EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, MD.

Saturday Morning, July, 4.

☞Mr. V. B. PALMER is our authorized agent to receive subscriptions and advertisements for the "Easton Gazette," in the cities of Baltimore, Philadelphia & N. York

The Day.—It will be seen by the Order of proceedings published in another column. that preparations have been made by our military and citizens duly to commemorate the Seventieth anniversary of American Independence.

The mail of Thursday contained no late papers—we were thus left without news until the arrival of the Osiris, when, through the politeness of Capt. Turner, we were favored with the Baltimore papers of yesterday.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate on Thursday the bill to retrocede Alexandria back to the State of Virginia was passed, after a protracted debate, by a vote of ayes 32 noes 14. Mr. Johnson of Md., Mr. Calhoun and Mr. Hannegan spoke in favor of the bill.

The House was engaged in the consideration of the Tariff Bill. The proposed duty on brandy and distilled spirits was increased from 75 to 100 per cent. Salt, tea and coffee were made free articles by a vote of 104 to 69s. The fishing bounties repealed by 107 to 69.

Register of Wills.—Ebenezer Welch, Esq., has been appointed by Gov. Pratt, Register of Wills for Kent county.

An elegant dwelling house in course of erection near Snow Hill, Md., for the Hon. Thomas A. Spence, was fired by an incendiary on Monday night, and entirely consumed. Loss $3000.

The Locofoco State Convention of Delaware, met at Dover on Tuesday last, and fulfilled the object of its organization, by nominating William Tharp, Esq. of Kent county, for Governor, and John D. Dilworth, of Newcastle county, for member of Congress.

Naval School at Annapolis.—The Herald states that the examination of the midshipmen at this school is still progressing. An examination in the academical studies was concluded on Saturday affording much satisfaction to the board and teachers.

HON. JAMES BUCHANAN.—It is said that Mr. Buchanan has been nominated to the Supreme Court Bench, and has resigned his station as Secretary of State.

GENERAL GAINES. It appears from the Union of the first instant, that a Court of Enquiry has been ordered by the President to convene at Fort Monroe, on the 18th inst., to investigate the conduct of Brevet Major General Gaines. The Court will consist of Brevet Brigadier General H. Brady, Brevet Brigadier Gen'l. G. M. Brooks, and Col. J. Crane, members, and Brevet Captain J. F. Lee, recorder.

Treasurer's Statement.—By the U. S. Treasurer's statement just published, it appears that there was on deposit in the Banks and the Mints on June 29th, $12,481,-888 36, subject to draft $9,310,258 01.—The Chesapeake Bank of Baltimore has on deposit $242,683 67 of this amount.—The Treasury notes outstanding amount to $471,164 38.

The Sub-Treasury.—We observe in the Washington correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer, it is stated, that Mr. Calhoun has recently expressed himself, in private conversation, as adverse to any action upon the sub-treasury scheme at this time. He is in favor of the measure itself, but thinks the country not in a condition, at present, to allow of its enactments. We think it quite likely that Mr. Calhoun entertains this opinion, and should be glad to see the report confirmed by his action in the matter.—Alexandria Gazette.

Order Reigns at Nauvoo.—The St. Louis Reveille says:

"The Mormon war, which for the few past days assumed such a serious aspect has turned out to be a very comical affair, and certainly places the threatening forces who marched to Nauvoo in a very ridiculous light. Sharp of the Warsaw Signal, announces in an extra of the 14th, that 'Hancock is the theatre of war!' and in his paper of the 17th he throws down his 'brickbats,' and relates the inglorious retreat of the Anti-Mormon mob from Nauvoo. The war was now over and peace again restored!"

Western Continent.—Many inquires having been directed to us, with the view of ascertaining the probable fate of the well conducted "Western Continent," consequent upon the withdrawal of Park Benjamin, Esq., (the well known writer and editor of the New World,) from the house of Wm. Taylor & Co., we have posted ourselves on the subject and, feel pleasure in announcing to the numerous readers of the Western Continent that under the editorial management of the talented and jocund Major Jones, (or more properly William T. Thomson,) aided by the many friends who have hitherto contributed largely in the Literary criticisms, the Western Continent will move onward in its course, true to its motto. We wish it, its editor and publisher, a continuation of the flattering success they have already met with.—Clip.

