sect the sixth line of Shiree's Adventure, 2 3rd line, then leaving said road, and running thence North twenty seven degrees East thirty five perches to intersect the seventh line of the whole tract called Chew's Resolution Manor, where stands a stone now planted in an old wagon road, then bounding on the seventh line of Chews Resolution Manor to the beginning.

6th A certified copy of a deed from William Davis to Theodore R. T. Boyce dated first October 1824 and recorded among Anne Arundel Land records in Liber W. S. G. No. 10 folio 479, the descriptive portion of which is as follows: Beginning for the same at a stone planted for the seventh boundary of Chews Resolution Manor, being also the second boundary of a tract of land called Benson's Park, thence bounding on the seventh line of Chew's Resolution Manor South eighty eight degrees West fifty perches to a division boundary between the lands of the said William Davis and Judge Hanson thence with the divisional line of the said parties reverely south twenty seven degrees West thirty five perches to the main road leading from Hilton to Elk Ridge Landing, thence with said road north sixty three degrees West one perch, thence parallel with the last mentioned divisional line distant one perch therefrom on the said Davis's land to the end thereof, thence parallel with his given line still distant one perch therefrom till it intersects the second boundary of Benson's Park.

The defendant further proved that the plaintiff entered into possession of his property under the deed of Miss Haight in 187– and the defendant entered into possession of his property under the deed from John H. Dorsey, Executor &c in 1874 – and that the fence between the lot of plaintiff and lot of defendant had occupied the same bed as it occupied when the plaintiff and defendant respectively entered into possession as far back as the oldest inhabitant coued recollect. The defendant then offered in evidence the letters dated 9th June 1873 and 28th July 1884 admitted to have been written by plaintiff to defendant.

Mr. John C. White.

Dear Sir.

Mr. John H. Dorsey, the Executor of his Mothers Estate & of whom you purchased a portion of the land belonging to said estate, adjoining mine, has advised me, & he has also advised you, that the fence, between that portion of said land & mine adjoining, was not upon the line, but some portion of it, according to the survey made by his direction, was exclusively on my land. Your attention is hereby invited to this matter, with a view to the removal of the fence to its proper place; as in my opinion there is no time like the present, when we are all of accord to rectify a matter of this kind Resply Yrs.

H. Winter.
