POETRY.

From the New York American.

LIFE.

saw a little fairy boat,
Glide o'er a glassy lake;
Bright buds wove 'round the gilded prow,
Flowers scattered in its wake.
It held one fair and sylph like child
Within its bosom slight,—
One hand upon the little helm,
While all seemed calm and bright.

I saw that tiny bark again,
Upon a glancing stream,
Flit midst its green and fairy isles,
Like a swift passing dream.
A fair haired youth now guided it,
Through all those changing scenes
While sun and storm around him played,
In showers and fitful gleams.

Again it bursts upon my view,
On rapids dark and dread;
Its gilded prow all worn and broke,
Its flowers pale and dead.
It held while in its wild career,
Manhood's all braving form;
His eye fixed on the bow of hope,
That shone above the storm.

I saw the way worn bark once more,
Tossed on a boundless sea;
Before it yawned a deep dark Gulf—
Beyond Eternity.
An aged man reclined within,
With wasted form and eye;
But still his gaze forever fixed
Upon the brightening sky.

For there, there beamed a fadeless light,
That pilgrim's long sought haven.
Where he might moor his shattered bark;
And that bright home was—Heaven.

Ladies Literary Institute.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL FOR

YOUNG LADIES,

No 44, South High Street, Baltimore.

REV. JOHN R. JARBOE,
PRINCIPAL.

THIS Institution has been in faithful and effective operation for the last six years, during which time the Principal has had under his charge a great number of young ladies, principally from the City of Baltimore and the Eastern and Western Shores of Maryland and he has received repeated testimonials of pleasure and approbation from those who have placed their children under his care.

Rejecting the old and beaten path of mere memorising, it has been his principal aim to address himself to the reasoning powers of his pupils, and thus bring into full and vigerous exercise ALL their mental faculties: and the success, that has uniformly attended his efforts, where those efforts have not been injudiciously counteracted at home, fully tests the utility of such a course of instruction.

Connected with the Institution there is an elegant and extensive Philosophical and and Chemical apparatus; a beautiful and well selected Cabinet of Minerals and Shells, Globes, Maps, &c. &c.

A course of Lectures will be regularly delivered, on Natural Philosophy and Natural History. The advanced pupils are required to take notes of each lecture, and make the subject a theme for their ensuing composition

The course of study is such as is generally pursued in the higher order of Literary Institutions, embracing every thing tending to advance the best interests of the pupils.

By means of "Davidson's Muscular Guide," a style of Penmanship is attained which for beauty, strength and permanency is incomparable.

The fancy branches of Ornamental work will be taught by the lady of the Principal, but only in such cases where those pursuits do not interfere with the leading design of the Institution.

The musical department and modern Languages are placed in the hands of competent Professors.

Music and Languages at Professors' Terms

The Academic year consists of 47 weeks, and no boarder will be received for a less term than the current year, and no day scholar for a less period, unless there be a special agreement to that effect.

For the benefit of parents resident in the city, the Principal proposes to receive young ladies into his family during the week as boarders, to superintend their studies, allowing them to return to their parents on Saturday afternoon, thus enabling them to have the privilege of a Boarding School, and likewise to enjoy the society of their friends.—The charges in this department will be modified as circumstances may justify.
