POETRY.

For the Easton Gazette.

TO A' CELLE QUI ENTEND.

Farewell!—and should thy memory
In after years wake thoughts of me;
If fond, those thoughts will but return
My heart's devotedness to thee.

I love—I almost worship thee;
And if my lot be doomed apart
From thee through life, thou still wilt be,
Though lost, yet dearest to my heart.

A SERENADE.

Now lightly o'er the rippling stream
The silver moon is dancing;
From mossy bank the fairy gleam
Of the glow-worm's light is glancing;
Thine own star brightly beams above,
The bird of night is singing;—
Where the willows lave in the sparkling wave,
Come list to the soft notes ringing,
Come to the bower this moon-light hour,
Come to the bower with me;—
Come to the bower this moonlight hour,
I'll sing of love to thee!

When parted from his mate, the dove
Breathes forth his tale of sorrow:—
Could I, when thou art absent, love,
Those tones of sadness borrow,
I'd sing and lure thee to my bower:—
Then come, dear maid, to me:
While willows sigh, my lute and I
Will sing of love to thee.
Come to the bower this moonlight hour,
Come to the bower with me:—
Come to the bower this moonlight hour;—
I'll sing of love to thee!

LYRICS OF LIFE.

BY MARY HOWIT.

FATHER IS COMING.

The clock is on the stroke of six,
The father's work is done;
Sweep up the hearth and mend the fire,
And put the kettle on!
The wild night wind is blowing cold,
'Tis dreary crossing o'er the world!

He's crossing o'er the world apace!
He's st ouger than the storm;
He does not feel the cold, not he,
His heart it is so warm.
For father's heart is stout and true
As ever human bosom knew!

He makes all toil all hardship, light;
Would all men were the same,
So ready to be pleased, so kind,
So very slow to blame!
Folks need not be unkind, austere,
For love hath readier will than fear!

—Nay, do not close the shutters, child,
For far along the lane
The little window looks, and he
Can see it shining plain:
I've heard him say he loves to mark
The cheerful fire-light through the dark.

And we'll do all that father likes
His wishes are so few—
Would they were more! That every hour
Some wish of his I knew!
I'm sure it makes a happy day,
When I can please him any way!

—I know he's coming by this sign
That baby's almost wild;
See, how he laughs, and crows, and stares,
Heaven bless the merry child!
He's father's self in face and limb,
And father's heart is strong in him!

Hark! Hark! I hear his footsteps now—
He's through the garden gate;
Run, little Bess, and ope the door,
And do not let him wait!
Shout baby, shout! and clap thy hands,
For father on the threshold stands:

COURTING SCENE.

"Ah! Sewke, you are sich a slick gal!—heighо!"

"La! ain't you ashamed, Johnathan?"

"I wish I was a ribbin, Sewke."

"What for, hey?"

"Cos, maybe you'd tie me around that nice pretty neck of your'n; and I should like to be, darned if I shouldn't."

"O, la! there comes mother—run!"

NO. II.

"Ah! Jonathan, I heard somethin' about you!"

"La! now Sewke, you don't say so?"

"Yes, indeed, that I did; and a great many said it, too."

"La! now; what was it, Sewke?"

"O, dear! I can't tell you"—[turning away her head.]

"O, la! do now.

"O, no; I can't."

"O, yes, Sewke."

"La! me! Jonathan; you do pester a body so."

"Well, do please to tell me, Sewke."

"Well, I heard that—O, I can't tell you."

"Ah, yes! come! now do!"—[taking her hand.]

"Well, I didn't say it; but I heard that ——"

"What?"—[putting an arm around her waist.]

"O, don't squeeze me so! I heard that—that—[turning her blue eyes full upon Jonathan's]—that you and I were to be married Jonathan."

TEN PINS.—A man in Cincinnati recently made a thirteen strike. He knocked down ten pins, the bar-keeper, a lamp, and a small boy.

THE MARCH OF SCIENCE.

