POETRY.

THE MOTHER'S SENTIMENTS.

BY THE REV. LESINGHAM SMITH.

A little stream that's never dry
When summer suns are glowing,
That when the wintry storm sweeps by,
Is never overflowing;
Such is the wealth that I implore,
And God has given me such and more.

Daughters more excellent than fair;
A son not great but good;
Servants with whom I've learned to bear,
Whatever be their mood;
In peace with these, in love with those,
I camly live and have no foes.

A house for comfort not too small,
Not large enough for pride;
A garden, and a garden wall,
A little lake beside!
In these I find so sweet home,
That not a wish have I to roam.

A little land to graze my cow,
Whose milk supplies my table;
A warm sty for my good old sow,
And for my nags a stable:
All have their spice for food and play,
And all are glad, both I and they.

I feed the poor man in his cot,
The beggar at my gate;
And thankful for my quiet lot,
I envy not the great:
But rather to praise my God on high,
Happy to live, prepared to die.

A NOTHER EVIDENCE OF THE WONDERFUL CURES PERFORMED BY DR SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Swayne:—Dear Sir:—When I was at Pittsburg last August, I purchased of your Agent Six Bottles of your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. I had for many years been troubled with a Cough, often very violent, with other indications of Consumption, or disease of the Lungs, of a very serious nature. I had very little faith in medicine, as it was thought my disease was hopeless and beyond its reach.—I had applied to several Physicians for relief, and also used some highly puffed medicines which I had seen in the newspapers, but hearing that you had much experience in the practice of medicine, and had treated many cases of Consumption, I concluded to try yours; and from that time I am happy to say, I found relief.—I write this in hopes you will publish it, so that if any human being has suffered as I have done, they may know where to find a medicine the virtues of which may be relied on.

Yours respectfully,

JAMES OSBURN.
