THE STATE DEBT—DIRECT TAXES, &c.

In our last we gave some facts in relation to the State Debt, and we intend to continue the subject until we have proved most conclusively that, if there exists such a party in the State as an Internal Improvement party, that the Loco Focos have identified themselves as such, and should properly bear the responsibility of having plunged the State in debt, and occasioned the necessity of a resort to direct taxation to maintain its credit and honor. The correctness of this position will no doubt be denied, and the Loco Focos will employ every invention and artifice to controvert it, but we only ask a calm and dispassionate consideration of the facts we shall adduce, and we do not fear the result will be otherwise than satisfactory.

In our last, it will be recollected, we showed that a majority of the Loco Foco members of the Legislature voted for the eight million appropriation, and might have defeated the measure had they entertained the hostility and aversion they now profess to feel toward internal improvements; we shall now proceed to show that their advocacy of internal improvements has been uniform and consistent, and not prompted by any extraordinary exigency of that particular case.—After the failure of the Commissioners appointed by the Legislature to negociate the loan of eight millions in Europe, they returned to this country, and entered into contracts for the sale of the bonds to the internal improvement companies themselves. At the following session of the legislature the validity of these contracts was disputed, as also the validity of the State's subscription to the stock of the companies. In committee of the whole Mr. GRASON, the present Governor, offered a series of resolutions which were adopted, declaring that both the subscriptions and the contracts were "binding upon the State." It appears by the journal of the House that these resolutions were passed, 26 Whigs voting for them, and 18 against them, while 20 Loco Focos voted for them and but 16 against them. Thus it appears that these resolutions, which were confirmatory of the whole proceedings in relation to the loan and the subscriptions as well as the bill itself, derived their strongest support from the Loco Foco party, in proportion to the strength of parties in the House of Delegates.

There is one other fact we shall advert to before we close this article, which we think would, of itself, justify us in charging the responsibility of a direct tax upon the Loco Foco party. Whilst the resolutions alluded to were under discussion, another was offered, providing for submitting the question to the people of the State generally, at the next election. The journal shows that 16 Loco Focos voted for this resolution, and 17 against it. This resolution, having been defeated by the Loco Focos, the same gentleman offered another to the effect that "no county in the State should be burthened with the payment of any part of the loan, unless a majority of the voters of such county should declare themselves in favor of it, at the succeeding election, by placing upon their ticket the word "FOR THE EIGHT MILLION BILL."—The reader no doubt is anxious to learn how the Loco Focos voted upon this resolution, and presumes from their present hue & cry about the State debt, and direct taxation, that every one of them voted for it. But such is not the fact. It is recorded in the votes and proceedings that but 12 Loco Focos VOTED FOR THE RESOLUTON AND 20 AGAINST IT.—Thus it will be seen that the very party that now pretend to sympathize so sincerely with the people in their lamentable condition, defeated the measure which proposed to submit to the people the decision of the very question out of which arise all their embarrassments. Can it be doubted, if this resolution had passed, that the whole Eastern Shore would have gone en masse against internal improvements? Certainly not, and the people of this shore would thus have relieved themselves of the oppressive burthen of paying direct taxes to support a system which is adverse to their best interests, and which they had no agency in bringing into existence.

We think we have clearly shown that the Loco Focos could have averted the necessity of a resort to direct taxation had they been so disposed; next week we shall shew that they not only did not denounce internal improvements in the election of Gov. Grason, but characterized the Whigs as opponents of the system, and boldly assumed the name of the internal improvement party. Until then, we ask the candid of all parties to ponder the facts we have here stated.

☞We understand a report has been industriously circulated that should Mr. Thomas be elected Governor, he intends to redeem the notes of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal bearing his signature. This is a mere clap trap to delude the unwary. It was through the mismanagement of the affairs of the canal under Mr. Thomas' administration that these notes became depreciated, but no official act of his should he be elected can raise their value. He could only redeem them by his private means, and it would be the most extravagant absurdity to suppose he would impoverish himself by voluntarily contributing every dollar he possesses to redeem the notes of the canal company. It is an artifice of the enemy, but its very absurity will defeat its purpose. * * *

PARTICULARS OF THE BURNING OF THE STEAMER ERIE,

On the Lake, near Dunkirk, on Monday last.

The following account of the dreadful accident on Lake Erie, by which nearly two hundred persons lost their lives, is compiled from the statements which have appeared in the Buffalo and Albany papers.

FIRST OUTBREAK OF THE FIRE.—The boat had been thoroughly overhauled, and although the wind was blowing fresh, everything promised a pleasant and prosperous voyage. Nothing occurred to mar this prospect till about 8 o'clock, when the boat was off Silver Creek about 8 miles from shore, and 33 miles from this city, when a slight explosion was heard, and immediately, instantaneously almost, the whole vessel was enveloped in flames. Capt. Titus, who was on the upper deck at the time, rushed to the Ladies Cabin to obtain the life preservers of which there were from 90 to 100 on board, but so rapidly had been the progress of the flames he found it impossible to enter the cabin.

The captain then returned to the upper deck, giving, as he hurried on, his orders to the engineer to stop. The engineer replied that in consequence of the flames he could not reach the engine.—The steersman was immediately directed to put the helm hard a starboard.—The vessel swung slowly round, heading to the shore, and the boats—there were three on board—were then ordered to be lowered Two of the boats were lowered, but in consequence of the heavy sea on, and the headway of the vessel, they both swamped as they touched the water.

In this condition, the boat a mass of fierce fire, and the passengers and crew endeavoring to save themselves by swimming or supporting themselves by what ever they could reach—they were found by the Clinton at about 10 P. M The Clinton left here in the morning, but in consequence of the wind had put into Dunkirk. She laid there till nearly sunset, at which time she ran out and had proceeded as far as Barcelona, when just at twilight, the fire of the Erie was discovered some 20 miles astern. The Clinton immediately put about and reached the burning wreck about 10.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE.

Among the passengers on board were six painters, in the employ of Mr. W. G. Miller, of Buffalo, who were going to Erie to paint the steamboat Madison.—They had with them demijohns filled with spirits of turpentine and varnish, which, unknown to Capt. Titus, were placed on the boiler deck directly over the boilers. One of the firemen, who was saved, says he had occasion to go on the deck, and seeing the demijohns removed them. They were replaced, by whom is not known. Immediately previous to the bursting forth of the flames, as several on board have assured us, a slight explosion was heard. The demijohns had probably burst with the heat, and their inflammable contents, taking fire instantly, communicated to every part of the boat which, having been freshly varnished, caught as if it had been gunpowder.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—It is a singular coincidence that the Erie was burned at almost identically the same spot where the Washington was burned in June, 1838. Capt. Brown, who commanded the Washington at that time, happened to be on board the Clinton; and was very active in saving the survivors on board.

NUMBER ON BOARD.—It is impossible to give a correct list of all the passengers. Of the cabin passengers Capt. Titus thinks there were between 30 and 40, of whom 10 or 12 were ladies. In the steerage there were about 140 passengers nearly all of whom were Swiss and German emigrants. These were in families, all of whom found a common grave in the yawning deep. The heart bleeds, as it reflects on the many ties of endeared relationship which were thus suddenly, rudely, and forever broken.
