the blind; who have cost, from 1839 to the present time, $2,974.

It has been found impracticable, for reasons stated, to purchase the title of John J. Myer to the lot on which the State Tobacco Warehouses, Nos. 2 and 3, are erected; and further legislation is required in regard to the resolution authorising the presentation of a sword to Captain John A. Webster.

A criminal is now confined in Carroll county jail, under sentence of death, who is represented to be insane, and the Governor recommends that a law be passed authorizing the appointment of Commissioners to examine into the fact.

The subjects above alluded to take up less than one-fourth of the message. The rest is occupied with a discussion of the bank and tariff questions, neither of which we lament to see, are treated with the spirit which an enlightened view of them requires. It is unfortunate, so far as the Governor himself is concerned that he did not spare the Legislature the infliction on it of his crude notions. The perusal of them will excite no favorable opinion of their author on the part of the people, and will cause no one to lament that his official career is drawing to a close.

It will be gathered from these portions of the message, that Gov. Grason is opposed to a National Bank and a protective tariff—information which he doubtless deemed important to communicate to the Legislature, but which, however extensively known, will cause, as we may suppose, no sensation throughout the country, or tend to any alteration of the tariff laws of either England or France, by which the products of Maryland are shut out from those countries, whilst he would have us throw open our ports to their manufactures that we may be made dependent on them for what our own people could as well supply.

We would do the injustice to no man in the State of supposing that he would assent to the crude reasoning of the Governor on this subject. We can hardly suppose that there will be a more general agreement with his views on the subject of the currency and it would therefore be time lost to undertake to confute his notions on it. We are surprised, poorly as we think of the abilities of Gov. Grason, to find such—we had almost said ridiculous—opinions put forth by him on this subject. We can only account for their appearance in his message, by supposing—which no doubt is true—that he is entirely ignorant on every question relating to banks and the currency;—and for this reason we regard as sincere,—what otherwise might be thought affectation,—his doubts "whether the Banks of this State ever intend to redeem their notes!" His uncertainty on this point is hardly shared with another man in the State, and it may therefore, be submitted to the Banks, whether they do not owe so much to the retiring Chief Magistrate to take special means to resolve his doubts on the subject. Perhaps a proffer to redeem so many of their notes as he may hold would be the most effectual means of relieving his mind from this painful apprehension.

If a serious thought would not be out of place in remarking upon this part of the message, we might direct attention to the absurdity of this inuendo of the Governor, made as it is in almost immediate connection with the avowal, that the State itself has depended, not altogether in vain, on the banks to pay the interest on the public debt, and carry on the public works; and that the failure to pay the interest which will become due next Saturday, arises from the inability of the banks to loan the State money for that purpose—an inability caused by the large amount of State stocks which they already hold, and which are altogether unavailable in their regular business. The State, according to the morality of Gov. Grason, may borrow from the banks their last dollar, and then turn round and charge them with the weakness which such loans have caused!

Somewhat inconsistent with this doubt of his excellency, is his recommendation that the Banks be compelled to return to specie payments, promptly and unconditionally; but this recomendation is made without reservation, and will command that attention from the Legislature which its importance deserves though it will not be aided by the views with which he attempts to support it.—Whilst in favor of resumption, he is opposed to allowing the banks to issue notes of a less denomination than five dollars.

The railroad orders are remarked on at some length, and the course of the banks in reference to them approved and sustained.

The message closes with calling the attention of the Legislature to the defenceless condition of the State from the attacks of a hostile naval power, and warmly urges that a sufficient number of steam frigates, in addition to such other naval force as may be necessary should be provided by the General Government to guard the Chesapeake bay. We are happy to agree with the Governor in this recommendation, and regret that it is the only portion of his message with which we entirely concur

In concluding this notice of the communication of Gov. Grason, we may; with great propriety—as we do with unaffected sincerity—congratulate the people of Maryland that his official labors are about to close; and we would add, in his own words, if we can do so without offence—for we design no unkindness in saying—that he may now "set out on a new pilgrimage, and retire into some wilderness, where the littleness of man has not been striving against the providence of God."

THE CURRENCY PLAN.

On the occasion, yesterday of a motion to print an extra number of copies of the Report of the Secretary of the Treasury upon the Fiscal Agent, an intimation was thrown out that the Report and Bill accompanying it might be referred to a Select, Commitee of the Senate on some day early next week. An intention of their discussing this new plan of Finance was also hinted at by, Mr. BUCHANAN. The Report and Bill in the House of Representatives are already in charge of the Select Committee appointed upon that part of the President's Message relating to it.

EXTENSION OF THE TERM OF THE LOAN.—A bill was yesterday reported in the House of Representatives for the extension of the term for which the unexpended residue of the Twelve Million Loan may be taken. The same bill contains also a provision for an additional loan of Five Millions of dollars on the same terms; which is understood to be intended as a substitute for the reissue, as proposed in the annual Treasury Report, of an equivalent amount of the Treasury Notes now outstanding. This bill, therefore, proposes to provide altogether for something more than ten millions of the estimated deficit of fourteen millions two hundred thousand dollars in the ways and means of 1842.—Ib.

THE HOLYDAYS.

The two Houses of Congress yesterday adjourned over to Monday next, Saturday being Christmas Day, and many of the Members from districts least distant from Washington intending to pass the holydays at home. The two Houses of Congress are now fully organized, and the business of the Session has commenced with a fair prospect that much may be done both for the hundreds of private claimants who are waiting (with what patience they can) for the action of Congress, and for the improvement of the affairs of Government, in whose success we are all so much interested.—Ib.

