him Knight of the Regal order of the legion of honor. The greatest intellects vie in heaping praises upon him, and that his name may be linked with the enduring sky itself it is declared by M. Arago that the new planet must be called Leverrier and nothing else. How glorious, how sublime such a triumph!

The great Geometrician, M. Cauchy, also deserves a place among these intellectual giants of the world. By a resolution of a single equation of the first degree, he has calculated with precision the orbits of the planets and especially of the comets. He has also published and vindicated a formula for the introduction and interpolation of observations of longitude and latitude into Astronomical calculations, besides making many other discoveries of the first importance to science.

STATE FINANCES.—The unanimous report of the Committee of Ways and Means is before us, asserting the ability of the State to resume the regular payment of the interest on the State debt. It is a manly and consistent report and must commend itself to every citizen interested in the credit and prosperity of the Government. Men of all parties will exult in the prospect of hurling out of view forever the monster, repudiation, which has stalked unblushingly through our State, and dared avow sentiments which strike at the root of good faith and honor in the commonwealth.

For the sake of those who may not see the entire act, we append a synopsis of its paovisions from the Baltimore American, not having space in our columns for the whole document:

1st. That the principal debt as it now stands be kept separate from the arrears; that the payment of interest on said principal debt be resumed on the first day of January next, and continued quarterly and semi-annually thereafter, as it falls due, and that the interest on the principal debt be first fully discharged in each year before any interest is paid on the funded arrears.

2d. That the arrears of interest be funded on the first of October next in a stock redeemable at pleasure, bearing an annual interest of six per cent; that said interest be fully paid at the end of the year, (the first payment being in October, 1848) if there are funds in the Treasury adequate for the purpose; but if the Treasurer shall find that there is not sufficient to pay full six per cent, that a payment of interest pro rata be made on the arrear stock, and a certificate be given for the balance, to be paid out of any future surplusses.

3d. That Coupons be received in payment of taxes until the first of October next, after which all dues are to be paid to the State in cash.

4th. That power be given to the Treasurer, in his discretion, to borrow, on the pledge of the Bank Stocks belonging to the State any temporary deficiency in funds arising from the inequality of payments required at the different quarters, the sums so borrowed to be immediately repaid out of the first receipts in the Treasury.

5th. That all surplusses in the Treasury, after paying the expenses of the State and the interest on the principal debt, and on the funded arrears, be appropriated to the purchase or redemption of the arrear stock until it is entirely extinguished; after which the surplusses are to be devoted annually to the increase of the orignal Sinking Fund.

IRELAND.—The recent accounts of the famine in Ireland are distressing in the extreme. No one can read them without a thrill of horror at the scenes detailed, and a heartfelt sympathy for the poor sufferers. Foremost in deeds of charity and benevolence at this painful crisis is the society of Friends, both of England and the United States. In the former country the subscriptions of this class of Christians have been conducted upon the most liberal scale. The example is worthy all imitation. Never was a stronger appeal made to the sympathies of the civilized world. All who can should give freely of their means. Even the widow's mite may call back the fleeting pulse to the heart of some poor wretch who has spread his limbs upon the straw pallet to die by the horrible curse of starvation.

We are happy to have been anticipated in these remarks by our neighbor of the "Star," as well as in the suggestion for a public manifestation upon the subject.—Something should be done at once. Let then a meeting be called on Tuesday next, at the Court House, and let all who can be present—there to unite in a general effort of benevolence for the destitute and afflicted sons of Erin.

ANTIQUITIES.—We adverted some weeks ago to the late interesting discoveries, made in exploring the Geological condition of the south-western part of this country. The November number of the proceedings of the Academy of Natural Sciences, in Philadelphia, contains a statement of the labors of Dr. Dickenson in this field of scientific enquiry; and acknowledges in liberal terms the important contributions made by the Doctor to the general stock of entertaining and useful knowledge. Not only have the stupendous skeletons of the Mastadon and Millidon been exhumed, but the crumbling remains of human beings, of gigantic stature, brought to life, who walked the earth long before the Deluge, and are now for the first time disturbed in their earth bound sepulchres! However incredible this may appear, the attested evidences defy all scepticism. The later discoveries consist of mounds, fortifications, cemeteries, halls, &c., indicating the former residence of a people permanent, systematic, and not unacquainted with the arts of life. In a single mound, at the depth of forty feet, Dr. Dickenson found the skeletons of more than 3000 human bodies. A large number of curious relics of inferior interest are expected in Philadelphia from this Country, so rich in remarkable specimens of antiquity, which will probably be deposited in the Academy Natural Sciences, in that city.

