POETRY.

The Sisters.

BY AMELIA WELBY.

Like flowers that softly bloom together,
Upon one fair and fragile stem,
Mingling their sweets in sunny weather,
Ere strange, rude hands have parted them:
So were we linked unto each other,
Sweet sisters, in our childish hours,
For then our fond and gentle mother,
To us was like the stem to flowers.

She was the golden thread that bound us
In one bright chain together here,
Till death unloosed the chord around us,
And we were severed far and near.
The flower's stem, when broke or shattered,
Must cast its blossoms to the wind,
Yet round the buds, though widely scattered,
The same soft perfume still we find.

And thus, although the tie is broken
That linked us round our mother's knee,
The memory of the words were spoken
When we were children light and free,
Will, like the perfume of each blossom,
Live in our hearts where'er we roam,
As when we slept on one fond bosom,
And dwelt within one happy home.

I know that changes have come o'er us,
Sweet sisters, we are not the same,
For different paths now lie before us,
And all three have a different name:
And yet, if sorrow's dimming fingers
Have shadowed o'er each youthful brow,
So much of light around them lingers
I cannot trace these shadows now.

For both have those who love ye only,
Whose dearest hopes are round ye thrown,
While like a stream that wanders lonely,
And I, the youngest, wildest one.
My heart is like the wind that beareth
Sweet scents upon its unseen wing—
The wind that for no creature careth,
Yet stealeth sweets from every thing.

It hath rich thoughts forever leaping
Up like the waves of flashing seas
That with their music still are keeping
Soft time with every fitful breeze.
Each leaf that in the bright air quivers,
Tree sounds from hidden solitudes,
And the deep flow of far-off rivers,
And the loud rush of many floods—

All these and more, stir in my bosom
Feelings that make my spirit glad
Like dew-drops shaken in a blossom
And yet there is a something sad
Mixed with those thoughts, like clouds that hover
Above us in the quiet air,
Veiling the moon's pale beauty over
Like a dark spirit brooding there.

But sisters, these wild thoughts were never
Yours, for ye would not love like me
To gaze upon the stars forever—
To hear the wind's wild melody;
Ye'd rather look on smiling faces,
And linger round a cheerful hearth,
Than mark the stars' bright hiding places
As they peep out upon the earth.

But, sisters, as the stars of even
Shrink from Day's golden, flashing eye,
And, melting in the depths of Heaven,
Veil their soft beams within the sky;
So shall ye pass, the joyous hearted,
The fond, the young, like stars that wane,
Till every link of earth be parted,
To form in Heaven one mystic chain.

EXTRAORDINARY SUICIDE.

An inquest was held before Mr. J. Gregory, gentlemen, on Thursday night, on the body of John Percival, a pensioner, aged about 45, whose body was found early in the morning lying between the rails of the Midland Railway, near Mr. Isaac Harrison's crossing, in the parish of Belgrave, the head, which had been completely severed from the body being at a distance of 10 or 12 yards from it. The deceased was greatly addicted to drinking and was also very eccentric and abstracted in demeanour, and from the facts which were stated at the inquest, and others which have come to our knowledge, there can be no doubt that he had purposely placed himself on the line, on the Wednesday night, a short time before the quarter to 10 down train left Leicester with a view to his own destruction. He had been living for some time with a woman, who left him for another man, and refused his deceased's) offers of marriage, saying, she had had one husband and did not want another. From this time he became more gloomy, and on Tuesday night he was seen hanging about the platform at the Leicester station, to which he gained admittance under pretence that he wanted to see one of the policemen about the place. On being warned to be careful, as the luggage engines were coming, he said it would not matter if he was run over. On Wednesday evening he had again got on the platform, and was ordered off by the station master (Mr. Tyers) Shortly after, it is supposed he got upon the line and having taken off his boots and neck-hanker chief, he deliberately laid himself across the line his neck on one of the rails.—Leicester Chronicle.

CHEAP POSTAGE.—The New York Evening Post, in some remarks on that part of the Presidents Message which refers to postage, says:

"Any attempt to raise the rates of postage, whether by charging postage according to the number of pieces of which the letter is composed or otherwise, will be exceedingly unpopular. If we are to have any change let us have the rates reduced a once to two cents for a single letter conveyed to any port of the Union, and let it subject to postage the loads of newspapers which are now gratuitously conveyed by mail a distance of thirty miles."

PROSPECTUS.
LEGISLATIVE REPUBLICAN.

IT is our purpose to resume this winter, the issue of the "LEGISLATIVE REPUBLICAN." From the even balance of power in the House, from the talent, on both sides, of which it is composed; and from the many important matters which will be brought to their consideration, the approaching session will be peculiarly interesting and exciting, and the Proceedings of the Legislature,—and particularly the views of its different Members expressed upon the floor, will doubtless be eagerly sought after by the people of the several counties. With a view to gratify this demand of the public, and to give our readers a full account of the Proceedings of the Legislature, and sketches of the Debates arising upon every Question of any importance, we propose issuing a semi-weekly.—This system which has been pursued by us alone for some winters past, and at considerable expense, has found favor with the public, and will, we hope procure for us a large extra subscription for the winter's issue. The Reports of Debates, as heretofore published by us, have never yet given ground of complaint for unfairness, or partiality; on the contrary, their faithfulness has elicited thanks and gratulation from nearly every speaker, even of the party to which our Editorial columns are opposed. We design to continue to give full, fair and impartial sketches of the discussions as they occur,—uninfluenced by any view or opinion of our own on the subject of Debate, and giving preference to the speakers of no party.

