favor of the bill. Mr. Johnson of Frederick concluded the debate, by replying briefly to the objections which had been urged to the measure, through the discussion.—Mr. J. then moved that the Committee rise and report the bill to the House, which was acceded to nem. con. The House will accordingly find the bill on to-morrow in its original condition, and no motion pending, and the fate of the measure pro or con will be fixed to-morrow.

The House passed the following Bills viz:

A supplement to the act of changing the commencement of the March term of the Court of Howard District;

A bill to incorporate a company to construct a turnpike from Frederick to Emmittsburg;

A bill to authorise the construction of a bridge over Barron Creek in Somerset County.

A bill extending the provisions of ch. 189, of 1837 to Anne Arundel county and Howard District. And a bill to allow Allen Taylor of Baltimore to bring into this State certain Slaves.

Bills were reported, to repeal the ground rent tax; to incorporate the Baltimore and Cuba Mining Company; to incorporate the Mutual Insurance Company; and for the appointment of an inspector of Wheat in Baltimore.

And leave was granted to report bills to allow Patrick O'Neal, James Morris, and Milton Welsh to complete their collections; in relation to the Inspection of Lumber at Annapolis; in relation to the payment of license money on billiard tables so far as concerns Dorchester county.

The SENATE went through a mass of private bills this morning. The only one of any moment or interest to your readers however, was a supplement to the Act extending the charters of the Banks in your city, which was passed.

The Governor sent down communications, containing certain military appointments, and nominations of Commissioners for taking acknowledgments of deeds for this State and in several other States. The Senate has not yet acted upon them.

Declaration of Massachusetts against South Carolina. A committee of the Massachusetts Legislature, have reported a lengthy declaration against certain acts of South Carolina, in relation to free negroes arriving at ports in that State from Massachusetts. The following is an extract from the declaration:

The State of Massachusetts now addresses each of her sister states of the North American Federal Union, and in the presence of all Christian nations, of the civilized world, and of an omniscent, all-seeing Deity, the final judge of human action, in States as in individuals, enters her earnest and solemn PROTEST against the hostile acts of the State of South Carolina.

Massachusetts thus arraigns South Carolina, because, disregarding the county, acknowledged by all civilized communities as the rule of conduct towards one another, and express stipulations of the Constitution of the U. States, a compact into which citizens voluntarily entered with those of the other States composing the Union, she has for a period of time now embracing a quarter of a century, persisted, and still persists, in executing a system of legislation aggressive upon the rights of her sister States, and has refused to submit her action to be judged by the tribunal specified by the Constitution, as the arbiter of their disputes; namely, the Supreme court of the United States.

This system of legislation, under the color of police laws, has been carried on by South Carolina, until it has assumed all of the following principles:—

1st. That the State has a right to send officers on board of the ships of other States touching at her ports, with the design of distinguishing between the persons who constitute the crew, and of seizing, at her sole discretion, and casting into prison, such as she may specify, without the necessity of alleging against them the commission of any crime.

2d. That the State has a right to inflict corporeal punishment, by the application of the lash, to any extent, upon the persons of citizens of Massachusetts, solely because they may be found a second time in the ships of their own State, touching at her ports.

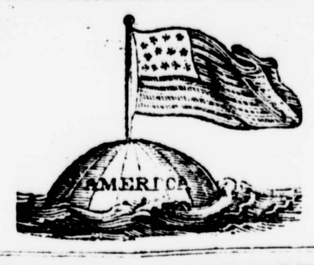

3d. That the State has a right to sell into absolute slavery for life, human beings unoffending persons, freemen of Massachusetts, entitled by her Constitution and laws to the fullest security of life, liberty and property, as well when following a lawful calling on board her ships as when at home.

4th. That the State has a right to expel from her territory, citizens of Massachusetts going to it for the sole purpose of seeking the peaceful mode of redress for her citizens which the Constitution of the United States affords an opportunity to appeal to the court of the Union.

5th That the state has a right to punish by fine and imprisonment, any citizen coming from any other State, with the intention to question the validity of laws which assume the right to imprison, to whip and to sell the freeman of the latter without hearing, trial, or the allegation of any crime.