PHONOGRAPHY.—We failed to notice the receipt some time back of the "Anglo Saxon," a new paper, issued in Boston, upon the plan of the attempted reform in printing and writing. The science is commanding increased attention, and able lecturers are explaining, in our large cities, the objects proposed by Messrs. Andrews & Boyle, to large and intelligent audiences. It is certainly desirable that the orthography of our language should be simplified, and some method adopted to render its study less tedious and forbidding. Should Phonography answer the objects proposed by its admirers we shall have reason to congratulate ourselves upon a shorter road to knowledge than the one beaten by our fathers; and the time formerly passed in the dull and wearing monotony of spelling and committing column after column of words will embrace wider ranges of improvement in the sciences, rendered facile by this labor saving discovery. The subject certainly deserves investigation.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—The February number of this Queen of Monthlies has not yet reached us. It is quite provoking to see our neighbors gloating over its rich pages, and ourselves in the vocative!—Look to this, friend Godey.

☞ Our acknowledgements are due to Hon. Edward Long, of House of Representatives, for a pamphlet copy of his speech, on the Mexican War.

It is one of the evils of malgovernment that its excesses call the people of the land from the pursuits which dignify and decorate the paths of peaceful life, to the duties demanded by self-preservation. A twelve month since the country and its people were safe & happy: politics, though always a duty, was then neither absorbing nor imperative. A year has, under this Administration, dragged us already into wars and rumors of wars, debts and the prospect of heavier debt, the loss of credit the prospect of onerous taxation, the derangement of trade, the paralyzation of enterprise, and the apprehension of darker calamities lowering from the future. In this crisis every individual shares the peril.—There is not a fireside, a joy, nor a hope in the community which is not party to the great struggle now pending in this country. At such a time the press has duties which, if it be fearless and faithful, it will not, dare not, pretermit. The present, be it remembered, is not a struggle for the supremacy of any party or the elevation of any aspirant. The country is appealed to in relation to measures involving the prosperity of every American family. The rescue of the land, and its every-day domestic happiness, is now the business of the business man. The subjects pending before Congress, and the events passing in Mexico, involve the people more deeply and dangerously than they have been involved since the birthday of the republic. And, though it might be more agreeable to us and to our readers to trifle and make merry, even while the hand inscribes the fearful warning upon the wall, we cannot believe that we would thus redeem the pledge we gave to our patrons. The crisis has imposed high and solemn duties upon the independent and patriotic press of our country: we will not be found recreant to them.—North American.

The following beautiful passage is the concluding portion of an address by Mr. Bullit, member of the Legislature of Louisiana, in announcing to the House the death of Mr. Senator Barrow:

"Mr. Speaker. the ingenuity of grief will find means of making its sorrow sweet We have sifted the circumstances of Mr Barrow's death, to find a comfort amongst the ingredients of woe, and friendship may take refuge in memories that sustain its faith; but there is a sharper anguish that will not be cancelled by considerations of wordly respect. The last thoughts of our deceased friend were turned towards home and the name of wife and children trembled on his lips as he expired. That home he should never see more, nor her who made it happy. I forbear to lift the veil which screans the solitary mourner from the public gaze. The sympathies of kindred, even seem all too gross for the sanctuary of buried love. I will leave that household with the agencies which are balm to the heart made sore by providence. There is a God whose arm is around the orphan, and the widow's tears drop in the hollow of his hand."

[From the Cincinnati Daily Times of ay 20th 1842.]

M^c*Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.*—We should judge from Messrs. Weaghly & Knepper's letter, published this day among our advertisements, that this popular remedy of Coughs, Lung complaints, and disease of the breast generally, was really a valuable medicine, and worthy of serious attention from the public. We are informed by the wholesale agents that they are almost daily receiving similar letters from all parts of the West.

We would advise our readers who are laboring under an effection of the Lungs, to make immediate trial of this truly excellent medicine. The Most intelligent and respectable famalies of our city have adopted it as a favorite family medicine; and persons predisposed to Consumption who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its efficacy."

Scores of individuals have been cured of Ashthma, the early stages of Consumption, Bleeding of the Lungs, obstinate Coughs, etc., by this Balsam, after hope, had well nigh yielded to dispair. We say this in all candor.

THE ORIGINAL ONLY TRUE, AND GENUINE PILL.

Findly Township, Alleg'y Co. July 2d 1838

Messrs Sahin & Sellers.—I feel it a duty I owe to the public and the standing of your celebrated Pills, to testify to the good effects produced by them in my own case. In the fall of 1837 I was attacked severely with the Chronic Liver Complaint, which prostrated all my physical power. I applied to Dr.——, of Clinton, for medical advice, and although he essayed every thing in his power to mitigate my disease, yet I must honestly say, that I received no permanent relief under his treatment. At this time I considered my case hopeless when seeing your Liver Pills advertised, I, after a good deal of hesitation, (being urged to try them by my neighbors) purchased two boxes, and before I had used one whole box the pain in my side and shoulders, produced by a diseased Liver, was speedily removed. I continued using the Pills at intervals, upon every return of my symptoms with invariable success It is in my opinion that the Liver Pills will not fail to cure, when the directions are strictly followed. You are at liberty to make any use of the above that you may think proper. I remain your grateful friend. SAMUEL P. MORRISON.

N. B. The Liver Pills are much relied upon in bilious attacks in my immediate neighborhood.
