Poetry.

THE GREEN MOUNTAIN BOYS.

BY JESSE E. DOW.

Ho! give me my father's silent gun
Baptized in the blood of Lexington:
And over my youthful bosom fling
His powder horn with its crimson string—
And spread around me his blanket warm,
That I may battle the winter's storm;
So bless me, mother, with tears of joy,
For I am a wild Green Mountain boy.

The hills that smile on the morning beam,
And echo the eagle's matin scream;
The shady rivers that bowl along
Like the gusty tide of a drinking song;
The pensive vale, and the laughing lea,
That came through the revolution free;
They wait to echo the shout of joy,
For I am a wild Green Mountain boy.

Oh tell me not that the South forget
The breast that leaped to the bayonet,
When Eutaw mingled her fountain's flood
With the crimson tide of New England blood,
And the soldier drooped, mid the tangled vines,
And found a grave in the Carolines:
Oh, she'll receive me with shouts of joy,
For I am a wild Green Mountain boy.

My grandsire stood, with his mountaineers.
By the sunny vales of the cavaliers,
And gathered amid the sunny glen,
To the wild halloo of Marion's men,
And listened to Sumpter's rifles ring,
And bathed his temple's in Jasper's spring;
The rattling bullets he heard with joy,
For he was a wild Green Mountain boy.

Ho! ye who boast 'neath a summer sun,
Have ye a greater than Benningham?
Or sleep your fathers in glory now
Above the dead upon Bunker's brow?
Your martial spirits, in days gone by,
Knew how the men of the north could die;
And the haughtiest sneer cannot destroy
The fame of the wild Green Mountain boy

My heart in its morning dream aspires
To reach the fame of my mountain sires,
To spring to the battle's signal note,
And bid the flag of their glory float;
And I would haste from the mountain glen
To join the children of Marion's men;
And loud the valleys should peal my joy,
For I am a wild Green Mountain Boy.

PROSPECTUS.

THE EASTON GAZETTE.

A. GRAHAM, Editor and Proprietor.
E. R. HOOPER, Assistant Editor.

The Proprietor of the Gazette having engaged the assistance of E. Richardson Hooper, Esq., of Cambridge, Md., and recently Editor of the 'Chronicle' of that place, in the management of the editorial department of the paper, proposes to increase the circulation of the Gazette in the Counties of Dorchester, Somerset and Worcester, with the view of promoting the interest of the Whig party in the approaching Gubernatorial canvass. That canvass will doubtless be warmly contested, and the advantages to be gained from having a paper reflecting the sentiments of the Whigs freely circulated among the people, are too obvious to need enforcement from me. The opposition party will undoubtedly make every exertion to increase the circulation of papers friendly to their cause, and should be met by a corresponding effort on the part of the Whigs.

The Gazette is printed every Saturday Morning, on fine imperial paper, with plain type, and, in addition to politics, is devoted to agriculture, literature, and general news The facilities for obtaining the latest and most interesting items of information are unequalled by any Journal on the Shore.

The papers will be sent to Mr. Hooper's office, in Cambridge, every Saturday morning for distribution.