From the Pittsburg Gazette.

BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAIL ROAD.—No subject of more vital importance to Pittsburgh & to Western Pennsylvania, was ever agitated than the question as to the termination of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, & yet, while the decision of this question is trembling in the balances, & the slightest thing may decide when against us forever, our citizens, many of them appear strangely indifferent about the matter. Not only should every means possible be speedily adopted to induce the Legislature to be just to the State and to the West, but we should offer inducements if need be, to the Company, to bring the road here. Pittsburgh would save money by agreeing to take $500,000 or even $1000,000 stock, rather than let this road go to Parkersburg.

EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, MD.

Saturday Morning, Feb. 22.

V. B. PALMER,

No. 59 Pine st. Phila., and 160 Nassau st. (Tribune Buildings,) N. Y., and S. E. corner of Balt. and Calvert sts. Baltimore, is our authorized Agent for receiving Advertisements and subscriptions to the "EASTON GAZETTE," and collecting and reciepting for the same.

The interesting and instructive course of Philosophical lectures given by Professor NEELY, at the Easton Academy, was closed on Tuesday evening last. We were pleased to notice that on this occasion a larger audience was assembled than had generally attended the previous lectures; and we could not avoid observing the high degree of interest excited in the audience, by the correct and prompt answers given by the students of the Institution to the questions proposed by the lecturer. Indeed these lectures as a whole have been calculated, as they were evidently intended on the part of the lecturer, more to convey permanent instuction to his auditors, than with any view to the display of self; and it is, at least to us, a subject of regret that a larger portion of our community should be disposed as they would seem to be, either to pander to vanity or to attend on ludicrous exhibitions, than to foster genuine talent when it is to be found among us.

Our limits will not permit us this week to notice the indivadual lectures as we desire to do, but we shall return to the subject, and from such notes as we were enabled to take, present our readers with an outline of the interesting matters treated of by our excellent and lucid lecturer.

The 22d. What may be in preparation to honor the anniversary of the birth-day of the Father of his Country, we know not; but this much we are assured of, that notes of preparation loud and long have been sounded in our ears, during the past week, to end, we suppose, as such preparations usually do, in smoke.

CHESAPEAKE & OHIO CANAL.—We copy into this mornings paper the Report of the Joint Committee of the Legislature of Maryland, who were appointed to visit the incompleted portion of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal, and to make report thereon.

Arthur's Magazine.—The March number of this excellent periodical was received some days since.—The embellishments are very beautiful. Frontispiece, 'Norah Clary'—illustrating Mrs. Hall's admirable story—represents the mischievous maiden seated at the ancient well, merrily playing on the 'Jew's harp.' There is also a fine steel engraving representing a 'Fox chase in the Old Dominion,' besides other embellishments. Though much cheaper than the other Monthlies, this is by no means inferior to them in beauty or in the value of its contents.

The Debate on the Texas question, opened by Mr. Morehead on Thursday against the proposed annexation by Joint Resolution, was continued yesterday by Mr. Buchanan, in favor of the project.

Mr. Rives has the floor for to-day.—Nat. Intel. of Saturday.

The bill for the admission of the States of Florida and Iowa into the Union, which passed the House of Representatives on Thursday, received in the Senate yesterday its first and second reading, and was referred to the committee on the Judiciary to consider and report thereon.—Ib.

The Hon. Wm. L. Dayton was on Tuesday last re-elected United States Senator by the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, for the term of six years from the 4th of March next.—Ib.

VIRGINIA U. S. SENATOR.—There will be no election of Senator for Virginia this year. The Locofocos having a majority in the State Senate, on Thursday postponed, indefinitely, by a party vote, the resolution from the House to proceed to the election yesterday. This is decisive that there will be no election this session.

SMALL NOTES.—It will be seen with pleasure, by the report of the proceedings of the Legislature, that the bill authorising the banks to renew the issue of the notes below the denomination of five dollars, has passed the House of Delegates by a decided majority.

