POETRY.

LINES

To one who remarked, that "to him, love was a poetical necessity."

Such should not be thy need! Oh, poet's heart,
O'erburdened with affection's fragrancy,
Trailing the weight of thine own blossoming
Along the dusty walks of daily life,
Or hanging carelessly thy glorious wreaths
Where oft the delicate tendrils are but trampled on,
Seeking some shrine whereon to offer up
The exhalations of thy love. A shrine
Whose holiness is but thine incensing,
Which rather should like Magdalen preciousness
Be made more hallowed in its hallowing.

Thou wouldst ne'er know such sad necessity,
Couldst thou but enter far within the vail,
And stand at Nature's altar ministering.
There, bowing reverenly, the while aloft
Thy censer swinging, thou'dst breathe holy words
Framed to the measure of the harmonies
That interpenetrate thy being, sent
From woods, and waves, and winds, and rocks, and rills—
The many voiced choir that chant for aye
Their several parts in the great Hymn of Life.

Oh! but to know the kindling thrill that stirs
Innerst emotion, when in woods I stand,
And stately trees stand round me solemnly,
And lift their arms on high where sit and sing
The young bright leaves close to the sunny sky—
Or, when I reach a hill and catch a glimpse
Of the broad river, and its dark green shores,
Its isles of mystery and beauty, boats
Like white wing'd birds, so broodingly they sit,
And passing shadows darkening its fair face
When the sweet heaven of its love is clouded—
Or even when clothed in mistiness it lies
Dim as the memory of a lovely dream—
Or, let me climb along the rugged banks
Of some deep ravine winding creek, o'erhung
With gnarl'd trees, and beetling rocks and vines
That weave of tree and rock and sky and stream
A mistic sanctuary, even as a poets twine
The verdure of their rhymed imaginings
Round all that behold, crossing life's paths
With sweet entanglements of extacy!
And then, all suddenly let me but see
Beyond these pent in windings, a broad fall,
Where, with its arms outspread, the creek leaps down
And writhes in foamy laughter, flinging high
The spray of its wild merriment, alive
In youth, in strength, in action, and in joy—
Or, from the brow of some o'erhanging cliff
Survey the calmness of that higher plane,
Where, in a childish sleep the streamlet lies,
Guthering its forces for the rush of life.

Here rock nor ruggedness disturb the scene;
The very trees wear gentle forms—the air
Breathes with a sweet serenity, and Heaven
Smiles on us from the water's clear blue depths.

Thus, in the soul, in moods of thoughtfulness,
Passion subdued, reflection doth give back
A glad bright image of a holier world,
And introspection, gazing on itself
Narcissus-like, might grow enamoured
With the fair aspect of humanity.

But 'tis not thoughts like these that stir my heart—
Childlike I lie upon the teaming breast
Of Nature, my sweet mother, and I hear
All the glad voices of her lovingness.
I have no thought, no power of reasoning,
I am all eye, all ear, all sense, all soul,
Lapp'd in an overpowering blissfulness.
A quivering sense of universal sympathy
Quickens my pulse makes my breath come quick,
Draws tears into my eyes, brings back to me
My childhood's freshness and activity,
And I forget the world, and I forget
My long, long, weary years of sickliness;
Forget how old I am how altered too—
Nature looks not at me less lovingly
For that all loveliness from me hath fled
Nor "alters where she alteration finds,"
So I forget the buffetings of Time,
Forget how his sharp scythe has mown away
My bloominess, and left it withering!
Sad cares and thoughts are straightway vanished,
And I am quite possessed with spirits of life,
An instinct of enduringness pervades
My conscious being, and I can almost
Grasp the great thought "I AM," and comprehend
Eternity—an everlasting Now!
Didst thou but know this Leathean State—Couldst thou
But drink the freshness of this living fount
Thou should'st find inspiration everywhere—
In clouds, in sunsets, in the lowliest flowers
That booms i' the wild undergrowth, in trees,
Or Oak, or Ash, or star leaved Maple, Beech—
All over scored with human memorie—
Bee living Locust mist like Willow tree—
That scarce embodied Spirit of the Spring
Gladly wouldst though forego the fiery draught
Of woman's love. Thou wouldst arise,
And boldly shake from thee cords that bind
Thy soul's pure potency, and stand, and feel
The glorious certainty of inward strength;
And in the secresy of Summer's groves
Each rill would run for thee a Helicon—
Fountains of purer feelings, strong and quick
And never failing would burst suddenly forth
And vivify in thee thy gift of poesy.
That trembling of the heart which indicates
The golden wonders hidden from the senses
Lying in glory, and in beauty, deep
Within the semblances of things beneath
The outward forms of this fair vision world.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF

WILD CHERRY,

THE great remedy for Consumption & the best medicine known to Man for Asthma in every stage. Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Influenza, Coughs, Colds, Bleeding of the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, pains and weakness in the side, breast, &c and all other diseases of the PULMONARY ORGANS.

A very important disease over which this "Balsam" exerts a very powerful influence, is that of a DISEASED LIVER. In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances when patients had endured long and severe suffering from the disease, without receiving the least benefit from various remedies, and when Mercury has been resorted to in vain, the use of this Balsam has restored the Liver to a healthy action, and in many instances effected PERMANENT CURES, after every known remedy had failed to produce this desired effect.