With this pledge to the general public, and the low price at which the paper will be issued, it is hoped that the "Legislative Republican," will find its way to every corner of the State.

The price of the "Legislative Republican," to be issued every Wednesday and Saturday, during the approaching session of the Legislature, will be $1 50, paid in advance. RILEY & DAVIS.

Annapolis, Nov. 29, 1845.

☞Publishers of papers througout the State, who will give this Prospectus an insertion (with this note annexed) and send one of their papers with this Prospectus marked therein, shall receive the "Legislative Republican," in exchange. An Editorial Notice will also oblige us.

HEMSLEY'S VEGETABLE
TONIC,

PREPARED BY
R. F. HEMSLEY,

PHARMACEUTIST,—Easton Md.

NO MEDICINE has acquired in so short a time so deserved a popularity; and none is prepared to present so honorable an array of certificates from the FACULTY OF MEDICINE and private individuals throughout the State as Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic. In moderate doses, regularly taken, this medicine is a sure preventive of Fever & Ague and Bilious Fever, while it affords in most instances a permanent cure when employed for the removal of confirmed seasons. In all cases of general debility arising from old age, protracted illness, or any uniform delicacy and feebleness of constitution it is without question one of the most agreeable and efficient tonics ever offered to the public Let all who are afflicted apply to this remedy with the full expectation of perfect relief It promises nothing which it is not competent to perform; and must in a very short time be the remedy preferred to all others in the various forms of Fever and Ague and in cases of general debility Full directions for using it will accompany each bottle.

Certificates.

The undersigned, Physicians of Baltimore having been made acquainted with the ingredients composing Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic have no hesitation in saying that the compound, if properly used, cannot fail to conduce greatly to the accomplishment of the object proposed in its employment; and do therefore cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted public

J. K. MILLER, M D.

Fayette Street.

The preparation made by Mr. Hemsley Apothecary, Easton, Maryland, and known as "Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic," is in my opinion the best article ever offered to the public for the radical cure of that distressing affection, Intermittent Fever. This composition forms a pleasant bitters, and furnishes a most desirable tonic in cases of constitutional debility resulting from natural infirmity or the ravages of disease I have recommended this medicine extensively in my practice and have always found it to answer the desired purpose.

CHRIS C COX, A. M M D.

Mr R. F. Hemsley Sir—This is to certify that for a long time I labored under the debilitating influence of that dreadful disease. Ague & Fever, and had recourse to many remedies recommended to me by Physicians and others all of which proved unavailing. I heard of your celebrated Vegetable Tonic of which I procured two bottles, and before I had taken it all I was entirely restored, and have not since felt any symptoms of its return. It has accomplished more in my case than all other remedies put together, and I most cheerfully recommend it to all those persons who may be laboring under this most wretched disease.

HEMSLEY'S WORM DESTROYING SYRUP.
Prepared by R. F Hemsley,
CHEMIST & PHARMACEUTIST, Easton Md

WHEN we consider the great number of children who die annually in our county by worms it becomes important that the public should be in possession of some Medicine for their removal, which will combine safety and efficiency in its employment, this desideratum is afforded by the Worm Destroying Syrup It is not my wish nor is it my design to throw around this preparation the unmeaning & extravagant eulogiums with which such medicines are usually ushered into notice. I only desire for it a fair & judicious trial to secure its approbation. The large and increasing sale of this article is the best proof of the value and estimation in which it is held by numerous & respectable families. The presence of worms may generally with readiness be detected by the following.

SYMPTOMS.

Variable appetite—foul tongue—fetid breath—full hard and tense belly—dull heavy expression of the Countenance—a bluish streak under the eye—itching at the nose—fullness of the upper lip—disordered and irregular bowels—starting and screaming in sleep—grinding of teeth—pain in the bowels & frequent drowsiness or convulsions, attended by slow fever.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Being acquainted with the general and successful use of Mr R. F. Hemsley's Worm Destroying Syrup I cheerfully recommend it to the public as a valuable remedy for the expulsion of worms.

TRIST. THOMAS, M D
I CONCUR IN THE ABOVE,
JAS. A. MUSE, M. D.
Easton March 20 1844

I have for the last two years used with success Mr. R F Hemsley's Worm Destroying Syrup Indeed I look upon it as a specific in those cases, and knowing its composition feel no hesitation in recommending it when worms exist.

WM. H THOMAS M D,
Easton March 23 1844

Having examined MR. R F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP,' and being conversant with its general and successful employment in Easton and the vicinity, I take much pleasure in recommending it to the public as a safe and efficient remedy for the expulsion of worms from the alimentary canal.

CHRIS. C. COX, M. D.
Easton March 7 1844

There is no anthelmintic preparation from the use of which I have seen better results than from MR R. F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP' having been made acquainted with its composition I can confidently recommend it not only as a vermifuge but as a gentle tonic suitable in those cases of debility occurring in consequence of the presence of worms in the stomach and bowels.

A. M WHITE, M D.
Talbot county March 26th 1844

From DR W. HEMSLEY

Having prescribed the 'Worm Destroying Syrup' with success in my neighbourhood I can confidently recommend it as superior to any other preparation offered to the public.

I have tried in a desperate case of worms Mr. R. F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP' and it proved immediately efficacious, this case had baffled the skill of Physicians previously, and the disease must soon have killed the servant. I feel it my duty to give this certificate in favour of the valuable medicine.
