, by any one calculated to manage it.

Persons wishing to purchase, or examine the property will please call on the subscriber.
