POETRY.

For the Easton Gazette.

To the Waning Moon.

Declining Queen of pensive night,
Emblem of man's decay!
Thy indistinct, but solemn light,
Shorn of its proud array,
A pleasing melancholy wakes
Within the human heart, and shakes
Its day-dreams all away.

Thou speak'st of pomps and glories fled,
Of life's vain pageants gone:
The gothic piles of the mighty dead
That once in splendour shone,
Clad in thy sacred vestal hue,
A holier splendour then renew,
A purer pomp put on.

A tone of sympathy there seems
From their rustling ivy borne;
As if some spirits, 'neath thy beams
Had come, with man to mourn—
To tell him—Suns may cease to roll,
But man's divine and deathless soul
No tomb may e'er inurn.

Well may we feel, inspired by thee
All lovely as thou art,
A thought of immortality,
A joy in grief impart:
Well may we feel that Earth is not
The place of man's eternal lot,
The home to fill his heart!

So, mortal! spend thy joyful day,
That when its sun is fled,
Thy sainted moon's declining ray
Around thy dying bed
A gleam may pour, of sacred peace,
And Heaven's own Sun, when Earth's shall cease,
Eternal light may shed. IOTA.

Fail Me Not Thou.

BY N. P. WILLIS.

"Oh, by that little word
How many thoughts are stirr'd;
The last, the last, the last!"

The star may but a meteor be,
That breaks upon the stormy night;
And I may err, believing thee
A spark of heaven's own changeless light!
But if on earth beams aught so fair,
It seems, of all the lights that shine,
Serenest in its truth 'tis there,
Burning in those soft eyes of thine.

Yet long watched stars from heaven have rush'd,
And long loved friends have dropped away,
And mine—my very heart has crush'd!
And I have hoped this very day,
It lived no more for love or pain;
But thou hast stirr'd its depths again,
And to its dull unwearied ear,
The voice of melody hath crept,
In tones it cannot choose but hear;
And now I feel it only slept,
And know, at even thy lightest smile,
It gathered fire and strength the while.

Fail me not thou, this feeling past,
My heart would never rouse again,
Thou art the brightest, but the last,
And if this trust, this love is vain—
If thou, all peerless as thou art,
Be not less fair and true of heart—
My loves are o'er: the sun will shine
Upon no grave so hushed as this dark breast of mine.

SPEAK NO ILL.

BY CHARLES SWAIN.

Nay, speak no ill!—a kindly word
Can never leave a sting behind,
And oh! to breathe each tale we've heard
Is far beneath a noble mind.
Full oft a better seed is sown
By choosing thus the kinder plan;
For if but little good be known,
Still let us speak the best we can.

Give me the heart that fain would hide—
Would fain another's fault efface;
How can it pleasure human pride
To prove humanity but base?
No, let us reach a higher mood,
A nobler estimate of man;
Be earnest in the search for good
And speak of all the best we can.

Then speak no ill—but lenient be
To others' failing as your own;
If you're the first a fault to see,
Be not the first to make it known,
For life is but a passing day,
No lip may tell how brief its span;
Then, oh! the little time we stay,
Let's speak of all the best we can.

ELOPEMENT.—The Hartford Times, of Monday, contains an account of the elopement of a Mrs. King, of that city, with two Mormon Elders. Mrs. K. leaves a husband and a child, it is supposed, for Nauvoo or California, and the society of the Mormons. Till about a year since, she was a member of the Fourth Congregational Church in that city, since which she has embraced, with four others, the Mormon faith, and finally has been beguiled away from home and friends, by those in the faith.

Upon this subject, the Times thus pointedly moralises.

These Mormons and other Elders, who go about doing good, will not secure public confidence by inducing wives and mothers to leave their homes to journey with their Eldershire. Mormon ladies (if the Elders have left any behind,) we would suggest to you the propriety of sticking close by your husbands and your homes and let the Elders take care of themselves. Believe what you please, but don't run away with straggling Elders; and other missionaries who manifest unusual sympathy for our temporal and eternal welfare. Remember that there are as good churches and good husbands in Connecticut as may be found in the world."

LAWS OF MARYLAND.

Passed at the December Session 1845, of the Legislature of Maryland, relative to the Revenue of the State.

