EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, MD.

Saturday Morning, Dec. 6.

The sable appearance of the paper of this morning will announce to the patrons and subscribers of the "Easton Gazette" the death of him, who for twenty-eight years had conducted this paper. ALEXANDER GRAHAM, Editor and proprietor of the "Easton Gazette," departed this life on Monday the 1st December, at 8 o'clock P. M. in the full possession to the last of his intellect, and with the greatest calmness and serenity. This melancholy bereavement will readily account for the curtailed sheet and for its general barrenness. Amid the gloom and despondency immediately consequent upon this event, there is little inducement or incitement to exertion or toil—and it is trusted and hoped the friends and patrons of the paper will pardon the indulgence of the natural feelings of human nature in those, for a short time, upon whom this melancholy event has fallen so heavily.

Preparation For War in England.—The following extract of a letter written in London on the 3d inst., we learn from the U. S. Gazette, is from a respectable citizen of Philadelphia to a friend:

"It is with the greatest regret I inform you again, that the most gigantic and extraordinary military and navy preperations are making in all the dock yards and military depots in this country, and the world says they are intended for the Americans. Should Mr. Polk make, in his annual message, so unwise a speech as he did on the 4th of March last, we may expect an immediate declaration of war, and simultaneously the sailing of innumerable war steamers to bombard your seaports, without any further notice. This nation is now in a state of preparation for war, greater than ever before was known, and they appear determined to show their power.—God grant that the folly, the horrors, and the iniquities of war, between two kindred nations, may be averted, but really I fear that it is almost inevitable, unless the greatest prudence and good sense guide the rulers of both countries. You are a man of peace, and I count on you to do every thing in your power though the press, and by all other means, to avert war, and preserve the inestimable blessings of peace between the two countries. Recollect I never wrote you before in this strain, and I would not now write thus, unless I feared what I say above"

Havana and Mexico.—On the 6th inst. the royal mail steamer Medway arrived at Havana from Vera Cruz, with $600,000 in specie. Her dates from the city of Mexico are only to the 27th ult.—two days later than we have received direct.

The mail steamer Tweed arrived at Havana the same day from Jamaica, with 550 flasks of quicksilver. The same day, too, the French brig of war Le Mercure arrived from Pensacola.

The Mexican troops stationed at Jalapa, which according to some estimates, amounted to 4000 men, have been ordered into cantonments at Paso de Ovejas, a small place half way between Vera Cruz and the former city. The general in command was expected daily in Vera Cruz when the Medway sailed, intending to remain there.

The Mexican Secretary of the Treasury issued a circular on the 22d of October, by direction of the President, qualifying gravely and explaining the details of the tariff as promulgated a few weeks ago.—The difficulty was occasioned by some errors in printing the tariff, which was put into circulation on the 4th ult. We note this matter for the benefit of merchants whom it may concern.

The death of an illustrious prelate of the Catholic church, the Archbishop of Guatemala and Bishop of Havana, is announced in the Diaro of the 10th inst.

FLOUR AND WHEAT.—The Albany Citizen of Tuesday says:—"The receipts of flour show the enormous quantity of nearly one quarter of a million of barrels reaching tide water in the space of eight days. If to this quantity be added the wheat received during the same time, reduced to flour, it reaches the enormous quantity of two hundred and seventy-seven thousand six hundred and eighty-eight barrels."

The Albany Evening Journal says—

"We counted in our harbor this morning 170 Canal Boats loaded with Flour.—These carry, as we learn at the Collector's office, from 450 to 800 barrels each, averaging at least 600 barrels. This would make a total of 102,000. Add to this amount 10 large Tow boats loaded, and several vessels loaded and loading, and it will make a total of about 150,000 barrels afloat. Many rods of the dock are covered four tier deep with Flour—at least 3,000 barrels. Besides these items, immense tows have left for New York for the last three days, and all our Flour dealers have their warehouses packed. From these data, some idea may be formed of the immense amount of this all important article which has been poured into our city for the last eight or ten days.

"One thousand barrels of Flour were transhipped this morning, from the Canal Boats to the magnificent steamer Hendrik Hudson, for New York."

The New York Express of Thursday, P. M., says—

The arrival of flour and produce are enormously large. A report, however, has reached here that above Utica there has been a fall of snow two inches deep, and that the Canal beyond that point has closed. This is bad news for the West. Every day that the Canal is navigable is important.

