WITHDRAWAL OF MR. CALHOUN.

The Charleston papers of the 29th ult. contain a long Address from John C. Calhoun to his political friends and supporters, assigning his reasons for not permitting his name to go before the proposed Convention to be held in Baltimore in May next.

The Charleston Courier thus refers to the Address.

We surrender a large portion of our paper this morning, to the Address of Mr. Calhoun to his political friends and supporters, announcing his determination not to permit his name to go before the Baltimore Convention, and assigning his reasons at large for his course. His reasoning against the mode of organising the proposed Convention, as calculated to invade one of the important compromises of the Constitution and rob the smaller States of their due and constitutional weight in the Presidential canvass is ingenious & forcible. In thus withholding his name from the Baltimore Convention Mr. Calhoun does not express y withhold it from the people, but we apprehend that the one is equivalent to the other—for we scarcely suppose that his friends, into whose hands he commits his future course will place him in nomination independently, divided as the country is into two great parties, each resolved on its candidate. We may then take it for granted, that under existing auspices, Mr. Calhoun leaves the field to Mr Clay and Mr. Van Buren and we are led to infer, from two significant passages near the close of his address, that as between those two gentlemen, he will preserve an armed neutrality.

The Charleston Mercury —Mr. Calhoun's special organ,—speaks of the address as follows:

The Address of Mr. Calhoun leaves us no longer the right to consider him a Candidate for the Presidency and we accordingly withdraw his name from the head of our columns. But the creed of Liberty and Peace and Civilization, which he so forcibly embodied in words, and to which his life has been so earnestly devoted, which was the ground of our support of him, and must be the condition of our assent to the elevation of any man to the Presidency—the Creed of Free Trade and just Government, is our own and yields to no events, and if in the coming contest it shall remind us of no one but its illustrious author, we shall not the less uncompromisingly maintain it and hold as enemies those who war upon it.

So far from admitting the harmony and success of party as an honest pretext for slighting and abandoning principles, we hold that at all times and under all circumstances, party itself is only justifiable as an organization for the purpose of sustaining and realizing principles, and that a party triumph which does not lead to that result, is nothing better than the elevation to power of political plunderers & profligates.

Our great statesman is withdrawn from the contest for the Presidency. If the manner and grounds of that withdrawal detract from the moral force of the party—it is not his fault, or the fault of his friends. He planted not the defences of the party on those shifting and faithless sands of temporary expediency, which are now giving way and filling its ranks with confusion, distrust, fear and anger In his name was proposed a uniform system for party action which with equal care guarded the free expression of popular opinion and Compromises of the Constitution. It was those who loved darkness rather than light, who thwarted this and legitimated a monstrous rule of disorder, trampling on all which the former protected, and establishing the dark corners of political intrigue as the seat of party legislation. If the consequence had been to destroy in advance the prestige of a Convention nomination to the Presidency, the contrivers of this scheme must be content with such consolation as they can draw from the fact that they are by no means the first who in their eagerness to overreach others, have overreached themselves.

The coming Baltimore Convention, then as the readers of the Mercury must long since have known, may be to us nothing—its decrees nothing—its nominations nothing—will be nothing, unless in supporting the candidate of the party, we can feel that we are effectively advancing the principles which we hold above all party.

The trial of Marsh, at Newark, N. J. charged with the murder of Mrs. Cheddick and her children, was closed on Monday. The Jury rendered a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Massachusetts.—The returns from the Third Congressional District of Massachusetts are not yet all in. There is, however, but very little doubt of the election of Abbott Lawrence, Esq. the Whig candidate for Congress, by a small majority.

Later dates from Boston state that Mr. Abbott Lawrence has been elected by a majority of 63. The delegation in Congress from the State of Massachusetts is now complete.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND.

The packet ship Montezuma, at New York from Liverpool, brings advices to the 8th ult, inclusive.

The Liverpool Cotton Market without any fall in prices closed somewhat more heavily in the week ending 6th January

The British funds continued to advance. The London Spectator of the 6th quotes discount upon first rate bills at 1 1-2 to 2 per cent, and as dividends to a large amount would be paid the following week, even this low rate, it was thought, would be lower.

The great abundance of money renders it certain, adds the Spectator, that the 3½ per cent stocks would be paid off, as bearing too high interest.

The Post Office, though exhibiting a trifling increase on the quarter, exhibits a decrease on the year of £13,000

Ireland—The process of striking a Special Jury for the trial of Daniel O'Connell, commenced on the third ult. On the 5th the process was complete.

Great complaints are made that the Crown should have struck off every Catholic that turned up from the ballot box, which is considered equivalent to packing a jury, as the traversers will now be tried by a jury composed entirely of Protestants.

Mr. Steele has given instructions to have Sir James Graham, the Duke of Wellington, Sir Robert Peel, and Lord Lyndhurst, immediately summoned to give evidence on his trial.

There is no further intelligence of any import from the Continent.

The weather in England had been very changeable and produced severe and generally prevalent influenzas.

No reduction is contemplated by Government in the duty on tobacco but it is said that some alteration in the excise law affecting it will be made

Queen Victoria had been upset in her carriage by her coachman, but received no damage whatever.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS. The proposition made in the House of Representatives to adjourn on the tenth of May, should be adopted. The appointment of a day on which to close the session, would probably facilitate business by inducing members to be more devoted to their duties, and less anxious to make political speeches or to exhibit their pugilistic powers. Five months afford sufficient time to enact all the laws which will be useful, as well as for the display of partizan zeal.—Balt. Clipper.

