Mr. Johnson in reply informed him, that under the laws of the Commonwealth he had a right to institute such proceedings as he might deem proper before any magistrate, and that in the event of binding over of the individuals accused, it would then become the duty of the Attorney General to assume the immediate direction of the prosecution.—Inq. &. EASTON GAZETTE

EASTON, MD.

Saturday Morning, Jan. 15.

MEETING.--A meeting of the Tax Payers of this District, (No. 2, Election District No. 1.) will be held at the Commissioners room in the Court House this day at 3 o'clock, P. M. As every Tax Payer is personally interested, we hope the meeting will be well attended. We understand the Tax List will be submitted to the meeting.

A special election takes place to-day, in Queen Anns County, for a member of the House of Delegates, occasioned by the tie between Messrs. Hopper and Newnam.

The House of Delegates, we observe, has deliberately broken an existing contract with Jeremiah Hughes, the printer of its papers.

FINANCES OF MARYLAND.

According to the report of the Treasurer of Maryland, an extract from which we insert in another part of our paper, the receipts into the Treasury from all sources, in the year ending Dec 1, 1841, were $985,975 36—the disbursements $891,492 03--leaving a balance of $91,478 33, which is subject to unexpended appropriations for $194 053 26, showing a deficiency of revenue of $104,474 92; which is to be added the cost of the present session of the Legislature, estimated at $55,000. The charge from all sources, on the Treasury next year, is estimated at $1,215,483 06, which is to be supplied by the tax, the ordinary revenue, and dividends received from internal improvement companies. The result is, that the tax will be chargeable with the payment of $600,000 a year.

LECTURES AT THE ACADEMY.—The Lectures at this Institution appear to have become quite popular. At the one delivered last night, the Lecture room was crowded—nay it was completely jamed—the subject Anatomy, and the Lecturer, Dr. S. M. Jenkins, who chained the attention of the audience for upwards of an hour.

The National Intelligencer of Friday, contains a long article on the state of the Treasury, taken from a letter addressed to the Committee of Ways and Means on the state of the Treasury from which it appears that the Treasury of the General Government is bankrupt and that a re-issue of Treasury Notes to the amount of five million dollars has become absolutely necessary to enable it to discharge the hourly calls upon it. Nor can the deficiency in the Ways and Means, necessary thus to be provided for, says the National Intelligencer, "excite the least surprise in the mind of any individual who has paid ordinary attention to the financial history of the past year.

"The Whig Administration had not been many weeks in being, before it was discovered that the state of the Treasury was such that, without an extra Session of Congress being held to provide for the existing deficiency in its resources, the Government could not get along. On the meeting of Congress at the Extra Session, it appeared by the Report of Mr. Secretary Ewing, that the expenditures of the Government had, during the four years of the preceding Administration, been pushed beyond the revenue to the enormous amount of more than thirty millions of dollars so as not only to absorb the very large surplus of money in the Treasury on the 1st of January 1837, but to leave the Treasury on the 4th of March, 1841, when the Whig Administration came into power, "exhausted of its means, and subject to heavy and immediate liabilities."

Mr. Graham:—Seeing in your last paper a request for the publication of a report lately made by us to a respectable meeting of the Tax payers of this district, and discovering therein an inuendo—of something being wrong in Denmark.—We yield our paper to the public, whose judgment will decide whether we performed our duty or not.

Resolved, That a Committee of four be selected from this meeting by the Chair whose duty it shall be to inquire what will be the probable cost of building a School House or Houses—what the cost of renting, of purchasing, &c. and to report recommendations touching the general interest of the Primary Schools in this District to a postponed meeting of the Tax payers of this District, to be held on Saturday next at 3 o'clock, P. M. at the Court House.

In obedience to the resolution above passed at a meeting of Tax payers of the Easton District on the 11th December. The committee made a report of the probable cost of building or buying two school houses for the accommodation of the male and female children attached to the District—after which they threw before the meeting the following views in relation to the general interest of the schools as required by the latter clause of the above resolution.

Those recommendations were made under the impression at the time that the newly elected Trustees would not enter upon the duties before the first day of January 1842.

"The committee thus far have confined themselves to the facts of the resolution passed by the meeting of the 11th ult. They will now endeavor to comply with the spirit of the obligations further imposed. 'Tis scarcely necessary, before an intelligent body, to enter at large upon the intrinsic advantages of a pure education;—this is an axiom recognised by all civilized men. The first and chief consideration in all juvenile instruction should be the implantation of just, correct and legitimate principles; youthful impressions are omnipotent; and if these be defective in the earlier stages, the testimony of the world declares that no time can correct the vicious formings. By another maxim—"knowledge is recognised as power"—granting then these propositions as true, what station in life can be more important than the office (generally and almost indiscriminately assumed,) of instructing the youthful mind?

