strut at the idea! Really Mr. Star, you lay it on too thick. We must beg to be excused. We're good enough that's a fact, but really———Modesty forbids us to say more. However we owe you that "Turkey," to make up your Christmas comforts to day—so look out!

CHRISTMAS.

Heap on more wood! the wind is chill,
But let it whistle as it will,
We'll keep one merry Christmas still.
Scott's Marmion.

Welcome once more the glorious old festival which is filling many hearts while we write with its overflowing congratulations and joys! The well-lined hose of the rosy-cheeked urchin has been already carefully lifted from its place over the chimney-piece, burdened with the unstinted bounty of Santa Claus; while the blushing girl of sixteen summers is softly dreaming over the parted leaf of the brilliant volume, which bears on its presentation page the name of one she loves. The fireside of age is cheered by a mellower radiance, the flame burns more cheerfully on the hearth and the heart leaps up wildly once more forgetful of the infirmities of decline and the stealthy approach of the grave. Welcome to all—the rich in his costly mansion, and the poor in the shelterless cottage—the young and the old—the happy and the afflicted, everywhere on the round Earth!

It is a sad evidence of the degeneracy of the age, that this day, commemorative of the best boon conferred by Heaven to man, is annually declining in the spirit and extent of its festive observances. Different were the good old Christmas times, when the comforts of life were not sacrificed on the cold altar of utilitarianism, and men held it a religious duty to cherish widely and freely the nobler emotions of the heart inspired by the Holydays of their Fathers. When the curious Ashler hall hung around with holly and myrtle welcomed the family during twelve days to a table always spread and ever full, where the gastronomic pleasures of the knights were enlivened by occasional shouts from the stone benches of the broad chimney place, occupied by the nut and joke-cracking juniors of the household. When old England's isle from coast to coast thrilled with the vibrations of a thousand belfrys, calling a nation to offer its thanksgivings for a Saviour born.

Yet lingers some short lived demonstrations of joy in this delightful season and we would fain cherish them; some fire of the good olden times which we would fain blow into a steadier and brighter flame.—Let then the holydays pass merrily with all. Let worldly cares be laid aside, and a broad smile light up every face. For ourselves we never were happier than in thus greeting the patrons and friends of the "Gazette." A happy Christmas! to all whose eyes may wander over this page. May their skies have no clouds; their cup of life no bitter dregs of misfortune! May every succeeding Christmas as it leads them on to their last festival find their joys made mellower

—"by the stealing hours of time," and their spirits the better prepared for its final exit out of this world into the next!

ADDITIONAL GOOD THINGS.—Our friend Strandberg has opened his Christmas Stock, consisting of Toys, dolls, cakes, sugar plums, nuts, &c., &c. The display is creditable to his skill and liberality in selection; and we doubt not will be amply met by the generous patronage of our citizens. There is a perfect storm of good things. Go, and take your little ones, each with a basket on his arms.

Chancellor of Maryland.—We learn from Annapolis that the Hon. John Johnson, of that city, has been appointed Chancellor by Gov. Pratt, in place of the late Chancellor Bland. The office is one of the first importance and responsibility, and in the person of Mr. Johnson its duties will heably and faithfully performed. The appointment, we feel assured, will give great satisfaction throughout the State.—Amer.

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.—The Franco American, a Spanish paper published in New York, of Monday, contains the following paragraph, which we give for what it is worth.—

"A merchant of New York has shown us a letter written on the 17th of November, which states that the elections have taken a turn decidedly favorable to peace, and that the propositions made by the U. States will be very probable taken into serious consideration by the new Congress. We will add that the gentleman who has communicated to us this intelligence, states that he has full confidence in the character and sources of information of his correspondent."—Sun.

DANIEL WEBSTER AND EX-CHANCELOR KENT.—An intimate friend of the venerable Ex-Chancellor Kent (father of the late Circuit Judge of this District,) informs us that to Daniel Webster's foresight, judgment and precaution, may be attributed the preservation of the great Jurist from a shocking death; as, but for the urgent remonstrances of the Senator, he would have taken passage in the Atlantic "Do not trust that impending storm," said the far-seeing statesman; "there is appalling danger in its threatening aspect."—"We may safely confide in a kind and over-ruling Providence," meekly replied the good old man. "Help yourself first, and then Providence will also aid you," answered the Eastern sage. His advice was adopted; both left the vessel for the Railroad train; and both were saved.—N. Y. Telegraph.

THE GALE IN THE BAY.

The blow in the Chesapeake on Thursday last was very violent. The Annapolis Republican says—

"A large number of vessels were fortunate in reaching this harbor in safety before the gale commenced so violently, and rode it out without any difficulty, but those that were not so fortunate, were driven ashore, and a large number of them were total wrecks. In the vicinity of this place, between Chink and Talley's Points, there are nine vessels ashore, and it is supposed that, out of this number, only three will be got off. The names of six of those vessels ashore, are, viz:—Schooners Sea Bird, Mary Ellen, William and James, Leven Return, Virginia and Harriet E. Fox; the names of the other three we have not been able to ascertain. The crews of those vessels suffered much with cold, but no lives were lost. Between Hackett's and Greenbury's Points, a sloop has sunk, and we are fearful that all hands on board have perished. The shore is more or less lined with wrecks from Thomas' Point to the Bodkin, and we doubt not many lives have been lost, as well as much property destroyed.

☞ Just as our paper was going to press we were informed that five bodies, two whites and three blacks, have been found on Talley's Point."