On the night of the 29th ultimo a fire broke out in Wetumpka, Alabama, which destroyed about fifty houses and about 1800 bales of cotton. Loss estimated at $200,000, insurance about $50,000.

We learn from Dover, (Del.) that the bill forbidding the transportation of passengers through the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal has passed the Senate, and needs only the signature of the Governor to become a law. Is not the action of Maryland necessary to the operation of the law?—Phila. U. S. Gazette.

FRIGHTFUL.—The Richmond Enquirer of last Thursday opens thus:

"People of Virginia! You are betrayed! The Senators who profess to represent you at Washington are about to—abandon Texas, and place you at the feet of the Abolitionists!"

O my! when did Messrs. Archer and Rives belong to Texas, that they should be accused of abandoning her!—New York Tribune.

COL. WM. H. POLK'S APPOINTMENT.—Inasmuch as it is feared that certain cliques, are making representations which may prove prejudicial to the confirmation of the nomination now before the Senate, for the mission to Naples, we would remark that we are authorized by Col. P. to say, he both desired and sought the office. That he is qualified for the station, we are not aware that any one has doubted.—Mobisonian.

Would this Mr. Polk have been thought of for any important foreign mission had he not suddenly appeared in Washington as the brother of the President elect?—Let the Senate hand him over to his brother, who can feed him as he pleases from the public crib. This is the opinion of the wily editor of the Richmond Enquirer. He had objected to Mr. Polk's nomination, and on being taken to task about it by the Nashville Union, replies and says:—"We owe it to frankness to say, that we take not back a word that we have said."—Balt. Pat.

OMENS.—Mr. Polk's arrival was attended with disastrous omens. When he was about landing below the city of Louisville on Monday night, a violent gale drove the steamer against the shore or another boat & several men's hats (some of the men themselves) were knocked overboard. Yesterday morning he entered the city in the midst of a raging snow storm that kept nine-tenths of his men shut upat home.—Before he had been there three hours, there were two alarms of fire. About the same time, the flag from a Locofoco pole was blown away. No doubt such direful omens will multiply as he approaches Washington City. By the time of his arrival there, we expect to have a longer clatter of portents than Amos Kendall publishe'd after the inauguration of Harrison.—Louisville Jour.

NOTICE TO NEWLY APPOINTED OFFICERS. By an Act of Assembly passed at December session, 1843, chapter 284, sec. 2—it provides that when commissions are delivered to the respective persons therein named, they shall severally pay to the Clerk of the county the sum following, to wit:

The Clerk of the County Court	$50.00
" Register of Wills	50.00
" County Surveyor	5.00
" Judges of the Orphans Court (each)	3.00
" Notary Public	3.00

All other persons holding annual civil appointments under the Governor such as Justices of the Peace, &c. the sum of 1.00

It further provides—that the said commissions shall not be delivered to the officers until the fees are paid; and every Justice of the Peace who shall qualify or act in such official capacity, without having a certificate of having paid the tax on his commissions, shall be subject to prosecutment & be punished by a fine in the county Court, and all such acts shall be null and void.

COAL AND IRON TRADE.—It will be seen from the following list of shipments that the Alleghany, or Cumberland Coal and Iron business, is likely to prove no small affair. The list only embraces the trade of about four weeks. We would remark that the whole of this coal is from the Cumberland coal mines, and the iron is from the Mount Savage Works in Alleghany county. The following is the list of vessels and names, loaded & cleared with coal and Iron from the Maryland, New York Iron and Coal Company, from their wharf at Canton:

Schooner Oneida, for New York.
Do Chief, " do
Do Elizabeth " do
Do Zenobia, " Charleston, S. C.
Do Imperial, " do
Do Aurora, " do
Do Temperance, Philadelphia,
Sloop Two Cousins, do
Schooner Eliza Morsrole, New York.
Do Elisha Ruckman, do
Do Delphi, Boston.
Do Rochester, New York.
Brig Almena, Boston.
Schooner Victoria, New York.

Also, two large schooners loaded with railroad iron manufactured at the above works, for the Fall River Road Company. We understand that they have large orders from the Eastward for coal and iron, as soon as vessels can be procured at reasonable rates.—Balt. Pat.

