late Potomac Company, with whom special agreements exist.

Mr. Clay recently received an elegant white beaver hat as a present, and made his acknowledgments therefor in the following note:

ASHLAND, 16th July, 1842.

Messrs. N. & H. SHAW,

Gentlemen:—I have received the White Beaver Hat which you have done me the favor to send me. I thank you cordially for it. It fits me exactly, and coming, as it does, from faithful, long tried and highly esteemed friends, it is a most acceptable present. May the head of that man, who would not desire the protection of his own brethren and fellow-citizens against the productions of foreign industry, never be covered with such a Hat!

Wishing you, gentlemen, good success in your business, and health, prosperity and happiness,

I am your neighbor and faithful friend,

H. CLAY.

GREAT BRITAIN AND TEXAS.

We learn by the papers brought by the Acadia that the ratification of the long pending treaties between Great Britain and Texas were exchanged on Tuesday the 29th ultimo by the Earl of Aberdeen, Plenipotentiary of Great Britain, and the Hon. Ashbel Smith, Plenipotentiary of the Republic of Texas.

These treaties are three in number: a treaty of amity, navigation, and commerce—a treaty undertaking mediation by Great Britain between the republics of Mexico and Texas—and a treaty granting reciprocal right of search for the suppression of the African slave trade. They were negotiated in 1840, and concluded in November of that year, by Viscount Palmerston and Gen. James Hamilton. The powers to ratify the two first have been a considerable time in England, but their completion has been delayed until the ratification of the treaty granting the right of search could be simultaneously exchanged.

The following are published as articles of the treaty of mediation:

ART. 1. The Republic of Texas agrees that if, by means of the mediation of her Britannic Majesty, an unlimited truce shall be established between Mexico and Texas within thirty days after the present convention shall have been communicated to the Mexican Government by her Britannic Majesty's mission at Mexico and if within six months from the day on which that communication shall have been so made, Mexico shall have concluded a treaty of peace with Texas then, and in such case, the republic of Texas will take upon itself a portion, amounting to one million pounds sterling, of the capital of the foreign debt contracted by the republic of Mexico before the 1st of February, 1835

ART. 2. The manner in which the capital of one million pounds sterling of foreign debt, mentioned in the preceding article, shall be transferred from the republic of Mexico to the republic of Texas, shall be settled hereafter by special agreement between the republic of Texas and the republic of Mexico, under the mediation of her Britannic Majesty.

Extract of a letter to the editor of the Philadelphia U. S. Gazette, dated

Washington, July 23, 1842.

Dear Sir—Among the curious matters that I have heard reported in the Metropolis, is the strong attempt recently made, and now avowed, to have Mr. Calhoun the nominee of the Locc-foco party. A caucus has been held, and circulars issued, to call upon the leading Loco focos in the different States to rally for Mr. Calhoun. I have not seen one of these circulars, but I understand that they have already been despatched.—The success of Mr. Calhoun and his friends will be the signal for a rally for southern interests, but I doubt whether he can succeed. Mr. Van Buren appears to have the voice from the Hermitage. Still the effort is being made, and you will soon see the result.

Correspondence of the Baltimore Patriot

WASHINGTON, July 25, 1842.

POST OFFICE LAW BEFOE THE SENATE.

The bill to which I barely had time to make allusion in my report, passed the Senate to an engrossment on Saturday evening, and will probably pass the Senate finally this morning. Before leaving the chamber it was stripped of most of its foul proportions, and under the pruning knife, is upon the whole, made a very good and very satisfactory bill.—There are some faults, however, which it is not yet too late to remedy. It is to be hoped that Mr. Merrick does not intend to bring in a new bill, incorporating any provision similar to some of those which have been struck out; and it is to be hoped also, that the Committee will hold some consultation with the newspaper publishers and proprietors, before legislating upon arrangements, the practical effect of which, of necessity, they must know much better than the Department or Congress. The second section, which the Senate have struck out, could not be practically executed, and if its provisions could be, they would be exceedingly onerous and unjust. The penalty of prohibiting any editor from having his newspapers transmitted through the mail, would be a game which two could play. The Press would not sanction it, the People would denounce it, and the Courts of Law would upset it. But "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." When Congress seriously attempts to impose its burdens it will be time enough to discuss the proposition.

The bill, as it has passed, as I have said, contains many salutary provisions, the most important of which are given below.

RATES OF POSTAGE.—Instead of the present rates of postage, the first section of the bill proposes that from and after the present quarter (30th September,) the rates shall be for every letter composed of a single sheet of paper, conveyed not exceeding 30 miles, five cents; over 30 and not exceeding 150 miles, ten cents; over 150 and not exceeding 300 miles, fifteen cents; over 300 and not exceeding 500 miles, twenty cents: over 500 miles, twenty five cents. Double and treble letters are to pay double and treble rates, and four or more pieces by the ounce. All way newspapers, that is, all sent from any place but the office of the publisher are to pay letter postage!

Newspapers.—Newspapers of not more than 1307 square inches, (about the size of the N. Y. Express and Courier.) are to be transmitted as under existing laws. All Newspapers beyond this size, are to pay one cent for every additional five inches over the 1307.

Prohibition and penalties.—The next section prohibits stage coaches, rail road cars, steamboats, packets, or any vehicle, or any owner, agent or servant thereof, from carrying letters or papers under a penalty of $20, one half for the use of the informer, and one half for the Department.

Private Expresses are prohibited under a penalty of $100.

Foreign Vessels are prohibited also from carrying to and from different ports in the United States any letters except such as relate to the cargo, under a penalty of $500. This, however, in no other way interferes with existing laws, allowing steamboats to carry letters.