The President of the United States has issued a proclamation making known that a public sale for the disposal of the lands ceded to the United States by the Chickasaw Indians in 1832 and 1834, will be held at the land office at Pontotoc in Mississippi, on the second Monday in May next.

A Delegation—The National Intelligencer announces the arrival at Gadsby's Hotel in Washington, of a deputation from the House of Delegates of the State of Maryland consisting of Messrs. Chapman, Smith, Stewart, Levering, Ligon & McKaig, appointed to represent the interest of the State in some contemplated action of Congress in relation to a proposed transfer of the stock of the United States in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company to the State of Maryland

U. S. SHIP DELAWARE—Strange affair. The N. Y. True Sun contains a letter from on board the U. S. ship Delaware, dated Mahon, Nov. 25 which says:—

We are waiting for the Cumberland, and then—hey for home! The good ship Delaware barring accidents, will, I doubt not be in Hampton Roads by the 1st of February, 1844.

Before we sailed hence for Naples an unpleasant affair occurred on board. A marine and a blue jacket were caught in the magazine after money. They had stolen some $11,000. and not satisfied with that, had come back after more—They were tried by a court martial last month, and sentenced, the one to receive 200 and the other 100 lashes with the cat over the back, to forfeit all pay from the United States, to be placed on shore at the first opportunity, and to be forever disqualified from reentering the service. I saw them punished—and a horrid spectable it is to see a man's flesh cut to pieces by that terrible instrument the cat o' nine tails. But they richly deserved it, and no one pitied them, it is supposed their intention was to blow up the Delaware, and all hands, by setting fire to the ship in the neighborhood of the magazine before making their escape.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune writes that the vote in the U. S. Senate on the nomination of John C Spencer, as Judge of the Supreme Court stood—Ayes Twenty, Noes Twenty Six. Five Whigs voted for him. Both he and Mr. Porter feel deeply mortified, of course. The same writer says:

Mr. Wise's confirmation is now doubtful; in consequence of his attack on Nathan Sargeant the other day.

Judge Kent, of your Oyer and Terminer, is talked of for the Supreme Bench. Rantoul of Boston will be put under the guillotine; so will some of your appointments in the New York Custom House The Senate are determined to show no mercy to political traitors, fence men or malignant enemies.

Mr. Wheaton is also talked of for the Supreme Court Bench; so is General Van Ness Ex-Minister to Spain.

Mr Porter has tendered his resignation; an donly holds office till his successor is named and confirmed.

General R. M. Saunders of N. C. is very confidently named for the Navy Department.

GENERAL JACKSON—A correspondent of the N. York Plebeian, dated at the "Hermitage, January 14, 1844," gives the following gloomy picture of the health of General Jackson:

"I regret extremely to find, on my arrival at the Hermitage the health of the venerable Ex-President, Andrew Jackson, in such a precarious state. He is very feeble, appetite poor, cough distressing, attended with severe paroxysms on account of the pain in his side. At times he suffers from a degree of tightness about the chest, attended with much difficulty of respiration; at other times a more free expectoration greatly relieves him. He thinks one of his lungs is nearly gone; his eye-sight has failed him very much; can converse but very little at a time, even when the most comfortable; has had several hemorrhages of the lungs, and is frequently obliged to resort to bleeding and cupping to prevent its return. He has been gradually failing for the last year, but more rapidly for the last seven months. He is able to exercise very little this winter, but has never failed attending church when it was possible for him to be conveyed with help.

A DEFALCATION DISCLOSED—The N. York Commercial Advertiser states that the Third Teller of the Merchants' Bank of that city, considering himself on his death bed, sent for the cashier of the bank on Monday evening, and in anticipating of discovery of his defaulcation at the examination of the bank accounts, acknowledged that he had defrauded the bank to the amount of TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS; which deficiency is now assertained to be exactly the sum abstracted. The name of the third teller is Mr. Kissam.

BE WISE IN TIME.—The great secret of preserving health is to keep the bowels free and in a natural state, as by so doing the attacks of disease are warded off.—By this means gross humors are prevented from accumulating, the blood is maintained in a state of purity, and insensible perspiration is carried on in a proper and sufficient manner. Strong purgatives, if persisted in eventually weaken the tone of the stomach and undermine the system, and therefore, mild & gentle laxatives are the most judicious and correct, as they perform without weaking the constitution. To eradicate the most fixed disease from the human frame, or to prevent being attacked by it, use should be made of which are composed not only of the most approved and useful purgative plants and roots, but of their juice and most efficient particles thus securing the very essence of the vegetables in their natural growing state. This valuable medicine is placed before a discerning public as a vegetable compound of such a mild and gentle nature, as to allow it to be given, with the most perfect safety, to the little sufferer of tender years, and to the one who is covered with the weakness and infirmities of age

Price 25 cents per. box. Office 338 Broadway, N. Y. next door below the Tabernacle

Said pills are sold in Easton by the agent E. M. DAWSON & BROTHER, and by agents published in another part of our paper.