As Fathers and Guardians we watch narrowly the interests of our offspring—we superintend them with intense anxiety, and are lavish in expenditures that we may regard as tending to their temporal interests. For them, we deny ourselves present enjoyments, and accumulate, that our hording may furnish them future gratification. Is it rational then, after all this o'erweening desire to master difficulties, that henceforth no thorn may goad them on their pilgrimage through life—that we should remain listless and indifferent as to whose hands they may fall into when clear of parental authority? we take upon ourselves to answer, that it is not. The next enquiry then that present, is—what corrective will you offer? As your delegated Committee, we can only charge you—the people, in obedience to the spirit of the resolution under which we act, to urge those whom you have entrusted, to canvass most narrowly the merits of those who may offer themselves as candidates—and ascertain whether they be fit, proper and competent Instructors of our rising generation—we recommend, that you should require of your Trustees an analysis not only of full, liberal and enlarged literary qualifications in those who may present themselves as candidates for Teachers, but satisfactory evidences of unexceptionable moral attainments.—You are bound by all the considerations of men regarding the welfare of your offspring to look well to these things. Cast your eyes around you for a moment through your neighborhoods, and reflect upon "what manner of men" presume to this high calling of training and teaching the youthful mind of our land—Some are they, who having failed in all other undertakings with their fellows—yet regard themselves as fully competent to infuse high, noble, correct and scientific instruction into the minds of those who hereafter must serve as the "pillars of our State." Our Republic is a glorious form of Government. 'Twas designed and intended for the multitude. The doors of preferment are open to all—"if any man knock," he shall be regarded. Education gives the intellectual force of character. 'Tis this, and this alone that makes man the equal of all around him. How then will you fulfil your requirements, unless you see that the kind and beneficent enactments of the State—(in her wise legislation) in behalf of your free schools are fully met and carried out. The subject is far too momentous to be met aright by the limits of a circumscribed report. You all know and appreciate its bearing as justly as your Committee. Then act as becomes men distinguished for enlargement of mind, and do not hesitate to require the guardians of your interest—(the Trustees of this District) to search at large for those who are fully qualified to do you and your progeny entire and ample justice. The people are willing to contribute liberally, notwithstanding present depressions, to sustain an extended, liberal and scientific education of the youth among them. In conclusion, then, your Committee cannot refrain from trying to impress you with the importance of sustaining them in these their suggestions; and if you do—our pledges on the issue, in a short time you will see the wisdom of your present action.

All which is respectfully submitted by

Land for Sale.

The subscriber will dispose of the farm now occupied by James Jefferson, situate about three miles from St. Michaels, on Broad Creek, containing 133 acres of land, about one third of which is in timber. The improvements are a small dwelling house, nearly new, the out buildings the same—there is on this farm a sufficient quantity of good marsh for manure—two fields have been lately manured with shell lime. The situation is healthy, as all farms on the Bay side are well known to be. Persons disposed to purchase are requested to view the premises, which will be shewn to them by Mr Jefferson on the subscriber.

LECTURES

At the Easton Academy

When the notice that Lectures on Natural Science would be delivered by the teachers during the winter, was appended to the late advertisement of the Easton Academy, nothing more was contemplated than the delivering of a series of plain and familiar lectures for the benefit of the pupils. In accordance with the expressed wishes of several members of the community, it has since been determined to modify the original plan so as to admit to the proposed lectures such persons of the town and its vicinity as may be disposed to attend them with a view either to rational recreation or intellectual improvement, and at the same time to render them subservient to the interest and usefulness of the Academy. In order to add interest and variety to the exercises and to render them at once more attractive and instructive, several gentlemen of literary & scientific attainments have been invited & have kindly consented to participate therein, among whom we have the pleasure to name the Rev. Dr. Mason, Rev. James Nicols, Dr Jenkins, and John Beaman Kerr, Esqr. The pecuniary proceeds of the lectures, after deducting what may be necessary to defray the expense of fuel, lights &c will be deposited in the hands of the Trustees, to be appropriated to the purchase of Philosophical apparatus for the Academy. The introductory lecture will be delivered by Dr. Arnold at the Academy on Tuesday evening, Dec. 21st, commencing at half past seven o'clock.

☞Tickets of admittance to the Lectures can be had at the store of Dr. Dawson, at the following prices.—Single tickets, 50 cents; tickets admitting a gentleman and two ladies, $1 00--tickets admitting a family $1 50.

N. B.—As the number will unavoidably be limited, persons disposed to attend the proposed lectures, would do well to provide themselves with tickets as soon as practicable.