Besides its astonishing efficacy in the diseases above mentioned, we also find it a very effectual remedy in ASTHMA, a complaint in which it has been extensively used with decided success, even in cases of years standing.

It not only emanates from a regular Physician, but has also been well tested in all the complaints for which it is recommended. It is not my intention, therefore, either to cloak it in mistery, or in any way deceive the public by overrating its virtues, on the contrary, I shall simply endeavour to give a brief statement of its usefulness, and flatter myself that its surprising efficacy will enable me to furnish such proofs of its virtues as will satisfy the most incredulous that Consumption may and "Can be Cured," if this medicine be resorted to in time.

Opinions of a regular Physician.

Exeter, Me. Sept. 30, 1845.

This certifies that I have recommended the use of WISTER'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY for diseases of the Lungs, for two years past and many bottles to my knowledge have been used by my patients, all with beneficial results. In two cases where it was thought confirmed consumption had taken place, the Wild Cherry effected a cure. E BOYEN, Physician.
at Exeter Corner.

NO QUACKERY! NO DECEPTION!

All published statements of cures performed by this medicine, are, in every respect, TRUE.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS & IMITATIONS.

The unparalleled and astonishing efficacy of Dr. Wister's Balsam of Wild Cherry in all the diseases for which it is recommended, curing many cases after the skill of the best physicians was unavailing, has effected a large & increasing demand for it. This fact has caused several unprincipled counterfeiters and imitators to palm off spurious mixtures of similar name and appearance, for the genuine Balsam.

Be careful and get the genuine DR. WISTER'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. None genuine unless signed by I BUTTS. Address all orders to SETH W. FOWLE, Boston Mass.

and Gazette of the Fashionable World.
—ALSO—
The London World of Fashion,
and Continental Feuilletons.

The price of which two Works in England is $12 a year.

☞As republished by the subscriber they will cost only $1 a year.

Blackwood's Lady's Magazine,
And Gazette of the Fashionable World.—
for Town and Country.
Devoted to Belles-Letters, Music, Fine Arts, Fashions, &c.

The well-known celebrity in Europe and this Country, of Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, has induced the subscriber to commence the re publication of this fashionable London Monthly.

It is a matter of surprise that the Re-publication of this Work was not commenced some years since. On looking over some of the late numbers, we find them filled with Stories and Poetry, and Narratives, the most of which fall but little behind those published in the Edinburgh Work, and many surpass even the emanations from the Giant intellects of the contributors to the great Northern Magazine. The best writers of the day contribute to its pages.

It has now been published seventeen years in London, and has a circulation exceeding 70,000 copies through England, Scotland, Ireland, and the continent of Europe. It is translated into several of the continental languages—it being the only instance of an English Magazine receiving that compliment.

The publication will commence in October next, and will be continued monthly.

The publication price of the above wark, in London, is six dollars.

The London World of Fashion,
And Continental Feuilletons.

A Monthly Publication of the Courts of London and Paris—Dedicated to High Life, Fashionables, Fashions, Polite Literature, Fine Arts, the Operas, Theatres, &c. Edited by several Literary & Fashionable Characters

In the above two works will be found, all the Gossip of London, Paris, and the principal Cities of the continent of Europe Royal Gossip—Description of the Queen's Drawing Room Parties, with accurate accounts of the dresses of the Ladies of Rank—Noblemen's Fetes—Description of every New Opera, with criticisms on the same—Performers, &c. Tales by the best English Authors. Poetry, New Music Her Majesty's visit to Different Noblemen—Description of New Paintings, & the Artists—Varieties, &c.

The publication price of the above work, in London, is six dollars.

"The Whig Standard,"

IS the title of a WEEKLY PAPER, issued every Saturday, in the City of Baltimore, at $1,00 per annum.

The Standard is thoroughly Whig and will zealously advocate all necessary reforms in the General, State and City government. It will expose the hypocrisy of those who advocate Conventional Reform in the name of Democracy, which is used as a cloak to hide from the yeomanry of Maryland, the most wild and revolutionary designs, all the Reform desired being nothing more nor less than the offices and emolaments of the State Government.

The Standard is designed to be a permanent Journal, and not a party ephemeral gotten up to feed the excitement of an approaching election and then die off. It will be free and fearless, controlled by neither "clique nor cabal" but open to the opinion of every good Whig in Old Maryland.

☞Subscriptions will be received for six months, where ten or more copies are sent to one address; in all cases payable in advance. Address, post paid,
B. EVERETT SMITH & Co., publishers,
Corner Baltimore and Calvert streets.

The American Farmer.

The 2d volume of the new series of this journal will commence on the 1st of July, 1846, and the subsequent numbers will be issued on the first of each month as usual. The very extended circulation which the FARMER has attained since its publication in its present form, (being a large octavo, of 32 pages each No.) is a gratifying evidence that the labors of its conductors have not been in vain. The "FARMER" is the oldest agricultural publication in the United States, the volume just completed being the 27 year of its existence; and evinces in its vigorous old age a stamina which will favorably compare with any of its contemporaries

Terms for the forthcoming volume.—Single copies $1—Six copies for $5—Thirteen copies for $10. Sample Nos. will be sent to any one desirous of aiding in the circulation of the "Farmer".
