POETRY.

Lines,

INSCRIBED TO A FRIEND.

BY S. SWAIN.

Thou who hast known my weal and woe
And when my heart was sad or gay,
Let not the shade of absence throw
A chill o'er sweet affection's glow,
Whose beam hath lit our way.

For I have watched with anxious eye
Year after year thy star ascend,
And in my heart prayed silently
Its rising might not break the tie
That linked me with my friend.

All that is spiritually bright
And beautiful and wholly free,
A flower, a cloud, a ray of light,
Are prompters through care's duskey night
Of happy thoughts of thee.

Youth's summer dreams from us have gone;
The hues they penciled on our sky
Have faded sadly one by one,
Till in its cold blue depths alone
Remains reality!

Gone are the hopes that were too fair
In their first blossoming to bring
A harvest here,—with joys too rare
And beauteous in earth's chilly air
Their music long to sing.

But not all brightness were young hours;
Oft from their wings of gold
Were scattered bitter weeds with flowers,
And tears that fell in sunless showers
Till life seemed sad and cold.

Yet these were messengers from God,
Who knows the buoyant spirit needs
A lifting from the flowery sod—
From haunts where passion's dreams have trod,
That it may love good deeds.

Then let us bless the care of Him
Who has not led us unprepared
From Childhood, to a sphere more dim
To mirth—yet where Truth's geniral beam
Is more profusely shared.

Where the tasked soul may feel its might—
A glad unchaining of its wings
In pleading for the holy Right,
Which, when shall close time's misty night;
Will teach us heavenly things!

Oh! how life's field of battle grows
Wider, and wider, as we tread
Along the path of years, and close
In fight with Freedom's stalwart foes,
Above her patriot dead.

Then let us urge each other on,
And smile upon the rack of Pain,—
Till death's unclouded goal be won,
And God shall send his angel down
To guide us Home again!

I THINK OF THEE.

BY T. K. HERVEY.

I think of thee in the night,
When all beside is still,
And the moon comes out with her pale sad light
To sit on the distant hill.

When the stars are all like dreams,
And the breezes all like sighs,
And there comes a voice from the far-off streams
Like thy spirit's low replies.

I think of thee by day,
'Mid the cold and busy crowd,
When the laughter of the young and gay
Is far too glad and loud.

I hear thy low sad tone,
And thy sweet young smile I see;
My heart were all alone
But for its thoughts of thee.

GOVANSTOWN
ACADEMY.

THE SUMMER SESSION of this institution will commence on TUESDAY, the 6th of May next. The pupils are thoroughly instructed in the Greek and Latin Languages, Mathematics, Natural and Moral Sciences, & the several branches of English

TERMS.—Boarding in the family of the Principal $55 per session of 22½ weeks, and $10 per session for tuition in the English branches, and $15 for do. in the languages and mathematics; one half of each payable in advance.

The location is remarkable for beauty and healthfulness. Persons desirous of entering pupils can make application through the Govanstown Post office, by letter, post paid; or, to the principal, personally, at his residence adjoining the academy—who will furnish cards stating terms more particularly. It is desirable that application be made at as early a period as possible, and that the pupils entered be of a docile and tractable disposition.—The pupils boarding with the principal have enjoyed uniform good health, and have generally returned home in the vacation, much improved in this respect as well as in their studies. The principal has had an experience of more than 25 years in his profession. The situation is decidedly one of the very best in the State, and the terms as moderate as could be reasonably expected

The building occupied as a school house is commodious and pleasant, and fitted up with every convenience for study. HEMSLEY'S WORM DESTROYING SYRUP.
Prepared by R. F. Hemsley,

CHEMIST & PHARMACEUTIST, Easton Md

WHEN we consider the great number of children who die annually in OUR county by worms it becomes important that the public should be in possession of some Medicine for their removal, which will combine safety and efficiency in its employment, this desideratum is afforded by the 'Worm Destroying Syrup.' It is not my wish, nor is it my design to throw around this preparation the unmeaning & extravagant eulogiums with which such medicines are usually ushured into notice, I only desire for it a fair & judicious trial to secure its full approbation. The large and increasing sale of this article is the best proof of the value and estimation in which it is held by numerous & respectable families. The presence of worms may generally with readiness be detected by the following.

SYMPTOMS.

Variable appetite—foul tongue—fetid breath—full hard and tense belly—dull heavy expression of the Countenance—a bluish streak under the eye—itching at the nose—puffiness of the upper lip—disordered and irregular bowels—starting and screaming in sleep—grinding of teeth—pain in the bowels & frequently drowsiness or convulsions, attended by slow fever.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Being acquainted with the general and successful use of Mr. R. F. Hemsley's Worm Destroying Syrup, I cheerfully recommend it to the public as a valuable remedy for the expulsion of worms.

TRIST. THOMAS, M. D.

I CONCUR IN THE ABOVE,
JAS. A. MUSE, M. D,
Easton March 20 1844

I have for the last two years used with success Mr. R. F. Hemsley's 'Worm Destroying Syrup' Indeed I look upon it as a specific in those cases, and knowing its composition feel no hesitation in recommending it where worms exist.

WM. H. THOMAS, M. D,
Easton March 23d 1844

Having examined MR. R. F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP,' and being conversant with its general and successful employment in Easton and the vicinity, I take much pleasure in recommending it to the public as a safe and efficient remedy for the expulsion of worms from the alimentary canal.

CHRIS. C. COX, M. D,
Easton March 7 1844

There is no authelmimtic preparation from the use of which I have seen better results than from MR R. F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP' having been made acquainted with its composition I can confidently recommend it, not only as a vermafuge but as a gentle tonic suitable in those cases of debility occurring in consequence of the presence of worms in the stomach and bowels.

A. M WHITE, M. D,
Talbot county March 26th 1844

From DR. W. HEMSLEY

Having prescribed the 'Worm Destroying Syrup' with success in my neighbourhood I can confidently recommend it as superior to any other preparation offered to the public.

I have tried in a desperate case of worms MR R. F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP' and it proved immediately efficacious, this case had baffled the skill of Physicians previously, and the disease must soon have killed the servant. I feel it my duty to give this certificate in favour of the valuable medicine.