Probability of the President's Resignation

An on dit of the day is that President Tyler has it in contemplation to resign his high station and retire to the shades of Williamburg. One reason assigned by veracious rumor for this step, is that he complains his expenses greatly exceed his income, and he may be under the necessity of incurring debt and involving his estate. Another and full as probable is, that having been all his life a devoted disciple of the doctrine of instruction, his conscience now exacts it of him to act up to what he has so long professed just as it served him about the Fiscal agent at the Extra Session. Having the confidence of neither party, and that only of the place-hunters and Wise's Omnibus men, he regards it as the duty of a "Constitutional Republican" and instructionist, to retire from a post where the American People never placed him, and out of which 19-20ths of them most heartily wish to see him! We fully subscribe to the force of this reasoning and shall expect to see the Captain lay down his office—when he can hold it no longer, on the 4th March, 1845.

[The (Wash.) Independent.

The Susquehanna Advocate says:—"Six months ago, the editor of the Washington Madisonian—the Administration mouth-piece—was a bitter anti-Tyler man. He was then in the editorial chair of the Baltimore Visiter; and we perfectly remember to have seen in the columns of the latter paper a number of articles decidedly hostile to his accidency. What can have wrought so great a change in Mr. Jones' mind? We can tell the reader in a few words.

Some two months ago, Bully Wise, brother-in-law of Mr. Jones, visited Baltimore, and had some private conversation with Mr. J., the nature of which we can only guess at. However, it resulted in Mr. Jones' leaving the Visiter, purchasing the Madisonian, and becoming the obsequious defender of Jno. Tyler.

What the nature of Bully Wise's arguments was we know not—they may have been specie-ous, for all we know to the contrary—certain it is, however, that the author of 'Wild Western Scenes,' 'Freaks of Fortune,' &c. &c., was converted by them in less than half an hour! 'So much for Buckingham.'

American Minister.—The London papers mention that Mr. Everett, envoy extraordinary from the United States, arrived in London on the 24th of November, and had an immediate interview with the Earl of Aberdeen. He soon after left London for Paris.

SOUND THE LOUD TIMBREL!

The editor of the Cleveland Herald has got hold of a choice morsel. It is the proceedings of a meeting of the "unterrified Democracy" of Geauga co. (Ohio,) publishad in the Geauga Freeman. The Herald commends it to posterity, as better than a thanksgiving dinner. We can only give some specimens, which may serve to whet the appetite for more The following is one:

"Fellow-citizens composing the unterrified Democracy of Geauga county! While your fellow-laborers in the high and holy cause of Liberty, in Maine, Maryland, Georgia, Vermont, Connecticut, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan, New Jersey, and the Empire State, are echoing and re-echoing from pole to pole, as with ten thousand times ten thousand stentorian voices, the shouts of victory, and beating the airy vaults of high heaven with the Democratic gladdening and tyrant's infuriating sounds of Nil desperandum Republico' will you be found sleeping on your post?"

Why no—certainly not. Who could sleep in such a storm?

'Yes, Jeffersonian Democrats of Geauga county, you, who have been for years waging an almost hopeless contest with Federalism, and who, a few short months since, were almost ready to despond, be of good cheer: rejoice, rejoice with the timbrel and harp!—rejoice with the high-sounding timbrel!"

Rejoice! certainly.

Sound the loud clarion from Erie to Quoddy, Geauga is up, and cares for nobody.

"In the name of heaven, we believe the day is ours! There is hope yet for the Western Reserve—yea, for Geauga county. Let us burnish our armour anew—let us unsheath the bright and gleaming sword of Democracy, and swear upon the concentrated altar of our country never to return it to its scabbard until the last citadel of Federalism shall have been razed to the ground, and the gorgeous temple itself, from its pinacle to its corner stone, one mass of smouldering ruins!"

Stand aside, Hannibal, Attila the Scourge, and Alaric the Visigoth! Stand aside, ye destroyers of the olden time, the "unterrified Democracy" have sworn upon the "concentrated altar of their country" to cast your works far into shade! The gorgeous temple of Federalism, "from pinnacle to its corner stone," is to be "one mass of smouldering ruins!"

LECTURES
At the Easton Academy.

When the notice that Lectures on Natural Science would be delivered by the teachers, during the winter, was appended to the late advertisement of the Easton Academy, nothing more was contemplated than the delivering of a series of plain and familiar lectures for the benefit of the pupils. In accordance with the expressed wishes of several members of the community, it has since been determined to modify the original plan so as to admit to the proposed lectures such persons of the town and its vicinity as may be disposed to attend them with a view either to rational recreation or intellectual improvement, and at the same time to render them subservient to the interest and usefulness of the Academy. In order to add interest and variety to the exercises and to render them at once more attractive and instructive, several gentlemen of literary & scientific attainments have been invited & have kindly consented to participate therein, among whom we have the pleasure to name the Rev. Dr. Mason, Rev. James Nicols, Dr. Jenkins, and John Bozman Kerr, Esqr. The pecuniary proceeds of the lectures, after deducting what may be necessary to defray the expense of fuel, lights, &c will be deposited in the hands of the Trustees, to be appropriated to the purchase of Philosophical apparatus for the Academy. The introductory lecture will be delivered by Dr. Arnold at the Academy on Tuesday evening, Dec, 21st, commencing at half past seven o'clock.

☞ Tickets of admittance to the Lectures can be had at the store of Dr. Dawson, at the following prices.—Single tickets, 50 cents; tickets admitting a gentleman and two ladies, $1 00—tickets admitting a family $1 50.

N. B.—As the number will unavoidably be limited, persons disposed to attend the proposed lectures, would do well to provide themselves with tickets as soon as practicable.
