A HUNTER'S SONG.

BY EDWARD YOUNG.

Some boast of the life of a sailor free,
And the joys of strife on the deep blue sea;
Of the wild delight that the bosom knows,
On a stormy night when the rude wind blows
And they tell how sweet, with a flowing sheet,
To skim o'er the glassy sea,
And to hear the play of the foaming spray,
On the breakers far a-lee.
They say 'tis brave to see the wave
Curl upward half-mast high;
And feel the spray in your damp locks play,
But I love them not, not I.

No! the life for me is the forest sheen,
With its canopy of glorious green;
Its thousand songs from the wild bird's throats
That the glad wind thro' the dark wood floats;
And the bounding deer on the prairie clear,
The pheasant's drum in the wood,
And the lulling roll of the waterfall
That sings 'mid solitude.
And the wild delight of a sweet spring night,
'Neath the heaven's blue tapestry,
To rest the head on a mossy bed,
At the root of a green old tree.
Oh! the sweet repose that the bosom knows,
Away from the city's keep;
With the stars above, like the eyes of love,
Keeping watch o'er the hunter's sleep.

PROSPECTUS.

THE EASTON GAZETTE.

A. GRAHAM. Editor and Proprietor.
E. R. HOOPER, Assistant Editor.

The Proprietor of the Gazette having engaged the assistance of E. Richardson Hooper, Esq., of Cambridge, Md., and recently Editor of the 'Chronicle' of that place, in the management of the editorial department of the paper, proposes to increase the circulation of the Gazette in the Counties of Dorchester, Somerset and Worcester, with the view of promoting the interest of the Whig party in the approaching Gubernatorial canvass. That canvass will doubtless be warmly contested, and the advantages to be gained from having a paper reflecting the sentiments of the Whigs freely circulated among the people, are too obvious to need enforcement from me. The opposition party will undoubtedly make every exertion to increase the circulation of papers friendly to their cause, and should be met by a corresponding effort on the part of the Whigs.

The Gazette is printed every Saturday Morning, on fine imperial paper, with plain type, and, in addition to politics, is devoted to agriculture, literature, and general news. The facilities for obtaining the latest and most interesting items of information are unequalled by any Journal on the Shore.

The papers will be sent to Mr. Hooper's office, in Cambridge, every Saturday morning for distribution.