AN ACT, entitled "A Supplement to an Act,"—an act for the establishment and regulation of the Levy Courts in the several counties of this State, passed at November session, 1794, chapter 53.

Whereas, by the second section of the original act, the bonds of the collectors of the taxes therein mentioned, with the protests thereof, are required to be recorded by the clerks of the Levy Courts, and attested copies of the same, from the records, are made evidence in law, in actions of debt for the breach of the condition thereof; and whereas, by the act of March session, 1841, chapter 23, section 45, and the 1st section of the act of December session, 1843, chapter 208, the bonds of the collectors of the direct taxes imposed for the use of this State are required to be recorded, as other collector's bonds are now required by law to be recorded, and whereas, in some of the counties of this State, it is understood that the Levy Courts and the Commissioners of the Taxes keep no full and complete records of their proceedings and none of them are provided with seals for the authentication of their proceedings—for remedy of all which.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that the bonds of the collectors of the taxes imposed or to be imposed for the use of this State, shall be recorded in the offices of the Clerks of the several counties and Howard District, and that attested copies thereof, under the official sale of the said clerks, shall be evidence in the courts of law and equity in this State.

Section 2. And be it enacted, that the bond of such of the collectors as may heretofore have been recorded in the offices of the respective county courts, and Howard District, shall notwithstanding, be as valid and effectual for all purposes whatsoever, as if they had been recorded by the Clerks of the Levy Courts as directed by the said original act, and copies thereof, under seal, shall likewise be evidence in all courts of law and equity in this State.

Electro Galvanic Battery.

THE Subscriber having purchased the right of the county to COAD'S Patent Galvanic Battery, for medical purposes is prepared to operate upon such persons as may desire it at his residence in Easton, every day between the hours of 9½ and 1 A. M and 2½ and 5 P M.

In a coming paper will be published certificates from the highest medical authority in regard to its efficiency as a remedial agent in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Epilepsy, functional disorder of the Liver and Spleen, Dyspepsia, Head-ache, Tooth ache, chronic Blindness & Deafness &c &c., as well as in a large class of the most distressing affections to which females are subject. The great value of Coad's instrument over every other known, is it's faculty of controlling perfectly the electric fluid and communicating this wonderful agent without the slightest pain, and so gradually as to render it's application to the most delicate organs of both children and adults entirely safe.

As the number of applications is already large and increasing, it has become necessary to adopt the following rules, from which no deviation will be made.

1. All cases submitted for relief will be required to be brought to the operating room, unless disqualified by sickness or debility from leaving home, when they will be waited upon.

2. As the object is to afford relief to the afflicted the fees will be moderate, and expected to be paid after each operation.

CHRIS C COX, M D.

CERTIFICATES.

We have in our possession the strongest commendatory notices of Coad's Battery, from Professor's Horner, Jackson, Gibson, Milter, Pancoast Mitchell, Dunglison, Gubard &c. &c. of Philadelphia: besides a large number of certificates from distinguished private individuals who have either witnessed or experienced its beneficial effects: these will be shown to any who may desire to inspect them. Mr Coad has published a work recently, containing the favorable opinions of the most respectable part of the Press & letters of the strongest commendation from many who have been restored from the most distressing maladies by the timely application of his excellent Galvanic Battery. We insert but one which will be read with interest.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

About two years ago, in consequence of exposure to cold, whilst travelling, I was seized with paralysis of the right cheek; my eye on that side was completely turned outward, my countenance was distorted, the natural heat was gone, and I had no sense of feeling. It was impossible for me to stand upon my feet without support, in consequence of a giddiness in my head. I immediately called on my physician, who ordered bleeding, purging, low diet, caustic issues to the back of the neck, &c. with very little benefit. In a little time my right side became partially paralysed from head to foot, and my left completely. My body and arms felt as if corded, and a sensation of pain all over.—My fingers felt benummed and extremely weak, so much so, that I was unable to button my clothes. My lower extremities from the junction of the lumber vertebræ to the toes, felt as if corded tight, causing acute pain when walking. When I lay down in bed, I was compelled to remain in the same position all night, not being able to turn myself. After consulting a number of physicians in New York without any benefit, I came on to this city in hopes of obtaining relief; and; after consulting some of the most respectable physicians, was told I must remain thankful for the state I was in, that is, that my life was spared, for it was impossible for me to be ever better, as my nerves were destroyed in my brain.