GREAT FRESHET.—The National Intelligencer of yesterday says:—"The late tremendous freshet with which the city and the surrounding country was visited last Tuesday night has occasioned great damage and destruction to bridges, fences, wooden buildings, grass crops, hay and meadows, all along the margin of the Eastern Branch, the creeks, runs, and other streams in and near this city, Bladensburg, &c. We are sorry to learn that the Congress Burial Ground has been consideably damaged by the flood; but we must defer a more detailed account of the desolating effects of the late very heavy rains until a future day."

Destructive Freshet at Williamsport.—We fear the late heavy falls of rain have caused an immense loss of property. The Williamsport, Md. Times of Wednesday says: "We stop the press to announce that the Potomac and Conococheague have swollen to an enormous height. At this hour the Potomac is rasing at the rate of 10 inches an hour, and is now little short of the height of the great freshet of September 1813. Much damage will be done along its course. Large quantities of Grain in shocks, fencing, wood, &c., are now coming down the Conococheague.—embankments of the canal will doubtless sustain material damage.

DESTRUCTIVE FRESHET ON THE POTOMAC—Damage to the Canal—Great Destruction of Property! We learn from the Georgetown Advocate of yesterday, that the rain of Tuesday night, proved very destructive in that town and vacinity, deluging the streets and overflowing stores and cellars. The Advocate says:

But by far the greatest injury done is that to the public works connecting with the town. The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal is supposed to be seriously damaged,—it is rumored greatly, and certainly to some extent,—and from the fact that barrels of flour and whiskey have been caught in numbers rushing down in the current of the river, it is presumed that boats above were washed over or swept away with the embankment. It is ascertained that a breach has been made above seven miles from here, near Cabin-John mills, and another on the Nine Mile Level, a short distance above Seneca. This extends about 50 feet only, and will require but some three days to repair it.

A HEROINE.—The Indiana volunteers were all mustered into the service of the United States on Friday; June 19. On Saturday, one of Capt. Walker's company, from Evansville, lost a handkerchief. On setting down to mess, he observed it sticking out of the bosom of one of his comrades. He immediately took hold of it, when, to his surprise he discovered that his messmate was a female. On inquiring in this strange proceeding, she stated, that being very poor, and wishing to go to her father, who resided in Texas, resolved to join one of the volunteer companies.—She afterwards came to this city, and her fellow soldiers raised a subscription to carry her to her father.—Louisville Journal.

Not Finished Yet.—A lady lately returned from a visit to the Natural Bridge, in Virginia, on being asked how she was pleased with this stupendous specimen of natures handy-work, replied, "that it will be a very nice bridge when it was done—but it was'nt quite finished when she was here!"—Frederick Examiner.

The efforts of the Ladies of Virginia to perpetuate in marble the features of the great Western Statesman have been, as they richly deserved to be, crowned with entire success. The contract entered into with Mr. Joel D. Hart, of Kentucky, requires that the statue be completed as speedily as practicable. Of his ability to make it what the ladies of Virginia desire it to be,—a life-like representation of the great original,—none who saw his bust of Mr. Clay can doubt. Mr. Hart is now in Kentucky.—After making a mould in plaster of his illustrious countryman, he will immediately embark for Italy, for the purpose of completing a work which is destined, remarks the Richmond Whig, "to be one of the ornaments of our metropolis, and an enduring monument of the enthusiastic homage paid by the Ladies of Virginia to Patriotism, Genius, Courage and Integrity, embodied in the person of the noblest man of the Age—a man who by his brilliant public career and by his private virtues has refuted the maxim of Solon, that 'none can be secure from degeneracy until death has put its seal upon his character.'"

