EASTON GAZETTE

EASTON, MD.

Saturday Morning, March 5.

We are requested by the Committee appointed for that purpose, to state that the discount on Rail Road Notes will be thirty per cent. until further notice.

COTILLON PARTY.

The Cotillion Party of which notice was lately given is for the present postponed. In this postponement the managers with other considerations have had respect to the feelings of a portion of the religious community, the evening appointed being found to fall within the period commonly known as Passion week.

IMPORTANT—BANK RESUMPTION MOVEMENT.—In consequence of the disagreement between the two Houses of the State Legislature, on the subject of fixing a day for the resumption of specie payments by the Banks of Maryland, and the probability that no Act in relation to it would, under the circumstances, be passed at the present session—the Banks in Baltimore have taken the matter in hand for the purpose of having an early and certain day fixed by law. We learn says the American of Wednesday, that at a meeting of the officers of the Several Banking institutions of Baltimore, held yesterday evening, it was resolved to transmit a communication to the Legislature of Maryland to the effect that the Banks would be ready to resume specie payments on the first of August next; or, that they would resume in sixty days, provided the Legislature authorizes them to issue one and two dollar notes, to an amount not exceeding five per cent. of their respective capitals.

A committee of five, viz. J. J. Speed, Thomas C. Jenkins, G. W. Lurman, Charles Howard, and James George, Esqrs. was appointed to proceed to Annapolis, to communicate the propositions to the Legislature. They will go in this afternoon's train.

Resumption Bill.—The Resumption Bill of Mr. PRATT with two additional sections of Mr. SCOTT, passed the Senate on Wednesday last. It provides for the resumption of specie payments by the banks of this State by the 1st November next, provided the banks of Pennsylvania do not resume before in which case those of Maryland are to resume ten days after. The yeas and nays were as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Thomas, (President) Beckett, Donoho, Goldsborough, Magruder, Howard, Newcomer, Palmer, Potts, Pratt, Ricaud, Scott, Turner, Willson—14.

Nays Messrs. Ely, Frick, Matthews, Maulsby, Townsend—5.

The bill goes down to the House of Delegates for their action upon it.

THE RESUMPTION BILL.—The Bill which passed the House of Delegates some time since, and was returned with amendments from the Senate, fixing a period for the banks of this State to resume specie payments, was before the House yesterday. The amendments of the Senate were rejected, and the message sent asking that body to reconsider and pass the bill as originally sent from the House. The vote in the House was about two to one in favor of this course.

Annapolis Repub. March 1.

ANOTHER SENATOR RESIGNED.—The Hon. Franklin Pearce has formally resigned his seat in the Senate of the United States.

AN IMPORTANT BILL PASSED.—The bill directing that the sessions of our Legislature shall be biennial, instead of an nual, hereafter, has passed both branches of the legislature, and is a law so far as the present body can make it so. As, however, it contemplates a change of the constitution, it will have to receive the assent of the next legislature, before it can go fully into operation

[Sun of yesterday.

THE BILL RELATIVE TO COLORED POPULATION, reported by Mr. Hammond, from the committee to whom was referred the memorial of the Slaveholders, Convention, after undergoing discussion for four days, during which sundries amendments were adopted, came up for final disposition in the House of Delegates on Saturday last, and passed that body by the following vote:—Yeas. 40.—Nays 31.

FOLLY.—We learn that some persons who had nothing better to do, on Tuesday night, near the city, burnt in effigy the Hon. Otho Scott, Senator from Harford county. This is all folly, and taking too much notice of the financial representative.—Balt. Sun of yesterday.

THE MISSING CUNARD STEAMER.

—The New York American of Monday evening publishes the annexed letter from the Boston Atlas office, from which it will be seen that the Caledonia had not reached Halifax on Friday last, at 5 o'clock, P. M She was then more than 21 days out.

The Hibernia packet ship arrived at N. York, reports fearful weather from the 3d to the 15th instant. There was here, it may be remembered, a terrific gale on the night of the 16th, about which time the Caledonia may have been between the Banks and Halifax. The apprehensions for the safety of the steamer increase. Capt. Wilson, of the Hibernia, expresses the belief that no steamer could have weathered the gales he experienced.

The Unicorn it will be perceived, is to take the mail of the 1st to Halifax, and thence, if the Caledonia be still missing, to England.

Correspodence of the N. Y. American.

Atlas Office, Sunday noon.

