Jas. McDowell (Ex-Governor of Virginia,) has been elected, without opposition, to Congress, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. Taylor, deceased.

Tremendous Storm at Norfolk.—The cities of Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va., were visted on Saturday night with a gale of unparalleled fury, which continued to rage until a late hour on Sunday night.

At Norfolk, the wharves and stores were all inundated, roofs blown off, and great damage done to the shipping.

The storm to the Eastward was very heavy. Between Baltimore and Comberland the snow is 2 feet deep on a level, and on the mountains 3 feet deep.

THE RICHMOND TRAGEDY—Death of John H. Pleasants, Esq.—Passengers from Richmond last night, bring us the melancholy intelligence of the death of John H. Pleasants, Esq., (late editor of the Whig,) from the wounds received on Wednesday, in the terrible rencontre with Thomas Ritchie, Jr., Esq., editor of the Enquirer.—He expired about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The Richmond papers received last night do not, of course, announce the death of Mr. Pleasants, as it took place after they were put to press. Only one of them give any further particulars of the affray. The Times states that a personal rencontre took place on the Manchester side of the river, between Mr. John Hampden Pleasants and Mr. Thos. Ritchie, Jr.—The former received five wounds—viz: in his arm, shoulder, upper part of the left breast, left hand, and upper and inner part of the thigh—of which, the last two are the most serious. Mr. Ritchie was not seriously hurt."

The death of Mr. Pleasants is thus announced in the Washington Union of Friday night.

We hear with profound regret of the death of John Hampden Pleasants, Esq., of Richmond, who breathed his last in that city at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. We regret, on every account, both the death of this gentleman, and the manner of it. He fell near Manchester, on the banks of the James river, opposite to Richmond, very early on Wednesday, in an unfortunate rencontre with one who is related to the editor of this paper by the tenderest ties. We had hoped that he would have survived his wounds; but it has been ordered otherwise It is not our duty to enter into the circumstances which have brought about this lamented catastrophe. But is it too much to ask a suspension of public opinion until all the circumstances of the case shall have been fully developed?

Mr. Pleasants had edited the Lynchburgh Virginian for several years, until the winter of 1823-'24, when he established the "Richmond Whig," one of the strongest papers in the South. He left that journal a few weeks since, when he associated himself in the editorship of the "Richmond Star." He was a gentleman of brilliant talents—one of the best writers in Virginia, and an able, experienced and ardent politican.

From the Richmond Times of Saturday.

Inquest over the body of the late John H. Pleasants.

An inquest was holden yesterday upon the body of JOHN H. PLEASANTS, deceased, before Coroner Robert T. Wicker, the examination before the Jury occupying nearly the whole day. Their verdict was that Thomas Ritchie, Jr., was guilty of the murder of Pleasants in a mutual combat had between them on the 25th inst., & that Peter Jefferson Archer, Washington Greenhow and William Scott were present, aiding and abetting in said combat and in said murder. The Coroner has issued his warrant to arrest said parties found guilty by the inquisition.

The Richmond Duel.—The Richmond papers are filled with accounts of the funeral, and with laudatory articles relative to the character of the much lamented John Hampden Pleasants. An appeal is made to his friends throughout the Union to aid in raising a fund for his orphan children and widowed mother.

Sad Accident.—A young man named Wm. S Richardson, residing near Hill Top, Md., was killed a few days ago by a tree falling upon him. He was about 22 years of age.

MELANCHOLY STEAMBOAT ACCIDENT.—Fifteen lives Lost.—The steamboat Saladin, from Nashville, came in contact, on the night of the 13th instant, when near Pilcher's Point, with the steamboat Congress, going up the river. Fifteen persons on board the Congress were killed by the collision or subsequently drowned; but their names are not given. The New Orleans Picayune says—

The cabin of the Congress separated from the hull and was towed down to Lake Providence by the Saladin. The hull of the Congress immediately sunk.

We learn further that in consequence of the collision the connecting pipes of the engine of the Congress burst, and severely scalded several of her passengers. The Brunette brought down some of the injured passengers of the Congress. and landed them at Vicksburgh.

☞The New Orleans papers received last night state that 15 or 20 persons were drowned and 10 scalded.

"Mrs. Bib's Baby" is the title of a series of papers which have been commenced in Punch since the discontinuance of the Caudle Lectures, and very agreeable reading they promise to be. The introductory chapters yet published but introduce us to the characters and the plan of the work.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We learn, says the Centreville Sentinel, that Mr. John Anthony died very suddenly at his residence, near Church Hill, a few days since. He left home in the morning for the purpose of attending to some business, and on his way back was taken sick—he scarcely reached his own door before he was a lifeless corpse.