The operations in flour are every day heavy, but all on speculation. Holders here are very firm, the western owners all write their correspondents here to hold on. There are however, no orders by exporters to purchase and ship at present rates.—The next advices are looked for with great interest.

Barley has now become an article of export. Large purchases have been made at 66 to 68 cents for shipment.

There were received at tide-water, by the Erie Canal, during the third week in November, 280,482 barrels of Flour and 190,083 bushels of Wheat.

In the second week of the present month the tolls on the New York Canals amounted to the extraordinary sum of $144,173 —being greater than the tolls of the corresponding week of last year by $63,757.

PARIS FASHIONS.—A Paris letter of the 1st instant says—

Since I last noticed the fashions, a new change appears on the eve of taking place. Within the last fortnight I have seen, at the theatres and on the promenades, ladies in blue bonnets, blue gloves, blue gowns, blue shawls, blue boots, and, in cold weather, blue noses. They are blue all over.—The innovation is so daring that it creates a droll effect at first; but, like every other oddity in dress, the eye soon gets accustomed to it. As for the fashions of gentlemen, if the New York and Washington elegants will only take the trouble to make themselves as much like monkeys as possible, they may go to sleep every night with comforting assurance that they are in the dernieres modes de Paris.

Provision Business.—The season of Pork Packing has commenced at Madison, Ia., and the Banner expresses the opinion that from 80,000 to 100,000 head of Hogs will be slaughtered there before its close. The prices paid are $4 for hogs weighing 200 lbs. and upwards, and $3,75a3,95 for those weighing under 200 lbs. There are in that thriving city four fine houses, capable of killing 1200 to 1500 head per day. Salt is abundant at 25 cents per bushel for Kanawha, and 38 cents for Turks Island; barrels at 75 cents each, and lard kegs at 30 cents. The Banner says:—

"From the specimens already brought in, it is expected that the hogs this season will be unusually large and fat. The prices will probably be a shade less than in Cincinnati, and the charges for packing will be as low as any other point in the West.—We anticipate very "busy times" for the ensuing three months."

On the Upper Mississippi and Illinois rivers, the weather has as yet been too warm for operations. The packing of Beef, however, has been commenced in and about Chicago. The Democrat says that large quantities of Cattle are pastured in the vicinity, their owners waiting for cooler weather before killing. Good heavy Beef on foot, as a general average, commanded $2,50 per 100 lbs. It is estimated that near 10,000 bbls. of Beef will be put and shipped from that point during the season.

The greatest farce of the day is the attempt to make believe, as the children say that the administration is squaring all its actions by the "Resolutions of the Baltimore Convention"—and that the people in the late election adopted those resolutions as their rule of political faith and the chart by which the ship of state is hereafter to be steered!! Why, one half of the members of that Convention never read the resolutions that were adopted!—Alex. Gaz.

OBITUARY.

Departed this life on Monday the first day of December, last past, ALEXANDER GRAHAM, in the 56th year of his age, Editor & proprietor of the "Easton Gazette," published in this town.

In noticing the decease of this Citizen and member of our community it may be allowed private friendship to indulge some of the natural feelings occasioned by the sad event. In the constitution and formation of the character of ALEXANDER GRAHAM were mingled some of the most sterling and valued traits of human character. He was a man of stern and unswerving integrity, of unquestioned courage, resolution and determination of purpose and action in his intercourse with his fellow men, chastened however by blandness of manner & kindness of heart and feeling. In his friendships and attachments he was fixed and devoted. This was carried almost to romantic and chivalrous extent towards his friends. In his heart there was no guile or deceit towards his fellow men, whatever he professed, he acted up to.—Throughout his life he possessed the confidence and devoted esteem of a large body of attached friends, who mourn most sincerely his death, almost in the very prime of life. For his bereaved family there are universal sympathy and feeling. For twenty eight years he edited and conducted the paper now containing this brief tribute to his memory and private worth—and during this whole period it was managed in accordance with the principles of truth, integrity and fairness, as every public press should be. He died without a struggle and with the greatest heroism and composure—he seemed as if sinking away into a sweet slumber. Peace to the ashes of our dear departed friend.
