Mr. Sevier made a few more remarks by way of reply to Mr. Archer, and alluded to a letter said to have been written by Gen'l. Scott recently to the Secretary of War, in relation to the command of the army, which letter he wished to see. He offered an amendment to the resolution, calling for copies of correspondence between General Scott and the War Department on the subject, which amendment he changed at the suggestion of Mr. J. M. Clayton so as to elicit more of Gen. Scott's course in offering to take the command of the army.

Mr. Johnson, of La., thought that Gen. Gaines had done right, and said the Governor of Louisiana and the people of that State had sanctioned and applauded his energetic and patriotic conduct.

Mr. Johnson of Md addressed the Senate at some length in an impassioned burst of patriotic eloquence, justifying the course of Gen. Gaines—showing the necessity for it—showing that a part of it had been sanctioned and approved by the Administration, which was equivalent to its sanction of the whole; showing that the same course had been done before, on sundry occasions, in 1836 and in 1841—and that the law of necessity, which some times must come up, justified it.

Mr. Webster next took the floor and replied to Mr. Johnson with more than his usual animation and eloquence, in which he repudiated the idea that there could be, under any circumstances, or in any contingency, a law of necessity greater than, and above, the constitution and laws of the country. He asked how this law of necessity would furnish supplies and money for carrying on the war. He expounded and defended the Constitution against what he conceived to be a dangerons assault on the part of his honorable friend from Maryland.

Mr. Johnson, of Maryland, rose to rejoin. He said there were cases when the constitution and laws were necessarily silent. And he asked Mr. Webster if he denied that? The latter said, "Yes, I do." Mr. Johnson continued and asked if the honorable Senator from Massachussetts had been one of General Gaines' volunteers on the battle ground at Palo Alto, would have gone into the battle? Mr. Webster replied, he would, under the law of duty! Mr. Johnson continued and asked if the enemy were surrounding the city of Baltimore, threatening its demolition, and it could only be saved by raising a defensive force in advance of the slow pace of the law, ought the officers and the people to fold their arms and wait for the forms of law to be gone through with, while Baltimore should be razed to the ground? He said he could suggest an hundered cases where the laws and constitution must necessarily be silent. They were not made for these extraordinary contingencies. A man's life might be threatened and taken, if he did not in selfdefence take that of him who threatened it.

Mr. Webster again spoke in further illustration of his position. He said the cases cited by his friend from Maryland were not analogous. He hoped he would throw his person into the battle in behalf of his country, and face danger as long as any one, and do as much as him who would do most, and go as far as him who would go farthest; but that was a totally different case from the one under consideration. Gen. Gaines might have called for 25,000 volunteers as well as for half that number; and General Scott, being a little more scared, might have called for 50,000 more; and then the President, growing pale with fright, might call for 100,000 more still. It could all be done under the gentleman's law of necessity, if that were to be allowed. He was sorry to hear his friend advance such a doctrine.

Some further remarks were offered by Messrs. Archer, Cass, Allen, Crittenden, Calhoun, and J. M. Clayton.

Mr. Crittenden was very eloquent and patriotic. His speech was one of his happiest outbursts of impassioned oratory.—He gloried in the achievements of our noble little army—spoke in the warmest terms of General Taylor, his prudence, valor and energy—said he had never indulged in a fear that our little army would fail of success—that he felt assured from the first, that after taken Matamoras and giving the Mexicans a good drubbing, there would be no more war—and closed by hoping that success would attend our arms.

A motion to lay the whole subject on the table was lost: yeas 11, nays 36.

Mr. Sevier's amendment was then adopted, and the resolution passed.

On motion, the Senate Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 9.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Vinton, from the investigating Committee, made a report in behalf of himself, (W.,) Seaborn Jones (L. F.,) D. P. King, (W.,) and Jefferson Davis, (L. F.,) entirely exonerating Daniel Webster from Mr. Ingersoll's charges. They say that the letter of Mr. F. O. J. Smith, to which Mr. Ingersoll referred, might if unexplained, seem to sustain Mr. I., but explained, as it had been, it did not. The report ends with a resolution that the testimony be sealed, marked confidential and filed away in the archives, subject to the call of the House.

Mr. Brinkerhoff, of Ohio, (L. F.) made a minority report in behalf of himself, taking a sort of betwixt and between ground upon the merits of the case, and closing with a resolution that both reports be laid on the table and printed; and that the committee be discharged.

Mr. Douglass moved to lay the reports on the table and print them, which was carried by a vote of 167 to 16. This does not print the testimony which is to be sealed up and filed away.

Mr. G. Davis asked leave to present a report from the Select Committee on public printing, which was objected to and given up.

The House next proceeded to the consideration of territorial business.