Most Important Invention.—We are permitted to announce one of the most important discoveries of the age, being a new mode of propelling Steamboats, by which a speed of from twenty-five to thirty miles an hour may be obtained in navigating rivers or oceans! Models of the invention are now before the committee of the U. S. Senate on Naval affairs, and arrangements are being made to carry it into practical operation. It is the invention of a Pennsylvanian. It entirely supersedes paddle wheels, screw propellors, &c., &c., and has the merit of operating altogether under water beyond the reach of an enemy's fire. The state which gave birth to the great Fulton, has also the honor of claiming as her son the discoverer of this invention.—N. Y. Sun.

Two Sea Serpents in the Chesapeake Bay.—Capt. Lawson, of the schr. Empire, of Snow Hill, Md., has furnished the New Haven Courier with the following account of the two monsters of the deep seen by him at the mouth of the Chesapeake last week:

Capt. Lawson was at the time in charge of the wheel, when his vessel grated upon something, which he supposed to be a wreck, from the fact that a dark looking object, resembling at first glance a rusty spar, was at the same time seen standing erect, immediately by the side and above the railing. Soon, however, it was discovered to be a moving body, with a head and mouth, which was plainly marked by a reddish color along the side or about the jaws, and the captain with much alarm concluded that he was really and truly, instead of going over a wreck, in contact with the old fellow himself, the real "Sea Sarpint."

After the schooner had passed over him, it was observed that there were two in company. The one first seen raised himself from the water some 10 or 20 feet, and exhibited a body in length, as near as could be ascertained, full sixty feet. About ten feet from the head there commenced a swell as large as a barrel, covered at stated distances with nearly pointed projections, and reached in length about ten feet, and then ended quite abruptly, when the body again resumed its regular form, which was, the captain thinks, about the circumference of a schooner's spar.

The full length of the serpent, or whatever it may have been, was judged to be some hundred feet, its head small in proportion to its body. The wind being light, the two were seen together, to the leeward, for full half an hour, seemingly amusing themselves by alternately rising upon the top of the water, and then sinking again beneath the surface; their heads whenever above the water, were always observed pointing to the east.

The Mormons.—Speaking of the removal of these people, the St. Louis Republican states that the ten or twelve hundred who have already crossed the river from Nauvoo "are encamped on Sugar Creek, Iowa, seven miles distant. Among them are the Twelve, the High Council, all the principal men of the church, and about one hundred females. They were several days and nights in getting across the river. It is the plan of the leaders to send this company forward as a pioneer corps. They are to proceed about five hundred miles westward, where they are to halt, build a village, and put in a spring crop. They are to remain there until those who follow in the spring reach them, when another pioneer company will start for a point five hundred miles still further west, where they will stop, build a village, and put in a fall crop. The company remaining behind will, in the spring, move on to this second station, and in this manner they hope to accomplish the long journey which is in contemplation. Many of those who now go as pioneers are to return, so soon as their crop is in, for their families. There is a spice of romance about this arrangement for their journey——an apparent indifference to the sufferings which they must undergo—a confidence in the plans and orders of their church leaders—which must attract some portion of the public sympathy, even though it be undeserved. Their future journeyings will be observed with interest."

Mount Calvary Church.—This new and beautiful edifice, situate at the corner of Madison and Eutaw streets, was consecrated on Thursday 19th ult—the Right Rev. Bishop Whittingham officiating on the occasion. A large number of the reverend clergy were present at the ceremony, and the Rev. Messrs. Van Dusen, Peck, Pendleton, Harrison and Goldsborough, took part in the services. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Atkinson. The music was by the choir of St. Paul's Church. The installation of the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Miller took place yesterday morning, with the usual impressive services of the Episcopal Church. The pews in the church have all been taken with the exception of one or two. The following description of the bulding we copy from the American of yesterday morning: "The style of the Gothic chosen in the design is that known as the Early Pointed, or Lancet style, which, on account of its simplicity, admits of being executed at less cost than any other of the different "periods" of the Gothic. The plan of the Church is cruciform, the arms, as in the Creek cross, being equal, and the chancel occupying the head of the cross. Each of the fronts is gabled, the side gables being pierced with three lancet windows, and the chancel having a triple window. The tower occupies part of the south end, from which it projects, and will be 145 feet high from the sidewalk when the spire is added. The side windows are filled with yellow tinted glass, each frame being bordered into a quarter foil; the chancel window is filled with rich stained glass. The vestibule is under the tower and a stair leads to the gallery from the left. The gallery, including the organ loft, extends across the south end. The dimensions of the church including the arms and the tower, are 65 feet wide by 75 feet long. The walls are of brick. In the interior, the Church is finished with an open roof ceiling, showing a portion of the timber framing which is tinted of a dark walnut color. The walls are colored a light warm stone tint, and the pews, which are open seats without doors, are stained of a dark walnut hue. The organ gallery is supported on brackets and contains a neat organ, in a dark wood case, made by Mr. Thomas Hall, of this city. The pulpit, lectern, chancel, railing, table and chancel furniture are all of solid walnut, of rich and appropriate design. Against the wall, back of the altar, and under the triple window is an altar screen of dark wood, with a series of lancet arches—the middle two of which are filled with Tables of the Law. A stone font, the gift of the architect, stands on the platform front of the chancel railing. The effect of the interior owing to the dark color of the woodwork throughout is peculiary solemn and effective, and is thoroughly church-like. The whole has been designed by and built under the direction of Mr. R. C. Long, architect. The lot on which the Church is built was given for the purpose by Jno. B. Morris, Esq.

