Q. Are you entirely sure that as to the first charge the vote stood nine to three?
A. Yes—I am.
J. McKEEVER.
Sworn before me, this 5th day of June, 1843.
WM. KENT, Circuit Judge.

These answers settle the question of Com. Mackenzie's moral and legal position with reference to his command of the Somers.

Commodore Downs was examined at the same time, and his testimony fully corroborates that of Captain McKeever.

EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, MD.

Saturday Morning, July 1.

FOR PRESIDENT
HENRY CLAY, OF KENTUCKY.

We need not apologize to our readers for filling so large a portion of our paper to day, with Mr. Webster's brilliant Oration to the exclusion of more varied but less interesting matter.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

It will be seen, by the following letter to the Editors of the Del. State Journal, that the Hon. John. M. Clayton, declines being considered a candidate for the Vice Presidency, at the Whig National Convention, to assemble in Baltimore in May next.

NEW CASTLE DEL., June 17th, 1843.

Gentlemen,—Understanding that a Convention of the Whigs of Delaware is about to be called together for the purpose of nominating delegates to attend the Whig National Convention which will assemble in Baltimore in May next, to nominate candidates for the offices of President and Vice President of the U States; and it having been intimated to me that delegates would be selected from this State favourable to my nomination as Vice President; it becomes my duty to speak openly and candidly on this subject to my political friends, and to say to them, as I now wish to do, that I have not been, and am not, desirous of such nomination, and that I shall not be a candidate for any office, at the presidential election. I have adopted this course, not without a due regard to the welfare of that great and patriotic party to whose principles I am devotedly attached, and upon whose success the future destinies of our country, as I think, eminently depend. Our prospects as a party, brighten daily; and now, instead of distracting the Convention by multiplicity of candidates for the Vice Presidency, we should endeavor to present in that body, if possible an unbroken front in favour of some one candidate for the second office in the gift of the people,—as we unquestionably shall for the first, in the person of Henry Clay, of Kentucky.

Very respectfully, yours,
JOHN M. CLAYTON.

The Editors of the Delaware State Journal.

The Madisonian of Saturday last says, Hon. Abel P. Upshur has been appointed Secretary of State, ad interim.

THE SEVEN MILLIONS LOAN

We learn from the Washington Globe of Tuesday, that the whole loan for seven millions of United States 5 per cent. stock advertised by the Secretary of the Treasury, has been taken by Messrs. John Ward & Co., of New York, at one hundred and one dollars and one cent for every $100 of the stock.

MEXICAN INDEMNITY.—The Madisonian announces that official information has been received at the Department of State that the instalment of interest due to the citizens of the United States, under the first article of the Convention with Mexico of 30th January, 1843, was paid on the 29th of April last, and that the amount has been safely remitted to this country, and deposited in the Treasury of the United States.

GOODS GOING BACK.—The New York Courier and Enquirer of Monday says:—We are informed by Capt. Lambert, that a large importation of British Dry Goods invoiced at £15,000 sterling, ($70,000) recently arrived in the ship Glasgow, Capt. Lambert, from Liverpool, are in course of reshipment to Europe This is said to be the largest export of debenture goods that has ever taken place at New York, or from the United States.

The first arrest of a supposed criminal, flying from justice, under the provisions of the late treaty between Great Britain and this country, was made at New York on Wednesday the 28th. The person arrested is a young woman named Christina Cochran, who is accused of having murdered her husband near Paisley, in Scotland, by administering arsenic in his food. She arrived at New York in the brig Excel from Liverpool, and was immediately secured, in compliance with a demand made by the British government through an agent sent to this country in the steamer Acadia. The facts attending her case are thus stated in the New York Express:

The gentleman to whom the prisoner was married was a man of wealth, who settled £1000 or $5000 upon her on the day of their marriage, and her father settled £1000 more placing at her immediate disposal, nearly $10,000. In three weeks from his marriage-day the husband suddenly died. The wife, previous to her marriage, had been attached to a young man named Spear, and, we understand, afterwards left the neighborhood in company with him, which caused the suspicion, and led to the discovery that the husband had been poisoned.

