ness were in person present to testify thereto, viz:

That said Thomas A. Murray as counsel for Holmes Bros. & Co., instituted proceedings in insolvency against said William B. Turner and William A. Turner in the Court of Common Pleas of Baltimore City; that in the course of the trial of said cause, William B. Turner testified, under oath, on cross-examination, in answer to the question whether he did not own a farm in Anne Arundel County, stated that he did, and in answer to the further inquiry as to "in whose name the deed stood", said I never got any deed, but the farm is assessed to me, and I pay taxes on it; I bought it through an agent, Mr. Beal, from the Farmers Bank of Maryland; I would not take eight thousand dollars for it; that said trial took place, and said testimony was given about the month of January, 1888, subject to all legal exceptions as to the admissibility thereof against the defendants or either of them in this cause.

Edward C. Gantt,
Richard M. Duvall,
Attys. for Plaintiff.
R. B. Tippett.
For Defendant

And the plaintiff here closed his case, and the defendants produced a witness:

Frank Turner, who testified, that he was a son of William B. and Louisa S. Turner; will be thirty nine years old next December; he was born in Baltimore; has lived thirty-four or thirty-five years on the place; mother has worked the farm during that period; father has been working at carpentering; father has had no connection with or management of the farm; mother raised trucking, which was hauled to Baltimore; witness went to market with truck; his mother went with him when he was small, and went with the other boys as they got old enough to go; witness gave all the money gotten from sale of marketing to his mother; he has not worked on the farm for some years; he left home two or three times; got tired of farming, and went to work at his trade as a carpenter; when witness left home one of the other boys took his place; witness did not stay away from home more than two months; mother always took charge of the farm; what mother did not do, we did; there were twelve of us children; eight boys; Will is the oldest, witness is next; there was a house on the place when we moved there; the dwelling has been repaired since we moved there; barn, corn house and outhouses have been built; witness remembers the building of the barn and stable; the frame for the barn was cut off the place; it was built for his mother; witness could not say who ordered the barn to be built; witness bought fertilizer for the place, by order of his mother; he never paid the taxes; he furnished some of the money; mother never gave him any money to pay taxes; witness was on the place a good deal; the money for taxes was gotten out of the place; father spent some time away from home in hospital, when he was blind; that was eighteen or twenty years ago; when father was working in Baltimore, sometimes he came home Saturday nights and sometimes on Sunday.

On cross-examination, witness testified, that he lived at home until he was twenty one years old; witness remembers the building of the barn; a meat house was built before the barn; does not know who built it; father had apprentice boys who worked on it; the wagon house was built I think under his father's direction; but I do not know;