MR. GAZETTE:—Will you do an anxious inquirer and an injured citizen the favor to inform the public, if you can, what was the object of the transportation and where the place of destination, of a wagon load of live stock, led by an elderly looking gentlemen, which passed on the road leading from Easton to Centreville on the evening of the 5th inst. If you are acquainted with the team do an injured citizen the favor to ask them by the same process to scare the dogs back again, which I presume, they frightened away by their melodious music. If you do no not know any thing about them, inquire of the Centreville Times if they arrived there & who they were. NEHEMIAH.

The Gazette owned a share of the above stock and can inform Nehemiah, that the place of destination was not Centreville but the house of one of our worthy and hospitible citizens, whose neglect to invite Nehi to partake of that hospitality, has no doubt caused his ire to rise. C.

"How deep is beauty? saith the sage
"Skin deep" replies the present age
"I dont believe it" one would say
As Tristram did the other day
When skimming on the snowy sleet
His basket loosened from the seat
And threw the Lady on the street:
Which, meeting with an awkward grace
Instead of kissing—skinned her face,
"Oh night and storm"—yet ye may sleep
For beauty lingers but skin deep
And all the graces now must weep.
But no! We whisper deeper far
For blushing beauty shows the scar.
And that is—if I so may speak
A beauty spot upon her cheek.

ABRAHAM'S SON.

At Burlington, (Vt.) snow fell to the depth of fourteen inches on the 1st day of December; and from that time until the present, (twelve weeks,) the sleighing has been excellent, and weather uniform and pleasant. The Lake at that point, where it is twelve miles wide, closed on the 9th inst. and heavily laden sleighs cross upon it regularly.—N. Y. Cour.

The storm on Sunday of last week was very severe in Canada. The Hamilton Express says the fall of snow was the greatest that has been experienced for several years. In some places the snow drifted twelve feet deep, and on the level it is quite too deep for good sleighing.—ib.

Texas.—The Houston Morning Star informs its readers there is little doubt that Generals Houston and Rusk will be chosen to the United States Senate from Texas.

Death of Dr. Braddee, the Mail Robber.—On Friday night, this notorious and in many respects remarkable man, died in his cell, in the Pennsylvania Western Penitentiary. He was convicted of robbing the mails and imprisoned, it will be remembered, in 1841, pursuant to sentence by Judge Baldwin, for ten years. So soon as he became convinced that his recovery was impossible, he confessed his guilt, and although we are restrained by prudential considerations, from further allusion to this point, we may venture to add, that in his confession he has implicated several persons who had not been suspected of participating in his crimes.

WAR OR NO WAR.—The eyes of the whole world are now turned upon the two great nations of England and America.—The young republic, encouraged by her success in getting Texas between her thumb and finger, now says, Texas we have got, Oregon we will, California we must have. This has thrown the world into a fever,—England jealous of the prosperity of her rival & anxious to dispose of some of her vast surplus pauper population, is assuming a very belligerent attitude. Commerce & stocks are fluctuating—peace societies tottering—merchants, politicians, brokers, stock jobbers, and all classes both sides, are anxious for news and the result. During all this excitement about saving or gaining a few more acres of land, or dollars and cents, there is a very large class of the human family, confined within the walls of the sick chamber, much more anxious to know how they shall be saved from death. All the lands and money in the world, would they give be to restored. To all such who are suffering with chronic diseases, asthma, liver complaint & consumption, Dr. Wistar presents his proclamation of peace, health, prosperity and happiness. See Treatise on Consumption; with directions for using his Balsam of Wild Cherry,

EDITED

In this town on Saturday night last, 28th Feb., Mrs. SUSAN EDMONSON, at an advanced age—consort of the late John Edmondson, Esq., of this county.

Near Easton on Sunday night last, 1st inst., after a severe illness, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Faulkner, wife of Mr. Thomas Faulkner, in the 29th year of her age.