A gentleman who arrived in this city on Friday from Magothy river informs the Sun that a large sea-schooner was ashore on Cedar Point, with loss of both her cables and anchors. A large schooner was sunk on mountain bar, off Magothy, and a number of small craft went ashore in Magothy River—among them the schooner Index, of Baltimore. A schooner was also ashore at Rock Creek. The same gentleman states that the schooner reported by Capt. Turner as having gone to pieces on Bodkin Point was the Wicomico, from Wicomico River. She is a total loss. He had not heard of any loss of life.—Balt. American.

Last night's mail from the South brought only the New Orleans papers of the 12th, those of the 11th, it will be seen by the accounts below, have been swept into the Atlantic ocean, by an accident which befel the steamer Vanderbilt, the mail boat between Charleston and Wilmington, N. C. —American, 19th.

HEAVY GALE AT THE SOUTH.

Disaster to the Steamer Vanderbilt—An entire Mail from points beyond Wilmington, N. C., swept into the Ocean—No Lives lost.

From the Wilmington, N. C., Commercial.

The Steamer Vanderbilt, Capt. Potter, left Charleston, with full mail from the South, on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The weather was calm at that time. During the evening it thickened up, and at 11 o'clock, a squall sprung up and struck the boat, throwing her on her beam-ends, carrying away all her houses on the larboard side, in which were the Mails, consequently they were WASHED OVERBOARD AND LOST!

The V. was opposite Georgetown Shoals at the time the squall struck her. The squall was the forerunner of an Easterly storm, which immediately set in with great fury, and continued until 12 o'clock yesterday. At 2 A. M., on Thursday morning, another squall struck the Steamer, which damaged Wheel-houses, Rudder, &c. The damage to Rudder was such that they were unable to steer her. A temporary repair was with great difficulty effected, and through the skill and firmness of Capt. Potter, and the noble conduct of his crew on this trying occasion, the Boat was managed 40 miles in this wrecked condition, her commander bringing her in over the bar, where he anchored her in safety. The steamer Gladiator, Capt. Smith, who left here yesterday afternoon for Charleston, attempted to get alongside of the V. last evening, but owing to the sea running too high, she was unable so to do. She again attempted it early this morning, but could not effect it until 7 o'clock, at which time she took her in tow, bringing her back to Port, arriving at the Company's wharf at 11 50 A. M.

Fortunately there were but few passengers along, and no ladies. Below we append a letter from the passengers to Capt. Potter, which speaks for itself. The passengers subscribed and placed in the hands of Capt. P., $20, to be distributed among the crew.

STEAMER C. VANDERBILT, }
Dec. 18th, 1846. }

CAPT. POTTER, Commander:

The undersigned were your only Passengers on board of the Steamer C. Vanderbilt, during the time she was in the perils of the Storm of the 16th and 17th inst., from which we have just escaped. We are satisfied that the safety of the Boat is attributable to the courage, constancy and skill, with which you demeaned yourself, and the intrepidity and promptitude with which your orders were executed by your mates and crew.

Allow us to return our gratitude for our safety, and to express our admiration for your good conduct.

A. P. BUTLER, South Carolina,
JOHN A. THOMAS, N. York,
N. C. TROWBRIDGE, Georgia,
W. A. CURETON, S. Carolina.

HALF-PAST 2 o'clock.

The steamer Wilmington, Wade, has just arrived without damage. Capt. W. reports experiencing the squalls and gale that the Vanderbilt did. The W. did not reach Charleston till 5 o'clock last evening, —left again at 10. Saw a steamer at half past one this morning, about 7 miles S W. of Roman, does not know whether it was a Georgetown boat or the Southerner.

MARINE DISASTERS—LOSS OF LIFE.—We continue to receive intelligence of the disasters on the Chesapeake Bay, by the storm of the 17th inst. We learn, from an authentic source, that the schooner Committee, of Yeocomico, Northumberland county, Va., was totally lost off Tally's Bar, on that fearful night, and all hands, five in number perished. The names of the unfortunate victims are—Capt. Frederic Beetty, Thos. H. Tolson, and three colored men, named Gill Tyson, Jim Jones and Saul, a slave of Mr. Benedict Burgess. A coroner's inquest was held over their remains by T. N. Pindell, Esq., of Annapolis. A silver watch was found on the person of Capt. Beetly, and a brass watch on Tolson. Several other articles, besides $46 75 in money, are in possesion of the coroner.—Clipper.

The schooner Gallant, Capt. Haynie, went ashore at the same place, but will be got off. Capt. Haynie states that he boarded the Committee, after the disaster, & saw a trunk and other articles, which were missing when the coroner held the inquest. A man named Joyce, who was seen on board of her, was arrested on the charge of committing the robbery, but subsequently discharged for want of proof. It is thought that Capt. Beetly had a considerable sum of money on board, and that it was stolen.

We cut the following from the Batavia Spirit of the Times of June 27, 1843. It clearly shows that Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has attained a high reputation in Batavia, as well as in this city.

BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—This is one of the very few patent medicines of the day which we can recommend with confidence to all who are affected with Coughs, Colds or Consumption—or who are predisposed to the latter complaint. It has been used with considerable advantage by many families in town and in a few stubborn cases has produced highly beneficial effects.—Rochester Daily Adv.

Editors, lawyers and almost every class have at last found out that Wistr's Balsam of Wild Cherry is what "it is cracked up to be," the very best medicine to be found. It cures all affections of the Lungs when nothing else will.

IT IS WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD!—Such was the declaration of a gentlemen on Friday last after having used "Seller's Cough Syrup" for a distressing cough, that made him feel very uncomfortable through the day, and prevented him from sleeping a great part of the night.

We do not say that this Syrup will always cure, but we do say that 99 persons out of every hundred who have used it, pronounce it the best cough mixture that has as yet been offered to the public.—The Syrup is put up in 50 cent bottles.
