POETRY.

From the Aristidean.

The Hope of the BROKEN-HEARTED.

BY MAYNE REID.

God of heaven! has she perished?
All on earth I ever cherished—
Can a hope not yet be nourished?
Say not, every hope is fled;
Friend! physician! save her—save her!
Oh! but knew you how I love her,
You would try your soul's endeavor—
It is vain then—she is dead.

Dead and gone, I know not whither!
But her soul returns not hither!
Could I only follow thither
Thither joying would I fly—
For in life is no more gladness
Only sorrowing and sadness;
Living longer would be madness,
It is better far to die.

Oh! then tell me not that sorrow,
Such as mine can ever borrow
Consolation from the morrow:—
Morrow knows no joy for me;
For each day brings some fresh token,
That in vain kind words are spoken
To the heart that has been broken—
Ever broken must it be!

• • • • • • •

Shrouded in her long dark tresses,
Feels she not my wild caresses?
Feels she not the lip that presses—
Presses hot upon her brow!
Hears she not my widowed mourning?
No! that eye once passion burning,
Not an answer is returning;
Coldly staring at me now.

I have seen what men call fairest—
Each may think his own the rarest—
But my soul conceived her nearest
The embodiment of love;
She is there still—look upon her!
For not yet decay hath won her—
And though death's damp hand is on her,
Does she not your pulses move!

Saw you e'er a cheek so tender?
Or a hand so white and slender?
Or a waist that would engender,
Such a yearning to caress?
Saw you eye so liquid ever?
Or a lip so luring? Never!
'Twould have made your heart strings quiver,
But in life that lip to press.

And she loved me—she had sworn it—
She had won my heart, and worn it—
Oh! the anguish that had torn it,
They alone can know, who part
With the one and only being,
Who by nature's kind decreeing,
Hath been blended with their being,
And entwined around their heart.

She had neither father—mother—
Sister, none; nor yet a brother;
She and I were to each other
All the world and all its joy;
And from hearts each day united,
By our lips fresh vows were plighted—
And our soul's, with love benighted
Never dreamt of its alloy.

Oft at midnight from my sleeping,
I have woke and found her weeping,
And her jealous vigil keeping—
Keeping o'er me in my sleep;
For her love was ever jealous—
Never cold, and fearly jealous—
For the loss of such love, tell us,
Is it strange that now I weep?

Oh! then tell me not that sorrow
Such as mine can ever borrow
Consolation from the morrow—
Morrow knows no joy for me—
For each day brings some fresh token
That in vain are kind words spoken
To the heart that has been broken—
Ever broken must it be.

• • • • • •

And I know 'tis vain, and folly
Most profane and most unholy,
Thus to mourn, since fate hath lowly,
Lowly laid that lovely form;
Yet far vainer were the notion,
That a life-time of devotion
Could allay the wild emotion
Burning now my bosom warm.

No! I cannot cease to mourn her
Though 'tis God's own hand hath torn her,
And his angel that hath borne her,
To the home where angels dwell.
As I gaze, remembrance reading
In her dark eye's painful pleading,
Fresh my heart begins its bleeding,
And life seems a hopeless hell.

Oh! then tell me not that sorrow,
Such as mine, can ever borrow
Consolation from the morrow;
Morrow knows no joy for me:—
For each day brings some fresh token,
That in vain kind words are spoken,
To the heart that has been broken;
Ever broken must it be.

• • • • • •

And they tell me I am lonely—
To the world I seem so only—
But I never can be lonely;
For by day, in dreams by night,
There's a love-born spirit near me;
And she seems to see and hear me;
And her dark eye smile to cheer me,
With its pure and holy light,

In the sun at mid-day brilliance,
'Round me still her kind surveillance,
Luring woos to sweetest dalliance—
As when she was by my side:
And when night is closing o'er me,
In the darkling forms before me,
Then an angel watching o'er me,
Seems my own sweet spirit-bride.