An amendment to the bill authorizing the sale of the mineral lands was adopted; directing said lands to be offered for sale one year at $2,50 per acre, and then reduced to the price of other public lands.

The House is still engaged on Territorial bills, and passed the one admitting Iowa into the Union. The House is still in session as this despatch closes.

EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, MD.

Saturday Morning, June, 13.

☞Mr. V. B. PALMER is our authorized agent to receive subscriptions and advertisements for the "Easton Gazette," in the cities of Baltimore, Philadelphia & N. York

It will be seen, by the proceedings in the House of Representatives on Tuesday, that the investigating committee have entirely exonerated the Hon. Daniel Webster from Mr. Ingersol's charges.

Cabinet Rumors.—The New York Journal of Commerce says there is to be a general change in the Cabinet consequent upon the adjustment of the Oregon question.

Mr. Buchanan is to retire from the State Department. Some say Mr. Rush will succeed him.

Mr. Walker may be transferred to the War Department. That part of the arrangement I doubt.

Mr. Haywood will take Mr. Bancroft's place, and Mr. B. will go abroad.

Mr. McLane will return from England immediately.

The Alexandria Gazette says:—We must now contradict a contradiction. The marble mantlepiece at Mount Vernon was not accidentally broken by a servant; or has the piece broken off been found. It was injured by some person unknown, and the fragment carried off, and has not since been returned or heard of. This shameful mutilation will, probably, now only be known to the perpetrator, who will have to hug the precious secret to his own bosom, and hide the relic in his own private drawer.

Steamboat Explosion and Loss of Life. The steamboat Queen City, at Natchez, burst her steam pipe on Wednesday, killing 7 passengers and badly scalding 38—five of whom have since died, the others were sent to the hospital. The killed and wounded were principally German emigrants.

From the Balt. Sun of yesterday.

LATER FROM MEXICO.

By the brig Helen McLeod, Capt. Marston, arrived at New Orleans form Vera Cruz, the Delta has papers from that city to the 24th ult., being three days later than those brought by the barque Louisiana.

The editor of the Indicator of the 24th ult., says that he has been informed, from a very reliable source, that the steamers Montezuma and Guadaloupe had actually sailed for Havana, under the British flag.

The same paper of the 22d ult. contains the letter of Capt Andrew Fitzhugh, of the steamer Mississippi, to the commander at Vera Cruz, giving notice that the port of Vera Cruz is under blockade. The following is a copy of the notice:

"I have the honor to inform you, that the port of Vera Cruz remains blockaded from this day by the naval forces of the United States on this station. Neutral vessels which are now in port are at liberty to depart, with or without cargoes, within the next fifteen days from this date. All packets, carrying correspondence, which are not engaged in commerce, and under a neutral flag, are at liberty to enter and depart from the port. I have the honor to be, with the gratest respect,

ANDREW FITZHUGH, Com'd't."

The notice is dated 20th of May. To this the Indicador asks: And are we to remain calmly looking on, seeing the hated flag of the stars waving in the breeze? Shall we be citizens less worthy than those of Matamoras, whose heroic valor will be spoken of as an immortal example of bravery?—No! a thousand times no! And be he thousand times cursed, who in such a trying time as this abandons his post on the walls of heroic Vera Cruz!"

The editors go on to say that the Mexican people should have no further consideration for their enemies, and the cannons of the Castle of San Juan de Ulloa should be fired at the first American vessel that comes within their range.

El Indicador, of the 23d, publishes a list of persons arrested lately by order of the Government, on suspicion of having taken part in some of the conspiracies.

The same journal, referring to the order issued by the government that every American citizen who should not leave the port within the time stipulated would be sent twenty leagues into the interior, recommends that none of those falling under their grasp should be pardoned. Insult for insult, and life for life, is his motto.

On the 24th, El Indicador calls on the government to arm every one of their vessels as privateers, and to give letters of marque to every Mexican who asked for them, in order, as the editor significantly expresses it, "to give the Yankees hell!"—The article winds up by hoping that Mexicans will not betray their country, but pay the Americans in equal coin. By an advertisement in that paper, we see that the Bishop of Vera Cruz calls on the public, by order of the government, to devote three days (25th, 26th and 27th) in offering public prayers for the success of the Mexican arms against the Americans.

LATEST FROM BRAZOS ST. JAGO.—The steam ship Alabama, Capt. Windle arrived at New Orleans on 3d inst. She encountered a violent gale on the bar. The gale made sad havoc among the tents at the Point, as we learn from our correspondent S. Scarcely a tent was left standing, almost every one being blown down, and a number of the buildings were unroofed. Many of the sick and wounded were exposed to all the violence of the storm for some time. The tents now in use at the Point were condemned some six monhts ago.—Lieut. Luther was wounded in the leg.