OBITUARY.

Died in this town on Wednesday evening 2d, inst. Mrs. SARAH SHERWOOD, in the 67th year of her age. A lady of excellent mind—dignified and accomplished manners, and sterling worth of character. As a mother she was all that can be expressed by that simple but affecting appellation—as a friend she was cheerful, confiding, sincere—as a christian unostentatious and exemplary.—She lived in the practice of those virtues which adorn and exalt human character, and died full of peace and holy resignation. For years the hand of affliction had been preparing her for the solemn change by which her spirit was at length transferred from a scene of trouble and infirmity, to one of unchanging enjoyment.

Ah! what is human life
How, like the dials tardy moving shade,
Day after day slides from us unperceived!
The cunning fugitive is swift by stealth;
Too subtle is the movement to be seen;
Yet soon the hour is up—and we are gone!

Electro Galvanic Battery.

THE Subscriber having purchased the right of the county to COAD'S Patent Galvanic Battery for medical purposes is prepared to operate upon such persons as may desire it, at his residence in Easton, every day between the hours of 9¼ and 1 A. M and 2¼ and 5 P. M

In a coming paper will be published certificates from the highest medical authority in regard to its efficiency as a remedial agent in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Epilepsy, functional disorder of the Liver and Spleen, Dyspepsia, Head-ache, Tooth ache, chronic Blindness & Deafness &c &c., as well as in a large class of the most distressing affections to which females are subject. The great value of Coad's instrument over every other known, is it's faculty of controlling, perfectly the electric fluid and communicating this wonderful agent without the slightest pain, and so gradually as to render it's application to the most delicate organs of both children and adults entirely safe.

As the number of applications is already large and increasing, it has become necessary to adopt the following rules, from which no deviation will be made.

1. All cases submitted for relief will be required to be brought to the operating room, unless disqualified by sickness or debility from leaving home, when they will be waited upon.

2. As the object is to afford relief to the afflicted the fees will be moderate, and expected to be paid after each operation.

CHRIS C COX, M D.

CERTIFICATES.

We have in our possession the strongest commendatory notices of Coad's Battery, from Professor's Horner, Jackson, Gibson, Miller, Pancoast, Mitchell, Dunglison Gubard &c, &c. of Philadelphia, besides a large number of certificates from distinguished private individuals who have either witnessed or experienced its beneficial effects: these will be shown to any who may desire to inspect them. Mr Coad has published a work recently, containing the favorable opinions of the most respectable part of the Press & letters of the strongest commendation from many who have been restored from the most distressing maladies by the timely application of his excellent Galvanic Battery. We insert but one which will be read with interest.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

About two years ago, in consequence of exposure to cold, whilst travelling, I was seized with paralysis of the right check; my eye on that side was completely turned outward, my countenance was distorted, the natural heat was gone, and I had no sense of feeling. It was impossible for me to stand upon my feet without support, in consequence of a giddiness in my head. I immediately called on my physician, who ordered bleeding, purging, low diet, caustic issues to the back of the neck, &c. with very little benefit. In a little time my right side became partially paralysed from head to foot, and my left completely. My body and arms felt as if corded, and a sensation of pain all over.—My fingers felt benummed and extremely weak, so much so, that I was unable to button my clothes. My lower extremities from the junction of the lumber vertebræ to the toes, felt as if corded tight, causing acute pain when walking. When I lay down in bed, I was compelled to remain in the same position all night, not being able to turn myself. After consulting a number of physicians in New York without any benefit, I came on to this city in hopes of obtaining relief; and; after consulting some of the most respectable physicians, was told I must remain thankful for the state I was in, that is, that my life was spared, for it was impossible for me to be ever better, as my nerves were destroyed in my brain.

Soon after this, I applied to Mr. Coad of this city, who commenced to operate on me with his patented Electro Galvanic apparatus. These operations were continued once a day for about three months, and have produced the most astonishing and salutary effect; the pain is quite gone; my strength and activity restored; my health is perfectly good: the only difficulty I have remaining is in walking, and that is now greatly improving, and through the blessing of God, will be enable to resume my duties as a Clergyman, on my return to New York.

Mr. Coad's valuable apparatus has opened a new era in the medicial science, nervous and other diseases on which the usual treatment has no good effect, are now perfectly cured by this gentleman's operations.

During my time of going to his office, he cured Mrs. Jones, a very old lady, of the tic douloureux, Mr. C. Heydrick, whose left arm was palsied, and some others, who stated that they had been abandoned by their physicians as incurable.

I consider it my duty to state simply these important facts to the public, and particularly to the afflicted, to some of whom it might be highly interesting to have correct information respecting these cures, and the means by which they are effected.