A LAND SLIP.—The Kingston (New York) Journal says, a land slip occurred there last week. A portion of the hill adjacent to the steep rocks on the Hudson river, comprising an area of six or seven acres, and about fifty feet in depth, broke off in three masses, at three several times, and slid down the face of the hill to the beach below, a distance of about two hundred yards. Upon striking the level each mass broke into pieces, piling up a chaos of gigantic fragments of pure clay, intermingled with trees, some of them of large size. The perpendicular height of the hill is perhaps one hundred and fifty feet. The action of the water, and the rapid succession of freezing and thawing at intervals, will account for the phenomena.

MR. CALHOUN THROWN OVERBOARD.—The Nashville Union, (Mr. Polk's organ) in an elaborate article on the New Cabinet, written no doubt by authority of, & speaking the sentiments of Mr. Polk, says:

We have no doubt but that the President Elect will feel himself constrained by surrounding circumstances to make up his political family of counsellors entirely outside of those distinguished democrats who are designated in the public mind as probable competitors for the succession.

This may be regarded as settling the question as to Mr. Calhoun. This rule excludes him from the Cabinet, if it was not devised—as is very likely—for that purpose.

MURDER.—The Cecil (Md.) Democrat states that Alexander Shaw, residing about eight miles from Elkton, near the Big Elk Creek, had been horribly murdered. He was found upon the floor of his sleeping room, covered with a sheet. Upon examination he was found to have been dreadfully disfigured, so much so, that no one would suppose that a human being could have been guilty of committing so dreadful an outrage.

Aroostook County.—The Bangor (Me.) Whig speaks of the rapidity with which this county, formed out of the long disputed territory, has been settled. The land is equal to the best in the State, and many farmers have fields of wheat of seventy-five and a hundred acres, yielding an average of thirty bushels to the acre. There are now in the county six hundred families, making a population of 3000.

Occupations in Great Britian.—An abstract of the answers and returns obtained in 1841, relative to the occupations of the people of Great Britain, has lately been published by the Government, after a long delay—and may be regarded as a very important document. It presents a mass of facts and documents relating to the conditions of the people, which must have an important bearing on the question of free trade and corn laws. It appears from this abstract that between the years 1831 and 1841 the amount of employment afforded by the agriculture of Great Britian remained nearly stationary, notwithstanding the increase in the population. The additional hands have been obliged to find work in other departments. The total male population of Great Britian twenty years of age and upwards, was in 1831, 3,199,981 and in 1841 3,520,105, showing an increase in ten years of about 350,000 adult males. Hardly one of these additional men has been able to find employment in agriculture. The agricultural occupiers and and laborers were, in 1831, 980,750, and in 1841 only 961,981. It thus appears that at the end of the decennial period, there was either no increase, or a very small one, in the number of adult males employed in agriculture. Look, however to the numbers employed in commerce, trade, and manufactures. In 1831, they were 1,268,283, and in 1841 they amounted to 1,652,044, showing that those branches of industry had found employment for more than 400,000 additional persons of the class before mentioned.—Thus the agricultural class comprises less than one-fourth of the people, and it is stationary in point of numbers, while the other sections of the population are rapidly increasing from year to year.—Boston Journal.

Married for a Joke.—A bill passed the Senate of Missouri declaring the marriage of Congrave Warner and Elizabeth Crockett null and void. The parties were at a wedding, and upon a bantor given, probably by the gentleman, they mounted their horses and rode to a justice's, where the ceremony was performed. Upon their return, and ever afterwards, the lady insisted that it was all a joke, and refused to consider it otherwise. The gentleman desired to stand up to the joke but the lady would not.

WHALES.—We are informed by Capt. Lavender, of the schr. Abstract, arrived at Norfolk on Monday, from Baltimore, that on Saturday evening, off the Rappahannock, he saw a large hump-backed Whale, bound up the river. We learn, also, from other captains that two were seen off Newports News on Sunday and Monday last. Their appearance is somewhat unusual in these waters. The one seen by Capt. L. is supposes, would yield about 40 barrels of oil.—Norfolk Beacon.
