EASTON GAZETTE.
EASTON, MD.
Saturday Morning, April 29.

FOR PRESIDENT
HENRY CLAY, OF KENTUCKY.

Our readers will find in another column, a very interesting communication upon the origin and progress of animal magnetism, which has been the all absorbing subject of conversation among us for some weeks past.

MORRIS O. COLSTON, Esquire, was appointed by the Commissioners on Tuesday last Collector of the State and County tax for this county.

THE CABINET.—The latest rumor is that there will be no change in the Cabinet.

ROBERY.—The Baltimore Cathedral was robbed on Monday night last of several valuable articles. A reward of fifty dollars is offered for the property stolen.

MR. WEBSTER.—All the stories of the intention of Mr. Webster not to return to Washington, as Secretary of State, are contradicted effectively. He returned to Washington on Wednesday, and is still Secretary of State.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The Hon. Edward Stanley has been unanimously nominated as the whig candidate for Congress in the Eighth Congressional District of North Carolina. The Convention assembled to make this nomination adopted, among others, the following resolutions:

'Resolved, That, in the opinion of this Convention, the high and commanding talents, the exalted patriotism, and the just and dignified sentiments of the Hon. Henry Clay, of Kentucky, entitle him to the esteem and gratitude, not of the Whig party only, but of every American citizen; and this Convention considers him better calculated to guide the ship of State wisely and successfully than any other whose name has been mentioned in connection with the next Presidency.

'Resolved That we have entire confidence in the purity of purpose, ability, high honor, and genuine patriotism of the Hon Edward Stanley, and that the whigs of the district owe him respect and gratitude for his zealous and faithful advocacy of the great principles for which they contend.'

Mr. Wise says that Mr Clay pressed him to accept a Foreign Mission. What kind of a Mission was it—of the 1st class, the 2nd or the THIRD class? If Mr. Clay had been President, and urged a Mission of the first rank upon Mr. Tyler's rejected Minister, would he ever have fallen out with, & abuse Mr. Clay?—That's a question I should like to hear answered. Mr Wise greatly vaunts his purity, &c. all the Gods to witness for him; but would he have opened his mouth against Mr. Clay, if Mr. Clay had been President, & had the disposal of Secretaryship and Embassies? Did he ever abuse Mr. Clay, 'till abuse of that great man was the best recommendation to Executive favour?—Richmond Whig.

On Monday evening the Democratic members of the N. York Legislature met in caucus, & passed resolutions recommending the assembling of a National Convention at Baltimore on the 4th Monday of Nov. next, 1843, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President; and declaring that though they (the caucus) are ready to support the candidate of the convention, it is their conviction that Martin Van Buren is the choice of the Democracy of New York.

The New Orleans Tropic of the 3d inst. has the following paragraph:

The Mississippi Defalcation.—After all Mississippi is not likely to lose so much by her Treasurer as was at first expected. We learn verbally from Jackson, that soon after the departure of Graves, his wife sent to Gov. Tucker, requesting an interview. At first the Governor declined, but on the lady's sending a second time, the Governor called on the lady, in company with Judge Buckner. Mrs. G. delivered to the Governor a package containing $95,000 in gold and treasury notes, also a parcel containing state bonds, which had not been examined when our informant left.

EXTRA SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.—We some time since says the Baltimore Clipper announced that there would be an extra session of the legislature called by the Governor; and notwithstanding our statement was doubted by one of the Annapolis papers, we still believed in the correctness of the information which we had received. Yesterday's Republican contains the proceedings of the city Democratic Convention, by which it will be seen that an extra session is recommended and that ward meetings are called to take the subject into consideration. The Governor will no doubt comply with the request of the convention, by summoning the legislature to meet the latter part of May or the beginning of June. Whatever else may be done at the extra session, we hope that we shall have no child's play in regard to the law to sell the state's interest in the public works. If there be defects in phraseology let them be amended, but on no account should the law be repealed. If those in favour of repeal succeed, it is not difficult to foresee, that the state debt will be repudiated. Mark the prediction. We know the game that was attempted to be played in regard to this bill, and we are acquainted with the motives which influence some men in desiring an extra session; but we trust that there will be enough patriotism to save the state from the disgrace of repudiation.

GUBERNATORIAL RENCONTRE.—The Southern mail of Saturday brought a report of a rencontre between Governor McDowel, of Virginia, and Gov. Francis Thomas, of Maryland at Staunton, Va There is a family difficulty between these persons, growing out of the separation of Gov. Thomas from his wife, who is the daughter of Gov. McDowel. The rumor of the rencontre at Staunton is variously repeated. The Richmond Star furnishes the following account:—Balt. Pat.