Written for the "New York Spirit of the Times," by the Young 'Un.

A raw specimen of the rawest kind of Yankee arrived at the Franklin House, in Philadelphia, one day last week, and having been shown to an apartment, he hastily adjusted his outer man, and made his appearance in the reception room below. He walked up to the office, and enquired of the attendant "whar he could find a doctur?" The servant referred him to the clerk.

"Wal, nabur—What'll I git a doctur?"

"A physician?

"No—a doctor."

"Beg pardon, Sir—a surgeon you mean.'

"No I don't, nuther. I mean a teuth-doctor."

"Ah—a dentist. Yes."

"Wal—I do' no' wot you calls 'em. yere—but we calls 'em teuth-doctors down our way."

"Your teeth trouble you, eh?"

"Blast it! I reckon you'd think so—ef you had it. 'Taint dun nuthin but jump like blazes, fer more'n ten hours—an' I'm gwoin tue hev it aout, sure!"

The stranger was forthwith directed to the nearest dentist. Arriving at the hotel door, he hailed a cab, and gave the doctor's address (which happened to be in the next street beyond!) and having rode some fifteen minutes, he was backed up in front of the door! He jumped out—paid his "four levies"—jerked the bell-pull—and was ushered into the "drawing" room.

During the operation upon a customer who preceded him, he amused himself by staring at the pictures upon the walls, or in handling over the instruments— occasionally enquiring "what this was for?"—or "what the man did with that?" until his turn arrived, and the operator requested him to be seated.

"Whar?"

"Here, sir—if you please."

"I want a teuth pulled."

"I understand, sir."

"Wal—s'pose you due"

"Be seated, sir—please."

"Oh, yaas. There—that's the feller, thar," continued the Yankee—and he made such a hole in his face, as safely rendered it an "open countenance!' The operator immediately adjusted his forceps, seized the molar, and with a single wrench placed the tooth upon the table.

"Hil-loo! Ow!" shouted the Yankee—"wot'n thunder are yer doin? Consarn you! ver've tore a feller's jaw all tu smash!"

"Not so bad as that—I hope"—

"Wal—It duz feel better fact!"

"I thought it would."

"By gracious! tho'—you did it slick!"

"I shall be happy to see you again,'—added the polite doctor!

"Wal—I do' no' 'about that. Wot's to pay?"

"One dollar,"

"One what?"

"A dollar, sir."

"A dev—I mean—that is forgiv' me for swarin'—but, Mister, aint you mistak'n?"

"No, Sir."

"O, git aout—you're jokin'!"

"No, sir."

"Wal, now, luk yere—stranger. You wusn't long about it"—

"I know it, sir"—

—"and a dollar for less'n a minni's work ain't zactly deuin's yeu'd be dun by—swan 'taint!"

"A dollar is my price, sir."

"A dollar! Thunder and brick bats—you don't mean it!"

"I do, indeed, sir."

"Wall—ef I must—yere's yer money."

"Thank you."

"Ive hed a tooth pulled afore."

"So I perceive—all but the stump."

"an' it tuk the doctor more'n an hour to deu it."

—"Possible?"

"He jes hed teu drag me around the room, fore an' aft, twenty times—and when he lost his 'grip," he'd take a'holt again, smarter'n ever! It was the reel nat'ral kind o'labor"—

"Astonishing!"

—"an' he didn't charge me but twenty five cents!

"He was very reasonable."

"Wal, Mr. Dentiss—I b'lieve that's yure name—which way is it teu the Franklin House?"

"Directly round the corner, sir."

"Whar?"

"Round the first corner."

"Devil it is! Wy—I gin a cab feller half a dollar to take me to the first doctor—and he rode me raound a dozen streets, to git here?"—and muttering a curse upon toothaches, dentists, and cab-drivers—he repaired to the hotel, brought out his luggage himself, and trudged to the Western cars—declaring he would never stop in "Feledelfy" again until he had a bigger pile of "tin" than he was blessed with on his first visit.

