POETRY.

From Graham's Magazine.

To Mary.

BY FRANCIS S. OSGOOD.

My heart goes to your wedding,
Mary dear;
It shares your timid smile,
And tender tear.

It wreathes the orange blossom,
In your hair;
It parts the silken curls,
That cluster there.

It sees the blush that changes,
On your cheek;
It hears the vows you murmur;
Low and meek.

It breathes its warmest blessing,
On your way;
And prays that Heaven will watch
Your bridal day.

Then think, amid the friends
That gather near,
My heart is at your wedding,
Mary, dear.

Love Never Sleeps.

Love never sleeps!—The mother's eye
Bends o'er her dying infant's bed;
And as she marks the moments fly,
While death creeps on with noiseless tread
Faint and distressed she sits and weeps,
With beating heart!—Love never sleeps.

Yet e'en that sad and fragile form
Forgets the tumult of her breast;
Despite the horror of the storm,
O'erburdened nature sinks to rest.
But o'er them both another keeps
With beating heart!—Love never sleeps.

Around—above—the angel bands
Stoop o'er the care-worn sons of men;
With pitying eyes and eager hands
They raise the soul to hope again.
Free as the air their pity sweeps
The storms of time!—Love never sleeps.

And round—beneath—and over all,
O'er men and angels, earth and heaven,
A Higher bends! the slightest call
Is answered, and relief is given.
In hours of wo, when sorrow steeps
The heart in pain—He never sleeps.

Oh! God of Love! our eyes to thee,
Tired of the world's false radience, turn,
And as we view thy purity,
We feel our hearts within us burn,
Convinced that in the lowest deeps
Of human ill—Love never sleeps.

A TRIBUTE.—One of the most beautiful tributes to an affectionate, true-hearted wife, which we remember having seen, is the following, written some eighty years ago by an English clergyman, named Samuel Bishop. Few can read such lines without believing that the author was an amiable and happy man.

To My Wife.

On the anniversary of her wedding day, which was also her birthday, with a ring

"Thee, Mary, with this ring I wed"—
So, fourteen years ago, I said.
Behold another ring!—"For what?"
"To wed thee o'er again!" Why not?
With that first ring I married youth,
Grace, beauty, innocence and truth;
Taste long admired, sense long revered,
And all my Molly then appeared.
If she, by merit since disclosed,
Prove twice the woman I supposed,
I plead that double merit, now,
To justify a double vow.
Here, then, to-day, (with faith as sure,
With ardor as intense, as pure,
As when amidst the rites divine,
I took thy troth and plighted mine,)
To thee, sweet girl, my second ring
A token and a pledge I bring;
With this I wed, till death us part,
The riper virtues of thy heart;
Those virtues which, before untried,
The wife has added to the bride;
Those virtues, whose progressive claim,
Endearing wedlock's very name,
My soul enjoys, my song approves,
For conscience sake as well as love's.
And why?—They show me every hour
Honor's high thought. Affection's power,
Discretion's deed, sound judgment's sentence,
And teach me all things—but repentance.

REMINISCENCE OF THE WAR OF 1812.—The Hon. Lemuel Sawyer, who was a member of Congress in 1812, furnishes the following interesting reminiscence in a letter to the editor of the New York Courier & Enquirer:

I well remember the occasion of Mid. Hamilton's presentation of the flag of the Macedonian. I was present, though unintentionally, at the grand naval ball given about the 14th December, 1812, by the citizens of Washington to Capt. Stewart, in return for the one he had had given to them a little previous, on board his ship. The ball was held at Tomlinson's Hotel, on Capitol Hill, where I boarded; and being somewhat indisposed, I had retired to bed just as the ball opened. The music, and the regular vibration of the floor to the motion of the dance, kept me awake. I considered, as I was thus condemned to suffer the evil of the ball, I might as well compensate myself by its gratification. I found it well filled with the beauty and fashion of the place and honored with the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Madison, and the heads of the departments, among whom was Paul Hamilton, the Secretary of the Navy, his lady and two handsome daughters. In the midst of our enjoyment, a little about 11 o'clock, a messenger came to the door and communicated some news secretly to the managers. They were then observed to whisper something to Mr Hamilton, who had a private conversation with the President. Immediately it was buzzed about that a messenger had come and was waiting below with glad tidings of a signal victory of one of our ships over one of the British with equal force. In a moment, and without the least noise or confusion, an arrangement was made by the managers to give full effect to the fortunate coincident. The Secretary's impatience to run down stairs and meet his son was restrained, and a delegation of three gentlemen was appointed to wait on Mid. Hamilton and invite him up, with the trophy of victory, of which he was the bearer, the flag of the Macedonian. An opening was left through the crowd of spectators; from the door to the back part of the room. Secretary Hamilton and his family were placed at the bottom of the passage, and in front of the door, while the President and his lady, with the members of the cabinet, were arranged on each side. A breathless silence prevailed. The ladies stood up on the back seats, between the columns that supported the ceiling, the whole length of the room, gazing with intense interest at the door. It may be mentioned, that Mid. Hamilton had been absent two years, and that he had escaped, by a miracle, from the conflagration of the Richmond Theatre, the winter before by breaking through the sash of one of the upper windows, and leaping to the ground, a distance of near 30 feet.—At length, the head of the procession entered the room, consisting of Mid. Hamilton, supported on each side by a member of the committee, followed by a train of gentlemen, having the captured flag.—Young Hamilton, seeing his parents waiting for his approach with outstretched arms, with modest demeanor and accelerated steps, threw himself into the arms of his mother, who had hid her face in his bosom, overcome by her feelings of silent joy; from thence he tore himself to grasp his father's hand in a long and cordial shake and ended by receiving and returning the enraptured embraces of his sisters. As soon as this highly dramatic scene was over one sudden burst of huzzas resounded through the room. The flag was paraded and marched around the room to the tune of Hail Columbia—after which it was brought before Mrs. Madison and laid at her feet, but she did not tread on it as some of the opposition papers alleged.—You may well suppose that this new and unexpected feature in the ceremony, gave an increased zest to the entertainment, and that it went off with charming and enhanced gusto. Young Hamilton was a very handsome officer, and invested as he was with the virgin honors of this great naval victory, which dissolved the charm of British invincibility on the ocean, was the cynosure of all the fair eyes present; but he bore his triumph and his honors meekly. He was promoted to a Lieutenancy, and in that capacity was cut into by a chain shot in the action of the President with Endymion, or rather a British squadron, off the coast of Rhode Island, a few months after, while he was bravely discharging his duty under the gallant Decatur.

Stock Jobbing in New York.—The New York correspondent of the National Intelligencer writes—

The Stock Market is in an agitated state. The solid and substantial stocks, however, from day to day, vary but little; but the fancies, as they are termed, are the sports of a gambling system, and often the ruin of an enterprising class of young men of sanguine temperament. In other countries their stocks indicate, in some measure the conditions and prospect of their public affairs: not so in the United States, but especially in the city of New York. It is an every day's transaction, at the Broker's Board, for men to buy and sell large amounts of stock when it is known to both parties that the seller has not at that time one dollar's worth of stock under his control. These sales are made payable and deliverable in a given number of days.—These are gambling and often ruinous contracts.

Let me give you an example. It is a very common thing for brokers and others, having the command of a large capital, to purchase, while it is low, all the stock in market of some particular company. Having done this, they contract, as above, for more than the capital of the company, and then run it up to any price they please, knowing the impossibility of the seller to deliver what he has contracted to deliver. This is what is termed "cornering him," and the poor devil "cornered" must pay the deliverence. Example: Norwich and Worcester Railroad has been selling all summer at about 65. Within a few weeks, capitalists have "cornered" a number of the bears and this day it sold at 87½.

No investments of importance are making at this time. More than nine-tenths of the purchases that are made are purchases of the character above described.

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia American says—

Another severe turn of the screws was given to-day, and Norwich and Worcester were put up to 90; and Long Island to 80, making for the former a rise of 9 per cent in two days. This must have created an active transferring of balances from one bank account to another. The bull clique are sweeping in the spare cash of the small fry of the street most remorselessly. The parties to this movement, which has carried every thing before it, are said to be, Jacob Little, (of course the head and front,) Richard Schelt, Rawdon and Groesbeck, Wm Baston, and S. O. Mead and William Labdel, of Boston. It is generally believed that the clique held five millions of fancies. Whoever they are, they appear to have unlimited command of money, and to have most successfully managed this operation. It is seldom, however, that these concerns result profitably to all concerned. Some one or two sell out quietly and then the market tumbles, like a burnt out rocket, and then those who are left in lose in the falling of the market more than they have gained in its rise.

In one of the most magnificent churches of Moscow, is suspended from the centre of the roof an enormous chandelier of massy silver weighing 2,940 pounds. It was made in England.

HEMSLEY'S VEGETABLE

TONIC,

PREPARED BY

R. F. HEMSLEY,

PHARMACEUTIST,—Easton Md.