THE CABINET.—Since the death of Mr. Legare there are two vacancies in the Presidents' Cabinet, viz. in the Department of State and in the office of the Attorney General. The N. York Express, looking to the re-organization which is thus rendered necessary, remarks—

The controlling genius now left there is John C. Spencer, who awes and overawes such men as the Secretary of War, & the more timid & prudent mind of the able P. M. General. With such men around him, they, in this state, who know Mr. Spencer, well know he will have his own way, succumbing to Mr. Tyler only as far as is necessary to save his office—to rule or to ruin with all others about him. Mr. Spencer has firmness of character, doggedness of purpose, the intellect to conceive, and the pluck to execute; and now in the absence of Mr. Webster and of Legare, there is no man to check him, for granting that Mr. Wickliffe has the mind, he has not the courage to contend with him outright; & as for Mr. Upshur, he has not seen enough of the wear and tear of practical life to be any match at all for the enterprising spirit of Mr. Spencer. Mr. Tyler himself is just now blindfolded by Mr. Spencer. He surrenders himself to his guidance, acts under his impulses, and it may be added, with but few exceptions, is under his control.

Never since the organization of the Government, has the administration presented such a remarkable aspect as it does at present.

General Harrison died, and Mr. Tyler left the duties of Vice President to become the Acting President.

Mr. Southard, who succeeded Mr. Tyler in his ex-officio duties in the Senate, died and Mr. Mangum was elected to act in his place.

Mr. Webster resigned, and Mr. Legare was appointed in his place acting Secretary of State,

Mr. Legare died, and, it is said Mr. Upshur is to be in his place, acting Secretary of State.

The death of Mr. Legare leaves entirely vacant the office of Attorney General

The Presidency, the Vice Presidency, (qr) and the department of State, have acting incumbents; and the Attorney Generalship is entirely vacant.—U. S. Gaz.

NOVEL CASE—Habeas Corpus. An extraordinary case came before Judge Jones of Philadelphia on Saturday, which is thus given in the Chronicle: About six months ago, a young man of Jewish parents, whose name is Herman J. David arrived in this country from Germany. He has three uncles in this city, two of them, Wm. K. David and Henry David, are members of the Jewish persuasion, and the third is a convert to the Christian faith, and a member and officer of the Second Presbyterian Church of which Dr. Cuyler is Pastor. The young man on his arrival in the city, went to reside with one of his Jewish uncles, but becoming dissatisfied, he left, and went to live with his Christian relative. In a very short time, he expressed a wish to renounce Judaism and join the Christian religion. He was introduced to Dr. Cuyler, and had several interviews with him upon the subject, the result of which was that he resolved to become a Christian, and was to have been baptised on Friday last. His Jewish uncles being informed of the step that he was about to take, sued out a writ of habeas corpus, against Dr. Cuyler and Mr. Bokum, the agent of a Society in New York for the Amelioration of the condition of the Jews and forbid the baptism to take place. Dr Cuyler refrained from performing the ceremony and the matter came up for adjudication before the Judges on Saturday morning. Mr. Bokum, Dr. Cuyler, and young David himself, were examined, when it was clearly proved, that he was acting of his own accord and free will, and was not under the restraint of any one. The Judges discharged the writ and left the young man who is upwards of 20 years of age, to follow his own course.

MR. JOHN WISE, the aeronaut announces in the Lancaster papers his intention to make a voyage across the Atlantic in a balloon, in the course of the ensuing year. He says—

Having, from a long experience in aerostatics, been convinced, that a regular current of air is blowing at all times from W. to E., with a velocity of from 20 to 10 miles per hour, according to its heighth from the earth; and having discovered a composition which will render silk, or muslin, impervious to hydrogen gas, so that a Balloon may be kept afloat for many weeks, I feel confident, with these advantages, that a trip across the Atlantic will not be attended with as much real danger as by the common mode of transition.

