Election, Wednesday, 6th October, 1841.

Attention Whigs!

The Whigs of Talbot County are respectfully requested to meet at the Court House, in the Town of Easton, on TUESDAY the 10th of August next, at half past 2 o'clock, P. M.

Punctual attendance is requested, as matters of great weight are to be brought up to the attention of the meeting.

MANY WHIGS.

July 31, 1841.

We publish in our paper of to-day a call for a Whig meeting on Tuesday 10th August. We hope our friends generally will turn out on that occasion. It is now a leisure season, and the importance of the approaching fall campaign demands energy and exertion at the hands of every true patriot and Whig. The success of our Gubernatorial candidate is certain, with even moderate exertion. We feel sure Talbot will not be supine and inactive on the occasion. But it is time to rouse up and buckle on our armour.—We say again then, Whigs rouse up and come out to your meeting on the day named in the call.

We had yesterday, what we much wanted, a fine rain—which will change the appearance of things, the gardens will be refreshed and the corn much benefited.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

The bill to establish the FISCAL BANK OF THE UNITED STATES finally passed the Senate on Wednesday, and has come down to the House of Representatives. This is another very important step made in the progress of the business of the Extra Session. We have no means of judging with certainty of the fate of the bill in the House: but, from the visible satisfaction in the countenances and the audible congratulation of members of that body, we augur the passage of the bill by a decided majority. Whether with or without amendment, we cannot say. But we feel authorised, by appearances in connexion with the passage of the bill in the Senate, to assure our readers that WE SHALL HAVE A BANK.

There is speculation as to the probable time at which Congress will be able to close its present session. Some suppose that the two Houses may get through their business by the 10th or 15th of next month. We should be very glad, if only on account of the convenience of Members, that they could do so. From the first day of the session, however, we had in our own mind fixed upon the 10th of September as the limit to the session; and we hardly think that Congress will break up much before that day. Of this at least, we feel certain: that Congress will not rise until they have despatched all, aye, and more than all the business that the People expected them to do when they came here.—N. Int.

The following are the yeas and nays on the passage of the Bank bill.

YEAS—Messrs. Barrow, Bates, Bayard, Berrien, Choate, Clay, of Ky.; Dixon, Evans, Graham, Henderson, Huntington, Kerr, Mangum, Merrick, Miller, Morehead, Phelps, Porter, Prentiss, Preston, Simmons, Smith, of Ind., Southard, Tallmadge, White and Woodbridge—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Allen, Archer, Benton, Buchanan, Calhoun, Clay, of Ala. Fulton, King, Linn, McRoberts, Mouton, Nicholson, Pierce, Rives, Sevier, Smith, of Conn., Sturgeon, Tappan, Walker, Wiliams, Woodbury, Wright and Young—23.

THE REVENUE BILL.—The new Revenue Bill reported in the House of Representatives, provides for the imposition of a twenty per cent. duty on a number of articles now admitted free, or at lower rates than twenty per cent.

By the statements of imports for 1840, laid before the House by the Treasury Department, it appears that there were imported free of duty last year, silks, laces worsted goods, linens, sheetings, wool, animals and other articles to the amount of $23,926,845. A duty of twenty per cent. on this amount would yield a revenue of $4,785,369.

Of teas, coffee, fruits, spices &c. there were imported free of duty last year quantities of sufficient value to yield at the rate of 20 per cent. a revenue of $3,-230,319.

Miscellaneous articles at various rates of duty under twenty per cent yielded last year a revenue of $567,798. Under the new bill, rating them all at 20 per cent. the revenue would be nearly one million.

The wines imported 1840 at various rates of duty paid a revenue of $196,073. At the rate of twenty per cent. the revenue from the same importations would be $441,835.

Altogether there will be an increase of revenue under the new bill, supposing the importations to remain about the same as last year, of some eight milllions and a half.

The Revenue Bill has no regard to protection—but is strictly what its name implies.