In the midnight deep and sombre,
In my lone and voiceless chamber,
Pouring bliss into my slumber,
O'er my bosom dark eyes beam—
Till the sense is drunk—yet aching,
With a thrist that knows no slaking—
And my giddy soul awaking,
Half denies it was a dream!

Could a love so well united—
For our very souls were plighted—
Could such love by death be blighted—
Blighted never more to bloom?
Oh! give me hope that's sweeter—
Tell me—tell me I shall meet her,
And with burning kisses greet her,
In a land beyond the tomb!

Yes! amidst my desolation—
'Tis not fancy's false creation—
That a strange, sweet consolation
Heals my bleeding, broken heart:
And it tells me, 'twill be given,
For our hearts so rudely riven,
To unite again in heaven
Never—never more to part!

PROSPECTUS.

LEGISLATIVE REPUBLICAN.

IT is our purpose to resume this winter, the issue of the "LEGISLATIVE REPUBLICAN." From the even balance of power in the House, from the talent, on both sides, of which it is composed; and from the many important matters which will be brought to their consideration, the approaching session will be peculiarly interesting and exciting, and the Proceedings of the Legislature,—and particularly the views of its different Members expressed upon the floor, will doubtless be eagerly sought after by the people of the several counties. With a view to gratify this demand of the public, and to give our readers a full account of the Proceedings of the Legislature, and sketches of the Debates arising upon every Question of any importance, we propose issuing a semi-weekly.—This system which has been pursued by us alone for some winters past, and at considerable expense, has found favor with the public, and will, we hope procure for us a large extra subscription for the winter's issue. The Reports of Debates, as heretofore published by us, have never yet given ground of complaint for unfairness, or partiality; on the contrary, their faithfulness has elicited thanks and gratulation from nearly every speaker, even of the party to which our Editorial columns are opposed. We design to continue to give full, fair and impartial sketches of the discussions as they occur,—uninfluenced by any view or opinion of our own on the subject of Debate, and giving preference to the speakers of no party.

With this pledge to the general public, and the low price at which the paper will be issued, it is hoped that the "Legislative Republican," will find its way to every corner of the State.

The price of the "Legislative Republican," to be issued every Wednesday and Saturday, during the approaching session of the Legislature, will be $1.50, paid in advance. RILEY & DAVIS.

Annapolis, Nov. 29, 1845.

☞Publishers of papers througout the State, who will give this Prospectus an insertion (with this note annexed) and send one of their papers with this Prospectus marked therein, shall receive the "Legislative Republican," in exchange. An Editorial Notice will also oblige us.

HEMSLEY'S VEGETABLE

TONIC,

PREPARED BY

R. F. HEMSLEY,

PHARMACEUTIST,—Easton Md.

NO MEDICINE has acquired in so short a time so deserved a popularity; and none is prepared to present so honorable an array of certificates from the FACULTY OF MEDICINE and private individuals throughout the State as Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic. In moderate doses, regularly taken, this medicine is a sure preventive of Fever & Ague and Bilious Fever, while it affords in most instances a permanent cure when employed for the removal of these diseases In all cases of general debility arising from old age, protracted illness, or uniform delicacy and feebleness of constitution it is without question one of the most agreeable and efficient tonics ever offered to the public Let all who are afflicted apply to this remedy with the full expectation of perfect relief It promises nothing which it is not competent to perform; and must in a very short time be the remedy preferred to all others in the various forms of Fever and Ague and in cases of general debility Full directions for using it will accompany each bottle.

Certificates.

The undersigned, Physicians of Baltimore having been made acquainted with the ingredients composing "Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic," have no hesitation in saying that the compound, it properly used, cannot fail to conduce greatly to the accomplishment of the object proposed in its employment; and do therefore cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted public

J. K. MILLER, M. D.
Former President of Washington Med. Col and Profesor of Anat. Physiology, &c &c.
SAML. K. JENNINGS, M. D.
Profes. Materia Medica and Therapeutics. Washington Med. Col.
G. R. WRIGHT, M. D.
THOS OWINGS, M. D.
Fayette Street.