HORRIBLE.—On Monday evening last, a child of about 5 or 6 years old—the daughter of Mr. Mattice, near Dickenson's landing—met its death in the following most singular and remarkable manner. Having followed the servant girl, (who was milking the cows,) she seized one the cows by the tail, and began amusing herself by separating the hair which was knotted or entangled toward the tip. The servant girl who had repeatedly warned her to desist went with the milk, leaving the child thus occupied, and on looking out immediately afterward, perceived the cow galloping round the barn-yard, and dragging the child after with fearful speed!

She ran to the rescue and seized by the feet the child—whose neck was grasped in a noose formed of the hairs in the cow's tail and began to drag with all might, but could neither liberate the child nor stop the cow—which still kept running about with unabated speed and dashing the child against every interposing obstacle.—After the lapse of some time a boy—alarmed by the cries of the servant girl—arrived and stopped the brute, when the child was released but without life. The poor little thing had been strangled to death, as well as horribly mangled. It is conjectured that out of mere playfulness she put her head through the aperture formed by separating the hairs in the cow's tail—which being entangled at the point offered resistance—and that the cow got frightened, and started off in the manner above described.—Cornwell (Canada) Observer.

CELEBRATION OF TO-DAY!

The doors of the Methodist Protestant Church will be open at 9 o'clock A. M. for the admission of ladies.

At a quarter before ten o'clock, the citizens are requested to assemble in front of the Court-house green, and form in procession. At the same hour members of the W. & I. Association will meet in the Court-house and there proceed to the head of the procession. The military will then take lead and escort the whole procession to the church. Gentlemen will not be admitted until the procession arrives. Seats will be reserved for the association and companies.

Per order of Association,
Wm. T. ROWLENSON, Pres.

July 4th, 1846.

SACRILEGE.—A person who represented himself as a "stranger" was, on Sunday, allowed to go in company with a son of Mr. Bringhurst to the burial ground of Christ Church, Fifth and Arch street, having obtained the keys for that purpose and while in the ground was observed by the boy to break off a portion of the corner of the tomb-stone over Franklin's grave. The lad remonstrated, but in vain; and the stone has since been found to be mutilated, as described by the boy. If such practices should be continued, "strangers' might be denied admission.—U. S. Gaz.

Texas Salt.—The Houston Telegraph says that the section of country lying west of the Nueces, bordering on the sea coast is intersected by numerous shallow inlets and bays into which the salt water of the Gulf flows during winter, but in summer owing to insolar evaporation, they become dry and are covered with a crust of salt three or four inches thick, equal in every respect to Turk's Island, which is the best for preserving meat and fish. The dry climate of western Texas—rain seldom falling in the summer months—makes the process of evaporation exceedingly rapid and millions of bushels may be procured for the mere trouble of collecting it.

Munificent Liberality.—Mr. JAMES B. PHILLIPS, a plasterer of Washington City, has generously contributed, without solicitation, about six hundred dollars' worth of work on the new "Central Presbyterian Church," under the pastoral care of the Rev. Mr. Tustin, in that city. This plastering has lately been completed by Mr. Phillips in a workmanlike manner, and on the completion of the work, Mr. Phillips generously sent the building committee a receipt in full for the plastering of the church.

Female Dress.—Maria Perkins was arrested in St. Louis on the 7th inst., dressed in men's apparel. She stated that she was lead to the impropriety by disgust of the present style of female dress, and astonished the court with an inventory of the number of skirts &c. &c, which a fashionable woman of the present day is obliged to wear all at once, in order to show that she sticks out enough. Agreeably to her statement, a lady's dress is not considered complete until she has stowed about her in various directions, and for different purposes no less than twenty-seven articles of clothing!

Rio Grande Deer—Largest on Record. There are wandering over the prairies in the vicinity of our camp on the Rio Grande a large number of the finest large horned cattle in the world. "Our Volunteers," wishing for a fresh steak, would make some of them occasionally bite the dust. An order came, that no more "killing beef" must take place and no more beef was killed. Scouting parties now went out for venison, some good shots were fortunate enough to kill one. It was dragged into camp and duly, divided up among the knowing ones of the regiment. When daylight appeared, suspicions got out that a beef had been killed, this was stoutly denied, and the report was contradicted by the assertion, that a deer had been killed weighing over eight hundred pounds. This caused universal surprise, especially among certain officers, who demanded to see the horns. After a great deal of delay they were produced, and examined by a court martial who solemnly decided, that the venison of the Rio Grande had horns perfectly smoothe, & resembling those of the ox species, in other parts of the world.—N. O. Tropic.