Captain May, with, a squadron of dragoons, pursued the retreating Mexicans some sixty miles west of Matamoras, but so quick was their march that they could not even come up with their rear guard. He is satisfied that the Mexican force at that point ta the present time, is not more than four thousand men.

Every thing goes along as smoothly as possible at Matamoras. The citizens are all minding their business, many of them making money by trading with the soldiers, and all learning to believe that the Yankees are not such outside barbarians after all as they were led to believe them to be.

Correspondence of the American.

WASHINGTON, June 8.

Rumored Settlement of the Oregon Question.

I hear an important rumor which is in circulation among Senators and others to the effect that the British Minister and the Secretary of State have come to an agreement upon the Oregon question. It was even said that the basis of an agreement has been signed. The rumor is probably true. In part confirmation of it the Secretary of State has been very busily employed since the arrival of the steamer, and Mr. Packenham has been equally busy. Correspondence has pssed between these two functionaries.

Mr. Dayton also remarked to-day in the Senate that the British Minister was in possession of an ultimatum, or the means of making a definite settlement of the question.

Mr. Webster, in the discussion in the Senate on Monday, stated his belief that the Oregen controversy would be settled and a permanent boundary established before the adjournment of Congress. So explicit an opinion from Mr. Webster, would not be expressed without some semi official assurance, positive & reliable of the fact.

Correspondence of the Phila. U. S. Gaz.

OFFICE OF THE DEL. STATE JOURNAL, Wilmington, June 5, 1846.

This afternoon, about 5 o'clock, this place was visited with a storm of wind and rain of great severity. Trees were frittered to pieces, awnings torn into ribbons, and several buildings blown down. The large ship house of the Thatchers was prostrated, but we have heard of no person having been injured by its fall. The ship house of Betts, Harland & Hollingworth, was also blown down, and several lives have been lost by the falling timbers—two dead bodies have already been taken from the ruins, and it is not yet known whether there are not others beneath the mass of materials. A portion of the roof of Asbury M. E. Church is blown off, several vessels at the wharves are lying bottom upwards. It was a frightful gale, though of short duration.

We learn from an extra from the office of the "Blue Hen's Chicken," published at Wilmington, that the men killed were James McCoy, of Sussex county Delaware, and—Hardy, of Greenwich, N. Jersey. A number of persons were more or less injured—some severely—by falling timbers, &c.

Destination of the Cavalry—California to be taken. We understand from a reliable source says the Nashville Union, that it is the intention of the Government to send a force to California sufficient to take possession of that country and to hold on to it. It is supposed that the mounted men from Arkansas, Missouri, and probably from Tennessee will be directed to California. We sincerely hope that this information may be true, and from the source through which we derive it satisfies us that it is reliable. We regard California now as ours, and with that result all will be satisfied.

HEIRS WANTED.—We have received an anonymous letter from Newcastle county, (Del.) stating that Mr. Philip Lecompte died recently in that county possessed of an estate of $7,000. The writer states that Mr. Lecompte removed from this (Caroline) county about thirty-five years ago and thinks his legal heirs reside in Maryland. We learn that a gentleman of that name was a citizen of this county about twenty or thirty years since. It may be that his heirs, if any there are, reside in Dorchester, as several families of that name are now living in that county.—Denton Pearl.

The Courier learns from "good authority, that Edward Webster, youngest son of the Senator from Massachusetts, arrived in this city yesterday, for the purpose of raising a company to form part of the regiment called for by the Ploclamation of His Excellency Governor Briggs. He takes this step in compliance with the suggestions of his distinguished father, who has given the service of a whole life to his country, and is desirous that his children should manifest a readiness to do the same in the manner which occasion requires."—Boston Atlas.

SAD HOURS.—Who has not paused upon some portion of their existence, and felt its burden greater than they could bear?—Who has not looked back to the past with that passion of hopelessness which seems that life can never more be what it has been, with a consciousness that the dearer emotions, are exhausted, while in their place have arisen but vacancy and weariness?—you feel as if you could never be interested in any thing again—nay, you do not even desire it: your heart is divided between bitterness and indifference.

HORRIBLE REVENGE.

Dr. Radcliffe, who was fond of the pleasures of the table, was one afternoon comfortably disposing of a bottle of wine, when a countryman entered the room, and begged him to come immediately to his wife, who was dying. 'I can't help it, my fine fellow. I can't move till I have finished my bottle." Now it happened that the countryman was a large, strong man; and the doctor a very small one; so it occurred to the former that his best plan was to seize the doctor, and carry him off on his shoulders. He did so; and while he was bearing his load along, the doctor, bursting with rage, exclaimed, "You villian, I'll cure your wife!" and he was as good as his word.

THE ORIGINAL ONLY TRUE, AND GENUINE PILL.