The discussion in the Senate, on the Bankrupt Bill, elicited some interesting information respecting the peculiar laws and usages of the State of Louisiana, in guarding the rights of married women and minors. A correspondent of the Philadelphia North American says—

Louisiana guards the rights of her women with kind and parental care. The husband cannot alienate the property, even by the consent of the wife: and even the money given by the parents, either before or after marriage, is as much the separate property of the wife, as the land and negroes. She can even make the husband her debtor, and sue him in a Court of law. It was to guard these rights, that induced Mr. Barrow to offer the remarks he did, which were, that no bill that interfered with that peculiar privilege of wives, could be supported by him. If I mistake not, this law was adopted since Louisiana became a territory of the United States. Dashing young fellows used to go there and marry the beautiful creoles of the territory, and spend their property within a short period leaving them to penury. It is said that it was to guard against this conduct on the part of unprincipled adventurers, that the enactment of this law was found necessary by the prudent and kind French creoles of that hospitable region. No matter what led to it the example is worthy of all praise.

FOREIGN APPOINTMENTS.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Express writes:—"The diplomatic nominations before the Senate are more numerous than is known, or have been published. Independent of the three full missions Russia, England and Austria—nominations for the second class of officers have been made for Brazil; the Two Sicilies, for Lisbon, and for the Consulship, I believe, at Matanzas. The Charge d'Affaires at Rio Janeiro will probably be changed to a Minister Plenipotentiary, with the power to make a treaty, for the reason that the existing treaty between the United States and Brazil expires at the close of the present year, and a new treaty is to be made. Mr. Hunter, of R I. is the present Charge, and I believe it is not contemplated to retain him."

At the annual commencement at Amherst College, held on the 22d inst. the degree of LL. D. was conferred on John Tyler, President of the United States.

The New York Correspondent of the Madisonian writes—

The Custom House Investigating Committee will not, I understand, close its scrutiny for ten days yet. The testimony taken already covers 400 large folio pages. Mr. Hoyt has not yet been on the stand. Some of the revelations are startling, but I am not at liberty to speak out yet. I reckon the Sub-Treasury as a device for the safe keeping of the public money will be pretty essentially riddled when the evidence is printed. More soon.

The locofoco postmaster at Winchester, Virginia, having been removed, he set up a whine of proscription, and with great fatuity called for the production of any charges against him. In mercy, the charges were kept back; but this forbearance being mistaken, the removed postmaster only became more clamorous. On this, throwing aside all pity, the charges have been furnished for publication, and appear in the columns of the Winchester Republican. They occupy, with comments, two columns and a half of that paper. They are conclusive, and after reading them dismissed locofoco officers should take warning not to ask for the charges against them, as they may meet the fate of this ex-postmaster.

CORRECTION.

A paragraph has been going the rounds of the papers for a few days past, which states that a Mr. Reese, the Catholic Bishop of Detroit, Michigan, "is now confined in a dungeon at Rome, without communication with any living person, and consequently without the knowledge of the American minister resident there—a target for the blackest calumnies, and a victim of the most atrocious persecutions from his coleagues here in religious matters"—that "he was summoned to Rome towards the end of 1838, and in 1839 was confined in a convent under an ecclesiastic prosecution. On the process being completed, he was ordered to resign. This he refused to do; and then he was thrown into a dungeon, perhaps of the Inquisition, where three other Bishops are lying. There he is overwhelmed with sufferings, and tortured to oblige him to resign, and all possible measures were taken to prevent him from invoking the protection of the diplomatic agents of his own country."

A gentleman, who is at this time on a visit to this city has called upon us to say that he is personally acquainted with Mr. Reese, or Rezee, as his name is pronounced, having become acquainted with him a few years since in Cincinnati, Ohio, and that he believes him to be an imposter, who went about collecting money, professedly for religious and charitable purposes, but which he appropriated to his own use. That he had indulged in such practices in Europe, and was frequently cautioned against going there, as he would be punished for outrages committed there. That he is no American, but an officer once in the Austrian service, pretending (like many other pervtenders) to have gained religion, and joined the Church, in order that he might rob and defraud the professors of religion, the more readily than he otherwise might be enabled to do.

We know nothing in regard to the matter ourself, nor do wo wish to express any opinion thereon; but make the foregoing statement at the request of the gentlemen referred to, in order that others, who may be acquainted with Mr. Reese, may correct it if erroneous, or add further light in regard to his character, if true.—[Del. Gaz.