The sword voted to Gen. Taylor by the Legislature of Louisiana was presented to him at Matamoras on the 8th inst. The following is his reply:

"My heart feels too deeply and sensibly the high honor that has been conferred upon me, my officers and men, to respond to your expressions of gratitude and thanks. I always felt assured that the patriotic State of Louisiana would be among the first to rush to the assistance of our little army in time of need. I well knew, as did also my officers and men, that she was a gallant brave and noble State: that chivalry, noble daring and ardent patriotism were her high attributes. Her volunteers have readily abandoned their homes and business, to assist us in the hour of danger. We feel a deep debt of gratitude to them and to you The generous and timely action of the Legislature of Louisiana will never be forgotten by us; its name will be embalmed in our hearts as a cherished memorial.—We feel that we have only done our duty; yet we cannot but feel highly gratified to have gained the approbation of our fellow citizens. Together with the love of country, which is common to us all, it is that approbation which cheers and animates the soldier in the hour of battle. Gentlemen, I am unaccustomed to public speaking; I therefore, in the name of my officers and men, thank you and the patriotic State which you represent, for the honor conferred upon us."

Cotton Mattresses.—Mr. Ellsworth, in his Report as Commissioner of Patents says "Cotton is the cheapest, most comfortable and most healthy material for bedding that is known in the civilized world.'

SWORDS.—When a man is going to war he ought to have the proper tools to fight with. The Rio Gande correspondent of the New York Spirit of the Times, in one of his letters, says:

"The infantry sword for officers must be changed. We want a light, but serviceable sabre, with a sling belt. We might as well have a toasting fork as our present sword. It trips you up when marching, and it would not kill a flea without three blows. Where would poor Jordon have been if the gallant Lincoln had not provided himself with a sabre and ground it?—With a blow for each he cut off the heads of two of the enemy, and saved his brother officer's life. With our 'regulation sword' he would not have scratched the skin."

Book Keeping.—A friend, who has suffered largely by lending books, begs us to state that the reason people never return borrowed books is, that it is so much easier to retain the volumes than what is in them.

SELLERS' IMPERIAL COUGH SYRUP.

PITTSBURGH Feb. 6th, 1846.

MR R E. SELLERS:—Though I do not believe any further testamonials are necessary to establish the reputation of your justly famed Cough Syrup. I feel compelled as an act of duty, to mention several cases which came under my immediate notice, in members of families whom I was in duty bound to relieve at any cost; complained of hard breathing, a severe cough and no expectoration, loss of appetite, with strong symptoms of pulmonary consumption. I mentioned your Syrup and they begged I would procure some, which I did. I am happy to report that they are quite relieved. the Syrup having produced the desired effect in every instance You are well assured of its good effects upon myself. Hoping that this may reach the notice of persons suffering from coughs and colds, I remain your obedient servant,

S. F. PRATT. Overseer of the Poor.

Still another triumph over Diseases in Maine!

Warren, Lincoln Co., July 15, 1845.

Dear Sir:—I take pleasure in complying with your request to bear testimony in favor of your valuable medicine, having had a daughter, 15 years old, very dangerously sick the last year, restored with it. My daughter took a violent cold in Sept. 1843, which settled on her lungs. She was troubled with a bad cough all winter. I tried various kinds of medicines, but none of them had the desired effect. The cough continued until March, when we became alarmed at her condition, and applied to a physician, who attended her some time, but did her no good. We then consulted another, but all to no purpose. Having exhausted the whole catalogue of medicines now in the land—two distinguished physicians having done their best to restore her—we then obtained a bottle of which relieved her immediately. After taking four bottles she was completely restored, and now enjoys good health.