The Balloon is to be one hundred feet in diameter which will give a nett ascending power of twenty-five thousand pounds—being amply sufficient to make every thing safe and comfortable. A sea worthy boat is to be used for the car, which is to be depended on, in case the Balloon should happen to fail in accomplishing the voyage. The boat would also be calculated upon in case the regular current of wind should be diverted from the course by the influence of the Ocean, or through other causes. The crew to consist of three persons, viz: an Aronaut, a Navigator, and a Scientific Landsman.

THE INFLUENZA, which prevails in this city and other parts of the country, is the worst epidemic of the kind we have ever known. It is very general, and so severe as in many cases to incapacitate people from attending to their ordinary business. We hear of instances in which it is likely to be fatal. We passed a shop the other day where the doors and windows were shut in consequence of the whole family having been taken down with the influenza.—N. Y. Post.

THE CROPS IN VIRGINIA AND NORTH CAROLINA.

The season has been backward by some three or four weeks for Corn and horticultural products, it having been unusually wet and cold; but so far as the wheat crop is concerned, there has not been so propitious a one for years, nor one likely to yield the husbandman a more abundant return for his toil.

On the James River, one of the largest wheat growing sections of Virginia, the May wheat (as it is called) has been or is now being safely harvested on most of the large estates, and the late wheat is generally safe from risks, except those from storms and hail.

The question as to the best and most judicious cultivation of the soil is attracting greater attention among our agriculturists, and there is a disposition to cultivate less land, and that highly improved, in preference to the old system of immense fields. Much more interest is felt in agricultural exhibitions with their addresses and prizes, and a better day appears to be dawning upon our agricultural prospects.

The failure of crops last year, in the eastern section of North Carolina, has been felt as a serious calamity, the country which usually exported largely having to import large quantities of corn for necessary home consumption. The corn and oats though backward have taken a start under the late favorable weather and are likely to yield an average crop. Upon the whole the farmer has as yet no cause for despondency.—Norfolk Beacon.

WHEAT CROP IN THE WEST.

The editor of the Buffalo Gazette has seen letters from Northern Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. They all represent the wheat upon the ground as coming on finely and presenting the appearance of a larger average crop per acre than has ever been realized before. In Wisconsin it is estimated that nearly double the quantity will be produced this year than was last. More ground has been sown than heretofore, but considerable quantities will be required for consumption by the new comers—the large number of emigrants who have gone thither this season. Therefore, the increased surplus for export, will not be as large as the increased production. The same is the case to some extent, with northern Illinois. But from Michigan we may expect to receive much more than we have this year.

The Terre-Haute (Indiana) Courier of 17th instant, says—The Wheat Crops around us may almost be considered a total failure. Oats scarcely ever looked more promising. Corn, unless the wet weather gives too much encouragement to the grass, may yet do well.

We regret to find in the Hagerstown (Md.) Torch Light, the annexed confirmation of the previous unfavorable accounts respecting the wheat crop in Washington county:

It has been ascertained that the gloomy anticipations, in regard to the growing crops, indulged in by our farmers in the early part of the season, are likely to be fully realized. The ravages of the fly upon the wheat, have been very great & very general—but, unfortunately, what was left has been subjected to another sad enemy—the smut, which, we are told, prevails to an extraordinary extent. We were shown, a few days since, several heads filled with this substance gathered near Boonsboro'; and were told that it was impossible to collect a handful of heads; without finding a large portion of it to consist of this article. The Rye is much more promising than the wheat.

THE NEW YORK JOURNAL OF COMMERCE exposes the absurdity & inconsistency of Abolitionism in the following contrast between its project of inducing slaves to run away to Canada and the plan of Colonization which makes them free men in Africa:

"The superiority of their (the Abolitionists') plan of colonization seems to lie in the fact that their colonists run away while those to Africa go, not merely by their own desire, but with the free consent and blessing of their masters. If one planter is willing to give his slaves their freedom upon condition that they can be assisted to go to the only spot in the world where they can be made really free, the Abolitionists reject the proposal as the contrivance of Satan to perpetuate slavery and leave the negroes as they found them in slavery. If another planter holds his negroes fast, but they are willing to try the hazards of the chase to Canada, abolition jumps into the benevolent plan at once, sets up all night watching, arranges under ground railways, and its above ground carriages, and when the negro is safely landed in the cold dominions of Victoria, counts that benevolence has achieved a victory. In Liberia a negro is a freeman, and as good as any body. No monopoly of caste or rank stands between him and the highest office in the State. The climate is mild and suited to his habits; the soil is productive, churches and schools invite him to improvement, and the whole array of circumstances urges him to rejoice and press on to a still better condition. In Canada he is a negro, marked for degradation. The slavery of prejudice, about which so much complaint is made, still presses upon him. He can aspire to no important office; he can never be an equal with any but those of his own color. Under these circumstances, in Liberia families will increase, and the race multiply; but in Canada the numbers can only be kept good by a rapid emigration, as is the case in our own free states. Did fanaticism ever produce greater perverseness than this?"

BOARDING ON MESMERIC PRINCIPLES. Mesmerism, as practised in this community, is destined to become a greater instrument of change and revolution than any science or system ever before discovered. The telescope, the mariners' compass, the steam engine, the aerial car, Stillman's pills and Sherman's lozenges, were nothing,—absolutely nothing compared with it. It soars above them in importance just as an eagle does above a tomtit—it exceeds them in utility as the "Great Western does a dug-out!

A man down town, determined to avail himself of its extraordinary virtues and miraculous properties, proposes to open a boarding-house, to be called the Economical Emporium, or Mesmeric Boarding-House." He will engage the board to be of the very best quality, and ninety per cent. below present prices. His plan for effecting this saving to the boarding-out community is equally simple and scientific. His boarders must, during the operation of breakfast, dinner and supper, cease to be sovereigns, and become "subjects." He then magnetises them into the mesmeric state. This done he sits down to his meal—a sumptuous one it is to be, whether breakfast, dinner or supper. He eats heartily,—and so of course, do his sleeping subjects mesmerically—that is he communicates to them all his sensations. If the soup be to his taste, so it is to theirs:—if the fish pleases his palate, it is also agreeable to them; and, finally, when the wine is drank, the dessert partaken of, and his appetite fully appeased and perfectly satisfied, so (as sure as there is truth in mesmerism) are theirs. Besides the item of provisions, what a saving this will be in servants' wages and several other things. In the South this new system will be particularly popular;—men can take their soup and siesta at the same time. "Further particulars in future bills," as the carrier pigeon said when it delivered the letter.

BE CAUTIOUS OF HEALTH.—This cannot be too often impressed upon the minds of all. At this season of the year when sudden changes of the weather come upon us with hardly a moment's notice, we should have the system prepared to meet it formed by a process of extraction from entire vegitable matter is the best preventive for placing the system in perfect order. These pills cleanse the bowels, purify the blood, and leave the system proof against the ill effects of cold or contagion; the value of this medicine cannot be too highly spoken of. They remove all superfluous bile, and by their natural properties of cure, give strength and tone to the digestive organs. Let them be tried, and no other medicine will be found necessary.

Price 25 cents per box. Office 338 Broadway, next door below the Tabernacle.

Said Pills are sold in Easton by the agent, E. M. DAWSON & BROTHER, and by agents published in another part of our paper.

TO TEACHERS.

The Trustees of the Easton Academy will elect a Principal for this Institution on Thursday the 28th of September next

In addition to a comfortable house and garden and the proceeds of tuition of which the amount can scarcely be less than $700, and may much exceed that sum, the incumbent of the office receives a salary of $750. He is expected, however, to employ at his own expense an usher or assistant teacher.

The Academy (Founded in 1799) is now in a flourishing condition, (its income for the current year exceeding $1500) and the office lately vacated by the resignation of Dr. Arnold) is deemed worthy the notice of gentlemen of more than moderate attainments.

Applicants will send their testimonials including evidences of their general competency, not only, but of their ability and aptness to instruct in the Latin, Greek and French languages, in mathematics & in other branches usually taught in high schools, (post paid) addressed to