The Married and Single—Respect for Age.—Mr. Buckingham, in his work on America, has mingled up with much gross exaggeration and positive, but we trust, much unintentional falsehood, an occasional stricture on our manners and habits possessing, all the elements of truth, and calculated perhaps, if duly noted and commented upon to produce a change for the better. Thus he affirms, that in the United States there is a want of respect for age, and that married ladies are greatly overlooked and neglected especially at parties. He says that at Saratoga, whether at balls, concerts or promenades—married ladies were seemingly only vauled, as persons necessary to give countenance to the assembling of the young? while these usurped all authority and influence, and monopolised the exclusive attention of the men—This is certainly true, and is a fatal error in our social life. Perhaps it may be argued, that the moment women enter into the matrimonial state they should abandon all the gaieties and frivolities of of younger life, and devote themselves exclusively to their husbands and their domestic duties.

This is well enough to a certain extent; but when we remember that females marry in this country at an age extremely youthful, and that the climate and the cares of motherhood are particularly suited to injure the health and break down the constitution, it seems to us right and proper that they should not only mingle more freely and frequently in the gay circles, in balls, concerts and promenades at public places——but that they should always receive a much greater degree of attention and respect than is usually extended by the sterner sex—It is too much the practice to treat them with indifference, coldness and marked slight. "She is married," seems to be the signal for passing a woman by, as if the very circumstance of marriage had shut her out from all the courtesies and civilities to which she had before been entitled. This should not be.—The wife,—the mother are entitled to respect and attention as well as the sister or the daughter. Her station is the more important—her anxieties and responsibilities are, generally speaking, greater: and there are few, even of the rougher sex, who are not gratified by kindness and attention. Age, too, is sadly neglected in this country. Our young men are too apt to shun and avoid assistance, which they should feel it both their duty and their pleasure to render. We are all passing rapidly onwards in the course of time, and we should at least endeavor to deserve while young, those little attentions which steal so imperceptibly into the heart, and which, to the aged and feeble, are the more grateful, because of their rarity.—Phil. Inq.

DIARRHŒA.—People need not be long troubled with that disorder, so generally prevalent at this season, commonly known as the Summer or Bowel Complaint, when the certain remedy therefor may be found on every man's table, in the shape of salt & vinegar. Two tea spoonsful of the former, dissolved in a half a gill of the latter and swallowed at a draught, will in most cases effect an instant cure. The second dose, if need, will assuredly accomplish it. We are ready to give our certificate to Doctor Pickle in the premises for we witnessed the proof.—Quod erat demonstrandum—which is as much to say, in Dutch, "it hash been tride." This receipe should be published annually, every summer.

TO THE FRIENDS OF TEMPERANCE ON THIS PENINSULA.

The Total Abstinence Society of Easton most respectfully and earnestly recommend to the Temperance Societies in the State of Delaware, and on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia, to hold a Convention in the Town of Easton, on or about the 15th day of September. This time is proposed, but if any other time should be considered more favorable by the friends generally it can be changed. The first object is to get a Convention, at as early a period as practicable; and it is most earnestly hoped that the subject will immediately be brought before the different societies on the peninsula, and such action taken as shall further the design contemplated. The Societies are respectfully requested to make such a response to this call as may settle the matter speedily, so far as it regards the time, and also whether the call for the convention is generally approved of. It would be expedient to have a delegation from every society; at any rate it is hoped that every County will be represented by at least ten delegates who will attend. By order

HEALTH.

Cleanliness promotes health: & therefore our citizens are respectfully and earnestly reminded at the present season, to pay particular attention to their cellars, yards, gutters, &c. It will be well to have them all well cleansed, and kept so, during the warm season. By attending to these matters, much may be gained in the way of health and comfort, and by neglecting them much may be lost by sickness and death.—The Commissioners of the Town therefore most earnestly request the inhabitants to get to work immediately, and have all matters calculated to produce bad smells, &c. removed from about their premises, and thus promote the health of their own families and the town generally. By order

Committee of the Commissioners.