Soon after this, I applied to Mr. Coad of this city, who commenced to operate on me with his patented Electro Galvanic apparatus. These operations were continued once a day for about three months, and have produced the most astonishing and salutary effect; the pain is quite gone; my strength and activity restored; my health is perfectly good: the only difficulty I have remaining is in walking, and that is now greatly improving, and through the blessing of God, will be enable to resume my duties as a Clergyman, on my return to New York.

Mr. Coad's valuable apparatus has opened a new era in the medicial science, nervous and other diseases on which the usual treatment has no good effect, are now perfectly cured by this gentleman's operations.

During my time of going to his office, he cured Mrs. Jones, a very old lady, of the tic douloureux, Mr. C. Heydrick, whose left arm was palsied, and some others, who stated that they had been abandoned by their physicians as incurable.

I consider it my duty to state simply these important facts to the public, and particularly to the afflicted, to some of whom it might be highly interesting to have correct information respecting these cures, and the means by which they are effected.

WISTER'S BALSAM OF

WILD CHERRY,

THE great remedy for Consumption, & the best medecine known to Man for Asthma of every stage, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Influenza, Coughs, Colds, Bleeding of the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, pains and weakness in the side, breast, &c. and all other diseases of the PULMONARY ORGANS.

A very important disease over which this "Balsam" exerts a very powerful influence, is that of a DISEASED LIVER In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances when patients had endured long and severe suffering from the disease. without receiving the least benefit from various remedies, and when Mercury has been resorted to in vain, the use of this Balsam has restored the Liver to a healthy action, and in many instances effected PERMANENT CURES after every known remedy had failed to produce this desired effect.

Besides its astonishing efficacy in the diseases above mentioned, we also find it a very effectual remedy in ASTHMA, a complaint in which it has been extensively used with decided success, even in cases of years standing.

It not only emanates from a regular Physician, but has also been well tested in all the complaints for which it is recommended. It is not my intention, therefore, either to cloak it in mistery, or in any way deceive the public by overrating its virtues, on the contrary, I shall simply endeavour to give a brief statement of its usefulness, and flatter myself that its surprising efficacy will enable me to furnish such proofs of its virtues as will satisfy the most incredulous that Consumption may and "Can be Cured," if this medicine be resorted to in time.

Opinions of a regular Physician.

Exeter, Me. Sept, 30, 1845.

This certifies that I have recommended the use of WISTER'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY for diseases of the Lungs, for two years past and many bottles to my knowledge have been used by my patients, all with beneficial results. In two cases where it was thought confirmed consumption had taken place, the Wild Cherry effected a cure. E BOYEN, Physician, at Exeter Corner.

NO QUACKERY! NO DECEPTION!

All published statements of cures performed by this medicine, are, in every respect, TRUE. BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS & IMITATIONS

The unparalleled and astonishing efficacy of Dr. Wister's Balsam of Wild Cherry in all the diseases for which it is recommended, curing many cases after the skill of the best physicians was unavailing, has effected a large & increasing demand for it. This fact has caused several unprincipled counterfeiters and imitators to palm off spurious mixtures of similar name and appearance, for the genuine Balsam

Be careful and get the genuine DR. WISTER'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. None genuine unless signed by I BUTTS. Address all orders to SETH W. FOWLE, Boston Mass.

PROSPECTUS.

The Western Continent,

A weekly newspaper of Literature and Art independent in Politics, just in Criticism.

Edited by PARK BENJAMIN,

Late editor of the New World, and W. S. THOMPSON, late editor of the Augusta Mirror, and author of "Major Jones' Courtship," "Chronicles of Pineville," &c.

The favorable auspices under which this journal is commenced, and the warm encouragement with which it has been welcomed in all parts of the country, are positive assurances of its success. The fullest arrangements have been made to carry it on with spirit, energy and effect. Editors, whose reputations are established, have been permanently engaged; the most able and popular writers have been enlisted; the abundent treasures of European literature will be brought hither and profusely lavished—indeed the whole world of letters, wherever genius flourishes and learning spreads, will be put under contribution to give strength, beauty and variety to "The Western Continent."