BOSTON FASHIONS.—Speaking of some of the peculiarities of female dress, just now, a Boston writer says:

"I observed one of our fashionable ladies on Washington street, a few days since, who was crowned with a bonnet that was trimmed with ten—yes, upon my word, ladies—ten different shades of ribbons, five boquets on the outside, which rested upon a lining of plaid silk!

"She gracefully sported a very long plaid shawl—looked satisfied with her mouseline de laine—took particular care to showa pretty small foot cased in straw colored boots—and, with the simplicity of a babe exercised her teeth on the ivory top of a figured silk parasolette, which she handled with sky blue gloves."

☞ A good lady who had two children sick with the measles, wrote to a friend for the best remedy. The friend had just received a note from another lady, inquiring the way to make pickles. In the confusion, the lady who inquired about the pickles received the remedy for the measles, and the anxious mother of the sick children read with horror the following:—"Scald them three or four times in very hot vinegar, and sprinkle them well with salt, and in a few days they will be cured

It is a matter of surprise that the Re-publication of this Work was not commenced some years since. On looking over some of the late numbers, we find them filled with Stories and Poetry, and Narratives, the most of which fall but little behind those published in the Edinburgh Work, and many surpass even the emanations from the Giant intellects of the contributors to the great Northern Magazine. The best writers of the day contribute to its pages.

It has now been published seventeen years in London, and has a circulation exceeding 70,000 copies through England, Scotland, Ireland, and the continent of Europe. It is translated into several of the continental languages—it being the only instance of an English Magazine receiving that compliment.

The publication will commence in October next, and will be continued monthly.

The Standard is thoroughly Whig and will zealously advocate all necessary reforms in the General, State and City government. It will expose the hypocrisy of those who advocate Conventional Reform in the name of Democracy, which is used as a cloak to hide from the yeomanry of Maryland, the most wild and revolutionary designs, all the Reform desired being nothing more nor less than the offices and emoluments of the State Government.

The Standard is designed to be a permanent Journal, and not a party ephemeral gotten up to feed the excitement of an approaching election and then die off. It will be free and fearless, controlled by neither "clique nor cabal" but open to the opinion of every good Whig in Old Maryland.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF

WILD CHERRY,

THE great remedy for Consumption, & the best medecine known to Man for Asthma of every stage, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Influenza, Coughs, Colds, Bleeding of the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, pains and weakness in the side, breast, &c. and all other diseases of the PULMONARY ORGANS.

A very important disease over which this "Balsam" exerts a very powerful influence, is that of a DISEASED LIVER In thi complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances when patients had endured long and severe suffering from the disease, without receiving the least benefit from various remedies, and when Mercury has been resorted to in vain, the use of this Balsam has restored the Liver to a healthy action, and in many instances effected PERMANENT CURES, after every known remedy had failed to produce this desired effect.

Besides its astonishing efficacy in the diseases above mentioned, we also find it a very effectual remedy in ASTHMA, a complaint in which it has been extensively used with decided success, even in cases of years standing.

It not only emanates from a regular Physician, but has also been well tested in all the complaints for which it is recommended. It is not my intention, therefore, either to cloak it in mistery, or in any way deceive the public by overrating its virtues: on the contrary, I shall simply endeavour to give a brief statement of its usefulness, and flatter myself that its surprising efficacy will enable me to furnish such proofs of its virtues as will satisfy the most incredulous, that Consumption may and 'Can be Cured,' if this medicine be resorted to in time.

Opinions of a regular Physician.

Exeter, Me. Sept. 30, 1845.

This certifies that I have recommended the use of WISTER'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY for diseases of the Lungs, for two years past and many bottles to my knowledge have been used by my patients, all with beneficial results. In two cases where it was thought confirmed consumption had taken place, the Wild Cherry effected a cure. E BOYEN, Physician.

at Exeter Corner.

NO QUACKERY! NO DECEPTION!