Contracts may be made by the Postmaster General with the owners of steamboats for the transmission of the mails upon the Western, or other waters, whenever thereby the public interest will be promoted. The terms, however, cannot be more than now paid.

Boxes.—Whenever the amount received by any Post Master for the private boxes furnished at his office, shall exceed the amount which said Post Master is now by law authorised to retain, he may retain in addition twelve and a half per cent. of the excess for boxes. Boxes, however, are to be furnished equally to every citizen, and at uniform rates

Thus much for the bill of Mr. Merrick, which, as passed, certainly contains many wholesome and salutary provisions.

GERMAN, OR FLY PROOF WHEAT.

Cambridge, Md. July, 1842.

To the Editor of the American Farmer.

You have asked a report of the result of my experiment with the sack of German wheat which I purchased of you last fall. Concisely, I give it below:

The sack containing 2½ bushels; I seeded it on the 17th Sept. upon two precisely measured, acres: on this space, were two varieties of soil, very opposite in character: one portion was a low, black, clayey loam; the remainder, a more elevated dry clay, equally rich: the growth was very luxurant, and no difference observable in the two portions: its height was nearly six feet, with a large straw; it was a dense mass of vigorous vegetation—tho' partially attacked by the "fly," it sustained no apparent injury from it whatever; nor was it in the least affected by the scab, rust, or any other disease. It might have been harvested by the 17th June, but rainy weather deferred it to the 21st: the product was within a small fraction of fifty bushels, and its weight upon once through the fan was 62¾ lbs. The grain is much more full and plump than the seed grain was though it was quite as dark; and this (the color) I think, is the only exceptionable point of its character. I have tried a bushel of it for flour, but the miller reports it to have been damp for a fair experiment.

It is, perhaps, worthy of remark, that immediately alongside of this wheat, and on soil equal, or similar, grew several acres of the N. Y. white flint wheat, which was injured by the fly, tho' slightly, and finally ruined by scab and rust.

These facts were so conspicuous, that the lot containing the two varieties, being situated on the county road, they attracted general attention, and its unusually vigorous and early spring growth was a matter of astonishment to all who saw it: and in this, and its early ripening, before the return of the blighting season which is known to observe a very regular periodicity, consists no doubt the security of this grain against the usual disasters of other varieties.

Respectfully,

JOSEPH E. MUSE.

PROPOSALS

FOR PUBLISHING A CHEAP WEEKLY PAPER TO BE CALLED

THE BALTIMORE WHIG.

To be principally composed of the choicest and most valuable reading matter of the Baltimore Daily Whig.

The Subscribers proprietors of the Baltimore Daily Whig, grateful for the extensive and liberal patronage which has been bestowed upon that paper—desirous to further, by every means in their power, the cause in which they are engaged—and willing to contribute as much as possible to the support of the great and devoted Statesman of the West as the candidate for the suffrages of the American People at the next presidential election—propose to publish, in connection with their daily, a weekly paper for the country.

In endeavoring to advance the interests of the Whig party, by the publication of a cheap and efficient paper, so centrally located as to communicate promptly with all parts of the union; devoted to the correction of existing abuses, and advocating the most proper measures for conducting the Government, that the purposes for which it was established—the promotion of the prosperity and happiness of the nation—may be accomplished; the Subscribers believe that their design will be generally approved of, and accorded by the public a liberal support.

The Subscribers do not belong to the class of non-committal politicians That equivocal position, denominated "on the fence," which gives to a man's professions of patriotism so dubious a character, they trust they may never be found so far astray from the path of honesty as to occupy. They are thoroughly Whig, and that there may be no misunderstanding with regard to their principles they deem it proper to state them here, briefly and distinctly:

They are for HENRY CLAY, as the candidate of the Whig party for President in 1844; for the PROTECTION OF DOMESTIC MANUFACTURES, and for a SOUND and UNIFORM CURRENCY.

The advantages which the Subscribers possess as publishers of a daily paper, will enable them to furnish the patrons of the weekly WHIG with as valuable and efficient a journal, at a very moderate price, as the country can produce. It will contain, in addition to the editorial and other original essays, a carefully compiled summary of all the important and interesting news of the day, the earliest foreign intelligence, a correct report of Congressional proceedings, interesting correspondences from various sections of the country, diligent note of the progress of the Whig cause, a true and careful statement of the markets, and a record of commercial intelligence—so that persons desiring a comprehensive business and political paper will find the weekly Baltimore Whig a useful and cheap one.

TERMS.

The weekly Baltimore Whig will be printed on good paper, imperial size, and sent by mail to any part of the country, at One Dollar per annum, invariably in advance. One object in making the paper so extremely cheap is the convenience of the subscription price for remittance by mail. Another object is, to place it within the reach of every Whig in the country.

Address, post paid,

SPERRY, GALLUP & ROGERS,

Proprietors of the Daily Whig,

No. 27 Second street, Baltimore.

ANOTHER EVIDENCE OF THE WONDERFUL CURES PERFORMED BY DR SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Swayne:—Dear Sir:—When I was at Pittsburg last August, I purchased of your Agent Six Bottles of your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. I had for many years been troubled with a Cough, often very violent, with other indications of Consumption, or disease of the Lungs, of a very serious nature. I had very little faith in medicine, as it was thought my disease was hopeless and beyond its reach.—I had applied to several Physicians for relief, and also used some highly puffed medicines which I had seen in the newspapers, but hearing that you had much experience in the practice of medicine, and had treated many cases of Consumption, I concluded to try yours; and from that time I am happy to say, I found relief.—I write this in hopes you will publish it, so that if any human being has suffered as I have done, they may know where to find a medicine the virtues of which may be relied on.

Yours respectfully,