"We have the particulars from a correspondent, of a fight that occurred at Staunton on Tuesday last, between Gov. McDowell and Gov. Thomas, of Maryland. Gov. Thomas reached that place in the Valley stage about 11 o'clock, and Gov McDowell in the Charlottesville stage, about an hour afterwards. They put up at the same hotel and met there, but did not speak—both designing to take the Lexington stage.—When the stage came up, Gov. McDowel handed his lady into the stage, and he was also in the act of entering when he observed Thomas at his side and demanded where he was going, to which he replied—'in the stage.' This he was assured he should not do, and from words they proceeded to blows, Governor McDowell employing his umbrella with marked effect upon his adversary. The bystanders then interfered and the battle was stopped.—Gov. Thomas declaring that he had not received fair play. By the persuasion of friends Gov. McDowell with his lady took a private conveyance to Lexington, Gov T. continuing in the stage. It was anticipated that another 'scene' would occur at Lexington, from which place news was anxiously expected. The affair has caused great talk & excitement at Staunton."

MR. EVERETT AND THE CHINA EMBASSY.—The Boston Atlas of Saturday has the following paragraph:

EMBASSY TO CHINA.—Letters received in this city, by the family connections of the Hon. EDWARD EVERETT, American Minister to England, state that he had received intelligence of his appointment to the Embassy to China but a short time previously to the sailing of the steamer—and that, as the proposition was entirely unexpected by him, and as it came to him about the same time with the disastrous facts and troubles in Canton, he thought proper to take a longer time than would elapse previously to the sailing of the Steamer, to determine upon accepting or declining the proffered embassy.

Jamaica papers to the 25th of March have been received at New York. The Commercial Advertiser furnishes the following items:

Ex-President Boyer had taken a furnished house at the corner of Beeston and Blackstone streets and was to establish himself as its occupant in a few days. It was confidently reported that he had brought with him the crown formerly worn by the Emperor Christophe, and that the jewels with which it was studded were worth two millions of dollars. The Ex President had not been seen in public, and was said to be confined to the house by illness.

General Inginac, secretary to President Boyer, and General Victor, military governor of Port au Prince, had also arrived at Kingston.

The administration of the Government in St. Domingo had been temporarily confided to the Secretary of State, Pilie.

The provisional committee were about to revise the constitution. The following outline of their plans is given by the Kingston Journal:

The President in future is to be elected for three years only but may be re-elected if his policy and government are approved of. The army is to be abolished and a strong Police substituted. The old generals, it is expected, will be pensioned off, and every effort made to employ the soldiery in agriculture. All religions are to be tolerated, and capitalist encouraged. Seminaries of learning will be established and the public allowed expression of their own opinions through the medium of the press. It is expected that Mr. Perry, a gentleman of great talents, a civilian and also a very popular man will be elected to the Presidential chair.

DEATH OF COM. PORTER.—By the steamer Britannia, accounts have been received that Commodore David Porter, the U. S. Minister to Turkey, died at Constantinople on the 3d of March. The N. York American justly remarks that his name is identified with the bright annals of our Navy, almost from its origin and will be freshly remembered whenever deeds of daring courage and fervent patriotism beguile the mid watches of the night among American sailors.

The Britannia brought out $2 281,875 in specie, besides fifteen boxes and one parcel of gold not included in this amount. We observe that Messrs. Brown, Brothers and Co. of New York, are the largest consignees, the sum consigned to them being nearly half a million of dollars.

The Great Western arrived at Liverpool on the 1st inst.

LORD LYNEDOCH AND LORD BROUGHAM. The following is an extract from a letter from London, dated February 27th, 1843:—

You may have heard that Lord Lynedoch has challenged Brougham. Brougham, in recent debate, chose to allude to the taking of St. Sebastian, where he said, all atrocities were committed under a "Whig General." Lord Lynedoch sent Lord Wm. Russell (brother of the Duke of Bedford) to demand satisfaction; when Brougham wrote him that what he referred to was merely "matter of history,"—Lord Lynedoch replied, [illegible] could not understand any thing was [illegible]ter of history till people were dead. Brougham then promised to apologise [illegible] House of Lords; but as he delay[illegible] William has again been sent to [illegible] know the reason; and, it is said, wi[illegible] the hint that the old "Whig General" will pull his nose. Lynedoch is in his 93d year, and Brougham is in his 64th year.

From the Newburg (N. Y.) Gazette.

Another Fight in the Assembly.

The people have cause to be thankful that the legislature has at last adjourned. Yesterday being the day set apart for that event, it is probable that by this time many of the members are on their way home to greet their constituents and render an account of their stewartship.—In the meantime, let us chronicle the last, but by no means the only, outrage which the session has witnessed.