The steamship Unicorn has just arrived from Halifax, having left that place on Friday afternoon last at 5 o'clock, at that time no tidings had been received there of the Caledonia. The Unicorn will leave here on Tuesday next, the 1st of March, with the mails and passengers and in case no regular steamer reaches Halifax previous to her arrival there, she will proceed to England.

In case the Caledonia reaches Halifax, she will remain there to take the mails, &c., from the Unicorn. The Unicorn will then return with those from the Caledonia.

TERRIBLE AND FATAL STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION.—We learn from the New Orleans papers, that on the 19th ult., as the tow boats Mohican and Star, were towing the British ship Edward Thorne over the bar at the mouth of the Mississippi, all the boilers of the former exploded, with disastrous effects. The Bulletin says that from twelve to fourteen lives were lost; amongst whom are two engineers, two firemen, and three deck hands. Lieut Bukup one of the Revenue officers at the Balize, was blown from the boat on board of the Star, and was killed on the spot. The mate of the Edward Thorne was killed by the explosion & the Capt. is dangerously wounded. Captain Heaton is likewise badly hurt. James Nickerson, head engineer, not found; Geo, Brady, 2d do., dead; Captain James Heaton, of the Mohican, slightly scalded; A. McDonald, pilot, do, Capt. Anderson, of ship Edward Thorne do, the mate and cook of the ship dead. The ship had her mizen-mast blown out, and most of her rigging destroyed One of the boilers was precipitated upon the forecastle of the ship Four of the boat's crew are missing—three others, who were found scalded, have been sent to the Charity Hospital. The Mohican caught fire immediately after the explosion, and was entirely consumed. The deficiency of water in the boilers is said to have been the origin of this afflicting accident.

For the Easton Gazette.

The fourteenth lecture of the series was delivered at the Academy on Tuesday evening by Dr. Jenkins.

The audience as usual was large and highly respectable. The lecturer commenced with a brief but lucid exposition of the dermoid tissue. Having presented a view of the peculiar characteristics of the three distinct layers or strata composing the skin or envelope of the human body, the cuticle, the retemucosum and the cutis vera, he proceeded in his own happy, but plain and easy style, to describe the structure of the muscular tissue, the tendons and their attachments, of the trachea and the innumerable air tubes that permeate the substance of the lungs. He next unfolded to us that mysterious process by which the blood, by contact with the air receives into the lungs, is oxygenated and thus prepared to convey the proper nutriment to the various portions of the animal system The heart, with its auricles and ventricles was also described and the transcendent wisdom of the Creator, displayed in the peculiar structure of this organ, the most important in the animal economy, was beautifully illustrated from its remarkable adaptation to its proper function. He told us how by the powerful contraction of the left ventricle, the blood is propelled to every part of the body, to be returned by the veins into the two venee cavæ and through these again into the right auricle, thence into the right ventricle; how from the right ventricle it is propelled through the pulmonary artery to circulate through, and undergo a change in the lungs, being prevented from returning into the right auricle by the closing of the valves which are situated there for that purpose He told us how after having undergone this change in the lungs, it was returned through the proper channel to the left ventricle, there to resume its circulatory course and thence to convey nutrition to the most remote and the most minute portions of the body. It would be impossible in a brief notice to present more than a very imperfect idea of this able and exceedingly interesting lecture. Conscious of his inability to do it justice, the writer's only object in offering these remarks, is to convey to those who were not present on Tuesday evening, some idea of the more prominent portions of the lecture, and to inform them that the same general subject is to be resumed by Dr. Jenkins on Tuesday evening next.

Those who desire to become acquainted (and who does not?) with some of the most wonderful phenomena of the human economy should improve this opportunity. PHILOMATHES.

A WARLIKE PARAGRAPH.—A late number of the London Observer, has the following:

The Boundary Question.—It is hinted by some influential parties in the city, to whom full credit is due, that there is something more in the wind than meets the eye in the simultaneous departure of the fleet of steamers destined to ply on the West India station, in the conveyance of the mails passengers, &c., to and from her Majesty's colonial possessions in the direction alluded to. Some insignificant inquiries have been made from head quarters as to the number of troops each of these fine steam ships could accommodate, and the reply given is, we are informed, that with very little alteration each ship could convey 1,000 men. We do not believe that there will be any relaxation in the activity that now prevails in all the naval departments of the country; and, if our information be correct, the destination of most of the vessels of war now getting ready for sea will be the American station. These steamships may, we hear, be found in company with our men of war on the coasts of the United States; and we are told that, should the American executive refuse to adjust the boundary question, these gentle admonitors, in upholding British rights and British honor, may use something unlike "soft persuasion" in compelling "Brother Jonathan" to settle the account that has been so long standing between this country and America. We have given this statement as it has reached us, and we will only add, that it is derived from a highly respectable source.

