

POETRY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EASTON GAZETTE

My dear Mr. Printer
This sad dreary winter
Has quite overcome me with blues—
I must therefore request,
When you've taken your rest,
You'll seek out and send me the news.

Perhaps in your papers
You'll see some high capers
Of B—nt—n in warlike position.
Or learn with surprise
That, mean turn-coat W—e,
After leaving Whig ranks
And cursing all the Banks,
Will be sent on a grand foreign mission—

Or may be you'll hear
That the great western Seer
Old Hick, the tyrannical loon,
To gain—sordid Elf—
Some Treasury pelf
(Will leave Martin the cunning
To work for himself)
And support nullifier Calhoun.

Some folks do say that the great capt. Tyler,
Than whom can be found no traitor that's viler,
Has taken again to drinking hard Cyder,
Intending by this to make the breach wider
'Tween Locos and Whigs, and thus take an high station
From whence to mount up to the head of the nation.
If these things be true I'de have you to say
And give me an answer without any delay

Winter Pictures.

BY MRS. S J. HALE.

Gently, as lillies shed their leaves,
When summer suns are fair,
The feathery snow comes floating down,
Like blossoms in the air;
And o'er the earth like angel's wing,
Unfolding white and pure,
It shines the shield of power divine,
When faith may read it sure,
That HE who rules the year, can bring
The life, the loveliness of Spring.

And when the bleak and storm-rob'd day,
Seemed sealed with cares and fears,
Oft through his prison house of clouds,
The setting sun appears—
And to the pensive watcher's gaze,
A beam of glory bears,
Which in the noontide summer's prime,
He never, never wears;
Like Hope, that pours her light most clear,
When grief's dark clouds are gathering near.

Even the minds, like wavering hosts,
The dark night fill with dread,
Still Love may trim the genial fire,
The mind's rich banquet spread,
And as life's storms of sorrow draw
Kind hearts more kindly near,
So Nature's cold stern frowns will make
Dear home more deeply dear—
Thus FAITH, and HOPE, and LOVE are given,
In Winter Pictures, limned by HEAVEN.

A Strange Tale, but a Fact!—Some few months ago, one of our townsmen left for America, in company with his wife. After having set foot on the Eldorado of the West, they found to their unspeakable disappointment that they had travelled far without mending matters.—They tramped over a great part of America, till they were reduced to ask charity from strangers. One day the husband asked charity from a black gentleman, who, instead of giving him any, offered him 250 dollars for his wife, who, by the by, was a fresh, blooming, red-cheeked specimen of the daughters of Halifax—The wife immediately turned to him and said, in an undertone—"Thou fool, take the brass—let me go, and then I'll come to thee." Entering into the spirit of the dodge, he pocketed the money, and bade farwell to his wife, with the understanding that she should return to him directly. Three days afterwards he saw his wife in her carriage, attended by black servants, and had an interview with her. She told him to go home and think no more about her, as she had found a good shop and was determined to keep it. She still remains under the influence of the black gentleman, or the 'gentleman in black," just as the reader wills it; and the disconsolate husband returned to our town last week, to tell his own miserable tale, and to exhibit himself as a living proof of the treachery and inconstancy of woman.—Leeds Times.

Hard Times in Pennsylvania.

A member of the legislature, says the Harrisburg Capitolian, received a letter from an intelligent constituent living in Juniata county, in which it was stated that a Wagon and six horses were lately sold at constable's sale in Tuscarora Valley, of that county, for three dollars; and that a Hatter was also lately sold out in Lewistown Mifflin county, at the sale of which Wool Hats brought two cents, and Fur Hats twenty five cents!!! If this is not an indication of hard times we do not know what is.

November 23d, 1842.

MR HENRY J. STRANBERG:

Dear Sir,—My wife has been labouring under a very severe Pulmonary disease and Cough, for some time, and I have tried all the Cough Medicines I could hear of, and all proved ineffectual. In looking over the paper I saw your advertisement of a Compound Medicated Hoarhound Candy. I was induced to give it a trial, the first stick gave great relief, and we have continued to use it with entire success, and Mrs. Crouch is fast recovering. I thought it was due to you to express my gratitude for your discovery.

ANOTHER EVIDENCE OF THE WONDERFUL CURES PERFORMED BY DR SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Swayne:—Dear Sir:—When I was at Pittsburg last August, I purchased of your Agent Six Bottles of your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. I had for many years been troubled with a Cough, often very violent, with other indications of Consumption, or disease of the Lungs, of a very serious nature. I had very little faith in medicine, as it was thought my disease was hopeless and beyond its reach.—I had applied to several Physicians for relief, and also used some highly puffed medicines which I had seen in the newspapers, but hearing that you had much experience in the practice of medicine, and had treated many cases of Consumption, I concluded to try yours; and from that time I am happy to say, I found relief.—I write this in hopes you will publish it, so that if any human being has suffered as I have done, they may know where to find a medicine the virtues of which may be relied on.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES OSBURN.