For several days preceding Wednesday last, in the course of debate high words had frequently passed between Mr. McMurray of New York & Mr Lee of Orange (both active members of 'all the decency' party,) in which the LIE was freely given and received. On Wednesday both gentlemen (!) lost their presence of mind and had, what the pugalists term, a regular 'set to' on the floor of the House Mr. McMurray striking the first blow.—The occurrence is thus noticed by the Albany Correspondent of the Courier & Enquirer:—'It was a scene of wild disorder, the worst ever witnessed here. In an instant the parties were in close contact, a crowd of members endeavoring to separate them. The voice of the Speaker was heard above the confusion, commanding the doors to be closed and all but the members to retire, and every thing like order was for the moment banished.—Much of the morning was spent in secret session, and the debate which will soon be published will be an interesting, though a degrading, subject of perusal.—It is a great pity that a gentleman of so much real talent as Mr. McMurry, should suffer himself to be placed in such a position. He was within five minutes of being expelled. The Select Committee on the subject of the assault, had unanimously reported a resolution to that effect and but for the interference of some one or two members, the resolution would have passed. It is a bitter lesson.'

'It is not very gratifying (adds the Courier) to the pride of a New Yorker to chronicle such an occurrance, as happening in the Hall of our own Capitol—it was well enough in Arkansas, and (under the administration of David R. Porter) quite the thing, in Pennsylvania but it was reserved for the days of Loco Foco supremacy in New York to present the spectacle of a pugilistic combat in open day in the Assembly Chamber.'

The House after a long discussion as to the proper mode of asserting and establishing its dignity, which had been thus outraged, finally, on motion of Mr. Hall passed a resolution of censure upon Mr. McMurray.

LIFE IN NEW YORK.—The New York correspondent of the National Intelligencer writes—

An affinity has been discovered between theatricals and coffee, out of which some money is being made in New York. I was induced by curiosity to look in at 'Palmo's Cafe' last evening, and was surprised to find myself in an assemblage of two or three hundred people. The saloon is very gaily painted and furnished with mirrors, marble tables, and the other appurtenances of a cafe, and at the extremity, in a large recess, is a miniature stage constantly supplied with dramatic varieties. A concert was going on at the moment, a couple of attractive looking women and 'a nice young man' doing a trio, and the audience, with their hats on and their drink before them, listened or not as they pleased (but particularly not.) However it was all very gay. There was a sprinkling of foreigners in the crowd, one old French gentleman among them with the cross of the Legion of Honor in his button hole, but the main portion of the assembly seemed composed of clerks, 'soap locks,' loafers, and seedy indescribables.

A theatrical entertainment, a pleasent seat for the evening at a marble table a sufficient portion of several hundred cigars, & a cup of coffee—all for sixpence: may be called a cheap alleviative to loafing. Mr. Palmo's theatricals cost him sixty dollars a week, I understand, and he makes it answer.' There are several of these cafes differing somewhat in their inducements. I looked in, yesterday, at a very showy one, in Chatham street, where the 'trap, is pictorial and literary—a very handsome saloon, lighted by a skylight, and furnished with paintings and a library, and all the papers and periodicals. This making of cheap and attractive resorts for bachelors whose evenings are 'on their hands,' is (like the spinster-abhorred system of clubs in London) very anti matrimonial in its tendency, and, of course, a direct blow at the anti malthusian supremacy of American woman.

The Columbus Robbery.—We mentioned yesterday that two persons, Thomas McKeen and John Lang Lewis, had been arrested charged with the late robbery of the office of the Western Insurance and Trust Company of Columbus, Georgia.—We observe by the Augusta Chronicle of the 21st instant, that two others, named Allen Bass and [illegible]. B. Jackson, have been arrested for participation in the robbery.—BASS was the Book keeper of the Institution, and was one of the officers who was locked up in the vault. It appears that he let his accomplices in before Murdock, the Cashier, arrived from supper, and then gave a signal, when the light was blown out, and Murdock was seized.—Bass put the money into a bag for them, and then laid down again, and suffered himself to be put into the vault.

CURE FOR CHEWING TOBACCO.—Read the following paragraph:

ECONOMY:—Tobacco which has been chewed once, may be rendered fit for chewing a second time, by dipping it in vinegar and water, and drying it in the sun. A colored gentleman in this city sells hundreds of pounds per week which has been renewed in this manner.—He can safely recommend it, as he has chewed it all himself, and knows it to be genuine.—Boston paper.

THE CROPS IN ENGLAND.—The following paragraph, from the Liverpool Standard of March 28, gives a very favorable account of the prospects for an abundant harvest in England, during the present year:

We have conversed with a gentleman who has had much experience in agriculture, & who frequently visits the corn countries, on the general condition of the growing crop of grain, and avail ourselves of the gratifying information with which he has favored us, the result of a careful inspection of the fields in the principal corn districts throughout the country.—He assures us that the present appearance of the wheat crop is the most promising that he remembers to have ever witnessed at this season of the year, both as regards strength of plant and forwardness of growth, and that the harvest is likely to be the earliest (probably by three or four weeks) & the most productive with which we have been favored in England since the year 1827.