Findly Township, Alleg'y Co. July 2d 1838

Messrs Shinn & Sellers.—I feel it a duty I owe to the public and the standing of your celebrated Pills, to testify to the good effects produced by them in my own case. In the fall of 1837 I was attacked severely with the Chronic Liver Complaint, which prostrated all my physical power. I applied to Dr——, of Clinton, for medical advice, and although he essayed every thing in his power to mitigate my disease, yet I must honestly say, that I received no permanent relief under his treatment. At this time I considered my case hopeless, when seeing your Liver Pills advertised, I, after a good deal of hesitation, (being urged to try them by my neighbors) purchased two boxes, and before I had used one whole box, the pain in my side and shoulders, produced by a diseased Liver, was speedily removed. I continued using the Pills at intervals, upon every return of my symptoms with invariable success It is in my opinion that the Liver Pills will not fail to cure, when the directions are strictly followed. You are at liberty to make any use of the above that you may think proper. I remain your grateful friend.

SAMUEL P. MORRISON.

N. B. The Liver Pills are much relied upon in bilious attacks in my immediate neighborhood.

Sold by, E. M. DAWSON & BRO'R.

The agent at New York has for months warranted Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry to cure any case of Asthma, however long the disease may have withstood medicial skill—offering to refund the price paid in case of failure. Yet not a single instance has been reported where the cure was not complete. We will refer to a few individuals where the effect has been almost miraculous. A. Williams, Esq., Attorney and Counsellor, 58 William street, cured of Asthma of 25 years standing.—Mr. Bradlee, Justice of the Peace, Jamaica, Long Island, cured of same disease of 40 years standing. J. Diefendorf, Cherry Valley, of same, 8 years etc., etc. Any case of Wheezing, shortness of breath, weakness or pain in the chest or side, can be cured by this Balsam—no matter how obstinate the disease, or how long it has resisted other remedies. Bleeding of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, and even Consumption in its first stages, also readily yield to this wonderful medicine. Let the incredulous examine into its merits. We want the truth to prevail. Beware of spurious mixtures and imitations.

The American Farmer.

The 2d volume of the new series of this journal will commence on the 1st of July, 1846, and the subsequent numbers will be issued on the first of each month as usual. The very extended circulation which the FARMER has attained since its publication in its present form (being a large octavo, of 32 pages each No.) is a gratifying evidence that the labors of its conductors have not been in vain. The "FARMER" is the oldest agricultural publication in the United States, the volume just completed being the 27 year of its existence, and evinces in its vigorous old age a stamina which will favorably compare with any of its contemporaries.

Terms for the forthcoming volume—Single copies $1—Six copies for $5—Thirteen copies for $10 Sample Nos. will be sent to any one desirous of aiding in the circulation of the "Farmer".

Devoted to Belles-Letters, Music, Fine Arts, Fashions, &c.

The well-known celebrity in Europe and this Country, of Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, has induced the subscriber to commence the re publication of this fashionable London Monthly.

It is a matter of surprise that the Re-publication of this Work was not commenced some years since. On looking over some of the late numbers, we find them filled with Stories and Poetry, and Narratives, the most of which fall but little behind those published in the Edinburgh Work, and many surpass even the emanations from the Giant intellects of the contributors to the great Northern Magazine. The best writers of the day contribute to its pages.

It has now been published seventeen years in London, and has a circulation exceeding 70,000 copies through England, Scotland, Ireland, and the continent of Europe. It is translated into several of the continental languages—It being the only instance of an English Magazine receiving that compliment.

The publication will commence in October next, and will be continued monthly.

The publication price of the above wark, in London, is six dollars.

A Valuable Farm & Timber Land

FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale that valuable tract of Land known by the name of "BROAD OAK," laying in Talbot county, on the head of the Bowlin Brook, near the Choptank river, opposite Cambridge This land adjoins the lands of Thomas Burchenal, James Chaplain, John H. Harris, Isaac W. Jump and Edward Hardcastle, Esq'rs.

The tract contains,

390 acres of land.

There is a large quantity of

on it, suitable for Vessels, Spars Plank, &c; indeed it is said by a competen judge, to be the best body of spar timber on the Choptank.

The improvements are a tolerably good

Frame Dwelling,

a large BARN, STABLES, CORN-HOUSE and other out buildings, suitable for farming purposes.

The land is productive, and very susceptible of improvement either with lime or ashes—There has been put upon one field ten thousand bushels of shell lime, which has acted finely in improving the soil

The Bowlin Brook Creek, on which this farm lies, is one of the finest for fish, oysters, and wild fowl, belonging to the Choptank river. Persons desirous of living on the salts, would do well to examine this property, which is one of the most healthful situations in that part of the country.

The terms, will be made accomodating to a good purchaser. This land will be offered at public sale on WEDNESDAY the 24th day of JUNE, at the Trappe,
