SIGNS OF TROUBLE.—We have stated that Gov. Ford, of Illinois, had ordered 2500 troops to Nauvoo, the case of which proceeding was not given in the papers.—We since learn, that the Governor had good reasons to apprehend that the war of extermination against the Mormons, so repeatedly threatened, was about to commence. The anti-Mormon party of Hancock, Illinois, issued handbills for the assembling of a military meeting at Warsaw on the 27th ultimo. This handbill requested the presence of the people of Missouri on that day, armed, &c. Prompted by this movement, His excellency, Governor Ford, called out twenty-five hundred of the State militia. The militia, no doubt, will respond to the call, and from the determination evinced by Governor Ford, there is every probability that the insurgents will be foiled in their traitorous designs.—Balt. Sun.

The Alexandria Gazette says that Mr. Calhoun started for South Carolina on Saturday last. On board the Steamer Augusta, on his way down the River, on that day a vote was taken on the Presidential Election—and the vote stood For Clay 61—For Polk 39—For Cas 2. Mr. Calhoun did not vote!

A letter published in the Charleston Mercury says:

A new disease of the congestive character, and the common scarlet faver, have carried more to the grave in the last six months in Tennessee, than ever was known in so many years. In the neighbourhood of Jonesboro' 400 died in five months.

Accounts from St. Helena state that no rain had fallen at the island of Ascension for fifteen months! All the springs were dried up, and the inhabitants were obliged to cruise off the island in vessels, to catch rain water for consumption.

DROUGHT.—The Boston Journal says: Dry weather has now continued for some weeks, and vegetation is withered and parched, and our wells and cisterns are getting low, while butter and other necessaries of life, are getting high.

NEW JERSEY.—After this year, the election will continue but one day. The election this year, for Governor and members of the Legislature, will be held next Tuesday and Wednesday. For Congressmen and Presidential Electors, next November.

The "Kent News," published at Chestertown says:—

Our townsman the Hon. J. A. Pearce has been suffering from a long and severe attack of congestive fever, and though recovering is still confined in his bed. This will account to some of our friends at a distance for his non-fulfilment of several public engagements to which we know he was most anxious to attend.

WOODEN WARE MANUFACTURE.— At South Orange in Franklin county, there is an extensive establishment belonging to Wm. B. Whitney, for the manufacture of Wooden Ware—pails, bowls, tubs, clothespins, &c. Over 70 hands are employed in this manufactory. For several weeks past we have noticed a large wagon drawn by five stout horses, pass our office—generally three times each week—heavily laden with very handsome wooden ware. It is sent from here by the canal. On Saturday last, this wagon contained two thousand one hundred and ninety pails!—Varthampton Cour.

THE GROWTH OF A VILLAGE.—The village of Oquawka, on the upper Mississippi, was laid out in 1835. At that time provisions of every sort were obliged to be imported for the consumption of settlers.—Now the tide has turned, and the insignificant village within the present year, has made to St. Louis and other markets, the following exports: 5,358 barrels of pork & lard, 124 barrels beef, 2,584 barrels flour, 40,000 bushels wheat, 64 bales hemp, 30 sacks wool, 200 hhds. tobacco, a large quantity of corn, oats, hemp, seed, hides, furs, peltries, and other articles.

PURCHASE OF TERRITORY.

A proposition is made by the Colonizationists to purchase certain portions of territory between Cape Mount and Cape Palmas. They can be purchased for fifteen or twenty thousand dollars.—A gentleman in New York, has proffered to be one of fifteen to raise the requisite sum in subscriptions of $1000 each, and a gentleman of Pittsburg has given $1000.—The commerce of Liberia would be much improved by the consummation of the project.

DIED.

DIED on the 20th September, Catharine Sorden, daughter of James Boon, Esq. Georgetown, Kent county, Maryland, in a few hours, after an unlucky fall from a Staircase, aged eight years and one month.

Can any thing comfort parents, stricken with grief for a promising child, suddenly snatched from their clinging affections Reason, for a time, stands wrapped in revery;—Sympathy, with tearful eye, looks but is mute;—Religion, alone, dares to whisper "Thy daughter is not dead but sleepeth." When she awaketh, that stirring intelligence which brightened the pleasures of the family circle, and lit up proud anticipations of future occasions for rejoicings, will shine with radiance, no longer dimmed by an earthly medium. That filial dutifulness, which so sweetly solaced a fond mother, languishing in pain and dispiriting weakness, and which beguiled, with playful tricks and simple devices, the tedium of her long days of confinement, and which afterwards, enabled her to consent that her mother should leave her a short time, to recruit her declining health: that dutifulness will catch a fresh spirit in the presence of the Saviour, and induce her perhaps to return as a guardian angel, to hover over her darling mother and mysteriously impart support in the hour of langour, hoping the while soon to conduct her soul to her own blissful abode. The last words ever uttered by her, which were to her little playmate, show the depth of her filial devotion, viz: "Cene, come to-morrow and help me to write to my mother."

Perhaps, too, the father on whose head the snows of not a few winters have fallen, may more frequently indulge in reflections in death and eternity; the still small voice may oftener bid him hearken, and the desire to "lay up treasures where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, nor thieves break through and steal, may become the ruling impulse of his mind; all by some unrevealed influence of a sainted daughter.

Though now the fancy shudders, and the memory sickens, and the hallowed instincts of nature wildly cry in despair at this awful accident, yet reason, when allowed to speak, will say, in the words of a noted character of antiquity. "The easiest death is that which is the least foreseen and soonest ended." Such a death therefore is much to be desired by those who are prepared to meet their God. Young children are so; for our blessed Lord saith "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."