EXTRAORDINARY HAIL STORM.—A letter received by a gentleman of Washington city from Tampa Bay, dated 5th instant, says:

"It has rained, thundered, and lightened more severely than I ever saw it in my life; about three o'clock it began to hail, and continued for over half an hour sending down hail stones as large as my fist; and had it not been for a small sail we had to protect us, I really believe some of us would have had our brains knocked out. One man picked up ten doves and other birds killed, and it actually killed fish in shoal water near the shore."—Nat Int.

THE BURIAL OF CARLISLE.—We gather the following remarkable facts from an English paper received by the late arrival at N. York, respecting Carlisle, the Infidel writer. It was stated some time since that he had made a profession of belief in the Christian religion:—Amer.

"When the officiating divine, the Rev Josiah Twigger, arrived at the grave, accompanied by the clerks, one of the deceased's sons addressed the clergyman as follows: 'Sir we want no service over the body of our late father' he passed his life in opposition to all priestcraft, and we protest against the service being read. The reverend divine replied, 'Sir, I must do my duty.' Another son of the deceased here stepped forward & said, 'We have purchased this ground as the resting place of our deceased parent; and I object with my brother, to the reading of the funeral service.' (Here loud cries of Hear, hear, were given by the mob assembled round the grave)—The clergyman continued—I must and will do my duty, and at your peril abide the consequences that may occur from any opposition to the usual observance on such occasions. Another son—'Then, sir, we will not hear it.'—Here the mob cried out—yes, yes! leave the grave; let all the friends of Mr. Carlisle go away! At this moment the party assembled quitted the grave; the mourners retired into the coaches, and the clergyman proceeded, in the most impressive manner, to read the service. It is due to the sons of the deceased to state, that they gave their opposition in the most respectful tone possible; but their example was not imitated by many of the followers of the deceased. After the clergyman retired a rush was made to the grave, and a son of the deceased addressed the crowd as follows: 'I beg to state that I, with my family and friends, were opposed to the performance of this service; we did not require it, and have given every opposition in our power to its being done. I thank you all, in the name of my late father, for your attendance here on this occasion.' Having said this much, he and the followers of the funeral departed."

A DISHONEST CAPTAIN.—The Wilmington (N. C.) Chronicle of the 19th inst. says that Captain Leighton, of the brig Abigail Richmond, arrived there on the 15th from St. Thomas, states before he left St. Thomas, intelligence was received that Capt. Cozzens, of the brig Pilgrim, of Baltimore, had been tried in Guadaloupe on the charge of robbing a house at Point Petre of $10,000 at the time of the Earthquake there, convicted, and sentenced to ten years hard labor in the galleys in France, whither he was to be sent. The sentence would have been much severer but that he had rendered good services to some of the inhabitants in their distress caused by the earthquake. Capt. Cozzens belongs to the State of Maine.

The Rockville, Md. Journal of Saturday last says.—A great number of wagons are now on their way to the District, to obtain their supply of fish. The demand has been much greater than the supply, consequently the price has been unreasonably high. From two to four dollars per thousand for herrings; and seven to ten dollars per hundred for shad.

LIVERPOOL CORN MARKET, April 4.—Market very dull; the low rates of wages have limited the consumption of bread stuff and directed the demand to Oatmeal and potatoes; we have therefore to notice a decline of 4d per 70lbs on Wheat; 1s to 1s 6d per bbl on Flour; 2d per 45lbs on Oats; and 6d to 1s per sack on oatmeal. Of Wheats little reduced: several cargoes have recently been consigned from the Baltic with orders to sell even under the duty of 20s but only a few hundred quarters have been disposed of, and those at a loss to the shipper.—Flour, bbl Canadian sweet, 26s a 26 6d; U. S. do. 26 a 27s; sour, 25 a 26s; Indian Corn 25 a 26s.

The Washington Globe states that the Collector of the Customs at New Orleans, appointed by Mr. Tyler, is minus in his cash account about one hundred thousand dollars.

WASHINGTON, April 24, 1843:

THE CABINET QUESTION SETTLED.—The long agitated question is, at length settled. A special meeting of the Cabinet was held this morning, at which it was finally decided that no change would take place in that body. So the Cabinet will remain as follows:—State Department, Mr. Webster; Treasury, Mr Spencer; War, Mr. Porter; Navy, Mr. Upshur; Postmaster General, Mr. Wickliffe; Attorney General, Mr Legare.

If Mr. Everett should decline the mission to China, it is probable that Mr. Cushing will be appointed to fill the vacancy.