The preparation made by Mr. Hemsley Apothecary, Easton, Maryland, and known as "Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic," is in my opinion the best article ever offered to the public for the radical cure of that distressing affection, Intermittent Fever. This composition forms a pleasant bitters, and furnishes a most desirable tonic in cases of constitutional debility resulting from natural infirmity or the ravages of disease I have recommended this medicine extensively in my practice and have always found it to answer the desired purpose.

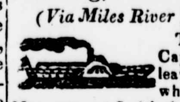

CHRIS C. COX, A. M M D.

Mr R. F. Hemsley. Sir:—This is to certify that for a long time I labored under the debilitating influence of that dreadful disease, Ague & Fever, and had recourse to many remedies recommended to me by Physicians and others, all of which proved unavailing. I heard of your celebrated Vegetable Tonic,' of which I procured two bottles, and before I had taken it all I was entirely restored, and have not since felt any symptoms of its return. It has accomplished more in my case than all other remedies put together, and I most cheerfully recommend it to all those persons who may be laboring under this most wretched disease.

HEMSLEY'S WORM DESTROYING SYRUP.

Prepared by R. F. Hemsley,

CHEMIST & PHARMACEUTIST, Easton Md.

WHEN we consider the great number of children who die annually in our county by worms it becomes important that the public should be in possession of some Medicine for their removal, which will combine safety and efficiency in its employment, this desideratum is afforded by the 'Worm Destroying Syrup.' It is not my wish, nor is it my design to throw around this preparation the unmeaning & extravagant eulogiums with which such medicines are usually ushured into notice. I only desire for it a fair & judicious trial to secure its full approbation. The large and increasing sale of this article is the best proof of the value and estimation in which it is held by numerous & respectable families. The presence of worms may generally with readiness be detected by the following.

SYMPTOMS.

Variable appetite—foul tongue—fetid breath—full hard and tense belly—dull heavy expression of the Countenance—a bluish streak under the eye—itching at the nose—puffiness of the upper lip—disordered and irregular bowels—starting and screaming in sleep—grinding of teeth—pain in the bowels & frequently drowsiness or convulsions, attended by slow fever.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Being acquainted with the general and successful use of Mr. R. F. Hemsley's Worm Destroying Syrup, I cheerfully recommend it to the public as a valuable remedy for the expulsion of worms.

TRIST. THOMAS, M. D

I CONCUR IN THE ABOVE,
JAS. A. MUSE, M. D,
Easton March 20 1844

I have for the last two years used with success Mr. R. F Hemsley's 'Worm Destroying Syrup' Indeed I look upon it as a specific in those cases, and knowing its composition feel no hesitation in recommending it where worms exist.

WM. H THOMAS, M D,
Easton March 23d 1844

Having examined MR. R. F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP,' and being conversant with its general and successful employment in Easton and the vicinity, I take much pleasure in recommending it to the public as a safe and efficient remedy for the expulsion of worms from the alimentary canal.

CHRIS. C. COX, M. D.
Easton March 7 1844

There is no authelmimtic preparation from the use of which I have seen better results than from MR R. F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP' having been made acquainted with its composition I can confidently recommend it, not only as a vermafuge but as a gentle tonic suitable in those cases of debility occurring in consequence of the presence of worms in the stomach and bowels.

A. M WHITE, M. D.
Talbot county March 26th 1844

From DR. W. HEMSLEY

Having prescribed the 'Worm Destroying Syrup' with success in my neighbourhood I can confidently recommend it as superior to any other preparation offered to the public.

I have tried in a desperate case of worms Mr. R. F. HEMSLEY'S 'WORM DESTROYING SYRUP,' and it proved immediately efficacious, this case had baffled the skill of Physicians previously, and the disease must soon have killed the servant. I feel it my duty to give this certificate in favour of the valuable medicine.