All published statements of cures performed by this medicine, are, in every respect, TRUE.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS & IMITATIONS

The unparalleled and astonishing efficacy of Dr. Wister's Balsam of Wild Cherry in all the diseases for which it is recommended, curing many cases after the skill of the best physicians was unavailing, has effected a large & increasing demand for it. This fact has caused several unprincipled counterfeiters and imitators to palm off spurious mixtures of similar name and appearance, for the genuine Balsam

"SUGAR COATED" PILLS.

BEWARE! CAUTION!!

The increasing popularity of Dr G BENJ. SMITH'S IMPROVED INDIAN VEGETABLE SUGAR COATED PILLS, has induced a number of persons to make something they call PILLS, and coat them with sugar, in order to sell them for the genuine, while they do not possess a particle of the goodness, nor even assimilate in appearance to the original, Dr Smith's Pills. In short they are intended FRAUD upon the community. A minister who at first had an interest in an imitation Sugar Coated Pill, manufactured at Albany, N. Y., has given them up, as he says on account of the miserable dishonest parties concerned in manufacturing them. The same party are now industriously circulating reports calculated to injure Dr. Smith and to affect the reputation of his valuable pills; but rather than notice them in public. Dr Smith is about to institute legal proceedings against them for their slanders, as he has in another case against a similar party. in which he recovered a large amount of damages These miserable imitators have to resort to the most abominable means to palm off their counterfeit pills as the public know that Dr. Smith's are the original and genuine. Several instances have come to public notice in which life has been endangered by the unfortunate use of the counterfeits. It is Dr Smith's Pills that are doing so much good in the country—as the following plainly show.

MORE MINISTERS.

Use and Recommend Dr Smith's Pills than all others

This is to certify that I have used the Sugar Coated Pills Manufactured by G. Benjamin Smith of New York, for some time, and believe them to be a good medicine; also, from inquiry in that city, I am persuaded that he is the original inventor, and therefore is entitled to the benefit of the invention

S. WILLIAMS
Pastor 1st Baptist Church.

From the Blue Hens's Chicken, (Del.)

We call the attention of our readers to the certificate of Rev. S. Williams, Pastor of 1st Baptist Church, Pittsburgh, in relation to Dr. Smith's Pills. We can ourselves bear testimony to the excellence of these Pills, one of us having used them and experienced great relief from them.

The above is the best paper in the State of Delaware.

The "improved indian vegetable Pills," (Sugar Coated) are certainly doing much good in the whole country, and are highly esteemed if one half is true that people write and say about them. They are so easy in their operation that all like them. The editor of the Northern State Journal, (one of the largest and best papers in the State of N. Y.,) writes as follows.

Watertown, May 31, 1846.

Dr. G Benj Smith—

Dear Sir I was laid up with a bad cold some time since my return from N. Y. and during my illness I made trial of your pills and I must say I found them excellent. They are the best medicine for the purposes they are intended, that I have yet seen I seldom take pills, but I found yours entirely free from the objections to which other pills are liable. I hope they will continue to be a source of profit to you, as I doubt not they will be a means of relief to the afflicted on a large scale. Yours truly,

J. GREEN.

Tonawanda, Pa., Sept. 18, 1846.

Dr. G. Benj. Smith—

Dear Sir: Your agent left with me a lot of your Sugar coated Pills, and I have but a few boxes left. Every box I have sold has given entire satisfaction. I have taken them myself and I consider them the best pills I have ever used, and I am not afraid to recommend them to the public. I wish a further supply at once.

Yours respectfully,

JACOB KIBLER, P. M.

Dr. Smith —

Dear Sir. I am most out of your "Indian Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills," and find them selling so fast that I think you had better send me two gross immediately. They give such general satisfaction that people come at least twenty miles for them, and as it is generally known I am agent for them, I would be very sorry to get out

Yours respectfully,

SAML. MORE & Co.

BEWARE!!!

If G. BENJ. SMITH, be not written with a pen on the bottom of the box, all "Sugar Coated" Pills are counterfeit!