NO MEDICINE has acquired in so short a time so deserved a popularity: and none is prepared to present so honorable an array of certificates from the Faculty of Medicine and private individuals throughout the States as Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic. In moderate doses, regularly taken, this medicine is a sure preventive of Fever & Ague and Bilious Fever, while it affords in most instances a permanent cure when employed for the removal of these diseases. In all cases of general debility rising from old age, protracted illness, or uniform delicacy and feebleness of constitution it is without question one of the most agreeable and efficient tonics ever offered to the public. Let all who are afflicted apply to this remedy with the full expectation of perfect relief. It promises nothing which it is not competent to perform; and must in a very short time be the remedy preferred to all others in the various forms of Fever and Ague and in cases of general debility. Full directions for using it will accompany each bottle.

Certificates.

The undersigned, Physicians of Baltimore, having been made acquainted with the ingredients composing "Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic" have no hesitation in saying that the compound, if properly used, cannot fail to conduce greatly to the accomplishment of the object proposed in its employment; and do therefore cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted public

J. K. MILLER, M. D.

THOS OWINGS, M. D.
Fayette Street.

The preparation made by Mr. Hemsley Apothecary, Easton, Maryland, and known as "Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic," is in my opinion the best article ever offered to the public for the radical cure of that distressing affection, Intermittent Fever. This composition forms a pleasant bitters, and furnishes a most desirable tonic in cases of constitutional debility resulting from natural infirmity or the ravages of disease. I have recommended this medicine extensively in my practice and have always found it to answer the desired purpose.

CHRIS C COX, A. M M D

Mr R. F. Hemsley Sir:—This is to certify that for a long time I labored under the debilitating influence of that dreadful disease, Ague & Fever, and had recourse to many remedies recommended to me by Physicians and others, all of which proved unavailing. I heard of your celebrated Vegetable Tonic,' of which I procured two bottles, and before I had taken it all I was entirely restored, and have not since had any symptoms of its return. It has accomplished more in my case than all other remedies put together, and I most cheerfully recommend it to all those persons who may be laboring under this most wretched disease.

HEMSLEY'S WORM DESTROYING SYRUP.

Prepared by R. F. Hemsley,

CHEMIST & PHARMACEUTIST, Easton Md.

WHEN we consider the great number of children who die annually in our county by worms it becomes important that the public should be in possession of some Medicine for their removal, which will combine safety and efficiency in its employment, this desideratum is afforded by the 'Worm Destroying Syrup.' It is not my wish, nor is it my design to throw around this preparation the unmeaning & extravagant eulogisms with which such medicines are usually ushured into notice, I only desire for it a fair & judicious trial to secure its full approbation. The large and increasing sale of this article is the best proof of the value and estimation in which it is held by numerous & respectable families. The presence of worms may generally with readiness be detected by the following

SYMPTOMS.

Variable appetite—foul tongue—fetid breath—full hard and tense belly—dull heavy expression of the Countenance—a bluish streak under the eye—itching at the nose—puffiness of the upper lip—disordered and irregular bowels—starting and screaming in sleep—grinding of teeth—pain in the bowels & frequently drowsiness or convulsions, attended by slow fever.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Being acquainted with the general and successful use of Mr R. F. Hemsley's Worm Destroying Syrup I cheerfully recommend it to the public as a valuable remedy for the expulsion of worms.

TRIST. THOMAS, M. D.

I CONCUR IN THE ABOVE,

JAS. A. MUSE, M. D,

Easton March 20 1844

I have for the last two years used with success Mr. R. F Hemsley's 'Worm Destroying Syrup' Indeed I look upon it as a specific in those cases, and knowing its composition feel no hesitation in recommending it where worms exist.

WM. H THOMAS, M. D,

Easton March 23 1844

Having examined Mr. R F. Hemsley's 'Worm Destroying Syrup,' and being conversant with its general and successful employment in Easton and the vicinity, I take much pleasure in recommending it to the public as a safe and efficient remedy for the expulsion of worms from the alimentary canal.

CHRIS. C. COX, M. D.

Easton March 7 1844

There is no authelmintic preparation from the use of which I have seen better results than from Mr R. F. Hemsley's 'Worm Destroying Syrup' having been made acquainted with its composition I can confidently recommend it, not only as a vermafuge but as a gentle tonic suitable in those cases of debility occurring in consequence of the presence of worms in the stomach and bowels.

A. M WHITE, M. D.

Talbot county March 26th 1844

From Dr W. Hemsley.

Having prescribed the 'Worm Destroying Syrup' with success in my neighbourhood I can confidently recommend it as superior to any other preparation offered to the public.

I have tried in a desperate case of worms Mr. R. F. Hemsley's 'Worm Destroying Syrup,' and it proved immediately efficacious, this case had baffled the skill of Physicians previously, and the disease must soon have killed the servant. I feel it my duty to give this certificate in favour of the valuable medicine.