The Texan, of the 25th of January, says:—"We are gratified that the late treaty, entered into by General James Hamilton, on the part of this Government, and Lord Palmerston, on the part of Great Britain, concerning the suppression of the slave trade, has been ratified by our Government.

MUTINY AND LOSS OF LIFE.

The New Orleans Bulletin of the 12th instant says:—"We were informed late last evening by an officer of the Texian Navy, that the crew of the Texas schooner of war San Antonio, (now lying off Slaughter House Point,) mutinied—killed the Second Lieutenant, Mr. C. F. Fuller, wounded two midshipmen, Messrs. Allen and Odle—seized cutlasses and pistols, and left the vessel. The sailing master escaped by jumping overboard.

"DEMOCRACY" AND NO PROSCRIPTION.

The liberal course pursued by the General Government to most of the virulent opponents of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too," by continuing them in the stations they held under Jackson and Van Buren, as rewards for political exertions against their opponents, it was hoped would tend in some measure to blunt the sharp edge of "Democratic" proscription, and produce an era of better feelings than that which had for some time previously existed But this hope has proved fallacious.

The late Governor Grason, either winked at the fact, or it escaped his observation, and that of the party, that of the thirty six Magistrates annually appointed for this city, four were tinctured strongly with Whig principles. These have just been removed by the present Governor Thomas—from whom, under all circumstances, such a course was not looked for.

But he has swept the whole board, and left not a single Whig in the office of justice of the peace Who could have recommended some of the batch selected, has excited the special wonder of the intelligent of both parties. X.

JUSTICE.—There will be no lack of justice in Baltimore county, if we may be permitted to judge from the long list of appointments to the Magistracy. No less than one hundred and sixty six names are officially announced as having been dubbed Squires. X.

THE ELOPEMENT.

We are happy to learn, from authentic sources that Captain Wyndam Schinley, who was recently clandestinly married, with the co operation of a son of the mistress of a fashionable boarding school at New Brighton, to Miss Croghan, the niece of Colonel Croghan and General Jesup of the army, will be defeated in his principle object.

We are informed that for ten years to come the present Mrs. Schinley can have no control over the large estates devised to her by her grandfather, the late General O'Hara, of Pittsburg, but is entitled by his will to an allowance of only one thousand dollars per annum; and farther, that the consent of her father to her marriage is necessary before the property vests in the young lady at all. We shall be extremely happy if other individuals implicated by rumor in this lamentable affair clear themselves from the charge of connivance or participation in the proceedings which has excited so general a feeling of indignation in this community. N. Y. Courier.

☞ Messrs. Beresford and Foulke, who were for many years connected with the late National Gazette, have issued proposals for starting a new journal, by the name of the Daily National Gazette.—They are very worthy gentlemen, in all respects.

RELIEF FOR TOOTH ACHE.

Dr. Parmley, one of the most distinguished dentists in New York, assures the public, that the following facts, which we gather from a long statement under his own signature; are strictly true. A young lady of delicate health was brought to him by an eminent physician for the purpose of having a troublesome tooth extracted. She feared she could not endure the torture, but while Dr. Parmley was absent from the room, the physician put her into the Mesmeric sleep. The dentist attempted to open her mouth, but was unable to do so, until the physician, exerting his power upon her, relaxed the muscles. The tooth was extracted, and it was no easy task, during which not a sound was heard, nor a muscle moved, by the gentle patient. After she had remained in repose for a time, she was restored to wakefulness by her physician. The excrutiating pain had ceased and the timid, sensitive girl was unconscious of the loss, except when the absence of the tooth from her mouth was discovered. She declared she was unconscious of pain, and suffered no exhaustion or anguish from the operation. Repeated experiments of the same nature have since been tried, all of them with eminent success. Dr. Parmley is one of the most distinguished dentists in New York, and the high character and respectability of the lady and the physician forbid all distrust of the truth of the statement.—Phil. Gaz.