It presents a weekly compend of news, culled with care from every foreign and domestic source, and a digest of all kinds of information, literary, scientific, political, religious—interesting alike to the scholar and the man of business.

It is devoted to Southern and Western interests, not as opposed to those of the North and East, but as consonant with right and justice—interests bestowed by the Constitution, and indispensable to the maintenance of the Union of the States. It seeks to subdue sectional jealousies, cherish sentiments of amity, expand the affections as well as the intellect of men, and build upon the neutral ground of letters, a new temple to Concord, where all parties may meet and be brothers. Conciliation is it aim; Truth its guide.

It shall be worthy of its name—"THE WESTERN CONTINENT," our country, our whole country, new states and old states, new territories and old territories, ours by position, ours by occupation,—however ours, if ours be right—shall be contended for, defended and maintained, according to an humble ability, but with a fearless spirit.

A great deal more than this might be said; but "brevity is the soul of wit" and much can be expressed in a few words.—We shall promise little and perform much. Try us reader and judge for yourself.—Without another thought on the subject, pray forward the very insignificant sum of two dollars—it could not be better expended—and your name & address directed to

THE NATIONAL PRESS,

A JOURNAL FOR HOME;

A REPOSITORY OF LETTERS; A RECORD OF ART; A MIRROR OF PASSING EVENTS.

To be published every Saturday, at 2 Dollars a Year, in advance.

GEO. P. MORRIS, Editor & Proprietor.

A number of the most eminent literary persons of this country, have proposed to the undersigned to publish, under the above title,

A REFINED AND VALUABLE NEWSPAPER,

Upon a plan combining the highest resources of National talent with the best elements of extensive popularity, and at so trifling an annual cost, as will place it within the convenient reach of all classes of society.

The control and management of this publication will form the exclusive and undivided attention of the Editor—whose long experience, ample facilities and practised care, will be exerted to select, unite and harmonise the various skill which is willing to seek development under his direction. The scope, design and character of this paper will differ from those of any journals heretofore established, while it will comprehend all that they contain of importance to the community. The contents will be fitted to engage the attention of the man of business, and be a source of elegant instruction and entertainment to the domestic fireside and family circle.

The leading characteristics of this paper will be as follows:

1 Early and Copious Intelligence of all interesting occurrences in Literature, Society & Art, both at home and abroad

2 A Foreign Correspondence of tried popularity and acknowledged merit has been engaged, and will be commenced with the first number,

3. Productions in fiction, romance and historical narrative; Sketches of the taste and manner of the time; Essay, after the manner of the Tattler and Spectator, on subjects connected with social interests; biographical notices and anecdotes, literary and professional; bon mots, epigrams and elegant trifles of every kind; the rumors of the day and the comments that float upon the conversation of the hour—materials of this kind will form the ordinary staple of the work.

4 The department of Criticism will exhibit a discriminating and popular survey of the Literary Productions of the day. There will be a thorough and careful chronicle of every thing of value accomplished in Painting and Sculpture and a candid and patriotic estimate of the National productions in comparison with other countries Such exposition of the character and special excellencies of what is exhibited in Music will be constantly given as may lead to the more intelligent enjoyment of that most imaginative and delicate branch of the Fine Arts.

5. No original papers will appear, but those of obvious and decided merit; and the selections (which will commonly be from the foreign journals the least known in this country) will be made with the utmost attention and care.

The predominant design of the Editor is to add to the Republic of Letters a Weekly Journal, distinctly and decidedly national in tone and features, and at the same time, to avoid all connection with mere party politics. THE NATIONAL PRESS will, in brief, combine the striking and novel attractions of the newspaper, with the more abiding interest of the higher class of periodicals. It will be printed in the folio form, on large and superior paper, on a new and clear type obtained expressly for the purpose, and will be in its whole arrangement and details, a favorable specimen of the best typographical skill of the country. In addition to these, and as one of its most valuable peculiarities, it will be, in reference to the diversity of talent will that be employed upon it, the cheapest paper in the United States,

It will be sent by mail to all parts of the United States, and to the British Provinces, done up in strong wrappers, with the utmost punctuality and despatch.

Postmasters are requested to act as agents, receive subscriptions, and make remittances.

The first number will be issued on SATURDAY, the fourteenth of February next.
